Palestinian Arabs Are Eager for War

CAIRO (CP) — Troops from Iraq and Kuwait joined Arab forces massed in Egypt against Israel today and the head of the Palestine Liberation Organization said it is "possible and even most likely" his troops or Jordanian forces will fire the first shot that would unleash war in the Middle East.

"I'll is either us or Israel," Ahmed Shukairy, head of the PLO, said in an interview "in Amman, the Jordanian capital. "There is no middle-road solution. Nothing short of liberation will be accepted."

The Palestinian Arab leader predicted that once war comes, there will hardly be any Jewish survivors.

At UN headquarters in New York, the United States pushed for adoption by the Security Council of a resolution urging both the Arabs and Israelis to cool off while diplomats continued efforts to resolve the Middle East crisis.

The Cairo newspaper Al Ahram reported that Egypt was prepared to use force to back up the right it claims to inspect all commercial ships passing from the Red Sea through the Strait of Tiran into the Gulf of Aqaba.

The newspaper gave this list of items that would be seized from ships headed for Israeli arms, explosives, ammunition, spare parts, planes, automobiles, railway equipment, clothing for the Israeli armed forces, machinery for making any of these items, chemicals and medicines, meat, cereals and grains, gold, silver and bank notes.

A government spokesman refused to confirm or deny the newspaper report, but indicated it was accurate.

In a pointed warning to Egyptian President Nasser, British Foreign Secretary George Brown told the House of Commons that the British government will consider any unilateral closing of the Gulf of Aqaba an act of belligerence.

British Prime Minister Wilson refused to tell the Commons what he would do if Egypt tried to bar any British ships from the gulf. But he repeated an assurance by Brown that arrangements were being made to meet such a situation.

When a British naval buildup already reported around Aden, at the southern end of the Red Sea, the British aircraft carrier Hermes was recalled to Aden because of the crisis. She had been en route to the Far East.

Another carrier, the U.S. Navy's 41,000-ton Intrepid, began moving through the Suez Canal into the Red Sea today with 78 jet fighters aboard, but U.S. diplomatic sources said she was bound for Vietnam. They denied the Intrepid would be used to test the Egyptian blockade of the gulf.

The arrival in Egypt of forces from other Arab nations added little numerically to the 80,000 Egyptian troops Nasser has concentrated in the Sinai Peninsula on Israel's southwest border. But the arrivals underlined the growing Arab unity Nasser is forging. An advance unit of the Iraqi Army arrived by plane in Egypt Wednesday.

Cairo radio said an army contingent from Kuwait also arrived in Egypt.

Egypt Wants Third Parties To Stay Clear

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Egyptian envoy has warned the United States to avoid involvement in Egypt's blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba — backed by the Israeli ambassador "our second time."

Ambassador Mostafa Kamel of Egypt said Wednesday that if a third party enters the Arab-Israeli dispute, "this will really make the crisis serious."

Wilson on Way To Ask Canada's Aid in Mideast

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Wilson flew to Canada today to discuss the Middle East crisis with Prime Minister Pearson and to gain widened support for a joint declaration by maritime powers that the Gulf of Aqaba—Israel's outlet to the east—is an international waterway.

Both he and Foreign Secretary George Brown emphasized the need for such a declaration in a House of Commons debate Wednesday which showed strong parliamentary sympathy for Israel.

All party leaders criticized UN Secretary - General U Thant's hurried removal of the United Nations Emergency Force from the Egyptian-Israeli border and Egypt's sudden declaration that the gulf is a national waterway from which Israeli shipping is to be banished.

Wilson, who will meet with Prime Minister Pearson today and will with President Johnson Friday, gave no indication how the proposed joint maritime declaration on the gulf could be carried into practice.

He seemed to suggest to the House that the mere declaration might force Egyptian President Nasser to reverse his policies.

Wilson added that time was not on the side of those who seek a peaceful solution. At the most there may be a few weeks, perhaps even a month or two, but no more.

Britain would also back up demands for restoration of a UN presence, insisting that UN representatives be located on the Israeli as well as the Egyptian side of the border, in accord with a position taken by Prime Minister Pearson. Israel had refused to allow UN troops on her side of the Egyptian border.

Sharp Reveals Tonight How The Tax Axe Falls

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Sharp reveals tonight how he will find revenue to cover heavy federal spending programs without discouraging the economy.

Speculation about contents of Mr. Sharp's 8 p.m. budget address to the Commons the third during 18 months in the portfolio, has varied widely.

A measure of uncertainty about the direction the economy is taking, evident in a pre-budget white slipper Tuesday, may suggest that general tax increases will be avoided.

The alternative to substantial increases appears to be a big budgetary deficit for 1967-68, a year that already promises an extra $760,000,000 in spending over 1966-67, with supplementary estimates of several hundred millions still to come.

Speculation from several sources foresees two or three small but welcome tax cuts for consumers in specific areas.

They predict Mr. Sharp will drop the 12% per cent federal sales tax on prescription drugs as the first step in a program to encourage lower drug costs.

They also expect abolition or reduction of the excise tax on household luxury items, including television sets.

The government has withstood opposition requests for months to get rid of the hugely unpopular 12-per-cent tax on building materials, but it is suggested in certain quarters that some reduction would help stimulate activity in housing.

There is also some optimism that limited contributions to political parties will be made tax deductible, as recommended last October by a five-man committee on election expenses.

If Mr. Sharp does so, it will be a switch from the previous government intention of sending the report first to the Commons committee on privileges and elections.

The main federal estimates for 1967-68 tabled in March total $9,533,132,334, a big jump from actual expenditures of $8,774,000,000 in the last fiscal year ended March 31.

The white paper not only revealed a 1966-67 budget deficit of $428,000,000, but showed a rapid move during late 1965 and 1966 from a surplus to a deficit position.

The white paper was interpreted by some observers as an indication that the government would hold the line on current tax rates to preserve balance in the economy.

HONG KONG (AP) — The Hong Kong Star says that scores of young local Communists are being trained in armed terrorist tactics.

ADEN (Reuters) — A British soldier and an Arab policeman were shot to death and nine other persons were wounded in gun battles in Aden today, mainly between British paratroops and Arab nationalists.

Envoys Confer At UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—UN Security Council members meet privately today in a series of consultations, still groping for a resolution that will have the effect of cooling off Arab and Israeli passions in the Middle East.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg and Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko are expected to have their first private meeting in more than a week. Fedorenko has held aloof from private consultations in the last few days, highly placed sources said, but has agreed, at the instigation of Danish Ambassador Hans Tabor, to an exchange of views with Goldberg today.

Canadian Ambassador George Ignatieff told reporters he remains hopeful the council will agree before the end of the week on a resolution calling upon the countries involved in the Middle East crisis to exercise restraint. To achieve maximum effect, he said, such a resolution would need the support of all council members.

France Determined To Remain Neutral

PARIS (Reuters)—France will reject any suggestion the maritime powers break Egypt's blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba by force, informed sources said here today.

The sources said a basic purpose of French policy in the Middle East crisis is to prevent France from becoming involved in any armed conflict between Israel and Egypt.

Paris takes the view it would not be in the best interests of Israel for France to become involved, they said.

The reasoning is that one day Israel may need the help of a power which strongly favors the maintenance of Israel's national existence but has not been compromised by taking sides in the conflict.

Copters Cross Atlantic

PARIS (Reuters)—Two U.S. Air Force helicopters touched down at Le Bourget airport here today after making the first non-stop helicopter crossing of the Atlantic from New York.

The Sikorsky HH-3A Sea King helicopters, each with a four-man crew, left New York early Wednesday and arrived in Paris at 8:32 a.m. The flight took 26 hours and 47 minutes.

The ocean has been flown by helicopters before, but only by island hopping.

Horses Stupid Asserts Phillip

"God invented a lot of animals," he said Wednesday, "and just about the most stupid is the horse."

Viet Cong Fortress Unearthed

SAIGON (AP)—A U.S. armored force today attacked a huge guerrilla fortress uncovered on the South Vietnamese coast by one of the war's most spectacularly successful naval bombardments.

Firing 200 rounds of five-inch rockets a minute, a Navy rocket ship opened up on the coastal area Wednesday. Within minutes the beach was a holocaust and it was evident the rocket ship had unearthed a major Viet Cong fortress.

He Begged in England And Played in Paris

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Julian Ellis-Morris dressed as a tramp and sold razor blades, shampoos and soap door-to-door in this resort on the west coast of England.

But in Paris the old Englishman was a wealthy eccentric who lavished chocolates, flowers and presents on two girls at the Folies-Bergere.

When he died in March at 75, he left a fortune of £62,292 ($186,876) including £1,000 to the two Parisian entertainers.

He bequeathed £500 each to Micheline Reine and Nicole Delaire, £250 to Michelina's daughter Danielle and £125 each to the unnamed woman owners of two Montmarte hotels where he stayed during his jaunts to the French capital.

In Blackpool dressed in an old army overcoat and tattered canvas shoes, he went from house to house selling cheap toilet goods from a tray.

At night he returned to a luxurious bungalow where he had three television sets, two automobiles, including a Rolls-Royce driven Daimler limousine.

His closest friends were in the Salvation Army. He stayed at its hostels and attended its services every Sunday.

Thousand Teachers Quit, Government to Intervene

TORONTO (CP)—More than 1,000 secondary school teachers to date have tendered their resignations to the Toronto Board of Education, the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation announced today. The resignations are effective August 31.

The announcement came after the Ontario government said it is ready to step into the dispute that could close Toronto's 34 high schools this fall unless the wage demands of 2,000 teachers are met.

William Ross, board chairman, said: "With the resignations we have now, and if negotiations break down, it would be impossible to operate our schools."

He said close to 100 per cent of the staff had quit some schools. In one school alone, 112 teachers had resigned.

Seventeen of 25 principals had quit and also 31 vice-principals and 150 department heads.

Eighty-four per cent of the teachers turned down the board's offer last month of annual salaries ranging from $6,100 to $13,000 because they would not become effective until the new term. The current scale is $5,400 to $11,200.

It is understood the only issue dividing the two sides is making increases retroactive to January. The traditional starting month for the Toronto contract.

The board has insisted that the contract should start in September.

Charles McCaffrey, OSSTF president and an Ottawa vice principal, said in a news release today teachers submitted resignations "because this was the final legal date for the teachers and their right to resign had to be protected."

"We are prepared to continue negotiations in the hope that a settlement may be reached and these teachers still be available in the schools of Toronto in September."

He said the first condition at settlement "is that each teacher will be offered his position back again by the Toronto board."

Domtar Explosion Averted

Air Force Sergeant Nips Oil Blaze

TRENTON — A CFB Trenton firefighter today is being credited with preventing an explosion in an oil fire that broke out yesterday afternoon at the Domtar Chemicals yard on North Jamieson St.

Sgt. Sheldon Outhouse, duty crew chief for a party of CFB Trenton firemen called to the scene, crawled beneath a loading ramp, and, while Trenton firemen offered him hoselike protection from flames, closed off a valve that was feeding the blaze.

Three lower fire department trucks had responded to the alarm at 3.10 yesterday afternoon, and Trenton firemen doused the fire that was guiding chemical storage shed.

Efforts to control flames shooting from an adjacent drum containing 3,000 gallons of diesel oil proved futile, however, and firemen were holding their own when CFB Trenton's elaborately equipped crash truck arrived on the scene.

The air base fire station was called in under the terms of the mutual aid assistance program.

Flames licked dangerously close to four mammoth tanks containing inflammable treating chemicals less than 40 feet away. Steam rolled off the upright tanks as Trenton firemen soaked them down with several small hose. The outbreak was also within striking distance of the large piles of logs that dot the Domtar site

Need for Commercial Airport In Quinte District Stressed By Committee's Waterloo Visit

A municipal airport capable of handling executive and commercial type aircraft can be a determining factor in location of an industry in a specific area.

This was emphasized Wednesday by officials of the Waterloo-Wellington Airport commission as they entertained members of a Quinte area committee charged with the responsibility of getting information leading to a possible commercial airport in the Belleville area.

Making the one-hour flight from Picton to Waterloo yesterday were Belleville airport committee members, Alderman Dr. J. Russell Scott and local businessman Howard Booth, along with Bancroft Reeve J. N. Brown.

Also on the local airport committee are two members each from Picton and Trenton and one each from Hastings county member, Reeve Don Rodgers of Stirling.

Dr. Taber Dunary, chairman of the Waterloo-Wellington airport commission told his visitors that his commission members feels their well equipped airport is responsible for two large industries locating in the area in the past 18 months.

Getting this kind of information was hard to take for the Belleville visitors who realized one of the industries mentioned (manufacturers of automobile frames) had almost decided to locate in Belleville.

Almost every day executive type aircraft from land on the fires in the United States fly into the Waterloo airport carrying company executives to branch plants that are industrially rich, Kitchener and Waterloo area.

And committee member Howard Booth, Belleville businessman and enthusiastic flyer, says it would be difficult to estimate how many more industries the Belleville area has lost because there is no commercial airport here.

"When big manufacturing companies learn there is no airport they just don't make further enquiries."

And this was echoed by local committee chairman Dr. Russell Scott who said the auto frame manufacturing company which eventually located in the Waterloo area, had actually optioned land in Trenton township to build its plant.

Local committee members say there are 16 different companies in the Belleville area who would fly executive airport into the Belleville area if adequate airport facilities were available.

Committee members also point to the rapidly increasing business in air freight and say this is still another reason for a commercial airport in the Belleville area.

Already several firms in Belleville use air freight hourly citizenship — but the produce has to be trucked to Toronto for trans - shipment by air.

The commercial airport at Waterloo has been operating since about 1960 and, at least one of the busiest airports in Canada outside the large metropolitan areas.

The prime move in getting the airport off the ground was Norman C. Schneider, vice - president of the Schneider meat packing company, former chairman of the airport commission and still one of its biggest boosters.

The airport has two paved lighted runways of 4,100 and 2,700 feet and has its weather office operated by the federal department of Transport.

Six urban municipalities — Kitchener, Waterloo, Galt, Guelph, Preston, along with Waterloo township, are members of the airport commission and pay a levy of approximately 50 cents per capita for the airport's operation.

The per capita levy amounts to about $14,000 annually, the balance of the airport's revenue being made up of landing and plane storage fees, from servicing and gasoline sales.

The airport commission paid the cost for property purchase and for hangar construction.

The federal government paid the cost of grading and paving the runways.

That was what happened at the Waterloo-Wellington Airport, but members of the Quinte area airport committee have hopes that a similar start from scratch would not be necessary for the Belleville area.

The reason for this thinking is that there is a ready made airport in the Trenton area at Mountain View, which although still owned by the RCAF, today sees but very little military use.

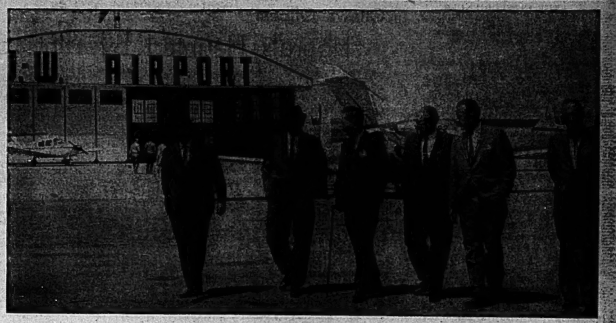
The runways are paved and of sufficient length to accommodate commercial and executive craft and the field is within easy driving distance from Belleville, Picton and Trenton.

Also there is adequate hangar space now used mostly by the RCAF for storage purposes.

Local airport committee chairman, Ald. J. R. Scott feels the Mountain View Station is the logical answer as a commercial airport for the Belleville area.

"The facilities are already there, it is just what is needed," he says.

And better still the committee feels there are good prospects that the field can be acquired from the RCAF.



In fact airport committee members feel Mountain View is the only possibility for a commercial airport in the immediate Belleville area.

The RCAF wants to keep commercial aircraft away from the big Trenton air station and its big turbo prop Yukons.

Air force officials claim the private landing field immediately to the east of Belleville is too close to the flight path in and out of Trenton for safety.

The flying field on the Oak Hills is too small for commercial aircraft and therefore out of the question.

Busy Commercial Airport at Waterloo

Quinte district airport committee members visiting Western Ontario yesterday found Waterloo - Wellington airport a busy place. Here Belleville Alderman J. R. Russell Scott (centre, with cane), J. N. Brown and Howard Booth, far right, walk to hangar after being greeted by airport officials. Million dollar executive jet in background flew in during morning from United States.

Kinsmen to Sponsor Contest

Plans to organize a Belleville Centennial Beauty Queen contest have been announced by the Kinsmen Club of Belleville. This contest is to be held in the Belleville Armouries on Saturday, July 1.

Any single girl between the ages of 17 and 28 who resides in the area bounded by Highway 7 on the north, Napanee on the east, Lake Ontario on the south and Brighton on the west may enter this contest. It is hoped that all entrants will be sponsored by a local merchant or industry so that personal expenses of each will be kept to a minimum.

A panel of distinguished judges will select the winning contestant who will be crowned Belleville Centennial Queen. She will be required to take part in all subsequent civic centennial functions. The Queen and runners-up will receive suitable sash and merchandise prizes.

In conjunction with the contest there will be a Centennial Dance featuring the Tavonia orchestra of Mr. Eddie Graf, Mr. Graf records for RCA Victor and is a well known composer-arranger for the Mart Kenny and Art Hallman orchestras and for the Juliette TV show.

Any person wishing to receive further information concerning entering as or sponsoring a contestant is asked to contact Mr. Don Larson at 968-7437 or Mr. Bill MacLeod at 962-2632.

Thomson's Decision: LaMarsh

OTTAWA (CP)—Lord Thomson of Fleet lost his Canadian citizenship by applying for citizenship in another country, not by accepting a title from the Queen, State Secretary Judy LaMarsh said Wednesday.

She told the Commons M. was Lord Thomson's personal act of applying for British citizenship May 30, 1963, that lost him his Canadian rights. His British citizenship was granted June 5 of that year.

The wealthy Canadian - born publisher subsequently received the title that permits him to sit in the House of Lords.

Miss LaMarsh said that apparently there was a price that Lord Thomson valued more than Canadian citizenship.

The Citizenship Act says that a Canadian, living in another country for reasons other than a disability, who obtains new citizenship, loses his Canadian citizenship.

Wallace Nesbitt (PC—Oxford) asked Tuesday for a clarification of Lord Thomson's status. He suggested that Miss LaMarsh introduce a special bill to restore Lord Thomson's citizenship. Miss LaMarsh gave no indication she would.

Dust Claim Settled At Glenora

PICTON (Staff) — The latest in a series of legal actions against the Lake Ontario Cement Company here, for damage over a dust nuisance, has been settled.

The case was originally scheduled to be heard before Hastings County Judge J. C. Anderson on May 20. Bernard W. Hurley of Belleville lawyer, acted on behalf of the plaintiff Roy Drake, a Picton area resident.

Mr. Drake was one of several property owners in the cement plant area, most of whom lived along the Glenora Road across the bay from the plant, who launched actions against the company claiming damage to their properties caused by dust from the plant.

Picton Opens New Ball Field

PICTON (Staff — Picton's new softball diamond was officially opened Wednesday night with a short ceremony when Warden of Prince Edward County Robert Boyce cut the ribbon along with Phil Dodds, president of the county athletic association.

Following the ceremony a game was played between Kingston LaFontaines and Picton Kinsmen in the Quinte Kingston A.S.A. League.

For the past 20 or more years the game of softball in Picton has been played on the diamond at the Queen Elizabeth school. Lights and poles have been moved from there to their new location on the fair grounds.

Leighton Thompson New President of Assesment Officers

HAMILTON (Special) — Belleville assessment commissioner, Leighton Thompson has been elected president of the Ontario Association of Assessment Officers.

Mr. Thompson, 45, who joined city hall in 1947, took over the city's assessment department in 1950.

Around the Kitty

Two mixed doubles rinks from the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club travelled to Campbellford on Wednesday to compete for the Archie Meyers Trophy and a rink of Mrs. Thelma Fitzgibbon and Claude D. Tice succeeded in capturing the cup and the accompanying prizes. Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Price failed to get into the prize money. The winning rink had a score of 25 plus 4 after their fourteen end games with a maximum of 18 points. There were fourteen rinks in the tourney and they included rinks from Kingston, Bowmanville and Campbellford.

Another three-game winner was a Campbellford rink of Mrs. Lillian Smith and Doug Maybee and it was quite a thrill for the winners because Mr. Maybee had never played in a tournament and it was the first time that he had been skip.

The reverse science was Mr. and Mrs. Dick Edney of Kingston while the one-game winner was Mr. and Mrs. William Fuller of Trenton. The greens were in excellent condition and some of the shots made would do credit to bowlers in the middle of the season. The weather was delightful and the hospitality as usual was the best.

The wonderful thing about Dry Rye is the fact that it makes every other ordinary rye taste unusual.

You'll know it is a new whisky with a new taste. A dry taste. A full rye with every shred of sweetness removed.

Water Safety

With summer taking a long time to warm up, (New Hampshire has even reported a late snowfall) opportunities for swimming are rare enough these days.

Yet it is well to heed the fact that drowning ranks third on the annual list of accidental deaths in Canada.

Last year the number of drownings increased 14 per cent to 1,265. Of these 360 occurred in Ontario. Boating, swimming, wading and accidental falls into water were involved in the majority of cases.

That wells, ditches, sloughs, tanks and excavations pose many a hazard for the unwary, and particularly for youngsters, is shown by the fact that 36 persons died after falling into such traps.

The impetuousness of youth, a common factor in auto accidents, is also associated with drowning fatalities. Significantly, the age group between 13 and 21 continues to record the highest number of deaths. Last year, there were 293 deaths in this age group, representing more than 23 per cent of the total figure.

No tragedy is more poignant than that which occurs when a child drowns because of the inattention of parents. At least 170 children under 12 years drowned last year because there were no adults supervising them.

This is Water Safety week and Centennial Year is as good a time as any for Canadians to try and exercise greater caution when enjoying the beaches and boating expeditions this year.

It may sound trite, but the theme of the week makes sense. It is "Learn to Survive — be Water-Wise."

Zwick's Isle Facilities

It is satisfying to see the new recreation facilities at Zwick's Island getting plenty of use already.

And when the bayshore reclamation work is completed the whole area will provide parkland and sporting facilities as good as any in Ontario.

Despite the chilly weather the new barbecue pavilion — looking strangely like a Greek amphitheatre — has been getting some use.

So too have the tennis courts, and this is an encouraging sign. For some reason tennis has been a Cinderella sport in Canada, but facilities in Belleville are now much improved. Only recently Canada's Davis Cup team almost upset Britain, and this should be encouragement enough to our young people to take the game seriously.

For the older generation, the fresh air and exercise provided by tennis can revive many a flagging constitution. Governor-General Michener (who recently celebrated his 67th birthday) is one who enjoys a game when time permits.

Tennis is played extensively everywhere in the western world. Even the Russians have taken it up and have been making their mark at the Wimbledon tournament in England. However, in Canada we must first rid ourselves of the "Anyone for Tennis" attitude of Victorian days before the game catches on more widely in this country.

U.S. Postal Service

For one reason or another — including such factors as distance, a multiplicity of districts and small communities, both rural and urban — the United States' postal service does not enjoy a reputation for rapid delivery and overall efficiency.

This situation exists even with the use of computers. Those six-digit numbers on U.S. addresses presumably have something to do with these electronic marvels of computers, but whether they expedite delivery to any appreciable extent is another matter.

Perhaps what the service needs is the get-up-and-go expertise of President Johnson, aided by a fleet of helicopters of the type available to him at a moment's notice.

What a boon helicopters would be, for instance, in the serving of communities in this region — on both sides of Lake Ontario. We have often discussed the comparative remoteness of a big city like Rochester N.Y. There it is, perhaps only 30 miles or so away as the crow flies, but by road it is about 250 miles, and there is no border in between.

Thus on Friday last we received a letter mailed in Penfield (a suburb of Rochester) on Monday. Slow to be sure . . . yet, twice in the same week we received air mail letters from Auckland, New Zealand, in only three days.

If there were a helicopter service across Lake Ontario mail could arrive the same day. And what about those hovercraft which are proving so efficient in moving people from place to place, across the English Channel for example. Even a boat service across the lake here would serve to speed up communications

Liberals Haunted by Hints of Donald Fleming's Return

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Ask the Liberals who they would like as Conservative Leader and they shrug.

More of John Diefenbaker?

It is all the same to the Liberals — they just don't care.

They have fought Dief in a stand-off so that he doesn't bother them much any more — and if the Conservatives in September were to come back with the Old Chief re-affirmed, well, it would be simply more of the same for the Liberals. And now they know they can take it.

They have known Starr, Fulton, Hamilton and Hees in action, in the House and on the hustings and they don't scare them much.

But ask the Liberals who they would not like as Conservative Leader and you find out quick enough.

It is Donald Fleming, the former Conservative Finance Minister who finished out 18 years in the commons as Justice Minister in the dying days of the Diefenbaker Government in 1963 and then retired, undefeated, to his law practice and some life with his family.

It was not the disintegration of the Diefenbaker Administration that persuaded him to pack it up.

He had won and held his Toronto Eglinton constituency through six general elections, beating back Mitchell Sharp's first bid for the riding when the future Liberal Finance Minister challenged him five years ago.

It was simply that Donald M. Fleming felt he must go home and for the first time in nearly 20 years enjoy some family life.

His son, Donald Fleming Jr., had been shot, not fatally as it fortunately turned out, and inside-story that the father was haunted by the thought that it might not have happened if Parliament had claimed less and his family more of his time and attention.

So Donald Fleming, tempered in fire, walked away from this House on the Hill and from Eglinton that had given him election majorities as hefty as 18,000 and 19,000. Parliament, he said, was a closed chapter in his book of life.

He didn't need any such tempering by fire for he always had been one of Parliament's men of steel.

Hard. Unbending. And tough, tough, tough.

They know him well, for 12 years, when he sat in the Conservative Opposition and devoted his very considerable personal and political talents to making Parliamentary life difficult for them.

They never did get to know just how to handle him, and finally, in the Battle of the Pipeline, resorted to the defeatist strategy of expelling him from the House.

The hardest of Hard Noses, he would not back off and so, in frustrated fury they made a martyr of him, and watched with dark foreboding as Hamilton's Ellen Fairclough rushed down the floor of the Commons to drape his desk with the flag.

His own Conservative colleagues found him almost as difficult when they put it swept to minority power in '57 and made him Finance Minister.

Donald Fleming quickly turned out to be as even harder man with a dollar than most of the Conservatives' colleagues — or, perhaps, wanted.

It was not his money, nor even the Government's that he was collecting in taxes, he argued straight when they gave him control of the purse-strings.

It was the taxpayer's treasure he insisted, and they had all better be careful in Cabinet just how they were fixing to spend it.

Ruefully, and with grudging admiration, some of his old Cabinet associates recall how he beat them-off with their multi-million dollar departmental demands on the Treasury. Like a vigilant maiden aunt "fending off small fry raids on the cookie jar. If they had been good ministers and deserved it, they could have a Treasury cookie.

It got so that they waited until he was away from the Hill before they assembled in Cabinet to seek their other's departments money and he could rush back to hold the floodgates.

And suddenly, scaring the daylights out of some of the Old Liberal Hands who know him so well, he has been back in these political parts, smiling that quiet, tough smile, and, as he put it, dead-pan, "just meeting and talking with people."

The Liberals don't fancy the prospect at all.

They Try Marriage

Brantford Expositor

The steady flow of reports of priests marrying or wanting to marry has stirred much comment, mostly approving. An opinion frequently aired is that the ministers of other faiths and rabbis are allowed to marry why not priests?

If it were just a matter of fairness, as many people see it, why indeed should a priest not be allowed to have the same privileges as other men — a nagging wife, ten children to house, feed and clothe, toys to trip over after a hard day at the altar, a mother-in-law who visits every week and a mortgage payment to meet every month?

"Whaddy mean, 'Would I believe twenny million an' one?' . . ."

Toronto's Shortage

Toronto Star

It is disgraceful that in this most affluent city in Canada, 11,500 citizens are lined up to get decent roofs over their heads — and can't get them.

At the beginning of the year there were 9,454 applications on the Toronto Housing Authority's list for public housing. Three months later, at the end of March, the list of families and elderly applicants in need of subsidized housing had grown by 30 per cent.

It doesn't take an expert to know that unless there is massive public action, the housing shortage will get worse and worse.

Failure of Mission

Nigeria Heads for Another Military Dictatorship

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The split in Nigeria and the looming later-tribal clash mark the failure of a mission.

Arnold Smith's Commonwealth secretariat tried to do what British diplomats could not do—end the political rivalries and restore the strength of what once was the greatest democracy in Africa. A high-ranking envoy was sent to Lagos for what seemed to be a Commonwealth secretariat.

The mission failed. The country's break - up damages the Commonwealth at least as much as it does the prestige of British policy-makers who had put Nigeria together in the first place.

The country is rich in resources. An internal struggle may tempt outside powers to take sides in order to share in the spoils. And the new self-declared republic of Biafra, established so hurriedly by the Ibos of Eastern Nigeria, may

Britain has huge investments in the country's resources—oil, cotton, foods of all descriptions, timber and tobacco and a variety of minerals including tin. The bulk of this valuable resources are in Eastern Nigeria. Economically, the new republic might be able to stand on its own feet, perhaps with ease. But the rest of the country, especially the north, could not afford this secession. There is grave doubt among the experts that the rest of the country could survive financially without the east.

The warning, therefore, of Nigeria's military ruler Lt.-Col. Yakubu Gowon that he will use force to prevent the country's disintegration is made more ominous because it contains a note of desperation.

The threat of force is backed up by military strength. Although Nigeria has no major arsenal, it has aircraft and field guns as well as mortars and small arms. It is understood that while Eastern Nigeria has Red Guards, can be made to swallow any absurd fad or philosophy and, if pushed and prodded hard enough, can even be persuaded to participate in spontaneous street demonstrations.

Surely the youngsters must realize that any revolution urged on them by their elders is a phony. I think the intelligent ones do see it; they know that the NDP and the academic Left and the liberal Establishment are really looking for bodies, for votes, or simply for an ego-satisfying audience.

Kids today are being deprived of the precious privilege of taking spontaneous, individual action. They are being told — by Timothy Leary and others — to drop out of school, quit or not it's a good idea in their case, or even what they themselves want to do. Get with it! 'Drop Out! Turn on! Phooey! Who says we have to?

The poor teen-agers — caught between one group of authoritarians, their teachers, and a whole new bunch, the self-appointed gurus who are either working off residual resentments against their own former teachers or, as in Leary's case, have freaked out of society and haven't the guts to take the consequences.

My advice to youth is — beware of advice. If you have to be told how to find damnation you're probably not the type that will enjoy it anyhow.

Teen's Complaint

Teens—Beware of "Group" Fads!

DENNIS BRAITHWAITE
In The Globe and Mail

It is time the UN, or somebody, promulgated a universal declaration of freedom for teenagers. Though ostensibly freer than any youngsters in history, today's kids are being badgered, brainwashed, fattened and exploited by a whole passle of surrogate parents who are telling them what to think, what to wear, what to hate, when to stand up, when to sit down.

They are being conditioned by newspapers, TV and radio, by advertisers, by ministers or religion, by guidance officers and by Paul Goodman and Marshall McLuhan. The other night, as part of the CBC's earnest youth study, The Restless Years, there was Laurier LaPierre haranguing students in a park to get out and do something, anything, so long as it was some kind of mob action. "You should be demonstrating," he shouted. "You should be out protesting against conscription and war!" What's that? Why, that's the policy of arbitration." Compulsory to do with the young? Do they even know what it is? What it has got to do with is the NDP; it's part of their campaign to fight it. And isn't LaPierre a declared candidate for the NDP? "You should be taking part in group activity," he declared. "Anyone who works alone is a fool," Yeah, that Thomas Edison working away in his lab; what a nut. And Georges Frederick Handel, secluding himself like that while trying to whomp up the Messiah without a committee to help him out. Collectivists like LaPierre see this 'youth as a vast seminar populated by an unending supply of malleable undergraduates who, like Mao's

Executives' Tough Grind

Buffalo Evening-News

A recent survey by the Executive Guild of Chicago discovered that the average U.S. business executive earns $28,268 a year, which isn't at all bad. But he also spends well over an hour a day commuting, works 2.4 hours a week at home doing office chores and vacations only 11.8 days a year. A determined executive could grow pretty tired, as well as affluent, on such a schedule. Perhaps the answer is for them to use a slice of their salaries to hire a union negotiator to get them better fringe benefits.

Sharp Brings Down Budget in House of Commons Tonight

Few others would have relished the unpopular tasks of his first 21 months in the portfolio.

He sparred with provinces over fiscal demands, fought to hold collectives to a practical expansion of their programs, and put a rein on dangerous elements of current economic expansion.

Along the way, he has gained the reputation — rightly or wrongly — as the cabinet's small-c conservative strongman.

His detractors paint him in the bureaucratic tradition, recalling 16 years he spent in civil service positions during the 1940s and 1950s.

But some economists suggest the direction he takes in his budget speech at 8 p.m. EDT will mark the first true test of his reputation for financial orthodoxy.

If he is a budget-balancer in the old mold, he will raise taxes to cover the projected increase in federal spending.

If he follows the modern Keynesian tradition, he may permit a federal deficit as mild stimulation for an economy that needs it.

Mr. Sharp, prominently mentioned in recurrent speculation about the next Liberal party leader, has done much recently to contradict an impression he takes a rather narrow approach to the problems of government.

By his own account, he makes caution a keyword in examining proposals that come to him. But in guiding the economy he has made at least one substantial departure from tradition, by levying a refundable tax on corporation profits.

He proved to be a skilled political craftsman in dealing with the provinces last year on tax-sharing and in handling the journey of the important new tax act through Parliament this spring.

In his many speeches outside Ottawa he has emphasized the prerogatives of his portfolio and laid the rational framework for subsequent decisions and announcements.

Those who work with him say he runs an efficient office, dealing quickly and decisively with an immense volume of paper work.

In contrast to his sometimes stone-faced appearance before television cameras, he breaks often into one of Parliament Hill's biggest grins. He will stop unexpectedly in his work when he is reminded of a joke he would like to share with aides.

Mr. Sharp will buy one good cigar at a time, and puff reflectively as he faces examination by parliamentary committees.

He came to Ottawa in 1942 at the request of Clifford Clark, then deputy finance minister. He worked for nine years in the finance department, first as Mr. Clark's assistant and later as director of the economic policy division.

Mr. Sharp switched to the trade department as associate deputy minister in 1951. He has recalled pointedly that he led negotiations for Canada on the first agreements for wheat sales to Russia. The sales themselves began later under a Conservative government.

Mr. Sharp left the civil service in 1958 to become vice-president of the International utilities firm, Brazilian Traction Light and Power Co.

He organized the Liberals' 1960 thinkers' conference at Kingston, chaired the policy committee of the national Liberal rally in 1961, and finally ran unsuccessfully as a Liberal candidate against Conservative Donald Fleming in 1962.

Mr. Sharp won election in Toronto Eglinton in 1963 by an 8,225-vote majority, and entered the cabinet as trade minister. He became finance minister Dec. 15, 1965, and presented a full-fledged budget March 28, 1966, and what he termed a mini-budget last Dec. 19.

Appliance Prices To Rise

TORONTO (CP) — Prices of most major household appliances will rise in three per cent "in the very near future," the Canadian Appliance Manufacturers Association was told Wednesday.

J. C. Cooper of Toronto, president of Moffats Ltd., told about 125 CAMA members at their annual convention the industry can no longer absorb rising wages and increases in basic materials' costs and taxes.

"Prices of major items now are below what they were in 1956," Mr. Cooper said. "We readied for fall. Other figures expects to increase in prices with new lines now being readied for fall. Other firms should follow."

Mr. Cooper and several other delegates suggested the appliance industry should end its fear timidity about raising prices.

The CAMA marketing research committee predicted appliance sales will level off to a 1.5-per-cent increase this year from the 3.7-per-cent annual growth of the last five years. The main reason, the committee said, is the drop in housing starts during 1966 - at 134,500 units, the lowest number since 1962.

They forecast that house building will pick up again in 1968, and appliance sales will increase by 6.5 per cent annually from then through 1971.

$10,500,000 Rig

Shell Uses Giant Drill Rig In West Coast Oil Hunt

VICTORIA (CP)—Sedco 135F, the West Coast's newest mechanical monster, will leave here by the weekend for her drilling station 20 miles into the Pacific Ocean and the start of a vast treasure hunt.

The $10,500,000 drilling rig, built by Victoria MacRicery Depot, will search for oil to depths of 12,000 feet along the continental shelf off the B.C. coast where Shell Oil Co. has 13,500,000 underwater acres of drilling permits.

The 17,500-ton rig, pulled by tugs, was scheduled to leave on the 6th this Tuesday night but departure was postponed because of a few minor technical problems but will definitely sail Thursday or Friday.

It will take two to three days, depending on winds and seas encountered, to reach its first destination, 20 miles west of Ucluelet.

The giant rig, with a triangular deck almost as big as a football field and legs 145 feet high, finished her sea trials near Victoria last week. After the trials Victoria MacRicery depot president Harold Husband said the semi - submersible vessel went through submersion, machinery and anchor-laying tests "completely successfully" and had been turned over to Southwestern Commonwealth Drilling Ltd.

Valid built the rig for Southeastern on behalf of Shell Oil.

The rig, which has a helicopter landing pad, will be manned by a crew of 42. It is anchored by means of eight anchors, each weighing 120 pounds each. It has a displacement of 18,000 tons. The 171 - pod structure stands on three pontoons, each 150 feet long, 60 feet wide and 30 feet high. Each pontoon weighs 750 tons.

Shell is reported to have spent $20,000,000 on 277-drilling exploratory tests off the west coast, starting seismic testing in 1963.

B.C. mines and petroleum resources minister Brothers has called the holding of Shell as "the birth of a brand new industry . . . one that will em-

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Stock Exchange edged fractionally higher in morning trading today, snapping a four-day decline.

The market followed the trend set New York and the industrial index rose .13 to 161.57.

The market is in a five-week slump and since the end of April the industrial index has dropped more than seven points. Anxiety over the Middle East has been blamed for the sharp declines.

Bank of Montreal moved up ⅛ to 62¾, Massey - Ferguson ⅛ to 22⅜ and Becker Milk and Sterling ¼ each to 8¾ and 22½. CIL and Dominion Textile fell ⅛ each to 21⅜ and 20¼.

Trading was extremely light and by 11 a.m. only 456,000 shares had changed hands compared with 518,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Western oils also rebounded from early losses as Canadian Superior rose ¼ to 35 and Pacific Petes ¼ to 13⅝.

Kerr Addison edged up ⅛ to 14⅛ in golds and United Keno Hill 30 cents to 5.70 among silver issues.

On index, golds were up .34 to 168.07 and western oils 1.42 to 153.30. Base metals dipped .42 to 94.74.

Prices took a beating Wednesday under heavy selling pressure.

Bank stocks, Imperial-Commerce fell 1¼ to 65½, Montreal ¾ to 62¼, Royal ¼ to 71¼ and Toronto Dominion ¼ to 49¾.

Consolidated Paper was down 1 to 38⅛, Loeb ¼ to 12½ and Provincial Pipe Line ¼ to 20¼.

Among base metals, Mclntyre bolted ¼ to 44¼, Falconbridge fault ¾ to 11⅜ and Rio Algom ¾ to 21¾, Hudson's Bay retreated 1¼ to 30½ in western oils.

A total of 30 issues fell to yearly lows while nine reached 1967 highs.

Golds, golds were down .66 to 167.73, base metals .21 to 96.16 and western oils 2.34 to 149.85. Volume was 2,315,000 shares compared with 2,139,000 Tuesday.

Companies Don't Qualify

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Stock Exchange said Wednesday no listed mining or oil company is qualified to issue treasury shares through facilities of the exchange under terms of an Ontario regulation effective today.

Under the new Ontario Securities Act, all outstanding underwriting and option agreements as of June 1 must be requalified through submission of a "statement of material facts" acceptable to the exchange an dthe Ontario Securities Commission. No company has done so, the exchange says.

As a result, there will be no primary distribution list in Ontario stock market quotations until some company qualifies under the new regulation.

Open New Store

PICTON — Picton's newest supermarket, a branch store of the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company, opened its doors this morning to a large crowd of citizens.

Formerly owned and operated by Sam Gentile, it was vacated only a week ago and the staff have re - floored and re - shelved it for today's opening.

Practically all the stock has been replaced, but further plans for alterations have been put off until later in the year.

Nice and easy.

It's nice work, making a whisky that tastes as easy as 5 Star. But it's no easy job.

It means selecting very special whiskies from our five distilleries across Canada. (Only Seagram's has five, by the way). Then blending and re-blending them to get 5 Star's easy taste.

Is the taste worth all the trouble? Very easy for you to find out.

Building Code Provides for Handicapped

Dear Doris: Some time ago a wheelchair reader wrote in outlining obstacles faced by handicapped people in getting around.

People used to frame questions about them, because of pretty, sympathetic and otherwise, but couldn't solve the problem when the jobs ran out. Now there is a National Building Code of Canada. Many of the ideas can be incorporated easily into new buildings, often with just additional cost. Walter, Rehabilitation in Canada, Ottawa, Ontario, points out specific: "Everything important in life seems to be at the top of the stairway."

Checking through the Standards, I note such commonplace things as doorways, door-sills and surfaces, floor gradient walks, hand rails on ramps, one large enough toilet stall with grab bar, etc., accommodating toilet, bath and basin with low-enough equipment, and many other ingenious provisions.

Every Canadian architect and builder should have these standards in mind when designing and constructing a new public building. Copies may be had from The Secretary, Associate Committee on the National Building Code, National Research Council, Ottawa, Canada.

Dear Doris: I am a boy 14 and have super diabetes. The doctor thought it best not to tell my mother, who lately has been worrying about the slightest little things. Doctor says Mum would worry about me and prepare special food etc., and would eventually get very sick.

My problem is: When I go to parties or out with friends, how can I explain this? I must not eat anything containing sugar! Whatever else I prepare, Mum must not know about me being diabetic. — Suggestion

Dear Suggestion: Just say you are "watching your diet". We do this when we are (1) reducing, (2) trying to get rid of pimples, (3) putting on cavities. People are far more fond conscious than they used to be.

Most of the time, say nothing at all. You can avoid the sweets, pop, (except the low-calorie kind), with hardly a murmur from anybody these days.

But if Mum should become suspicious, talk again with the doc. She might worry more over a nyumyum than if she were confided in.

Confidential to Miss B. M.; Sask.: I cannot send you the information until you send me a complete name and address, preferably on a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

To Broken Hearted: Just shows she wasn't ready to go steady in the first place. You haven't said a word about age, but I'm guessing you aren't either.

If it's love, it will last. Put it to the test by broadening your circle of friends. You will never have a better chance.

Are you in doubt about the proper etiquette to use for your special occasion? A. & H. Doris, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope for her reply.

Cream of Cucumber Soup Tasty Gourmet Dish

By MARY MOORE

Two ago when chatting with the editor of a women's newspaper, naturally we were discussing recipes and cooking and when he told me he was a Sunday cook.

SKINNER by James A. Kelly

I asked him what his specialties were and he said, "for one thing, cucumber soup." He said he had become famous for it. Ever since I have been hankering for his recipe.

Then, two weeks ago, the chef who prepared gourmet dinners for our monthly press club dinners served it to us. On the spot I decided I had to learn to make it. Without ques tioning Frank, sister and I got our heads together and created our own Cream of Cucumber Soup and served it for dinner on Sunday.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Macaroni and Cheese with Ground Beef and Tomato Topping; Broccoli; Mashed Turnip; Relishes: Carrot and Celery Strips, Chunk Pickles; Frosted Jelly; Ginger Snaps; Coffee.

SUNDAY
(Guests)

Chicken Quarters Baked in Mushroom Soup; Buttered Bread Noodles; Asparagus with Hollandaise; Sliced Tomato and Avocado Salad on Lettuce; French Dressing; Orange Meringue Surprise (see Wednesday); Tea.

CREAM OF CUCUMBER SOUP (Serves 8)

NOTE: This is easy to make perfectly delicious and posh, too, so amateurs and experienced hostesses should have a go at it.

5 tbsps. butter
6 tbsps. flour
1¼ tsps. salt
3 cups milk
1 large fresh cucumber
2 tsps. butter (second amount)
1 slice of onion, chopped
¼ tsp. curry powder
1 cup milk (second amount)
2 cups water
2 egg yolks, beaten
Chopped chives or parsley (for garnish)

In top of double boiler prepare a white sauce by melting the 5 tbsps. butter, stirring in the flour and salt until blended, then stirring in the 3 cups milk until thick. Keep hot in covered double boiler. Pare and slice and chop finely the cucumber. In large frying pan saute it slowly in the 2 tbsps. butter for 2 min., then add the chopped onion and curry powder and saute gently until onion is clear, but not brown at all. Add the 1 cup milk and the water and simmer 3 min., covered. Combine with hot hot white sauce and taste for seasoning. Pour into preheated soup tureen over the 2 beaten egg yolks, stirring to blend. Garnish with chopped chives or parsley and serve at once.

NOTES: 1) If desired one blade of mace may be added to pan when you are sauteing the vegetables.

2) If desired chicken stock may be used instead of the water in above recipe.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Johnny has to sit at the table until he eats his peas. If I let him, he would live on hamburgers and fruit and never touch a vegetable."

Serve a tiny portion of vegetables on Johnny's plate at each meal, and eventually he'll taste them — and maybe like them.

Make as little fuss as possible about Johnny's likes and dislikes of food. It won't do much good — and may turn him against certain vegetables for life.

Soldier's Wife Requests Private Homecoming

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Now that you have made it clear that the wife of a soldier in Vietnam is not obligated to share her husband's letters with her mother-in-law, please settle another problem.

My brother will be returning from Vietnam within 60 days. We live in a large city which is a debarkation point. This means he will be flying direct. His wife has asked me to instruct my parents not to go to the airport to meet him. She wants to meet him with the children and asks that no one else be present to witness the highly charged emotional experience. She says they will "go home as a family" for a few hours, and call when they are ready for "guests."

I hate to give my parents this message. I'm afraid they will be terribly hurt. I think my sister-in-law is being selfish. Do you agree? — DENVER.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR DENVER: Your sister-in-law sounds adorable. I hope you will refuse to be a party to her selfishness. If she wants to behave like a spoiled brat tell her to do her own dirty work.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The letter from the Bronxville female presented a fairly solid case for "The Other Woman." She insisted that "The other woman" is not always a tramp and listed among her dazzling credentials a master's degree from Columbia University and a position which pays her $200 a week.

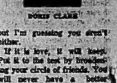
One of her principal virtues, she boasted, was a keen appreciation for life and the good things it has to offer. This, she said, is what attracted the man whose wife's philosophy was "Life is a dung heap."

I would like to inquire why a woman so much on the ball would settle for a married man. Surely a desirable, attractive, successful, unattached female with a keen appreciation for life, would be a highly desirable candidate for marriage. Why is she content with a back-alley relationship. She accuses her playmate's wife of having a screw loose. Wouldn't you say she has a similar problem? — SPY GLASS.

* * *

DEAR SPY: I would, indeed. Women who become involved with married men are frequently self-deprecating martyr types. Any gal who finds herself in this spot more than once should face up to this possibility.

* * *



DEAR ANN: There is a fad going around school. One student plays like he is the judge and he "marries" a couple who like each other a lot.

The couple that pretends they are getting married invites some of their best friends to the "ceremony" and then the couple kisses at the end and everyone congratulates them. Most of these "marriages" take place right after school, by the locker, or during lunch, in a corner of the lunch room.

A guy who sis next to me in many of my classes has asked me if I would like to marry him in one of these play ceremonies. It's just fun and doesn't mean anything, but I don't know if I want to go that far even for a joke. What do you think? — UNWED AT 13.

DEAR UNWED: You're in a tough spot — too old to play house for fun and too young to get married for real. My advice is to pass up the wedding ceremony and let "the groom" buy you an ice cream cone instead.

'Woman and Her World' Is Theme At Sons of Jacob Auxiliary Tea

Boruch Adas Adonai Shabachaug Vehayom, Lemaan Hash.." So, in Hebrew, thanks were given for one of the loveliest days of this spring season, when the Sons of Jacob Ladies' Auxiliary held its annual tea and bazaar on Wednesday afternoon in the auditorium of the synagogue.

The theme of the bazaar was "Woman and Her World, 1867-1967," and was symbolized by mannequins in centennial costume and miniatures, flanking a globe on a pedestal.

Around the room were many spring flowers, with several tall baskets filled with red geraniums. Centennial flags were evident everywhere. The merchandise tables were draped in white with the centennial symbol done in red. The tea table, in white linen, was centred by a beautiful and unique arrangement of red carnations, with red candles in silver candlesticks on either side.

The individual tea tables complimented the large table, bearing red carnation centrepieces. Mrs. S. L. Albert, Mrs. I. Shulman, Mrs. Jo. Vanover and Mrs. S. C. Rose were responsible for the decorations.

Overall conveners were Mrs. S. L. Albert and Mrs. S. C. Rose. At the door guests were received by the president, Mrs. N. Albert. Mrs. W. Seligmann and Mrs. J. Basch, president of Belleville Hadassah.

A baking table boasted all kinds of eye-appealing and palate goodies. This was convened by Mrs. I. Shulman assisted by Mrs. J. Albert, Mrs. B. Weisinger, Mrs. J. Oldberg and Mrs. H. Vanover. The white elephant table was attended by Mrs. Jo. Vanover, Mrs. T. Schwab, Mrs. A. Shulster and Mrs. J. Basch. Dowstairs in the "Talmud Torah," the room for religious education for the children, a great variety of clothing for all members of the family was being sold to eager customers. This room was in charge of Mrs. N. Albert and Mrs. S. Schiels.

Convener of the tea room was Mrs. J. N. Vanover, assisted by Mrs. A. Shulster, Mrs. M. Tuchsprung, Mrs. L. Vigodis, Mrs. J. Basch, Mrs. L. Jouzard, Mrs. M. Levine and Mrs. M. Hoisman. Mrs. J. Landsberg replenished the plates. Those who poured tea during the afternoon were Mrs. W. Seligmann, Mrs. H. Rose and Mrs. A. Blumenfeld. Treasurer was Mrs. S. Black.

Articles of many kinds were on display on the stage in the afternoon, preparatory to being auctioned in the evening.

Holloway Street UCW Holds Centennial Tea

Yesterday afternoon the attractive Centennial tea and bazaar at Holloway Street United Church, was held under the sponsorship of the United Church Women with Mrs. Fred Wilson as president.

Everywhere exquisite bouquets of chrysanthemums, together with the immaculate surroundings, and the flitting figures of lovely women attired in sweeping gowns of long ago, took one back to the days that are no more; when time was not at a premium, and there seemed time for dainty tasks, and friendly fellowships with one another.

RECEIVING

Receiving the guests at the front door were: Mrs. W. Lamb, wife of the pastor of the church; Mrs. Fred Wilson, U.C.W. president; Mrs. J. Dills, and Mrs. O. Outingdyke. At the side door: Mrs. W. Townson; Mrs. J. Cordeau; Mrs. R. Taylor, and Mrs. J. Reid, and at a side table centred with tiny white mums and rose-colored ribbon were the treasurers, Mrs. C. W. Wannamaker; Mrs. G. Coulter; Mrs. H. Dixon and Mrs. B. Morman.

The bazaar, which was officially opened by his worship mayor Ellis, and the church pastor, the Rev. W. Lamb, each of whom spoke briefly congratulating the ladies on their labor of love, and wishing them every success, was a delight to the eyes. Everywhere the Centennial motif was in evidence, and everywhere, too, flitted the charming ladies of the long ago in costumes quaint and lovely, making each guest at home.

One of the first exhibits was that of the centennial dolls, made and demonstrated by Mrs. Jim Ketcheson. Here were dolls showing the prevailing styles from 1867 to 1900.

The home cooking rectangle was replete with all manner of pies, tarts, cakes, and typified the centennial theme by ten triangles of colorful cakelets. Mrs. K. Foote and her assistants were in charge here. This booth also demonstrated the co-the-spot hobby of bread and buns. This was accomplished in the new up-to-date kitchen.

Rug hooking was also on view, with Mrs. Allian Peddis as demonstrator, who showed samples of 'hooking,' one of which was the crest of Canada, a beautifully executed piece of artistic handicraft. Mrs. M. Williams showed fine braided rugs, as well as a round hooked rug, with floral effect.

One of the eye-catching displays was that of the baby cristening robe, made by Mrs. Jack Cavanaugh's grandmother, Mrs. Inverarity of McConnell and worn by both Mrs. Cavanaugh's brothers and herself, and her son. It was made about 1897. A lovely piece of handiwork with lace and tucks. Nearby were the cradle and buggy, the cradle over 100 years old, as was the buggy.

In the craft room were several women attired in the centennial dress; Mrs. Talbot Ketcheson attired in the fashionable alpaca of that time, was sitting in an old-time rocker, a partial sank of grey wool and knitting needles in her lap, and behind her a large ancient clock, and quilts, dating back 100 years.

Mrs. A. Gilroy demonstrated handweaving on a loom. Articles made included lunch eon mats; blankets in wool; and dress lengths of which she made one into a dress.

The immediate tea room was a thing of beauty and charm. The two tea tables were identically appointed with damask, centred by a gorgeous red and white. Those who presided included: Mrs. J. Ellis; Mrs. L. Griffin; Mrs. E. M. Hubbs; Mrs. T. F. Townsend; Mrs. J. Mills; Mrs. I. Knight, and Mrs. J. D. Robertson.

Tea room hostesses were: Mrs. N. Brown; Mrs. G. Dobbs; Mrs. F. Hoyt, and Mrs. M. Hick. All those ladies were beautifully and attractively gowned for the occasion; some in royal purple with pinks holding the line - light. Most were matching old time hats, either in wide brims or in the sunbonnet effect, lavishly adorned with ruffled lace, and a simulated hat with mauve ostrich plumes adorable spot of color. Many costumes assisted in the reflexishing.

Church Groups

CHRIST CHURCH W.A. EVENING BRANCH

Members of the Evening Branch W.A. of Christ Church met Monday evening for the monthly business meeting followed by an auction sale.

The prayer service was conducted by the president, Mrs. A. Bongard with Mrs. L. Mason and Miss Frances Clarke assisting. Mrs. L. Williams was pianist.

The president expressed appreciation for the members' help at the J. A. banquet, the rummage and Auction Sales. She thanked Mrs. H. Stevens' group for the social evening which followed the rummage sale.

Mr. Larson from the Bell Telephone company showed excellent slides on Expo '67. Mrs. A. Cooper thanked him and presented him with a gift in appreciation.

It was decided to send a girl to Camp Hyanto this summer. The booklets "Forward" will be sent to Hartings Manor again this year. $10. was voted to the Canadian Bible Society Auxiliary of the British and Foreign Bible Society.

Members were reminded of Carousel '67, the parish bazaar in November also Variety Night in October.

Mrs. D. Godden spoke to the group and explained meals-on-wheels. Christ Church will be host for July.

Following prayers a lively auction sale enjoyed with Mrs. H. Stevens and Mrs. C. Ling as auctioneers.

Tea hostesses were Mrs. A. V. Smith and Mrs. V. Eagle.

Next week will be the potluck supper to bring activities to a close until fall.

Mass Production Market Force to Be Reckoned With

PARIS (Reuters) — Top French couture designers and their ready-to-wear rivals now are in a position comparable to the proverbial chicken and the egg.

No one knows exactly which comes first.

In France, the mass-production market now is a force to be reckoned with. It no longer can be counted the poor star sister of Paris couture.

French ready-to-wear clothes no longer are watered - down copies of influential silhouettes launched in the high - fashion salons.

During the last year, particularly since the mini - skirts and youth trend eclipsed all other fashion trends, the couturiers have frequently been influenced by specific ideas evolved by the group of creative designers working for the ready-to-wear industry.

Mass-produced lines, ranging from the low - priced clothes shown at the twice - yearly ready-to-wear salons at the Porte de Versailles to the couturiers' own ready-made boutique collections, are shown three months before the couture presentations.

Most store buyers now purchase their basic stock for the next season without regard for any innovation which the couturiers may attempt in July or at the end of January.

The French ready - to - wear fashion industry employs some 1,300 different firms, employing about 50,000 people.

During the last 12 years, the industry has doubled its turnover, achieving volume sales of two billion francs—about $400,000,000 a year.

At the end of April, the autumn and winter ready-to-wear salons, with a collective showing at the Porte de Versailles and stands in three major Paris hotels, drew 8,000 professional French buyers and 3,000 foreign guests.

While adaptations of Yves Saint Laurent's trouser - and-tunic suits are seen throughout the collections, the ready-to-wear designers are creating their own new looks with the "dandy" line, the major-ettes, the military and a liberal dose of Russian influence.

Such young, swinging, ready-to-wear designers as Victoire, Ted Lapidus and the singer-stylist, Sylvie Vartan, get maximum credit for launching the "mini-look" in France — and they have no intention of relinquishing it.

Coats in the new collections frequently are cut shorter than those of the 1966 season. New models, worn over mini - skirts, look more like elongated, belted sweater coats. The safari style persists, featuring long belted jackets worn with dirndl skirts or over trousers of the shorts. These are another example of a trend which started early in November in the ready-to-wear collections.

"Dandies," a slightly softer version of the safari look, feature wide, flaring, trapeze shapes with extra shoulder collars, epaulettes and brass buttons.

Capes and ponchos emerge everywhere, heralding the return to fullness which also reappears in hot pleated or bias-cut culotte skirts.

DANGEROUS PLACE

Club Activities

HARMONY STUDIO CLUB

The Harmony Studio Club held its final meeting of the season Saturday night at the home of Mrs. E. Veley, RMT.

Mrs. Veley announced the annual recital would be held in the Quinte Secondary auditorium of Prince Charles' Public School.

The program consisted of work prepared for the June Conservatory examinations by the following pupils: Susan Mc-Gregor, Dawn Brown, Mary Tsichlas, Joel Oliver; grade 4, Frances Hamilton, Ann Mc-Gregor, Gordon Smith; grade 5, Beverly Lewis, Ann Kosbala, Deborah Green; grade 6, Carolyn Lewis, grade 7, Evelyn Terry, Linda Noakes; grade 8, Heather Sutherland, Sheryle Crotiner; grade 9, Susan Sweet.

James Noakes concluded the program with a solo. Mrs. Veley presented him with the grade 10 certificate for having successfully met all necessary requirements of the Royal Conservatory of Music. Mrs. Veley presented him with a token of appreciation on behalf of the club. Mr. Noakes will continue his education at the University of Toronto in the fall.

Hadassah Chapter Concludes Bridge Tourney

The 1966-1967 bridge tournament sponsored by the Belleville Chapter of Hadassah was brought to a successful conclusion at the Synagogue last Thursday evening.

After a social game of bridge, prizes for that evening were awarded to Mrs. A. S. Lewis, Mrs. H. Mott, Mrs. B. S. Smith; consolation, Mrs. F. Carscallen, and hidden score, Mrs. T. Borotski.

Mrs. J. Basch, Chapter president, welcomed the guests and expressed thanks to those participating for their support of this worthwhile endeavor.

After refreshments were served tournament prizes were awarded first, Mrs. S. Black and Mrs. S. C. Rose; second, Mrs. R. Smith and Mrs. G. Black; third, Mrs. F. Vealland and Mrs. H. Kolar. First section prize went to Mrs. H. Mott and Mrs. H. Townsend; second section prize went to Mrs. Jessie White and Mrs. D. McGlashon.

Christ Church Parish Guild Holds Blossom Tea

Baskets of spring flowers decorated Christ Church Parish Hall Wednesday afternoon for the Blossom Tea sponsored by the Parish Guild. Against the rear wall a centennial symbol was mounted, each triangle bearing a colored sketch of a provincial flower emblem. Mounted below on a gold screen were the provincial crests.

Guests were received by the president, Mrs. G. O. Livingston, Mrs. F. Lester and Mrs. R. Wallbridge. Mrs. J. M. Cousins was general convener.

Mrs. H. Wright was in charge of the sewing table where aprons, children's pyjamas, cushions, fancy work and aprons and dresses were for sale. Cut flowers, house plants and slips were offered at the flower table convened by Mrs. William Day. Miss F. Fitzgerald was in charge of the white elephant table, Mrs. T. O. Day convened the candy table and Mrs. J. Vesterfelt was in charge of the home baking table on the platform. Toys, dolls and dolls' wardrobes were offered at the toy table conveped by Mrs. T. W. Day.

Guests entered the tea room through an archway entwined with boughs of apple blossom. Baskets of mauve lilacs and purple and yellow tulips stood on either side of the Arch. Those in charge of the tea table, covered with a white damask cloth, was centred with an arrangement of pink and white carnations and blue flags in a silver bowl. Pink candles in silver candelabra complimented the centrepiece. Pouring tea during the afternoon were Mrs. R. B. Wright, Mrs. Bernard Wright, Mrs. Horace Wright, Mrs. Welsh and Mrs. A. Jordon.

Individual tables, covered with white cloths, were centred with tulips and lily-of-the-valley in gold covered containers.

welcoming patrons and serving were Mrs. F. Bastby, Mrs. G. Dimont, Mrs. C. Tucker and Mrs. J. Hindley.

Duke and Duchess of Windsor Soon To Mark 30th Wedding Anniversary

NEW YORK (AP) — In the sun - bathed room overlooking Manhattan, the Duke of Windsor hoisted black on an extraordinary life.

"There have been 30 wonderful years for me, and it has been the same for the duchess," he told 1,000 friends as he placed his half-kensed tortoise shell glasses on the glossy cocktail table before him.

"Life has never been dull. Not a moment."

Occasionally, he drew on a pipe. Its aromas mingled with the perfume of flowers.

The duke had apologies from his duchess, the woman for whom he had given up his throne.

"She is not feeling well this afternoon. We have had a bit too much social life lately. I'm afraid."

Along with numerous charity benefits whose chief supporters always automatically guarantees success, have been some private parties in honor of one of their 30th wedding anniversary June 3.

It will be crowned off their busy social calendar is the American premiere of the film "A King's Story" tonight. The event will benefit the New York Hospital for Special Surgery, the duke's favorite charity.

May 31, the duke and duchess will seat for Britain where, for the first time since his abdication and their marriage, the duchess has been invited to a Royal Family function—the unveiling by the Queen of a plaque in memory of Queen Mary, the duke's mother, June 7, outside Marlborough House where Queen Mary lived.

They will be going home to a new kind of Britain, a swinging Britain that gave the world the mini-skirt and the Beatles.

The duke's blue eyes twinkled.

"I used to strum the ukelele when I was young," he said, shifting his shiny patent leather moccasins on the beige carpeted floor. "I've recorded another British influence on rock 'n' roll.

The duke, now 72, rested his arms on the French chair and mused:

"If there's any recompense for growing old, it is what you learn from experience. The trouble is youth won't listen.

"I would wish from Charles a strong handshaking arm," the duke said. "All my family needs now." Other than that he does not care to offer any advice to the heir to the throne, his grand nephew.

All in all, he his his post hundreds of thousands of people from all walks of life.

"The duchess and I were just talking about that. She loved meeting people more than I do. She is much better at remembering her. She enjoys finding out what they think and do. But I've met so many. I've had my share of that."

Because the couple have a house in Paris and one in the French countryside, their routine is different there.

"The duchess is such a perfectionist that running the households are quite wearing for her."

"Here," said the duke, gesturing at the bleak-to-gaze-upon gray skyline, "that's not our home. Those aren't our things. It is a relaxation just getting away from the routine."

In 1951, having allowed time for passions to cool over his abdication but convinced that memories might fade or records disappear, the duke put in long and tedious days at his desk writing his autobiography.

"Though it proved my fate to sacrifice my cherished British heritage along with all the years in its service," he wrote in the last paragraph, "I today draw comfort from the knowledge that time has long since sanctified a true and faithful token."

MR. AND MRS. WILLIAM J. MOFFAT

Moffat – Petrowsky

Rev. Rostyslaw Pancenko officiated at the marriage of Tina Petrowsky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mikhail Petrowsky, Oshawa, to William James Moffat, son of Mr. and Mrs. William MacIntosh Moffat of Belleville.

The ceremony took place in St. John's Ukrainian Greek Orthodox Church, Oshawa, with the St. Demetrian's Cathedral choir, Toronto, providing the background music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a semi-formal A-line hand made gown of white silk crepe enhanced by French lace edging on the bell shaped sleeves and around the neckline. Satin headdress was a high pillbox of French lace encrusted with seed pearls, holding a shoulder-length veil edged with seed pearls, and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Lucy Petrowsky, Toronto, was her sister's maid of honor and Miss Olga Sibach, Toronto, was the bridesmaid.

Richard Moffatt was the best man and Grant Prestestone was the usher. Both attendants are from Belleville.

Wounded Girl Photographer Wants to Return to Action

ABOARD USS SANCTUARY (AP) — Catherine Leroy, the petite French photographer who lived in a mortar bunker near Con Thien, looked like a beaten child Sunday as she lay in white sheets and pillows on this hospital ship.

Her face was swollen and bandages covered wounds on her face, neck, both upper arms, her left hand, her chest and her legs. Cathy, only 22, looked up with frightened eyes and said: "I was scared. It was so awful."

The words came awkwardly because her neck was broken and her jaw was fractured.

On May 19 more than three inches pieces of steel had ripped into her 85 - pound body while she travelled with U.S. marines operating on the demilitarized zone.

"When I think about the mortars, I see it all again," Cathy said. "I can hear them. I didn't hear the one that hit me, though. A helicopter was leaving and made too much noise.

"I was walking across an open space and had passed seven men digging foxholes, and suddenly my head began to ring.

"It was like a lot of music. I was floating. The music was strange, sort of surrealistic. I got dizzy and my eyes went funny. Suddenly I fell to my knees.

"I thought I was falling apart. I realized I'd been hit but I didn't know where. The sun felt so hot. My cameras were all covered with blood and I tried to clean them off. The music was still going on. I saw my fatigues were all bloody. My teeth felt like they were going to pieces.

"A corpsman began to cut off my bloody clothes. When he reached my bra — it was new and he'd been pure white, now it was pure red — he started to cut it off. I tried to stop him. He said, 'Coma on, come on, this is no time for embarrassed.' So I got to look.'

"More men were shooting and running over. They called for more bandages. I realized then I had many wounds. They bandaged both legs and wrapped me in a poncho."

As Cathy remembers it, the tank ride back to Con Thien was not too painful. But she was spitting blood all the time and couldn't be given any water, for which she thirsted. From Con Thien a helicopter took her to the deck of the sanctuary in the South China Sea.

"Hey," a corpsman shouted as she was brought into an examining room. "This is a woman, a blonde, a girl." She is the only female patient aboard, although 25 female nurses keep her from feeling totally isolated in a sea of men.

Cathy was in the operating room three hours.

"They said I should stay another three weeks," Cathy continued. "I guess this is about the best place I could be if I have to be in a hospital. Everyone treats me very nice and it's calm out here and clean."

And after that?

"I'll get back covering the war," she said.

"Why do I want to stay? I don't know exactly. I guess I just want to. A matter of taste. I want to take good pictures before I'm — better than anybody else. So I have to be where things are happening."

EDMONTON (CP)—The Alberta Association of Registered Nurses said it recorded the largest number of active members in its 51 years. Active members registered last year were 7,050, 694 more than the previous year.

The Experts Say

Individuality Should Be Keynote In Selection of Fine Bone China

By KARIN MOSER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Individuality should be the keynote in your selection of fine bone china, says Ann Tomlinson, Canadian representative of a 200-year-old British firm.

"The homemaker's personality should be projected into her table setting and what is right and comfortable for her will also please the family and any guests she may entertain."

Mrs. Tomlinson began working with the Royal Worcester Co. in England about four years ago and now makes her home in Toronto where she still represents the firm.

Prior to that, she carried on an active interest in china antiques for 25 years.

"I am always surprised by the misconception so many people have about the delicacy of china. In reality, fine bone china is far more durable than cheap earthenware and as a result will stand up much longer under constant usage. Furthermore, bone china does not chip easily, so it can be handled with a relative amount of ease."

One thing to remember is not to stack good china one plate directly on top of another or place one cup just inside another. This type of storage often results in scratches to the pattern of the set. "Just place a doily or a napkin between each plate and always hang cups on hooks."

"Fine china when thumped will emit a bell-like clear ring. If the china is of a poor quality, it will respond more with a thud-like noise than a ring."

Another way to distinguish fine china is by holding it up to the light. It generally will have a translucent quality that is not apparent in earthen ware.

Fine china can be washed in a dishwasher. However, it is advisable to use a mild detergent.

"One of the quickest ways to ruin a beautifully handpainted pattern is to soak china in very hot water with a strong detergent."

One of the most popular shopping trends is still towards the distinctive white and gold border pattern. However, the new homemaker is showing a little more initiative and is leaning more toward color and gay patterns, says Mrs. Tomlinson.

"Colors and patterns are a lovely dress-up for any table, but the hostess should keep in mind what kind of food she is serving and how it will look on the plate.

A good rule of thumb is to keep the linen and table accessories simple if the place settings are colorfully designed.

On the other hand, an elegant white and gold place setting will be complemented by a lace tablecloth or an attractive centrepiece comprised of flowers or fruit.

It is also wisest for the new homemaker to purchase her set of china in complete place settings.

For example, a five-piece setting consists of a 10-inch dinner plate, a seven - inch salad plate, a five-inch bread and butter plate and a teacup and saucer.

By purchasing complete settings she is properly prepared to entertain one, two or three guests.

As she increases the number of place settings she can also increase the number of guests to be invited.

Most dealers can be bought as open stock over a period of years so there is no great fear of a particular line being discontinued.

Once the place settings have been bought, the hostess should concentrate on silverware and glassware to match.

Church Groups

MOUNT PLEASANT-RAWDON MESSENGERS

RAWDON — Mount Pleasant - Rawdon Messengers met at the church hall Sunday. Margaret Hoard was pianist and the study chapters were given by Mrs. Raymond McConnell and Mrs. Garth Jones. Jill McAdam read the Scripture lesson and Mrs. Stanley Williams conducted the devotional asked by David Jolls, Isabel Hoard and Susie Morgan. Selections were sung by Frank Hobbs, Kathy Sharpe, Jill McAdam and David Graff.

The program consisted of a trio sung by Linda Hoard, Heather Hoard and Kim Graff, harmonized and played by Randy Scott, a piano solo by Margaret Hoard, a Bible memory selection by Lynn Jolls, a vocal duet by Susie Morgan and Isabel Hoard and a game conducted by Linda Hoard.

Church Meetings In Kingston

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP)—More than 300 men and women from across Canada meet here June 2-6 for the 1967 congress of the Presbyterian Church in Canada. The congress is part of the church's program for Centennial Year.

Outstanding leaders to attend include Dr. Hans-Ruedi Weber of the Ecumenical Institute near Geneva, Rev. Harold England of First Presbyterian Church, Berkeley, Calif., Rev. Philip Potter, director of world mission and evangelism for the World Council of Churches, and Prof. Joseph C. McLelland of McGill University, Montreal.

Also attending will be Rev. Reginald S. Dunn of Walmer Road Baptist Church, Toronto, as president of the Canadian Council of Churches; and Rev. Emilien Lamirande, dean of theology at St. Paul University, Ottawa, vice - chairman of the Roman Catholic commission on ecumenism.

The congress precedes the 93rd general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, opening in Ottawa June 7.

Three ministers have been nominated for moderator of the general assembly.

Presbyteries have nominated Rev. Everett H. Bean of Sydney, N.S., clerk of the synod of the Atlantic provinces, Rev. John Logan-Venota, minister of St. Giles' Church, Ottawa, and Rev. A. Lorne Mackay, minister of Central Church, Hamilton.

Nominations must be made from the floor at the opening session of the assembly and voted upon by the 260 commissioners, half ministers and half elders, who represent the 48 presbyteries at the general assembly.

Rev. G. Deane Johnston of Brantford, Ont., moderator last year, will open the assembly. He returns June 7 from the United Kingdom, where he attended the general assemblies of the Church of Scotland, the Presbyterian Church in England and the Presbyterian Church in Ireland.

Workers Demonstrate At Queen's Park

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Premier John Robarts and Labor Minister Dalton Bales told a demonstration of about 1,200 construction workers at Queen's Park that the government is neutral in the workers' dispute with Ontario Hydro.

They said the government considers Hydro as just another employer. "We're not thinking of them as an arm of the government," Mr. Bales said.

"We're not entering the dispute on one side or the other," Mr. Robarts said. "We do not want to interfere with free bargaining."

Interspersed among the 1,000 striking Hydro workers were about 200 members of Local 183 of the International Laborers' Union who have been locked out of their jobs by members of the Toronto Construction Association.

"Is the government really in favor of unions or against unions?" he asked. "If the government considers unions wholly desirable why then does Hydro balk at hiring only union labor?"

He was referring to a speech by George Gathercole, chairman of Hydro, stating that Hydro refused to accede to Allied Construction Council demands because it would be discriminating against non-union labor.

Mr. Bales said negotiations would be continued but he held out little hope of an early settlement.

The Hydro workers have been on strike for three weeks in a dispute over Hydro's refusal to accept all conditions laid down in local union agreements with private contractors in areas where Hydro has projects.

WHAT IS RABIES?

It is a virus which attacks nerve cells, eventually reaching the brain, causing paralysis and finally death.

THE SYMPTOMS

The disease is usually divided into two types: Furious and Dumb. In furious symptoms are

FURIOUS RABIES
- Animal loses fear of man.
- Easily frightened, bits if teased.
- Will eat objects such as stones or sticks.
- Voice becomes hoarse.
- Goes to shelter, summer and cold like.
- Runs away from home.

DUMB RABIES
- Animal appears dazed and explainable with unconscious desire to hide from man.
- Convulsive attacks in rapid, short succession 2-4 days.

RABIES

BATS CAN ALSO BE DANGEROUS CARRIERS OF RABIES.

BEWARE OF WILD ANIMALS WHEN CAMPING OR PICNICKING.

HOW IS IT SPREAD?

Rabies is spread from one animal to another through saliva. This is why animals bite in order to live. To animals the red fox is the principal spreader of the disease, but all animals are infected, from rabbits to cows and horses, that are considered to be potentially dangerous.

Rabies is transmitted to human beings by the bite of an infected animal or by contact of saliva from other animals.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT IT

Avoid animals that appear sick, abnormally friendly or aggressive.

If bitten or scratched by any animal immediately wash affected area with soap and water immediately and consult a doctor without delay.

ALWAYS CONSULT A DOCTOR IF BITTEN BY ANY ANIMAL.

Nuns Leave Convent for New Task

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP)—Twenty nuns of the Roman Catholic order of Daughters of the Cross will start leaving their Shreveport convent soon to begin an experimental religious community in Wisconsin.

"What we are doing has the stamp of approval of the church, Sister Mary Michael, a spokesman for the nuns, said. "We will have a commitment to live a religious life but we feel we will be more effective in this unstructured type of life.

She said they would wear modern dress and use their legal names. They will live in groups of five or more in Milwaukee apartments and will divide their earnings among the group. No financial support will be provided by the Roman Catholic Church.

Mother Superior John Roberta of the Daughters of the Cross convent issued a statement after the nuns' announcement Wednesday.

"In the history of the church different groups within congregations have felt that they wish to do other types of work, that God is asking them to do other expressions of work than that to which their order is dedicated.

"The nuns, through the mind of the church, are answering the request of Vatican II—ecumenical Vatican council—to go out and live a different type of religious life other than the structure the Daughters of the Cross now has. This is their desire.

The group members range in age from 24 to 54 and it includes one member who has been a nun for 37 years and six who have not professed their final vows.

Sister Mary Michael said several of the nuns have applied for jobs in the Milwaukee public schools, others will teach in parochial schools or universities and still others will pursue other fields of work.

Commenting on the dispensation from the vows of chastity, poverty and obedience, which a nun is required to take, one of the sisters said: "We take vows under two aspects: private vows to God, public vows to the church. We are giving up the public aspect of the vows, not the commitment to God.

The group is the largest to leave a single congregation for such a purpose.

Wind Up Red Shield Campaign

NAPANEE — The Red Shield campaign will wind up Friday night, Captain Phelps announced Monday. It has meant a lot of hard work for the officers and their helpers, but it has been worth all the effort, as it has been a fairly good campaign, he added. The middle-man, $2,500 has been passed and there is hope that, when the returns are all in, the man-mum, $3,185 may have been attained. The officers here praised the work of Kenneth Christian, over-all chairman of the campaign, and Herbert Knoth, chairman of the special canvass committee.

A number of faithful canvassers have helped with all members of the Home League helper who they could.

Captain and Mrs. Phelps are grateful to all helpers, to all the canvassers elsewhere, and to the many who have contributed funds to the Red Shield campaign.

Marchand Says Quebec Cannot Sign Agreements

OTTAWA (CP) — Immigration Minister Marchand said Wednesday Canada's foreign policy may become "absolutely incomprehensible abroad" if provinces sign international agreements on their own.

He told a press conference that a recent France-Quebec informal agreement to beam French TV programming to Quebec via a communications satellite comes under federal jurisdiction.

It was all right for Premier Johnson of Quebec to discuss the satellite project with President de Gaulle during his Paris visit, but communications satellites were a federal matter.

If France could bypass Ottawa on such a project, it could conclude all kinds of agreements with Quebec and turn the province into a French "zone of influence" against Canadian interests, he said in French.

"Canada cannot have five, six or 10 different foreign policies. Foreign countries must not use particular provinces to serve their own ends."

Mr. Marchand, leader of Quebec's federal Liberals, called the press conference to clarify statements he made May 23 at a meeting in Quebec.

He said then that he opposed French imperialism in Canada as much as imperialist pressures by Britain, the United States or any other country.

CALGARY (CP)—Minor flooding in scattered areas south and west of Calgary city remained static Wednesday, despite continuing rains.

The Elbow River rose 20 per cent bringing more water than expected into Calgary and some gardens south of the city were flooded when control dams had to release some water.

Up to two inches of rain fell in two days in many areas. Some highways were closed, power cut off and at least five families were evacuated.

The Trans - Canada Highway was closed indefinitely at Canmore, 60 miles west of Calgary, when a flooding creek washed out bridge foundations. One end of a 40-foot bridge sank four feet.

Hundreds of acres of farmland were under water at Millarville, 20 miles south of Calgary. Cattle were moved to high ground.

Power was out to some ranches in the Millarville-Black Diamond area and a helicopter was to be used today to string wire to several isolated homes.

Highway 22 at Millarville was under three feet of water. The Elbow flooded the main road to Bragg Creek, 25 miles southwest of Calgary and schools closed there and at Millarville Wednesday.

Many rural roads were washed out or flooded and approaches to smaller bridges eroded. Traffic from the Trans-Canada Highway was detoured onto Highway 1A.

In Calgary, city crews built sandbag walls along banks of the Elbow in some areas. The Bow River was running high but engineers foresaw no immediate problems.

The water-resources branch warned of possible flood danger when heavy flow in the Bow River hits the Medicine Hat area, joining the South Saskatchewan River, Friday or Saturday.

Historical Society To Plant Trees

NAPANEE — Saturday will see the culmination of a project begun by the Lennox and Addington Historical Society three years ago. At ten o'clock, men will be at the Macpherson house waiting to plant the trees which friends of the Society and the town will select from a nursery started three years ago. These will be planted on Sister row and, should each tree will be marked with the name of the donor, and will be kept marked for future generations to read. For each tree which will thus perpetuate his name, the purchaser will donate to the Macpherson House fund a sum of $5.

The silver maple seedlings were obtained from the department through him and he has ever since supervised their care. They were planted by the Forestry Club, and Brownies, Guides and Explorers have kept them free of weeds. Now they are sturdy saplings about six feet high, ready to leave the nursery and go out into the world.

All that is needed is 200 people, each with $5, to put in an appearance Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. select a tree, and either plant it himself or watch the planting done for him.

Dignitaries of the town will be present to launch the tree-planting.

Unprecedented Move

Senate to Decide Judge's Fate in Free Vote

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has washed its hands of the long-standing controversy over Mr. Justice Leo Landreville and dumped his case in the Senate's doorstep.

Justice Minister Trudeau disclosed Wednesday that a resolution to remove the judge from the Ontario Supreme Court will be introduced in the upper chamber next week and will be subject to a "free vote."

The former Sudbury mayor has unanimous support in the Senate and the new turn in the case improved his chances of holding on to his $28,000-a-year position.

Senator Daniel Lang (L—Ont.) said in Toronto later he will give details of the unprecedented resolution Tuesday, when the Senate returns from a three-week recess. He expected to introduce the actual motion two days later.

He was co-chairman of a special Commons-Senate committee that recommended the Judge's removal March 17.

Mr. Justice Landreville, 57, was vacationing at his cottage in the Sudbury area and could not be reached for comment. He has been on leave from trial work since a judicial inquiry was set up a year ago to investigate his case.

Mr. Trudeau stressed that the question of removing the judge will not come before the Commons unless the Senate approves his firing.

Members of all parties in the House have criticized the Judge's conduct except the eight Creditistes, who have charged that he is being singled out because he is a French-Canadian.

Four senators and one MP on the Landreville committee are believed to have opposed his removal. They were Melvin McQuaid (PC—Kings), former attorney-general of Prince Edward Island, and Senators Sarto Fournier (L—Quebec), Leopold Langlois (L—Quebec), J. W. Macdonald (PC — Nova Scotia) and the late John Hnatyshyn (PC—Saskatchewan). The Creditistes were not represented on the committee.

The Judge has admitted that he cleared $117,000 when he sold 7,500 shares in Northern Ontario Natural Gas Co. that he had received free in early 1957. He said this was a private business matter that did not violate any laws.

The previous year, NONG obtained the Sudbury distribution franchise while he was still mayor. He was named to the bench by the Liberal government.

Mr. Trudeau said he personally hopes that the upper chamber will grant the judge's request to argue his case from the bar of the Senate and call defence witnesses.

The Judge has testified at seven separate hearings into the NONG stock transactions since 1962 and stoutly maintained his innocence throughout.

His has attracted widespread sympathy in the Sudbury area where, narrowly captured by the Liberals feared the New Democrats. Mr. Trudeau said the government does not want to give the impression it is trying to unseat a judge. The decision would be left to Parliament.

Beard Makes Man Look Too Young

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Thoughts at Large:

One can always tell when a nation is preparing to violate justice against its neighbors — for then the ruler assembles great congresses and assumes all the formalities of law, in order to invest the transgression with the proper trappings of legality, hoping that the pomp will create a cover for the piracy.

• • •

We are grateful, for narrow escapes in the course of life, but hardly anyone considers how narrowly he escaped being born at all.

Note on Changing Times: A 40-year-old man I know recently shaved off his beard when I asked him why, he replied, "Because I had the feeling it made me look too young."

• • •

We can improve ourselves only in the direction of our natural bent, and not against the grain and most campaigns of self-reform fail because they take too much account of rules and not enough of temperament.

• • •

Women become expert in concealing love, men in concealing hate but hardly anyone has enough skill in dissimulation to conceal indifference.

Revolutions are never begun by men of action, but by men of thought thus, the first task of despotism is to exile the thinkers.

• • •

The hawks are half-right in insisting that there is no victory in peace; what they cannot see is that there is no peace in victory, never has been, and never can be for very long.

• • •

Old fogies who deplore the manners of "modern youth" would do well to recall the complaint of La Rochefoucauld 300 years ago: "Most young people think they are being natural when they are only boorish and rude."

Speaking of young people, children should be taught that getting off to a wrong start is the most damaging thing that can happen to them — just as beginning to button a coat at the wrong hole means that the whole coat will be buttoned lopsided.

• • •

The way a people spend their money is much more indicative of national character than the way they make their money; the latter is usually necessitated by natural resources and economic considerations, while the former is a free gesture expressing their basic drives.

The poorest prophet is the man who did well in different times.

• • •

Looking for direct "cause and effect" in history is a vain and fruitless pursuit — for every "cause" is itself the "effect" of some previous cause, and so we go backward ad infinitum.

• • •

By the time parents know enough to give sound advice, it is usually too late to make much difference one way or the other.

New Consumer Protection Bureau Is Kept Busy

TORONTO (CP) — Consumer affairs minister Leslie Rowntree told the legislature Wednesday that the consumer protection bureau has taken 140 complaints to date — with 113 checked and settled.

The bureau was opened May 1.

Answering charges by J. R. Trotter, (L—Toronto Parkdale) and Ken Bryden (NDP — Toronto Woodbine) that the establishment of the bureau was little in the face of numerous sales practices in Ontario, Mr. Rowntree said he thought the bureau was doing its job of enforcing legislation for consumer protection.

He said the bureau also disseminates information, promotes correct consulting services and investigates complaints.

Mr. Trotter said he could provide "pounds and pounds" of instances where the public is misled or misinformed on credit costs when buying goods on time or borrowing money.

He said he would like to see consumer protection bureaus set up throughout Ontario. The bureau now has 19 staffers operating out of a downtown office.

"The government literally ignores the suffering of the people, he said.

Mr. Rowntree denied the last assertion and added:

"Your own party in Ottawa what have they done in this field? Nothing. You don't even know what laws have gone through this legislature.

Mr. Rowntree said: "Ontario has led the way in Canada in consumer protection legislation.

Mr. Bryden said "a flame of complaint" with the bureau by reading what he called a "mighty misleading statement by London Life Insurance Co., of London, Ont., in Toronto papers May 8.

The advertisement referred to by Mr. Bryden presented a case for permanent life insurance rather than term insurance.

Mr. Bryden said the advertisement represented dividends on permanent insurance as a return on an investment when they should have been described as an overpayment of premiums.

Allen Grossman, minister of reform institutions and a chartered life underwriter, said the firm followed "ethical practices since it made clear that dividends are not guaranteed.

Car Insurance Control Studied by Government

TORONTO (CP) — Commerce and Affairs Minister Leslie Rowntree said Wednesday she government is not yet in a position to decide whether it will proclaim legislation enabling it to control automobile insurance premium rates.

He made the statement in the legislature after Vernon Singer (L—Toronto Downsview) asked if the government would assume this power by proclaiming two sections of the insurance act "on the statute books over 25 years.

However, his department was studying steadily — rising insurance rates because "a question of fairness of these rates arises.

In addition, the provinces through their superintendents of insurance have hired an expert, Allan L. Mercer of Ann Arbor, Mich., to study auto insurance rates across Canada and make important recommendations.

His report would be "the basis for any government intervention in the setting of automobile insurance rates.

Mr. Singer also asked if the government was in favor of a "compensation without fault" plan, approved unanimously by a select committee of the legislature that studied auto insurance in 1965.

"I have never been in favor of any system of compensation without fault, said Mr. Rowntree who promised to keep an open mind while gathering information about the plan.

Youths Plead Guilty To Stabbing Driver

TORONTO (CP)—Two youths who attacked and nearly stabbed to death a Toronto taxi driver last Jan. 11 pleaded guilty Wednesday to charges of assault with intent to rob and were remanded to June 23 for sentence.

Charged are Paul Harold Thompson, 18, and John Edward McKernan, 18.

John Frederick Lyon, 18, and his wife Karen, 20, were also remanded in Toronto magistrate's court to June 23 on charges of conspiracy and being accessories after the fact.

The four were arrested Jan. 12 in connection with the stabbing of Norman Partington, 40, who had stopped his bus to pick up Thompson and McKernan shortly after one a.m. Mr. Partington was stabbed 16 times, two of the wounds penetrating the heart.

Singer Says Fire Insurance Denied Many Toronto Homes

TORONTO (CP) — Vernon Singer (L—Toronto Downsview) told the legislature Thursday residents of "whole blocks" in downtown Toronto are finding it almost impossible to obtain fire insurance on their homes.

Mr. Singer said last by a "process of osmosis" a number of fire insurance companies have decided not to insure buildings in some parts of the city.

Speaking as the house debated spending estimates of the financial and commercial affairs department for 1967-68, Mr. Singer also criticized the tendency of insurance agents to demand that a client transfer all his insurance to them.

NDP leader Donald MacDonald suggested fire insurance companies have a social responsibility to provide some coverage in all rysidences.

"If people are allowed to live in a home they should be able to get fire insurance," he said.

Commercial Affairs Minister Rowntree said he knew of no cases coming to the answer intendeel of insurance's office in which insurance wasn't eventually granted.

"I see no objection to firms insisting that repairs be made to keep homes up to a standard," he said.

'Moderation' Urged by Churches

WINNIPEG (CP) — A joint appeal for "the virtues of moderation" to prevail in the Middle East crisis was issued today by Roman Catholic, Anglican and United Church leaders.

Joining in the appeal were Most Rev. Louis Lavesque, Coadjutor Archbishop of Richmond, Que., and president of the Canadian Catholic Congress; Most Rev. Howard H. Clark, Primate of the Anglican Church of Canada, and Rt. Rev. W. C. Lockhart, moderator of the United Church of Canada.

Their statement, issued here by Archbishop Clark's secretary, said in part:

"We call upon all Christians to pray for peace in the world and to work for peace in the Middle East in any way they may be open to them.

"In issuing this call for peace we are conscious of the anguish and concern of many Canadian citizens of Jewish and Arabic origin. We are also conscious that we have many friends on both sides of the dispute.

"We call attention to the fact of the many strands of religious heritage shared in common by the followers of Mohammed, Moses and Christ. (A)"

NDP Leader Douglas said the alarming difference between estimates and tenders showed a good deal of incompetency in the works department.

Mr. Douglas said the idea of the crossing was to eliminate the need for ferries by shipping Island products. A crossing without rail lines would not solve the problems of P.E.I. farmers and fishermen.

Meanwhile, a written government reply tabled for Robert Coates (PC—Cumberland) disclosed that 33,227,515 was collected in fees and costs by three consulting firms involved in the crossing study.

Prince Edward Island Bridge To Be Redesigned to Cut Cost

OTTAWA (CP)—Design of a rail and road crossing to Prince Edward Island is going to be scaled down because of new cost estimates that threaten to top the $200,000,000 mark.

Works Minister McIlraith announced in the Commons Wednesday that tenders received last month on the initial causeway section of the crossing were "very much higher than anticipated" and none will be accepted.

Instead, the entire design of the combined causeway-bridge-tunnel project is being redrafted with a view to lowering costs, probably by scrapping the railway line.

It was originally estimated two years ago that a 12,000-foot causeway extending from the New Brunswick shore into Northumberland Strait would cost around $25,000,000.

But when four tenders were opened last month the lowest was $42,980,000, submitted jointly by Inspection Ltd. and Societe Dumez of Montreal.

"This wide gap between the estimates and the quotations received indicate that the whole project, as originally designed, would cost a great deal more than anticipated," Mr. McIlraith said. Public estimates of the cost so far have not exceeded $150,000,000.

The works minister said one factor adding heavily to the cost was the inclusion of a rail line. The design could be greatly simplified by limiting it to highway use and continuing rail service by ferry.

Mr. McIlraith said he and Transport Minister Pickersgill had discussed the decision with P.E.I. Premier Alex Campbell and at his request agreed to examine whether a simplified method might be found to retain the railway feature.

But there had been a firm commitment to the premier that Ottawa would not abandon its obligation to provide rail service to the Island province "so long as there is any effective demand for such a service."

A CNR rail-car ferry now serves P.E.I. at an annual loss expected to be over $5,000,000 this year. The Island has a population of 108,000.

Angus MacLean (PC—Queens) complained that elimination of the railway crossing would have important economic effects on the Islands. He hoped the new design would not scrap the rail line.

PRESENTATION PARTY

RAWDON — Jim Johnson and his bride, the former Donna Reid, were given a presentation party Saturday night at Mount Pleasant Church Hall. Lindsay McKeown was chairman for a short program with piano selections played by Janet Scott, Carolyn Merrick and Jill McAdam; humorous readings given by Randy Scott, Mrs. Percy MacMullin and Mrs. Kenneth Weaver; a solo sung by Judy McAdam with Linda Potts as accompanist; accordion and harmonica selections played by Kenneth and Harvey Couch; a duet sung by Lynn and Greg Joslin and a sing-song conducted by Mrs. Mac Sharp and Mrs. Gerth Joslin.

Howard Jeffs read an address and David Potts made the presentation to the honored couple. The UCW also made a presentation.

Floods in the Calgary District

Floods built up Wednesday scattered areas south and west of Calgary. Traffic in some areas was slowed to a crawl, as were these vehicles in the Bragg Creek area about 20 miles west of Calgary, and the Trans-Canada highway was closed when a bridge washed out 60 miles west of Calgary. (CP Photo)

Course to Train Doctors' Assistants Proposed

TORONTO (CP)—A course to assist the changing relationship between doctors' assistants and nurses was proposed Wednesday in a brief created a need for doctors' aides to the committee on the healing arts.

The brief was recommended to the committee by Canadian Nurses Association.

Dr. John Evans, head of medicine at McMaster University, said the hospital into the community. The prevention and detection of disease, and care of the chronically disabled are better done in the community, leaving the hospital free to dispense emergency care.

The Committee of Ontario University Presidents suggested creating several first-line health care clinics bringing together doctors, medical scientists and technicians trained in the College of Applied Arts and Technology.

Whispering Wind Dies Away In Indy 500 But Turbine's Roar Still Not Quieted

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Parnelli Jones' "whispering wind" turbine car died away and lost to A. J. Foyt Jr.'s conventional rear engine Coyote Ford in Wednesday's 500-mile auto race.

But controversy over use of an aircraft engine for the first time in the 56-year old race had not quieted today.

Henry Banks, director of competition for the U.S. Auto Club and himself a former national champion, said the question of running a turbine against piston engines "definitely ever will be brought up" at a June 5 meeting of the USAC rules committee."

"It's our job to keep the competition even; arranging formulas for that purpose is a foremost consideration," Banks said.

"There were no ground rules for a turbine and we think we came up with a very good formula for one. All you can do for a new development is run it once and then remember."

Foyt picked up a record first place check for $171,227 at the victory dinner Wednesday night. Jones, who slipped to sixth in the wreck-halted race, got $48,302 including $27,000 in lap prizes for leading 171 of the 200 laps.

Second place Al Unser, Albuquerque, N.M., won $98,977 and third place Joe Leonard, Foyt's team-mate, got $43,527. The total purse of $727,345.98 broke a record of $691,606.90 set last year.

The race, run in sections of 45 and 155 miles because of a Tuesday interruption, by rain, proved that the STP-Paxt and Whitney turbine could go off and hide from any piston engine on the track whenever Jones hit the throttle.

A $6 ball bearing finally failed in the gear box with less than 10 miles to go and the dodged Foyt won as he had in 1961 when leader Eddie Sachs stopped to change a tire with only 24 miles to go.

Foyt won the hard way in 1964 and joins the only other three - time winners, Louis Meyer, Wilbur Shaw and Mauri Rose.

Foyt said he might be in a turbine car himself next year if the rules aren't changed to bar it. He said he simply couldn't catch it when Jones was on the track.

International racer Dan Gurney also tried gallantly but was washed out by a series of mechanical problems.

Foyt and Gurney pushed Jones as hard as they could and the 33rd literally was a three-car race.

On the 31st lap, Jones stock car racer Lee Roy Yarbrough spun in front of Jones. Jones did a complete spin, drove through the infield grass and went right on racing. This let Gurney lead the next two laps but the turbine soon was back in control.

The moment of truth for Foyt came as he rounded the last turn on his final lap. A drive shaft broke in Bobby Grim's car, tearing off a wheel, on the mainstretch. Cars of Carl Williams and Chuck Hulse also crashed and other cars were sliding in all directions.

Foyt snaked through the mess on the track and took the checkered flag just before child steward Harlan Fengler ordered the race stopped because the track was impassable.

Nobody was seriously hurt in a series of mishaps that kept the yellow "no passing" light on

Heart Breakers Common

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) —Parnelli Jones, heart-breaking loss to A. J. Foyt Jr. Wednesday in the 51st 500 - mile auto race was a drama often repeated in the Indianapolis Motor Speedway event.

DePalma was leading by miles when one of his pistons broke with less than two laps to go. He and his riding mechanic, Rupert Jeffkins, pushed the big white Marcedes to the finish line — but they were a lap behind winner Joe Dawson and his National.

Another famous failure was by Bill Vukovich, leading the 1952 race by a wide margin. His 4 - cylinder Fuel Jet crunched to a stop against the wall with nine laps to go, and Troy Ruttman joarod past him to victory.

It's part of the game. Vukovich came back and won the next two years — and was killed trying to make it three straight.

"Shades of Babe Ruth", groaned the guy in the yellow jacket, a self-admitted hardboiled dyed-in-the-wool Yankee fan, "those guys couldn't hit the broads of a whale if they were all turned into Jonahs."

"The Bronx Bombers, huh" he snorted, "why at the plate they have as much power as an expanded firecracker. The old Mick is trying his best to dig them out of the doldrums, but one can can't do it all."

"Why one of those guys who managed to blast a triple the other day remarked to the third-base coach after he pulled up "Jess, coach, the diamond looks different from here."

The coach grunted, shifted his wad of Philadelphia scrabble and growled, "I should. It's the first time you've reached here in six weeks."

A short time ago the Yankees suffered the ignominy of two straight shutouts at the hands of the Baltimore Orioles. Now the Birds pitched hadn't by any stretch of the imagination looked like that was dished up by a Koufax or a Drysdale in their heydays, so the ratibirds down the dexterary placed the reason at the lack of Yankee hitting rather than brilliant hurling by the Birds mound staff.

On a recent weekend in Detroit Ralph Houk's hitless wonders lost three of four games and averaged three runs scored a game, in Baltimore they scored two runs in three games and out Anaheim way they scored two runs in each of three games played, and lost two of them.

Even Houk the Yankee skipper seemed to lean toward the "no-hit" theory for his club rather than the invulnerability of opposing mound stuffs.

He seemed not too perturbed over the fact and told reporters to have patience. "We're just not hitting. I would say it's merely a matter of time. We know we've got fellows who can bat. If only one or two were failing you might say they were over the hill.

"But no one seems to be doing much at the plate," he went on. "In view of that I've got to feel it is a condition that will be corrected as soon as the boys regain the touch."

"That may be the case," grunted the guy in the yellow jacket," as long as they don't put it off until the last week in September."

The Yankees record indicates that failure at the plate has robbed them of victories on more than one occasion. It seems that they've lost more games by single runs and shutouts than at any comparable time in their history.

But a New York baseball expert does not agree with the Yankee statement, "We know we'll be doing some hitting sooner or later. We've got too many proven big leaguers not to."

The expert says there's a lot of evidence indicates there isn't reason to think the Yankees will improve appreciably at bat. He draws attention to records over the past two full seasons and part of this one. Break has an average of .259; Pepitone, .249; Charlie Smith, .248; Elston Howard, .241 and Ruben Amaro .229.

"These are experienced players," he says. "The period taken does not indicate a slump. It is entirely possible — even likely — this is the way these men are hitting."

He goes on: — "So the question arises, are the Yankees kidding themselves? Probably not, because Houk and Lee McPhail know these statistics and their meaning, better than anyone. And if they really think bad weather or unlucky personal problems or injuries are keeping their offense below par, the need back to victory may be even longer than they think."

The team's batting average is .219. Last year it was .235. The year before it was .235. To call that a slump is to call the ice Age a cold spell. The truth is it is reality and must be dealt with. The Yankees face the reality of construction and that might take much, much longer than the Yankee brass thinks it will.

Cubs' Rookie Nips Cincinnati

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rich Nye, Chicago Cub rookie left-hander, beat the National League-leading Cincinnati Reds 6-5 Wednesday night, although he needed relief help in the ninth inning.

But Nye did not need help in the batter's box, a place where pitchers usually fear anything but ease. He drove in a run and scored twice on two singles, a double and a walk.

Houston Astros whipped New York Mets 6-1, Philadelphia Phillies downed Los Angeles Dodgers 4-0 in 11 innings and San Francisco Giants trounced Pittsburgh Pirates 15-4 in other National League action. The Atlanta at St. Louis game was rained out.

Nye doubled in the third and scored on Glenn Beckert's single, singled home a run in the sixth and walked and scored in the Cubs' three-run eighth. His other hit was a bunt single in the fifth.

Beckert doubled home Nye and Ron Santo singled in the other two runs in the eighth as the Cubs took a 6-2 lead.

Then the Reds, who had been held to three hits by Nye in seven innings, fought back to the rookie in the eighth when they scored three times on a walk, single, two doubles and a fielder's choice.

Houston exploded for six runs in the sixth inning against the Mets, moving into ninth place by 13 percentage points over New York.

Three of the Astros' runs came on singles by Jim Wynn and Bob Aspromonte and Rusty Staub's double. Staub himself singled in two more and the sixth was scored on an error by shortstop Ed Herrmann.

Dave Giusti allowed the Mets only four hits, one of them a homer by Ron Swoboda, in gaining his second victory after five straight losses. He struck out eight and walked one.

The Phillies, held scoreless by Don Drysdale on six hits through 10 innings, exploded in the 11th, with Bill White driving in the first with his first hit of the season, a single. White has been sidelined most of the season with a heel injury.

He had knee 6 for 18.

After the second run scored, Phil Regan replaced Drysdale. But he could not get the final out until four more runs had crossed the plate to put the game out of reach.

Yastrzemski's Bat Gives Bosox Win

The pressure is getting to Carl Yastrzemski, and it's the best feeling he's had in seven years.

"Every time at bat means something now," Yastrzemski said Wednesday night after clouting his ninth and 10th home runs to help Boston Red Sox edge Minnesota Twins 3-2 for their fourth straight victory.

"We're playing tight ball games and you've got to be hearing down all the time," the slugging outfielder added as the Red Sox savored the heady atmosphere of third place in the American League race.

Yastrzemski has won one Al batting championship and barely missed another since joining Boston in 1961. But he has never played on a pennant contender.

This year he is off to his best start ever, and the Red Sox are keeping pace for a change.

Chicago White Sox trimmed Detroit Tigers' league lead to one-half game, nipping Baltimore Athletics 3-0 and Washington Senators 4-1 turned California angels 6-3 in other AL games.

Yastrzemski's leadoff homers in the fourth and seventh innings staked right-hander Darrell Brandon to a 3-0 lead and the Red Sox added another run in the seventh on a squeeze bunt by Mike Ryan.

That run turned out to be the winner when the Twins chased Brandon with a two-run burst in the eighth before reliever John Wyatt stemmed the tide.

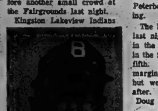
Second Loss

Lombanks Find Indians Are Tough To Hit

By GARRY ALEXANDER
(Staff Sportswriter)



Stingy pitchers and unearned runs sent Belleville Lombanks down to their second EOBA senior loss before Sunday afternoon and in Peterborough Sunday evening.

The Indians led all the way last night, scoring lone runs in the first and second, two in the fourth and three in the fifth. Lombanks cut the margin to 4-3 in the fourth but were no threat thereafter.

Doug McIlroy, Art Leeman clipped the Lombanks 7-3 behind the combined two-hit hurling of three pitchers and aided by five unearned runs.

Belleville's next two games are on the road, in Kingston Saturday afternoon and in Peterborough Sunday evening.

Kingston Lakeview Indians

GLEN CLARKE

in the fifth and Keith Wesse in the eighth spun Kingston's two-hitter. They struck out 15 and issued only one walk.

McIlroy retired the first nine Lombank batters before walking Moe Hunter opening the fourth. Gerry Hill sacrificed but Hunter was caught in a rundown between second and third on Pat Asselstine's ground ball. Hunter jarred the ball from Don Goodrich's hands heading for third and raced home on the error.

Two infield errors set the stage for Kingston's clinching tallies in the fifth. Wesse slashed a shot to right that bounded over Nozzo's head for a three-run homer.

An inning earlier, Goodrich doubled with two gone and scored when Hill dropped a throw at first. Another runner came home when Asselstine lost McIlroy's pop up that fell for a single back of second base.

Bud McIlroy tripled and scored on Guy White's sacrifice fly in the first. Goodrich doubled B. Wesse home, on with a walk, in the second.

After Mavety's single, three errors and Glen Clarke's solid seventh-frame triple provided Belleville's only other runs. Don Ivey got the Indians' busy pitching left all four strands.

Don Masters started and took the loss before Bill Lochsford relieved him in the fifth. Masters was charged with all Kingston runs and six of the eight hits, striking out seven and walking two. Lotchford struck out eight and walked four.

Cheesemen, City Hotel Keep Pace In Commercial

Black Diamond Cheese stretched its unbeaten string to three games and cut Stinson's short with a 9-2 defeat in one half of last night's Commercial Softball League doubleheader at Alemite Park.

In the other game, City Hotel whipped the slow-starting Lightfoots 11-1 to keep pace with the Cheesemen atop the loop.

B. Swan buried three-hit ball over the route for Black Diamond. He fanned one and passed two. Larry Hull gave up nine hits in defeat with one strikeout and one walk. Al Adams relieved in the late innings.

The Cheesemen scored two in the first and four in the third before Stinson's tallied a sixth-inning pair.

"Peg" Keller slammed a home run and Stan Abbess and G. Fraser collected two singles each in victory. B. Fraser, J. Francis, R. Swan and D. Holeway split the others. T. Sheridan doubled, Larry Potter and Paul Stinson singled for Stinson's.

City Hotel exploded for four runs in each of the fifth and sixth innings to snap open a 2-1 game against Lightfoots.

Dave Feeney stopped the Lightfoots on four hits, fanning one and walking one. Don Smith went five innings and John French two in defeat, striking out one, walking four and allowing 10 hits.

Gerry Genereaux hit a home run and single, Doug Hall three singles and Brian Smith two for the Hotelmen. Dave Feeney doubled with three singles and Bob Lloyd adding singles. T. Cooke had a homer erased when he failed to touch first base.

Frank "Shiner" Murray hit a home run and single in a losing effort with Don Wood and L. Johnston adding singles.

Printers Win In 10th Over Kingston

Four runs in the tenth inning snapped a 5-5 deadlock and gave Belleville Bills Printers a 9-5 Quinte-KASA Softball League win over Lake's Bus Service, in Kingston, last night.

Prince George Regal's of Kingston visit the Quinte squad in an 8.45 game at Belleville's Alemite Park tonight.

victory and a tie, both in extra innings, in the new grouping.

Bob Moon's two-out hit and an error scored one Belleville run in the eighth to tie it 5-5.

Bob Ethier's single, an error, another hit by Terry Lesage, a walk, Stu Muirhead's safety and a final free pass combined to chase home the tenth-frame foursome.

Ethier pitched the distance for the victory. He gave up seven hits in all, only two from the sixth inning on after the Busmen had gone ahead 5-4. The Belleville scrappers struck out 13 and walked five.

Ken Lewis was the loser after replacing Phil Lichfield in the fourth frame. They gave up 12 hits, struck out 18 in all and walked seven.

A pair of outfield errors gave Kingston its first run and Tom Cashman singled and scored on another miscue in the fourth. Bob Jackson's base hit, an error and walk scored another in the third. Hits by Lovelace and Jackson and a fourth error in Belleville's outfield netted the sixth-inning pair. Ethier slammed the door down there on.

LeSage and Mercer greeted Litchfield with hits to opening the game with a run. Hone and Bonenberger put hits together with walks and an error for two in the fourth and Muirhead's safety and another bobble resulted in a fifth inning run.

Cannifton Outscores Latta 5-1

Down 1-0 in the second inning and outhit over the route, Canniflton Flyers still managed to outscore Latta in a South Hastings Baseball League tilt at Canniflton last night. The score was 5-1.

Latta touched winning pitcher Bernie Coughlin for eight hits. Starter Craig Rump and Lorne Cronkwright, in the fifth, gave up just six to Plane's sluggers.

Coughlin struck out four and walked five as Latta's combo struck out eight and walked six. Each team erred once.

Coughlin also paced his own attack with a pair of singles. Ron Urch hit a double, Keith Dickey, Eric Emerson and Court Bradley a single each.

Picton Kinsmen Win 7-0

It was a good night for the Quinte half of the Quinte-KASA Softball League.

While Belleville was topping one Kingston club down east, Picton Kinsmen whitewashed another, LaFontaine Clippers, 7-0 in Picton for their initial victory.

Ken McMillie starred for the Kinsmen by pitching a four-hitter and displaying perfect control. He struck out 10 and did not issue a walk.

Picton combed starter L. Scouten and relief man Hughes for eight hits. The Kingston pair struck out eight and passed six.

A walk and a brace of hits shoved Picton up two in the first and DeMille protected that lead until hits and an error made it 4-0 in the seventh. Keith Stacey's bases-loaded double was the key blow in a three-run eighth.

Marve Stacey collected three Kinsmen singles with brother Keith adding a single to his double. Leo St. Denis, Frank Forster and Jim Guernsey divided the others.

The Kinsmen's next start will be against Lake Bus Service, in Kingston, Monday night.

Minor Baseball Results

In the pee-wee section, Fountain Park nipped I.S.E.W. 4-3 and Rose Shell topped Barrigan by a 10-3 count.

Little Oven never looked back after snapping a second-inning 4-4 tie with five runs. Jerry Cunningham and Peter Rissi hurled six-hit ball, striking out 12 and passing six for the winners. Tony Meagher and Ricky Cultkin gave up 10 hits, issued four and walked 14 for the Lions.

Robert McKay hit a triple and two singles, Cunningham and Rick Bellis two hits each for the winners. Bob Holway, David Matthews and Rissi also hit safely. Cultkin had a double and single and Paul Meagher two hits for the Lions with Ken Hutchinson and Brad Porter singling.

Danny Lapenstie and John Mulvihill combined for a three-hit pitching win, striking out 14 and walking one. Allan Whitney, Mike Burley and Allan Wood gave up five hits in defeat, despite 15 strikouts. They walked three.

Blaine Mollins and Ken McTaggart tossed five-hit ball, whiffing 10 and passing four. Losers Greg Duffy and Tom Coughlin gave up nine hits, struck out eight but walked 15.

Grant Goepin had three Shell singles, Don McTaggart a double and single and Matthew Scott and Bob Salisbury a double each. Jed Forster and Cliff Rathbourne also had safeties. Coughlin tripled; Mark Coates doubled, Duffy, Bob Moore and Kevin Joudrey singled in defeat.

Minor Softball

Sutherland, who struck out 21 men in a seven-inning game last week, threw a two-hitter and fanned 19 while his Shopping Plaza club topped Indians 9-1 last night.

In other East Hill tilts, Kiddies' Korner and Vaughan Automated, 14-4, Stephen Licence ducked the Sonis 13-3 and Browns scalped the Redskins 27-15.

On the West Hill, Ernie Tuck Appliances went eight innings to defeat the Cubs 16-15. Peacock Plastering scored 27 runs against the Reds but no score was listed for that club while Stevenson Ford thundered over the Bombers 20-3.

Lightfoots on four hits, fanning one and walking one. Don Smith went five innings and John French two in defeat, striking out one, walking four and allowing 10 hits.

Gerry Genereaux hit a home run and single, Doug Hall three singles and Brian Smith two for the Hotelmen. Dave Feeney doubled with three singles and Bob Lloyd adding singles. T. Cooke had a homer erased when he failed to touch first base.

Lewis Pitches Two-Hitter In 3-3 Tie

Dave Lewis burned a two - hitter at Read in a South Hastings League game last night but he and his Shannonville mates had to settle for a 3-3 tie game.

Shannonville jumped into a 3-0 lead in the first but Read tied it in the fifth and darkness halted play after seven frames. Canifton Plane's visit Shannonville Saturday evening.

Lewis struck out eight, walked three on the home - town rubber. He was touched for singles by F. Sproule and Delaney for Read's only safeties.

Harold Pascoe started and Ted Abrams took over in the second inning for Read. They fanned eight hits, whiffed seven and did not walk a batter.

Danny Lapenstie and Larry Lewis banged out a double and single each for Shannonville. Lewis doubled with Mike Brant, Doug Dafoe and Del Rzebercsuk claiming single each. Score, decider 13 strikouts. They walked three.

Departmental Softball

The other Departmental Softball League clubs are being reminded to wonder just who may put out the Fire Department's winning blaze.

Ed Wood redskirts chalked up their third victory in as many tries last night, clipping the Cowboys by an 8-5 count.

Bob Davenport hurled the victory and helped his own cause with a home run. Grant Parks, Gene McGrath and Bob Andrus came up with two hits each.

Gord Green, Graydon Rodgers, Rod Green and Frank Rushlow were best in defeat with two hits each.

Expansion Reality Next Week

Can't Avoid Draft by Retiring, Campbell's Reply To Geoffrion

MONTREAL (CP)—The fiscal pangs of expansion's growing pains should be healed here next week when the National Hockey League holds its largest annual convention on record June 5-9.

Highlights of the four - day meeting will be the expansion draft and official acceptance of six new clubs as equal league partners.

Tuesday, June 6, the day the expansion draft begins, whereby each of the new teams admitted to the league for next season, will receive 20 players drawn from the current clubs.

However, before this can be done, Clarence Campbell, NHL president, will officially admit the six newcomers Monday afternoon on receipt of their final franchise payments. In all, a sum of $12,000,000 will change hands—with each new entry contributing $2,000,000 for its franchise rights and the 20 players promised for that sum.

The six new teams scheduled to become full partners and operate as a Western Division of the league are Pittsburgh Penguins, Philadelphia Flyers, St. Louis Blues, Minnesota North Stars, Los Angeles Kings and California Seals of San Francisco.

Before discussing the actual workings of the draft Campbell said that "all the hazards real with the working draft". In other words if a player from one of the six existing clubs is drafted to a new team, but refuses to report because he doesn't want to move, the onus is on the claiming club to persuade him not to retire.

Veteran Bernie Geoffrion, who came out of retirement last season, recently announced in New York he will not report to a new club if drafted; but will remain with the Rangers in an executive capacity.

"But Geoffrion, cannot put himself on the voluntary retired list," the league president said. "If he is claimed and refuses to report he still belongs to the claiming club and can't be used by Rangers in any executive capacity."

"We've been preparing for this historic occasion for many months," Campbell said. "The formula for the draft itself required the co-operation of all 12 teams and I feel that because there appears to be mutual satisfaction among the clubs, it augurs well for the future of the NHL as an international sports organization which is on the threshold of a new era."

Each of the current six teams Boston, Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, New York and Toronto - will be allowed to protect one goaltender and 11 other players prior to the draft's start. In all, 404 players are eligible for the draft.

The draft will begin with the selection, by lot, of the order of drafting by the new teams. The six new team names will be drawn by Campbell from the Stanley Cup and the order they are drawn will determine the order of drafting for goaltenders. The sequence for the first round of drafting potmakers will be A, B, C, D, E, F. For the second round it will be reverse.

The current six teams will protect one goaltender each. Then the new team that has first pick will make its choice. The old team, which loses its goalie, will then "fill" by taking a goaltender in its professional system and putting his name on its protected list.

The goaltending draft continues on an alternate claim-and-fill basis until each of the old clubs has lost two goaltenders and each of the new teams has acquired one.

While there is a particular order of drafting among the new division clubs, there is no set order for them drafting from the current division. Ostensibly, Montreal Canadiens could lose several players before another current club loses any. But once Montreal loses its 18 players, it withdraws from further proceedings.

CAHA Not Amateur Says Fitness Head, Suggests Federal Grant Be Repealed

SARNIA (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association may lose its $160,000 annual grant from the federal government because of its $250,000 subsidy from the National Hockey League, a federal spokesman said Wednesday night.

William L'Heureux, chairman of the national advisory council on physical fitness and amateur sports, said: "We now have an amateur hockey association being subsidized by a professional body for at least a minimum of $250,000 a year and I feel the CAHA can no longer be considered an amateur organ."

The physical education director at the University of Western Ontario spoke at the annual dinner of the Sarnia Secondary School Athletic Association.

He said the council will meet June 24 at Ingonish, N.S., to consider its grant to the CAHA.

Many high school principals are concerned about the drafting of young boys by professional hockey teams, he said.

"I have been told the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league has conducted a secret midget draft and that there is an inactive list for boys in high school.

"This is a breach of amateur rules."

The decision on boys moving from one city to another to play hockey while in high school was a decision of the parents, "but I feel we should not stand by and let pro hockey organization using amateurs for tax purposes get away with tying up a boy's life."

Prof. L'Heureux suggested that the drafting of young hockey players could be opposed by the organization of more high school hockey leagues at the juvenile league level and the invoking of the Ontario Young Athletes Protection Act.

He said he had not made any statements previously on the CAHA NHL agreement because he wanted time to study the agreement.

Saturday Race Card

Thirty-seven horses will go to the post at the second seasonal meeting of the Quinte Driving and Riding Club Saturday night.

There will be one single and four double heats.

"Nikki Wenz" the season's first double winner will try to emulate his feat against a strong field in the 4-8 events.

Hardatoes who "whiskered" Rieland Herbie in a photo-finish last week will again clash with the Kemp horse in the 3-7 races.

Leo Law which won its first race a week ago encounters strong opposition in the 5-9 feature races.

There will be two quinellas and one daily double. Post time eight o'clock.

Romeo Sets Sights On 21st Win in Row

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Romeo Hanover, who has become as much a standout in harness racing as Blackpasser has among the thoroughbreds, goes after his 21st straight victory tonight in the $100,000 International Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

The four-year-old colt, who will be driven by George Sholty, is the 2-to-1 morning-line favorite out of the No. 1 post position, but faces a test of speed and stamina against a field that includes the ever dangerous Cardigan Bay.

Romeo, who had won 33 of 37 career starts, will be making his first start at a distance of 1¼ miles, in addition, it will be his third race within 13 days, a formidable task even for a durable standardbred.

Romeo won the $91,000 Realization Pace at 1 1-16 miles at Roosevelt Raceway May 29 and last Friday took the $25,000 Dan Patch Pace at one mile at Yonkers.

Cardigan Bay, who won the International last year, is the 2-to-1 second choice tonight and True Duane the third choice at 8-to-1. Cardigan leaves from No. 3 post and True Duane from No. 4.

The rest of the field is held in light regards by the odds maker, from 20 to 50-to-1.

Taxes Hurting Races: Taylor

TORONTO (CP)— The future of thoroughbred racing is in the hands of the provincial government and unless racing taxes are abolished the sport faces deterioration or possible extinction, E. P. Taylor said Wednesday.

The chairman of the Jockey Club Ltd. told the annual meeting:

"With the introduction of so many forms of taxation and the great increase in provincial revenues, the approximately $15,000,000 which the province now extracts from racing has become a very small proportion of total provincial revenues and it is one source which will ultimately have to be abandoned by the government if high-calibre racing is to survive."

Jockey Club earnings had dipped to 30 cents a share in 1966, down from 27 cents in 1964.

Belmont Stakes

Cool Reception 3rd Choice at 8-1

Coupled with Reason To Hail as third choice at 8-to-1 odds by the Aqueduct track handicapper, the son of Nearctic owned by Mrs. Vince Reid of Toronto and Mrs. William Scott of Montreal probably has no one but himself to blame for his cool reception at the track.

The only thing he's done in recent weeks is run away with the Marine Stakes at Woodbine in Toronto as prohibitive 1-to-4 choice while Belmont favored Damascus, at 6 to 5, and second pick Proud Clarion, at 5 to 2, have banner credentials to display.

Proud Clarion won the Kentucky Derby and Damascus the Preakness, the first two legs of the North American triple crown of thoroughbred racing. The Belmont is the third leg.

But while the favorites were proving their worth, Cool Reception, Canada's two-year-old of the year in 1966 was disappointing hot only his backers, but his trainer, Lou Cavalaris Jr.

Working poorly prior to the Kentucky Derby, the horse was entered in the Derby Trial with Cavalaris's word that only a victory would advance his horse to the Derby, Cool Reception ran second and missed the big run.

In the week since his most recent victory, Cavalaris has been working the colt the 1½-mile Belmont distance, peaking Monday with a run of two minutes, 32.3 seconds, just three seconds over what it took Amberoid to win the Belmont last year.

The only question now in Cavalaris' mind is whether Walter Blum, who rode his horse in the Marine Stakes, will be able to fly in from California to ride the big chestnut Saturday.

But, while Cool Reception was being flown from Toronto, trainer Frank Whitley Jr. was holding Damascus away from Aqueduct, bedding him at Pimlico, so the horse wouldn't be made nervous by the pre-race activity.

He used the same formula prior to the Preakness and the son of Sword Dancer owned by Mrs. Edith Bancroft was so relaxed he blazed the 1 3-16 miles in 1:55 1-5 for a 2¼ length victory.

Ranked behind the first four choices by the track handicapper are Gentleman James at 12 to 1; Blasting Charge and Prinskip at 15 to 1 and Gaylord's Feather and Nehoc's Bullet at 20 to 1.

If all nine horses are ready for the 5:30 p.m. EDT starting gun, the $125,000 added race will gross $148,650.

The race will be televised by CBS for the U.S. and the CBC in Canada from 3 p.m.

With The Trotters

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Perfect Dream won Wednesday night's feature race at Western Fair Raceway, a pacing dash for a purse of $750, going the mile in 2:09 and returning $3.20.

Hummoh Dale won the third in 2:09, returning $13.10 and Fair Comet the sixth in 2:06 3-5 for $14.60. Both speeds were life records for the horses.

A daily double of $28.70 was paid when Midnight Sam won the first and Mischief the second.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — M. J.'s Boy, three - year - old gelding, Wednesday won the first race of his career in the first at Woodbine and paid the longest win price—$296.50—since Woodbine racetrack opened in 1956.

The victory was also the first of Woodbine for jockey Santiago Valenzuela.

Previous high win payoff at Woodbine was $202.50, made in 1964 by Paul Olivier's Whistling Sea, the horse that in 1965 became the first Western Canadabred to win the Queen's Plate.

M. J.'s Boy, owned by Herbert Labow, was paid $42.50 to place and $23.30 to show. He combined with Orchard, winner of the second, for a daily double of $826.10.

There was one $10 daily double ticket sold, worth $4,150.30, and 35 $2 tickets.

Customers Line Up to Buy Tickets in Lottery

NEW YORK (AP) — Tickets for the New York state lottery went on sale at 12:01 a.m. today and within minutes customers were lined up in one hotel waiting to lay out $1 for the chance of a $250,000 return.

First to purchase a ticket from the tuxedoed salesman at the Americana Hotel was Patricia Nelson, a Bronx housewife, who said: "I know I'm not going to win, but if I do I'll probably spend it."

Forty-five minutes after the booth opened for business, the hotel had sold 171 of the green and white $1 tickets, including a number of out-of-staters who first received assurances that they were eligible to win. Casualties also can buy tickets.

Most outlets, which include some 4,000 hotels, motels and banks throughout the state, did not plan to start selling tickets until later in the day.

The state hopes to sell 20,000,000 a month to bring in $360,000,000 a year or enough for a $150,000,000 net profit, all of which, by law, must be used for education.

At the monthly drawings, there will be 540 prizes totaling $600,000 for each $1,000,000 worth of tickets sold. The awards will range from $150,000 down to $150. In addition, there will be a once-a-year, mega-prize of $250,000.

All tickets sold in a given month will be put in a drum for a drawing the following month, with the first tentatively scheduled for July 20 in Albany. Winners will be notified by telegram.

New York State voters authorized the lottery in a referendum last November making the state the second in the nation, after New Hampshire, to go into the business.

Pipeline Is Given Week To Pick Northern Route

OTTAWA (CP)—The National Energy Board Wednesday granted Trans - Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. another week to complete its discussions with Eastern Canada gas distributors on a new plan for increased pipeline capacity through Northern Ontario.

But NEB Chairman Ian McKinnon said the board will expect a "definitive statement" from the gas companies June 7 on how they propose to meet a gas shortage of 82 billion cubic feet forecast for the delivery year starting next Nov. 1.

He also announced that the Union Gas Co. has been granted emergency authority to import an additional eight billion cubic feet of United States gas between next September and April of 1968.

However, Union Gas had so far been able to obtain assurance for a quarter of this amount.

John McNeill of Toronto, senior vice-president of Trans-Canada, said considerable progress has been made towards agreement on the most desirable way of installing added pipeline capacity through Northern Ontario.

Trans-Canada originally had sought to add a 36-inch twin along its present 30 - inch line which runs from Winnipeg to Nipigon, Kapuskasing and Cochrane, then cuts south to North Bay.

This met with some objections from gas distribution companies that wanted to developp new routes. On May 22 Trans-Canada asked the energy board for additional time to work out a compromise plan with Union Gas, Consumers Gas Co. and Northern and Central Gas Co., the three main customers.

Mr. McNeill said the rough plan being worked out calls for twinning of the Winnipeg-Nipigon line, adding a 36 - inch pipe. From Nipigon a new line would be cut south through the wilderness towards Sault Ste. Marie. A spur line would then be shoot off to Sault Ste. Marie with the main route curving west past Sudbury to Sundridge, south of North Bay.

A companion project calls for another new line from North Bay through the Ottawa Valley to Montreal with an eventual extension to Quebec City.

This would be similar to a separate proposal filed this month by Northern and Central which calls for a new line from Nipigon across to Montreal.

Mr. McNeill said the general idea is to complete the 400-mile Winnipeg-Nipigon twinning job this summer. The other projects would be tackled in 1968.

However, he admitted that this would not provide a cure for the general gas shortage expected in Ontario and Quebec next winter. This would only be met if Trans - Canada obtained approval of the Federal Power Commission in the U.S. for its proposed line south of the Great Lakes linking Winnipeg and Sarnia.

Trans-Canada still hopes that the cheaper and more efficient U.S. route will be approved. It estimates a saving of $4,000,000 a year for Eastern Canada gas consumers if this route is used, making a new Northern Ontario project unnecessary.

Day of Dowdy Bible Without Notes Over

The Anglican archbishop, president of the United Bible Societies since 1957, is touring Canada for 18 days attending Bible and ecumenical meetings.

The terminology of the Bible is almost totally foreign to young people, Dr. Coggan told the annual board meeting of the Canadian Bible Society Wednesday.

"We have to experiment . . . Bibles need notes, divisions, illustrations, headings and attractive format and type."

In a technological age when "gospel"—understood as a biological term, Bible societies must do more than just multiply the number of available Bibles, he said.

Within the last six years the number of illiterates in the world has risen by 200,000,000, he said. Bible societies should produce simple learning books based on Scripture for those learning to read.

Dr. Coggan advised board members to enlist clerical and lay leaders in the work of the Canadian Bible Society.

He described the United Bible Societies as an organ of Unison for 25 societies in 130 countries, rather than a super Bible society.

Nurse Reports Three False Alarms Heard Before Fatal Hospital Fire

TORONTO (CP) — A nurse Wednesday told an inquest, investigating the death of a patient in the March 31 fire at a Workmen's Compensation Board hospital, that she heard three false alarms shortly before the fire started.

Nurse Irmgard Schmidt said because of the earlier false alarms she closed doors to the two nursing stations to keep patients from being awakened by pre-alarm fire bells.

Francesco Gualtieri, 56, was killed and 35 others injured in the fire.

Mrs. Schmidt said patients would still be able to hear the bells with the doors closed, but not as loudly. The pre-alarm bells warn patients to stay in their rooms but be ready to leave.

Locretta Bawtinheimer, senior nurse on duty the night of the fire, said she investigated after hearing the pre-alarm bell and saw no light in the hallways of the dormitory where the fire started.

She said about 15 patients ran from the dormitory while she held the door open. She said she telephoned her supervisor and then returned with a flashlight, but could not see any activity in rooms between her and the fire. Gualtieri died in one of the rooms.

Capt. George Wettlaufer of the North York fire department told the inquest he found a badly split fire hose on the second floor of the hospital.

Capt. Wettlaufer said the splits probably resulted from water pressure and the hose was the type which deteriorates if not maintained properly.

Samuel Bennett of Brampton, heating inspector for Toronto Township, said he inspected the damage the day after the fire, although he had not been authorized to do so.

He read a letter he had written April 12 to Dr. Morton Shulman, former chief coroner for Metropolitan Toronto, concerning his inspection.

The letter mentioned the use of hollow-core doors, excessive use of chicken-wire glass, narrow exits, suspected inadequate or missing fire dampers and louvres on fire doors which Mr. Bennett suggested could have caused a draft to spread fire along the corridor ceiling.

A former patient, Orval Subject, told the inquest there was no working fire alarm or sprinkler system on the night of the fire.

"There definitely is no outside fire escape," he said. "There is no way of communicating with the head desk."

Pope Feared Persecutions if He Protested Atrocities

VATICAN CITY (Reuters)—The Vatican Wednesday published archives showing that Pope Pius XII kept silent on Nazi atrocities in Poland during the Second World War because he feared persecutions against the church.

The documents contained many pleas, mostly from Polish bishops both inside and outside the country, beseeching Pius to speak out. Many Poles believed the church had abandoned them.

A note circulated by the Vatican's secretary of state at the time of the Polish terror said no public condemnation by the Holy See would be fully exploited for political purposes by some of the parties in the conflict.[1]

"Moreover, the German government, feeling itself attacked, would doubtless do two things—it would step up the persecution of Catholicism in Poland and would stop by every means the Holy See having contact with the Polish episcopate and carrying out its charitable work which it can still, even in a reduced form, pursue."

The Vatican, however, protested through diplomatic means to the German leaders, notably in a long letter to then foreign minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop, in March, 1943, which contributed to an eventual rupture of relations between the Nazis and the Vatican.

The published letters consist mostly of correspondence between the Vatican and Polish bishops, much of which had to be smuggled in and out of Poland by secret routes.

Expo 67 Welcomes British Delegation with Bulldogs, Miniskirts

MONTREAL (CP)—Expo 67 today welcomed Britain to the fair, with a show of bulldogs and miniskirts.

Commonwealth Secretary Herbert Bowden, who arrived in Montreal Wednesday night, planned to attend the official flag-raising ceremony in Place des Nations when the Union Jack will be raised over the fair.

Mr. Bowden, secretary of state for Commonwealth affairs for the last 10 months, was taking the place of Prime Minister Wilson who was held in London by the foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons.

Plans for Britain's day in Place des Nations followed the regular starchy pattern but after that the Britons will have Montreal to themselves.

This afternoon a motorcade of British cars loaded with entertainers and mini-skirted girls was due to leave central Montreal for Place des Nations to kick off what the British parade called "a spectacular pop historical pageant."

English girls, wearing red-white-and-blue miniskirts, Wednesday night distributed press releases to Expo's press corps announcing details of the show which was described as including "certain liberties with history."

Much of the show will be gymnastics with 40 girls from the Bedford College of Physical Education add 80 boys of the Loughborough College of Physical Education.

They will perform on a set which takes the form of a bandstand with four extended plinths similar to those at the foot of Nelson's Column in Trafalgar Square. On each plinth will be an eight-foot bulldog as well as four traditional statues of Britannia.

Wednesday was Vermont's day at the fair.

As the month ended with a total attendance at the fair of more than 3,750,000 the United Church Women served hundreds of cups of coffee to all comers at the Hospitality pavilion and the Soviet pavilion put on a concert with performers from Kirghizstan.

The fair today also welcomed members of the Canadian committee of the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) who were scheduled to hold a conference with delegates from 30 other countries on "Children and Their World."

Julie Andrews Back in NY At Height of Musical Career

"Could I take your picture, please?" he asked.

Julie Andrews had spent all morning under the hot lights for location scenes of Star! in which she plays the late Gertrude Lawrence. She smiled wryly and halted while the excited boy focused his camera. He snapped the shutter, but the flashbulb failed to go off.

"That's all right I've got fast film," he said bravely.

"Poor boy!" said Miss Andrews as she rode the elevator to the fourth-floor suite reserved for her use. "I'm sure the film will turn out black. But he was too flustered to take another photo."

She entered the suite with her entourage expected for the superstar of the 1960s: Hairdresser, makeup man, wardrobe woman, a lady photographer who snaps Julie Andrews at lunch, Julie Andrews in a dress fitting and so on. All these plus a reporter from Hollywood and a Pinkerton man who guards the $250,000 diamond ring she is wearing as a prop in the movie.

There is a faint air of melancholy in Julie Andrews' triumphal return to New York. She is at the height of a remarkable career. Three of her films, including The Sound of Music, financially the most successful movie in history, are enjoying long runs in Manhattan.

Her voice has its familiar lilt as she races from one subject to another, yet gaiety is missing. The fan magazines suggest she is torn between her husband, designer Tony Walton, who is usually a continent or ocean away, and director Blake Edwards, who has been closer at hand.

An underlying element of the Julie Andrews career is the fact that she is a serious worker, and has been so since she was thrust on English music hall stages as a singing prodigy.

She has come a far distance since she arrived in New York a dozen years ago to star in the spoof of the 1920s, The Girl Friend.

The Girl Friend was followed by the immense success of My Fair Lady and then the lesser hit, Camelot.

Russians Help Boost Canada

Ken Swaisland, 22, Ray Smith, 25, Jenny Cliche, 21, and Heather Cooper, 22, plan to travel from Europe in their trailer-truck on a seven-month centennial project telling people about Canada on a face-to-face basis.

The project got under way last March when Don Ross, a Toronto copywriter suggested it to Ray, a reporter with the Toronto Telegram.

They were provided with pins, pamphlets, slides and projectors, and enthusiastic supporters lent them both truck and trailer—valued at about $10,000.

But the project would never have got off the ground, the quartet agreed, if the Soviet government had not agreed to free passage for their camper trailer.

Drama Is Nearly Out of Style On TV Says ABC Spokesman

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Some questions—and answers:

In this season of tired reruns can drama lovers look for more first-time specials like CBS's splendid Ivanov last Tuesday night.

No. The airwaves are barren of fresh drama until fall.

An ABC aide says: "Drama is nearly out of style. Stage 67 took a terrible beating in the ratings and will be on only intermittently in the fall, under another title."

Serious comedy does indeed have a hard time in TV-land. Anton Chekhov's Ivanov offered moving performances by Sir John Gielgud, Claire Bloom and others.

But an overnight audience survey indicated it played a weak third to Peyton Place and a Debbie Reynolds movie.

Speaking of specials, CBS's next, June 12, is Charlie Brown Talks in Love, the Peanuts cartoon crowd which was twice nominated for Emmy awards for past performances. The Anderson Platoon, filmed in Vietnam, is a CBS news documentary for July 4. I Leonardo da Vinci, on the Summer Focus series tonight, is a two-year-old repeat of an ABC news documentary.

Will Gunsmoke have less violence in the fall. For years it has been aired Saturday at 10 p.m., it switches to Mondays at 7.30 p.m., when the kiddies are still up.

Will networks ever stop pitting their strongest shows opposite each other? The Smothers Brothers compete with Bonanza, Ed Sullivan with Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color.

Assessment Questioned

Liberal Backbenchers Add Voices to Critics of Citizenship Act

OTTAWA (CP)—Liberal backbenchers joined opposition speakers in criticizing amendments to the Citizenship Act introduced in the Commons by State Secretary Judy LaMarsh Wednesday.

Gordon Fairweather (PC—Royal) said the amendments were "mere patchwork" and not a substitute for the completely new Citizenship Act the since 1963.

government had been promising

David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) called the bill "window dressing" purporting to erase discrimination between naturalized and native-born Canadians, but retaining the ministerial discretion to veto Exchequer Court approval of citizenship for immigrants.

Herb Grey (L—Essex West) complained the bill fails to permit a person to obtain citizenship by affirming allegiance to the country. He disagreed with the practice of taking the oath on a Bible. Some people had valid personal reasons for not wishing to take a religious oath.

He agreed with two other Liberal MPs, Hubert Badanai of Fort William and Steve Otto of York East, that questions of geography and history were not the best way to assess the citizenship qualifications of an immigrant.

Mr. Badanai said some of the questions asked of applicants for citizenship would stump many MPs. But the Ukrainian-born MP also hailed the bill as marking an end of the "perpetuation of second - class citizenship" in Canada.

Mr. Otto repeated his appeal for the government to give every landed immigrant the opportunity of becoming a Canadian citizen on July 1 this year simply by swearing an oath of allegiance.

Harold Winch (NDP — Vancouver East) called for an end to the practice of rejecting citizenship applications without giving a reason. Even MPs could not find out why the secretary of state rejects appeals.

He said a rejected applicant could be the victim of lies and misrepresentation but couldn't set the record straight.

David Orlikow (NDP—Winnipeg North) cited the example of a young man who was denied re-enlistment in the navy for security reasons until questions raised in the Commons forced an inquiry which proved it was a case of mistaken identity.

He said he was not a fan of the RCMP, but "I am the most ardent supporter of the RCMP must realize that they are human and can make mistakes."

Immigration appeal procedures were changed recently by Parliament to make the Exchequer Court the final arbiter, but it ultimately appeals the minister still has the final word after the court has ruled.

Mr. Fairweather, former attorney-general of New Brunswick, argued that membership in the Communist Party should not be a barrier to Canadian citizenship.

He said it was a paradox that while the party was legal, membership in it was a bar to citizenship.

Donald Fleming Visits Ottawa To Study PC Leadership Draft

OTTAWA (CP) — Former finance minister Donald Fleming says about two-thirds of the 95 Conservative MPs are pressing him hard to run for the party leadership at the September convention.

"I am giving it most serious consideration," he told reporters Wednesday night. "I will make my decision next week."

The Toronto corporation lawyer flew here for the second time in a week to discuss the leadership race with influential Conservatives who formed an informal "draft Fleming" committee several weeks ago.

Mr. Fleming, 52, who left politics four years ago for a lucrative law practice, said he would have to "Give up a lot" if he won the leadership but considered service to Canada a great challenge.

"I told them that, in the face of the draft presented to me during recent weeks . . . I will make my decision next week."

The MPs clapped loudly just before emerging from the meeting in the Commons office of J. Waldo Monteith, Conservative caucus chairman, former health minister and one of the party's treasurers.

Percy Noble, MP for Grey North and spokesman for the Fleming boosters, said in an interview earlier that "we have at least two-thirds of the caucus and practically the whole front bench" except Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and five of his former ministers who are in the leadership race.

Mr. Fleming's supporters argue that he would make a good "party unity" candidate, being bilingual, respected by orthodox small conservatives, loyal to Mr. Diefenbaker through various party revolts and with 18 years' experience in Parliament.

Mr. Fleming met Mr. Diefenbaker for 35 minutes last week. "I acquainted him fully with the pressures being applied to me to seek the leadership," he said.

He had no information about Mr. Diefenbaker's own intentions.

Mr. Fleming unsuccessfully sought the party leadership at the 1948 and 1956 conventions and served as finance minister from 1957 to 1962, when he brought down a series of large budgetary deficits to combat an economic downturn.

He took over the justice portfolio in August, 1962, and retired from politics after the Diefenbaker government's defeat in a Commons non-confidence vote in February, 1963.

Internship Urged For Aides to MPs

OTTAWA (CP)—A proposal by a Conservative MP that members of Parliament be provided with young administrative assistants through a system of internship will be studied by a House committee.

Alfred D. Hales (Wellington South) re-introduced the scheme in the Commons Wednesday as a private member's notice of motion. He first raised the matter last June.

There was general agreement with his proposal and the subject matter was referred to the procedures committee.

Mr. Hales proposed an "internship program" with two goals: To help young political scientists, journalists and law school faculty members in understand better the legislative process, and to provide MPs with assistants.

He suggested the assistants be selected through a country-wide competition. Candidates would be between 21 and 25 years old and would have some advanced training and practical experience.

They would be paid $4,500 to $5,000 a year out of government funds. A centennial fund of $1,000,000 might be set up and the interest would pay the salaries of a dozen interns.

Donald Tolmie (L—Welland) suggested the scheme begin with a general pool of assistants rather than one for each member and be expanded later if proven successful.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For June 2

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): You are tasked for certain tests, challenges, responsibilities. Today these are emphasized. Cycle high — you can meet conflict and emerge victorious. You prove yourself. Benefits indicated.

TAURUS (Apr. 20— May 20): Find the why of events, situations. Don't be satisfied with superficial answers. Analyze. Look for reasons . . . be satisfied if you entertain first, you compound error. Be open and frank.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Not so wise to depend upon promises. Friends tend to take over-bearing attitude if attending party, don't expect too much. Avoid disappointment with easy-going attitude.

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Obtain hint from Aries message. You get what you request. Question of how you handle challenge is of utmost importance. Plus evening for dining out, entertaining others.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Being attuned to future possibilities may not be enough today. Some insist on outline of immediate plans. Know this and have facts available. Prove your point.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Your ability to go beyond surface indications is tested. You must be somewhat of a detective today. Examine, analyze, perceive motives. News of legal decision may be received.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Emphasis heavy on marriage, partnership, public reaction to your efforts and image. Key to solidity assets. Line up allies. Know where you stand. Strengthen position.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Your abilities are tested. Some who serve you may appear rebellious. Be versatile. Display alternative methods. Authorities are won over through charm, not force.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Serious discussion of plans with loved one is in order. Not good for speculation, chance. Be sure you have green light from authorities. Otherwise it could prove costly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Changes shown — but not as might have been expected. Don't get trapped in maze of red tape. Know position — how to eliminate yourself. Be alert — and available.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Best to hold off on trips. There may be more to plan, story than you are aware of. Be cautious, stick close to home base. Rely upon those who know and love you.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Watch valuables. Don't spend in reckless manner. Friend who appears gloomy is looking for sympathy. Be realistic. Don't fall for "sob story."

If today is your birthday . . . and you are subject to moods, fond of music, versatile, attractive to opposite sex. You are discriminating, loyal, and very special.

Mr. Meltzer on Real Estate
"What's Your Problem"

By BERNARD C. MELTZER

The typical home owner thinks that a real estate broker earns his commission upon completion of the transaction. It will come as a surprise to many that this is not true. Unless provided otherwise, settlement is not the point in time when a broker earns his commission.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: My real estate broker is trying to take money that I think rightfully belongs to me. He has even had the nerve to tell me that if I write to you, I'll find that his position is reasonable.

I signed an agreement of sale three months ago for $30,000 and the buyer gave the broker a $2,000 good-faith deposit. The broker's commission was to be 5 per cent. Last month, the buyer woke up that he had changed his mind. As provided in the agreement, his deposit was forfeited.

I asked the broker to send me the money he was holding. He did; but he took out $300. He claims that since the buyer did not go through with the deal, he is willing to settle for half a commission. I say that since the buyer defaulted, he is not entitled to any commission. Who is right? — Mrs. I.

ANSWER: It may come as a surprise to our correspondent, but the broker's offer is reasonable. In fact, he is entitled to more. When a broker secures a buyer, ready, willing and able, who is ready to sign a contract, he has earned his commission. Securing a buyer whose offer has been accepted, as in this case, meets this criteria.

The erroneous impression that laymen have, that the broker only earns his commission after settlement, is not true. To repeat: The commission is earned when a bona fide buyer is secured whose offer is accepted.

Thus, in this case, in my opinion, the broker could rightfully claim the full commission of $1,500. However, in cases where default takes place, a reputable broker will usually compromise and voluntarily not claim the full commission. Settling for half a commission is common.

Our correspondent is fortunate in that the broker has not claimed full commission, and I recommend that she accept the broker's offer of a partial commission.

One factor can modify the above general statement. On special occasions, I have advised clients to insert a clause in the agreement of sale, that no commission is earned until settlement. I must warn readers, however, that a broker will resist the inclusion of such a clause.

Dear Mr. Meltzer: The township in which I reside recently announced that all properties would be reappraised for assessment purposes during the coming year. The news release stated that the contract totalled $20,000 for about 20,000 properties.

When I bought my house, I had it appraised and was billed $50. Yet the township is only paying approximately $4.50 per property and that includes apartment houses, industrial and commercial parcels. I think I was overcharged. — Mr. M.T.

ANSWER: A charge of $50 for the complete analysis and appraisal of a residential property is reasonable. A mass reassessment appraisal does not apply the same degree of analysis and study to a property. It is primarily a "tape measure" job.

As a rule, they do not meet professional standards. I have found from experience that these so-called appraisals are easily overcome by the professional appraiser and very often are not acceptable when presented in court.

* * *

Dear Mr. Meltzer: A woman in our office is retiring after 40 years of service. We are collecting a sizeable fund for her going away present. Although she is unmarried, she owns her own home and takes great pride in its upkeep. Since she is getting older, we would like to present her with a present which will be a labor-saving device for her home. — Mrs. S.

ANSWER: The most popular labor-saving device that I know of for a home is a husband. The best model is one with money. Why not buy her a ticket for a cruise or a resort where she can find a wide selection of these potential labor savers and choose her own?

Big Deficit Indicated In Sharp's Budget

No Tax Increases, A Few Deductions

OTTAWA (CP) — A federal deficit of $740,000,000, the 11th in a row and the second largest in peacetime, is forecast by Finance Minister Sharp.

For most Canadians, the only bright spot in the minister's budget speech Thursday night came in a government assault on drug costs. In a three-pronged attack, he proposed eliminating the 15-per-cent sales tax on all drugs, reducing tariffs on them and changing their anti-dumping regulations.

The forecast deficit comes on the heels of the actual shortfall of $428,000,000 run up in the last fiscal year. The largest peacetime deficit, $791,000,000, was in 1961-62 when the Conservatives were in office.

The 56-year-old minister, presenting his third budget, including a mini-budget last December, defended the proposed deficit as necessary to give the economy a moderate stimulating force as it passes through a delicate transitional period.

He also said he is taking again for restraint from business and labor to counter cost and price increases which would lead to "increasing inequity and dissension in the country."

There were no changes in personal or corporate income taxes.

The proposed lifting of the 12-per-cent sales tax, applied at the manufacturers' level, would take effect Sept. 1 so druggists could get rid of existing stocks on which the tax already has been paid.

Changing the tariff and anti-dumping rules would open the way to more competition and help make sure the savings are passed on to the public, Mr. Sharp said.

He told a later press conference, however, that the government has no way of controlling prices. But the government would be keeping an eye on the situation, and he was sure other groups would be too.

First Three Fatalities Reported In Middle East Crisis

JERUSALEM (CP) — An armed clash erupted on Israel's border with Syria today, bringing the first fatalities since the Middle East crisis broke out. Israel's army spokesman said two Israelis and a Syrian were killed.

The fighting came a few hours after the appointment of Gen. Moshe Dayan, architect of Israel's triumph over Egypt in the Suez war of 1956, as defence minister.

The skirmishing was at the village of Kfar Hassael, populated by settlers from the United States. It is less than a mile from Syria's border.

An Israeli army spokesman said a patrol encountered four armed Syrians as they were returning to Syria. Found near the Syrian's body were a submachine gun, two anti-personnel mines and ammunition.

It was the second day of fiery on Israel's border. Jordan said it opened fire Thursday on an Israeli helicopter that flew over its half of divided Jerusalem. Israel said a shell burst hit a house but no casualties were reported.

As the border incidents added to war jitters, French President de Gaulle spoke out on the Middle East crisis, warning that any country opening fire will have "neither the approval nor support" of France. Arab states have considered France a friend in the crisis although it has sold arms to Israel in the past.

"The worst thing which could happen would be the opening of hostilities," de Gaulle said in a Paris statement.

National Hero Named Israel Defence Minister

JERUSALEM (CP)—A militant Israel today faced the surrounding hostile Arab world with the broadest-based government in its history and a national hero at the head of its armed forces.

A wave of relief spread across the country, reported Reuter correspondent Ayr Wallenstein, after Premier Levi Eshkol's cabinet Thursday night yielded to patriotic urgings and appointed one-eyed Gen. Moishe Dayan as defence minister.

It was Gen. Dayan, now 52, who led the triumphant 1956 Sinai campaign against Egypt.

It was also announced that the two main opposition groups —the Herut - Liberal and the Rafi parties—accepted an invitation to join a "national unity" government," the first coalition government in Israel.

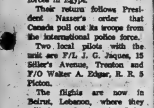
Mohamed Hassanein Heykal, editor of the authoritative Cairo newspaper Al Ahram and close friend of Egyptian President Nasser, claimed that the armed forces now control Israel and predicted that Premier Levi Eshkol's government would be overthrown soon unless it takes military action against the Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Al Ahram warned that Egypt will close the Suez Canal to shipping of any nation trying to break the blockade it has imposed on the gulf between the Red Sea and Israel's southern port, Elath.

In a move to forestall any attempt by U.S. and British warships to break the blockade, Al Ahram said Cairo would regard such attempts as aggression and exercise its right to bar the aggressor's ships from the Suez Canal under the 1888 treaty of Constantinople.

The paper said Nasser's government is drawing up a plan to meet "attempts by the United States and Britain to pressure and provoke Egypt."



Al Ahram also said that Egyptian planes equipped with guided missiles were ordered to watch the British carrier Hermes, now anchored off Aden after turning back from a voyage to the Far East. The news paper said the 23,000-ton carrier will not be allowed in Egyptian territorial waters.

Sorry, No Ducks Today

Wilson Urges Strong UN Force

"No thanks! I'm trying to quit."

OTTAWA (CP) — A strong United Nations force in the Middle East operating on both sides of the Egyptian-Israeli border was urged today by Prime Minister Harold Wilson of Britain.

The prime minister told a news conference he had discussed the Middle East situation "very intensively" with Prime Minister Pearson Thursday and they agreed a solution must be sought through the United Nations.

"Only if we fail might other action be considered."

He said this was not a time for historical judgments, but for cool heads.

1,000 Man Force

South Vietnamese Kill 150 Viet Cong

SAIGON (AP)—A 1,000-man force of South Vietnamese paratroops and infantry chopped up a Viet Cong battalion just south of the demilitarized zone today and killed at least 150 Viet Cong, the Vietnamese command announced.

A few miles to the west U.S. marines were calling in air and artillery against a hunkered Communist ridgeline where dug-in North Vietnamese regulars killed 13 marines and wounded 83 Thursday.

The fighting raged a few miles below the 17th parallel dividing Vietnam, an area where the Communists have shown every willingness to feed in fresh troops for a growing war of attribition.

The South Vietnamese jumped off on a widespread sweep at dawn and within hours hit the guerrilla battalion of about 500 men in a coastal area of sand dunes, low hills and brush where it has long operated. The battle northeast of Quang Tri City was the third in the area in the last two weeks.

To the west, the marines were attempting to dislodge the North Vietnamese from a low ridgeline that gives them observation of Con Thien and Camp Carrol, two bunkered marine outposts just below the demilitarized zone.

Serious fighting was reported in the Mekong Delta, where the Viet Cong mortared the provincial capital of Tan An 23 miles from Saigon.

At dawn 17 Communist dead were found. Four of the Americans were wounded.

Toronto Teachers' Representative Predicts End to Salary Deadlock

TORONTO (CP)—The general secretary of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers Federation, I. M. Robb, predicts the Toronto teacher salary deadlock will be settled before schools close in June.

His statement in a news release Thursday was made after 1,137 of the city's 2,000 secondary school teachers tendered their resignations, effective Aug. 31, Wednesday.

William Rosa, chairman of the Toronto board of education, said almost 100 per cent of the staff had quit at some schools. In one school alone, 112 teachers had resigned.

Mr. Robb said the resignations have now sed if negotiations break down it would be impossible to operate our schools," said Mr. Rosa.

However, he assured students and parents that there will be no disruption of school during this term.

Eighty-four per cent of the teachers turned down the board's offer last month of annual salaries ranging from $5,100 to $13,000 because they would not become effective until the new term. The current scale is $5,400 to $11,200.

The teachers want the increases retroactive to January

Local Fliers Return

TRENTON — Airforce officials today said three flight crews — including Quinte district airmen — are on their way out of the Middle East danger zone.

The crews were flying Caribou supply planes of Air Transport Command for the UN forces in Egypt.

Two local pilots with the unit are F/L J. G. Jaques, 15 Sidney Avenue, Trenton and F/O Walter A. Edgar, R. R. 5 Picton.

The flights are now in Beirut, Lebanon, where they will leave Sunday, for Lahr, West Germany.

After that, long-range tanks will be fitted the light, versatile little transports, for the long journey back to Canadian Forces Base, Trenton.

$35,000 Loss in Groceteria Fire

Investigators today were probing the cause of an early morning blaze that caused $35,000 loss in a big city groceteria.

Ontario Fire Marshal's inspector Del Hope and investigators from the city's fire department began sifting the debris of the store, today to find an explanation for the blaze.

The store also houses a suppost office, but postal officials said there was no actual monetary loss to stamps or money orders.

An insurance adjuster said the loss to store proprietor Thomas Zegouras could eventually be as high as $40,000.

Firemen turned out under a general alarm after three men in a car spotted the store on fire at 3.25 a.m.

They drove hastily to the East Dundas Street fireball less than a half-mile away, and roused firemen by pounding on the main doors.

The store, open until midnight seven days a week was a popular after-hours shopping centre for all of east Belleville.

It carried a large variety of stock, loss of which was first estimated at about $20,000.

An post office documents received smoke and water damaged, but there was no actual fire loss. Later, clerks at the main city post office had the job of parting thousands of stamps glued together, by water.

Forest, Bushlands Parched

Forest firefighters in the Quinte district today were preparing for an emergency over the weekend.

An extreme hazard reing has been posted for the whole of the Trenton division by the Department of Lands and Forests.

Grimness of the situation is underlined by the department's decision not to issue any permits for burning to district residents.

Forest and bushland is parched; less than .1 inch of rain has fallen in the whole region in the past 10 days.

In the last 24 hours there have been three forest fires in the area — making a total of 86 since the camping season opened April 1.

Tight surveillance will be kept of district forests through the emergency period by a network of lookout towers, game wardens, township fire wardens and aircraft — all linked by radio.

It's an Emergency!

Firefighting Beaver aircraft on Stoco Lake at Tweed is standing by today to help combat any forest fire eruptions as extreme hazard prevails in Quinte - district forests.

Federal Economic Policy Set in Sharp's Own Image

OTTAWA (CP)—In its language more than its proposals, Finance Minister Sharp's budget speech Thursday night cast federal economic policy in the image of Mr. Sharp himself.

A budget deficit is not new—this is the 11th in a row—but Mr. Sharp's repeated emphasis on flexibility is.

His speech returned time and again to federal initiatives of the last 18 months—the precise term Mr. Sharp has spent in the finance portfolio.

His speech made liberal use of the pronoun "I", and spirited I-told-you-so's in discussing the success of restraints he placed on the economic boom in 1966.

His first words on the state of the economy listed 13 legislative items or government actions in which he played a prominent role.

They included a budget and mini-budget, five bills affecting income, old age security and sales taxes, and two moves affecting business investment.

He spoke of a bold new federal line in dealing with the provinces.

The speech also emphasized that Mr. Sharp will be in the thick of events through 1967 and 1968.

The ritual of an annual budget setting the terms for tax policy a year at a time, are a thing of the past, he hinted. Now that Parliament is sitting more or less continuously, it can act promptly to deal with "economic possibilities" as they develop.

This may mean two budgets a year, although Mr. Sharp told a later news conference Thursday night that he is "not pre disposed" another is likely.

He told reporters that his budget this year should be regarded as a two-part document. The second will come when Parliament deals with legislation to implement tariff concessions offered trading partners at the recent Kennedy Round negotiations.

Tariff matters lie within the jurisdiction of the finance department and Mr. Sharp, more than Trade Minister Winters, will be stating the case on Canada's trade and tariff policies.

The budget speech also dealt extensively with the report of the Carter royal commission on taxation, which will for m the basis of major changes in the tax system, starting in 1968.

It is Mr. Sharp who will hear recommendations from the public, draft proposals for the cabinet, defend a white paper before a parliamentary committee, and press legislation through the Commons and Senate.

As he concluded, Mr. Sharp returned to his declaration that the measure of federal fiscal policy is the measure of a performance dating back to late 1965, when he took the helm.

"During the past 18 months," he said, "our flexible approach was the most effective approach possible."

Rand Hearings Completed

TORONTO (CP)— The Rand Royal Commission into Ontario Labor disputes, which began its investigations January, completes public hearings today.

The hearings, conducted by retired Supreme Court of Canada Justice Ivan C. Rand, have accumulated a mass of briefs and conflicting proposals from labor, management and other parties.

Mr. Rand's report is expected early next year and could result in labor legislation changes.

During hearings Thursday, the commission was told that restrictive practices by trade unions in the graphic arts industry over the past 50 years has created a shortage of skilled workers in the industry.

A brief by the Council of Printing Industries, representing 150 employers and 11,000 workers, said this shortage of skilled workers is the greatest problem in the industry today.

Half-way Mark In Campaign Appears Near

The $25,000 mark or close to one half of the Salvation Army capital fund appeal for $60,000 has now been reached, it was announced today by Mrs. Bessie Marsh, general campaign chairman.

Mrs. Marsh said she was confident that the half way mark of $30,000 would be reached by the end of this week.

The special names division of the Salvation Army canvass under the leadership of A. MacLean Haig has reported the highest returns to date. The professional, industrial and business divisions of the canvass is still far from completed.

Shulman Charges Laxity

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Morton Shulman, former Metropolitan Toronto chief coroner, charged Thursday night that witnesses have had their evidence discredited at the inquest under way into the death of a patient in the fire at a Workmen's Compensation Board hospital March 31.

Dr. Shulman said he has formed the opinion from reading newspaper reports of the inquest that the Crown is trying to minimize evidence of laxity and drinking at the hospital by discounting testimony given at the inquest.

Several witnesses have called him to complain about their treatment at the inquest said Dr. Shulman, who has not attended in person since it opened.

Medalists At Festival Give Concert

A concert of particular interest to young musicians in the city and district will be presented Saturday evening, June 3, featuring medalists from Belleville who starred at the recent Kiwanis Music Festival in Peterborough.

All the soloists on the program are pupils of Salvation Army Bandmaster Jack Green whose outstanding teaching ability has brought many honors to the city.

Saturday evening's concert is being held at the Salvation Army Citadel on Pinnacle Street, commencing at 7.30.

Purpose of Education Outlined to Industry

E. A. Orr, superintendent of Secondary Schools was the moderator at a panel on education held at the Tops Motor Hotel, while Mrs. Norma Grant, Guidance Director of Quinte Secondary School, G. W. Cunningham, a member of the Board of Governors of Loyalist College of Applied Arts and Technology, W. J. Musgrove, Principal of Centennial Secondary School and E. P. Votsary, Technical Director of Moira Secondary School formed the remainder of the panel.

Mr. Musgrove criticized student knowledge of job opportunities. "At present they have nothing."

"Students should know organization in industries, industries don't recognize that students are individuals."

Mrs. Grant defined the purpose of education. "The purpose of education is to develop fully the interests and abilities of each child."

She said that people lose jobs more because they can't get along with other people.

She suggested the panel learn would stimulate student interest and knowledge of industry.

E. P. Votesry dropped a bomb on the delegation. He said, "There seems to be no place for students to get apprenticeship training."

F. Beeby a representative of the industrialists said he knew of about 100 in training right now. Still, he admitted that there were drawbacks to apprenticeship training. The equipment is expensive and other industries steal apprentice graduates by offering higher wages.

J. A. Steininger, Inspector of Schools, Ontario Department of Education, who spoke last and summarized the conference, promised that the schools would prepare students if industry would clearly what it wanted.

He stated that employers and teachers want the same things, co-operation and good students. He saw the great advantages to communication between education, labor and industry.

It was suggested by a delegate that a committee be formed so that this communication could be continued.

The Industrial Panel

The Industrial panel members attacked the educators in the first part of the Education, Labor and Industry conference yesterday. H. W. Karn, the representative from the Canada Manpower Centre, W. J. Galt the moderator of the panel, H. Hall, the labor representative, and F. Beeby the industrialist delegate discuss one of the topics with the rest of the conference.

Industrialists and Educational Leaders Hold Panel Discussion

Yesterday, more than 75 representatives from industry, labor and education convened at Centennial Secondary School and later the Tops Motor Hotel for a conference designed to establish better communication between industry and education.

The delegates, all from the Bay of Quinte High School area, took part in panel discussions and a banquet at the Tops. The conference is an experimental project and one of three that was held, the others being held in Kapuskasing and Owen Sound.

The first panel was made up of industrialists and included as moderator, W. J. Galt, plant manager of Northern Electric, F. Beeby, manager, Manpower Development, Northern Electric Company, H. Hall, president of Local 219, United Cement Lime and Gypsum Workers' International Union, M. E. Nesmith, Supervisor of Employment and Employee Relations, Ontario Division, Bank of Montreal and H. W. Karn, manager, Canada Manpower Centre.

R. W. Frosts was chairman of the conference.

He pointed out the similarities between industry and education. Industry is reaching out. So are the schools."

"Establishing communication between industry and education should be carried to the local level." This was the main reason for the experimental conference yesterday.

He explained that the Bay of Quinte area was chosen because of its stable industry. He summarized the exact aim of the get-together between the employers and the educators.

"We want industry to know what education is thinking and we want education to know what industry is thinking.

W. J. Galt, the moderator of the panel warned the representatives of the educational situation.

According to Mr. Beeby, a member of the panel, there were methods of meeting the need of the industrialists.

He suggested ending the gaps in school programs, stopping dropouts expanding universities, and generally improving the quality of education.

"Industry," he said, "needs people who know how to learn. Knowledge should be on a broad base, a more professional finish."

He blasted schools for the tendency of teaching students "parrot-fashion" rather than letting them learn creatively.

He suggested that students could draw up part of the school budget as manager training. Students could work Mr. Hall took his turn in suggesting changes in the schools. School should be compulsory to the age of 18. History should deal with labor unions.

M. E. Nesmith expressed one of his problems in communication. "We can't communicate if we don't speak the same language."

In discussion from the floor the conference learned that technological graduates are below what is needed by industry.

The employers suggested practical wind-ups to the theory at the end of the school year. They said they wanted people that wanted to climb.

Many delegates wondered if students were being too well educated for some jobs. "We don't want high-powered people doing low-calibre jobs. It results in stagnant knowledge."

Goodyear Airship to Visit City

The Goodyear airship "Mayflower" is expected to arrive in Canada June 4. After performing at Expo for two months it will depart for the Toronto C.N.E. The airship is expected to fly over Belleville and Trenton at that time.

Must Pool Knowledge On Education Meet Told

W. H. Cranston, Chairman of the Ontario Economic Council was on hand last evening to speak to the delegates from local labor and education at the Tops Motel.

He spoke of the growth of education. "Education is such a big business, that it is difficult for most of us to realize its many facets."

"For too long, the average taxpayer, and in particular the average business man, has been content to abdicate his right to knowledge, yet since his responsibility to participate in our overall educational policy formation."

"It is essential that all effective steps be taken to pool knowledge, as between the public and private sectors, not to say only what is taught, but how it is taught."

Mr. Cranston outlined the trends in management recruitment policy.

"There is a strong, consistent trend toward specialized schooling as an employment qualification as compared to both post-graduates from university and graduates of technological institutes and technical high schools."

"The demand," he said, "for first - degree university graduates grew at a rate 50 per cent higher than the rate of increase in total employment. The figure was 70 per cent for high school graduates."

Mr. Cranston recommended more research on a continuing basis to identify education and training needs. "Co-ordination both nationally and provincially is a must."

There is a need to establish a greater social status for vocation jobs. Secondary Schools should provide the basis for employment without incurring the implied stigma of the high school drop-out."

He suggested that industry could assume a greater responsibility for the development of operating skills.

He chastised industry and commerce for expecting more from the school-system than the school-system was able to deliver.

"We are probably most certain of the things we cannot do. For instance, it is not possible to impart all educational skills in the University, all skills cannot be developed in the schoolroom."

Barney Wart Promoted to OPP Inspector

A one-time Belleville resident, A. J. (Barney) Wart has been promoted to the rank of OPP inspector, stationed at the force's general headquarters here.

Inspector Wart joined the Provincial Police in 1948 and was posted to Picton, where he served as identification officer until 1964 when he was transferred to the central records branch.

Last year he took over as assistant director of the branch, the position he still holds.

Resident in Scarborough, he is married to the former Loulie Dale, of Belleville.

OFFERS APOLOGY

VALLETTA, Malta (Reuters) Vice-Admiral William S. Martin, commander of the U.S. 6th Fleet, has apologized to 82-year-old Laurence Mintoff, who was beaten up by an American sailor Tuesday. It was disclosed today. Mintoff, father of Malt tese Opposition Leader Dom Mintoff, suffered a broken arm and facial bruises in the incident near his home.

The Educators

Deficit Indicated

minutes, offered little else to the public.

The duty on tequila was solved, antiques 100 years old to be admitted duty free and special margarines for allergy victims will be admitted to the country.

Previously antiques had to be 120 years old to escape duty and, despite the special concession for allergy suffers, there was no indication of general changes in the margarine import policy.

Mr. Sharp rejected proposals that he lift the special excise tax on television sets, radios, phonographs, jewelry and other popular consumer goods on grounds there was no economic or social gains to be made in them this year.

For business, Mr. Sharp said the government will lift the remaining six-per-cent sales tax on gidgetsin machinery manufacturing, instead of next April 1 as previously planned.

There no longer was a need to restrain capital spending by business, and ending the tax-subject of bitter criticism since it was established in 1951 would help reduce future production costs.

The 11 - per - cent sales tax on building materials, however, was maintained for a year. It would be too expensive to lose the revenue. It brought in more than $300,000,000 last year.

That tax was maintained at the 11-per-cent level last December, when the general sales tax was raised by one percentage point.

The budget also extended a 26-per-cent drawback on duties now given on automotive production machinery to industries used by auto parts makers.

Mr. Sharp, who went through his speech at calmly as though he were addressing a service club luncheon, made it clear however, that the economic implications of his budget were uppermost.

He told his post-speech press conference that the economy now is at the end of a rapid expansion period. The problem was to make the transition from unsustainable spending to a steady rate of growth.

He told the Commons that the chief obstacle to stable growth during the next few years is the danger of excessive increases in prices and costs.

He rejected formal wage and price guidelines because of practical problems involved, but said there is "great value" in mobilizing public opinion behind "non - inflationary behavior on the part of those who are in a position to exercise strong market power."

He warned that, chiefly because of a decline in productivity, the economy is likely in for a "modest" increase in unemployment, but a generally favorable upturn in economic conditions later this year should cancel that by 1962.

Experience during the last 18 months had indicated that a new flexibility was available in dealing with fiscal matters.

With Parliament sitting more or less continuously, it could move promptly to enact needed measures without having to give the government extraordinary standby powers.

The minister called the Carter report on taxation "thought-ful, radical and stimulating" but said it bristles with technical and political problems.

Repeating his previously announced plans to publish a white paper on government thinking on the report this fall, followed by legislation in 1961, he warned that too much time cannot be left for study.

Taking time to study the report caused uncertainty, which could not be avoided. It was a reason for proceeding as soon and as quickly as possible — but not a justification for haste.

Mr. Sharp told members his recommendations on tariff changes were few, and they would not be implemented until detailed results of the recently concluded trade talks at Geneva were made known.

That was expected about July 1.

Then the thousands of tariff changes that would be needed to fulfill Canada's commitments at the talks would be presented.

At the same time, he pledged government help for industries seriously affected by tariff concessions made by Canada in the negotiations. He gave no details.

Mr. Sharp said his two main tax changes — lifting the sales tax on drugs and on production machinery—would cost the government about $62,000,000 in revenue in the coming year.

The drug sales tax would amount to $22,000,000, but pharmaceutical producer sales greater than that for the public.

The proposed tariff cut on drugs, generally to 15 per cent from 20, would cover imports from countries enjoyed the most favored-nation treaty with Canada.

Essentially, that would mean the United States, source of most Canadian drug imports.

The dumping duties on drugs would be narrowed to cover only the kind actually made in Canada. Previously they had involved drugs considered a "class or kind," a much wider interpretation of where the duty should be applied.

Mr. Sharp estimated the gross national product would increase this year by 6% or seven per cent, compared with 10.9 per cent in 1955.

Price increases, however, should account for only three per cent of that, compared with 4.5 per cent last year.

A greater growth rate could be expected in 1962.

Liberal Candidate Speaker

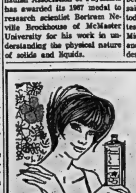
The subject of Mr. Joss remarks was the diminishing power of the Legislative branch of government relative to the administration.



Mr. Joss, stating that the Legislative branch was still trying to operate under 19th century concepts, also criticized the belief that some people have of a member of Parliament, as a lobbyist.

Mr. Joss suggested that MP's be given private offices with secretarial and executive assistants. He also suggested that the space and staff needed should be allocated from the administrative portion of Government and that the number of Royal Commissions should be cut.

Finally, Mr. Joss advocated a greater use of the committees system in order to inform members of complex legislation more thoroughly.

Arabs Poised

Israel Now More Vulnerable to Attack Than in 1956

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Despite intensified diplomatic activity, time seems to be rapidly running out in the Middle East where the Egyptian - Israeli crisis appears to be shaping into a Soviet-United States show of force.

In the Western world two diplomatic actions are under way to declare the Gulf of Aqaba an international waterway and to find some way of restoring a United Nations presence along the explosive border.

Britain is taking specific action to get a number of maritime countries to join in declaring the blockaded gulf a free shipping lane, hoping this declaration would prolong Israel's restraint against a unilateral move.

But the declaration, by itself, probably would do nothing to lift the blockade. There is every indication that Britain would like to avoid military action in support of the declaration. Whether a mere joint statement by maritime powers would satisfy the Israeli appears to be in doubt.

Equally doubtful is any hope that the UN world get unofficial approval to restore some form of UN presence along the Egyptian-Israeli border without Soviet Union support.

Evidence indicates that the Soviet price is reduction of American pressure against North Vietnam. The Soviet Union is reported to have told France it cannot participate in a Big Four conference on the Middle East while there is "aggression" in Vietnam. France, of course, can understand the Russian position for President de Gaulle also feels that the Americans have no business in Vietnam.

Thus the Middle East crisis hardens and the patience of the Israeli government is being tried by its own people as well as by events on the border and in the gulf. Apparently spurred by recollections of victories against the Egyptians in 1956, the Israelis are demanding unilateral military action, apparently not fully realizing that the military situation has changed.

Even when President Nasser has his tanks on the Israeli border. This time there is no element of surprise. The Egyptian Air Force is intact.

And this time Nasser has strengthened and consolidated his power in the Arab world. Israel is virtually surrounded by its declared enemies. All have pledged to join in the attack should war break out.

It appears evident that there will require outside help. If events and commitments Wednesday may be a key to Israel's friends a little slow in responding.

Stanfield's Sweep

After Premier Manning's sweep in Alberta, with Social Credit still entrenched as strongly as ever, another old hand in Canadian politics has retained his grip on the provincial scene — this time in the Maritimes.

We refer of course to Premier Robert Stanfield who once again has received a strong mandate from Conservative voters in Nova Scotia. The Conservatives won 40 seats in the general election against six for the Liberals.

Now Mr. Stanfield is being mentioned as a possible candidate for the Conservative party leadership on the national scene. Earlier the name of Alvin Hamilton, former minister of agriculture, had been confirmed as yet another candidate. There are now four, and there is little to choose between any of them. However, the chances of a "dark horse" like Mr. Stanfield, with a proven record of strong administration at the provincial level, must be rated high.

Mr. Stanfield himself has stated often enough that he is not interested in entering federal politics, but some Conservative MPs in Ottawa evidently would like to see him do so. Certainly at the moment the leadership contest is wide open, with no one, not even John Diefenbaker — his own political fifture uncertain — knowing what its outcome will be.

Group Psychology

One of the tragedies of our day is the segregation of people into groups, so that everyone has a label, sign or symbol.

Thus we have executives, merchants, professional men, career women — and that most maligned and alienated group of all, the teenagers. And between adults and teens, between young and old, there is little common ground.

Still, there is no new thing under the sun, as a letter to The Ottawa Journal reproduced on this page today indicates. Written by a woman who has the courage to admit she was a "flapper" of those giddy days more than half a century ago, the letter helps to put teenage fads in perspective.

The funny thing is though, parents themselves are so insecure these days in the face of teenage mores, and because of the greater knowledgeability of the current generation, that it is often the youngsters who are subtly "educating" their elders.

An article by Lynda Bird Johnson, daughter of the President, in McCall's Magazine is typical of the gulf that exists between parents and children today, and particularly between parents of young people who are at university and are being exposed to unwelcome influences unrelated to their formal studies.

Writing of mother-daughter relationships, Miss Johnson observes that "many girls feels the necessity of bringing up their parents, of acquainting them with the new ideas and events that confront them." She quoted one girl as saying: "You have to give them (parents) background reading to get them to the point where you can talk to them about the problems you have at college. I try to get parents by sending them lots of material, so that when I get home I don't have to start with the beginning of an issue three months before and work up to it."

What is very evident of the girl, to be sure, to be so solicitous of her parents, but it does sort of suggest parents are beyond the pale, on a different wavelength as it were, and this is not always justified. Young people must be getting exposed to the ideas, but some of them are of the kind that require wisdom beyond their years to cope with.

Like this nonsense about drugs and LSD that is leading so many down the path to ruin. A parent gave her views on this theme to Miss Johnson.

"I think drugs have widened the gap tremendously. It is awfully difficult for our generation to accept the use of drugs by the younger generation, particularly the brightest ones." Another parent said: "The thing that bothers me about drugs is that these young people don't seem to be willing to try to work out their problems by themselves..."

One gets the impression, of course, that too much emphasis is being placed on the incidence of drug addiction in universities, and that both parents and children take themselves and problems such as this too seriously. Conversely there is too little emphasis on what might be termed "normality," on the things that ennoble our society, whether on the university level or in the day-to-day business world. In any event, all such manifestations, whether good or bad, must be regarded in the whole context of Man and his World, to borrow the theme from Expo, and consequently as part of the progress of mankind as a whole. As ever in the affairs of men, there are elements of both pain and pleasure — and always it is a case of the survival of the fittest.

Task of an Ombudsman

Calgary Albertan

Beginning Sept. 1, Albertans will have access to the office of the ombudsman for individual consideration of grievances they may have against the provincial government.

With government bureaucracy continually being enlarged there is a definite need for the welfare of the individual to be considered when impersonal programs are implemented. Many persons are simply unaware of the frustrations which can be encountered when the individual attempts to deal on his own with officialdom.

The ombudsman is intended to be an impartial and nonpartisan individual through whom the citizen can breach the wall of government remoteness and elusive responsibility.

The effectiveness of this new w ha s RCMP Commissioner George McClellan makes of the ombudsman's powers when, after his retirement from the force, he takes up his new position in September.

Whether all else the ombudsman must be an impartial and non-partisan official. He must retain his "individualness" and cannot allow himself to be blended into the massive ooze of bureaucracy.

Mr. McClellan said in Edmonton recently that he will be approaching his new job with "much humbleness and a considerable amount of awe." We sincerely hope, for the benefit of the average citizen, that Mr. McClellan will not stoop himself in so much humbleness that he will look up to officialdom instead of looking it straight in the eye with determination.

All too often, the humble come off second best at the hands of the aggressive element of society.

With respect to the awe which Mr. McClellan will bring to Alberta with him, this is something which he must carefully control for, coupled with humbleness, it could prove disastrous. Too much awe will spoil the way for civil service influence.

Mr. McClellan also said he wants to do a "kind of public relations job on behalf of all police departments."

There is definitely a need for better public relations between the public and its police forces. But this is not the ombudsman's area of concern.

Such a statement by Mr. McClellan raises the question of whether or not he will be able, after 35 years of police work, to separate himself far enough from the public service concept to be able satisfactorily to appreciate the private, individual, concerns of those he will be in office to serve. The ombudsmanship cannot be allowed to be redesigned, by its holder, into a vehicle for a personal crusade.

Colorado's Lead

The Law Regarding Abortion

Toronto Star

Five years ago an American woman who had taken the drug thalidomide had to travel to Sweden to secure a legal abortion.

She feared (rightly, as the operation showed) that the child would be born deformed.

American women in a happier need to travel as far as Scandinavia for such an abortion.

Recently Colorado became the first state in the American union to make a therapeutic abortion lawful when it is likely the child would have grave mental or physical defects.

The Colorado law is one which our federal government might well use as a pattern when introducing changes in the Criminal Code's provisions against abortion — changes Prime Minister Pearson has promised to bring before Parliament this year.

One section of the Code now makes it a criminal offence to perform an abortion except to save the mother's life. Another, strictly interpreted, means it is a crime to cause an abortion for any reason.

This law is both narrow and harsh. It means that doctors in Toronto hospitals who sanction or perform at least 30 therapeutic abortions a year are running the risk of imprisonment. Worse, it means that thousands of women seek out undercover abortionists and face black market prices and the risk of infection and death from unsanitary — and often unskilled — methods.

The new Colorado legislation permits medical abortions when the mother's life or health is endangered by pregnancy and also:

When the birth would cause serious mental harm to the mother;

When the child is likely to be born severely defective;

When the pregnancy is a result of rape or incest.

Such permissive legislation for Canada should include adequate safeguards, of course. The operation should require approval by a composed medical board, as in Colorado, so that only truly therapeutic abortions would be performed.

Maritime Development

Ottawa Citizen

The idea of regional co-operation between the Maritime provinces and the New England states has been advanced at a conference at Dartmouth College. It has a lot to recommend it. While the international boundary divides them, they have a great deal in common and would benefit from co-ordination in their development programs.

Love Those Lamb Chops

Ottawa Citizen

Canadians think of themselves as beef eaters, and it is surprising to find this country has become New Zealand's second largest export market for lamb. However, New Zealand still looks first to Britain, which takes over 80 per cent of its lamb. Canada buys only three per cent.

"Flapper", 71, Boosts Teens of 1967

Letter to Ottawa Journal

A week or two ago I read with pleasure in Dave Brown's column praise for the teenagers who helped in the rescue of the little boy who was lost in the hills.

Let me say at once — I am not a teenager. I am 71 years of age; but I am tired of the biased criticism of them, placing them all in the same category. I have several times been helped by some of them in the street — with my parcels — with their long hair and all. Judging by the pictures in The Journal of the Fathers of Confederation they did pretty well with lots of hair.

Each generation has its fads. When I was a teenager (they called us flappers then) we wore the dropsin of our parents with our hobble skirts and bobbed hair. Believe it or not, some employers threatened to fire girls if they had their hair bobbed."

And the boyslll Tight trousers were in style — but the boys came out with their "Oxford bags"—about four times wider than the pants their fathers wore. To we flappers they were "the berries."

And the music! Ragtime. My mother often threatened to smash the gramophone with our Turkey Trots, Bunny Hugs and later the Charleston. So I say: let youth have its fling — they will grow up fast enough.

Daughter His Inspiration

Ottawa Journal

Vernon Scannell, British poet, was telling in a BBC broadcast how he was inspired to write a poem for his small daughter, Jane:

"Before I got married and had my family, my feelings about children were vaguely benevolent as long as the little blighters weren't allowed to become a nuisance. I'd no positive desire for sons and daughters of my own but, after marriage, I accepted my wife's wish for children as a biological fact: the 'mother instinct.' If there was such a thing as the 'father instinct,' I hadn't got it.

Then when Jane was born, the emotional waves were shattering. As soon as I saw and touch ed this tiny creature, some new feeling opened in me whose existence I'd never dreamed of. It was the miracle, the mind-revealing and self-revealing experience of my life. And the wonder and beauty of it was that this gift of capacity for love I'd never guessed was there, didn't diminish. It actually increased. So, as I've said, I tried to fix something of the feeling, out of love, so, in the future, I could go back and relive it."

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 2, 1967 . . .

The Gordon riots began in London 167 years ago today—in 1780 — when Lord George Gordon, son of a Scottish duke, led a mob to petition Parliament to repropose the restrictions on Roman Catholics lifted two years earlier. There were about 450 casualties in several days of chaos during which Newgate prison and the Bank of England were attacked and countless Catholic chapels and homes pillaged. Gordon was acquitted of treason since it could not be shown he intended the rioting, but he died in prison aged 43 in 1793, when he could not give a pledge of good conduct after finishing a 14d term for libel.

First World War

Fifty years ago today—in 1917—the British transport Canvasman was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean with the loss of 43 lives; Canadian troops captured an electric power station southwest of Lens, advancing over a front of more than a mile.

Second World War

Twenty-five years ago today—in 1942—Russians declared they had shot down 462 German aircraft in a week as against 134 Russian aircraft lost; Essen was pounded in a second large-scale raid.

Enamel Busts of Mao Are Winners in Communist China

By CHE NISHIO

PEKING (AP)—On the surface it appears the people of mainland China are learning to live with Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution purge.

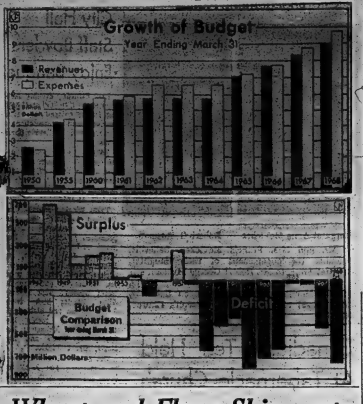
When they window-shop, they must peer between the frayed edges of wall newspapers plastered over store windows.

At night, in their dimly-lit cities, they get more cultural revolutions, in movies, ballets, and discussion groups.

In our tour of China we saw no sign of the violence often reported in the wall newspapers.

Housewives, only a few hanging onto tiny tots, crowded the Canton city market, standing in line twice a day to buy fresh foods for the mid-day meal and again for the evening.



The stalls were filled with beef, chicken, fish, chinned fresh vegetables. Most of it hung from overhead frames. It looked good, and prices seemed cheap.

In Peking and Shanghai there was the traffic of a big city, but it was mostly bicycles.

Factories were busy. One, at Foshan, specialized in enamel ware. It employed 500 persons and concentrated on making busts of Mao for government offices. It received so many orders in 1966 that the last one will not be filled until August. Then they will start on the 1967 orders.

During their spare time, workers read from the booklet of Mao's thoughts. In the early morning we watched workers by the hundreds exercise in city parks.

Bland, Stand Pat

Businessmen React to Sharp's Budget

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Bland . . . Stand pat . . . a headache.

These are some reactions of Canadian businessmen to Finance Minister Sharp's budget Thursday night.

"All in all, a singularly bland budget with only a few mildly redeeming features so far as industry is concerned," said R. A. Eagleton, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

"Apart from the earlier-than-planned scrapping of the six-per-cent sales tax on production machinery, there is hardly any relief for manufacturing industry, which continues to carry one of the heaviest tax loads borne by any industry in the Western world."

A. J. McKichen, general manager of the Retail Association of Canada, described the budget as "bland pap" and what the council had expected.

He doubted whether the finance minister had much scope for changes in corporate and personal income tax because of "the economic situation and because we are on the eve of consideration of the Carter report."

C. A. Pollock, president of Dominion Electrohome Industries Ltd., Kitchener, Ont., said it was "a real headache budget." He invited the minister and his colleagues to sit behind the manufacturers' desk and attempt to meet the factory payroll.

The finance minister rejected suggestions that he remove special excise taxes on television sets, radios, phonographs, jewelry and similar popular consumer goods.

Mr. Pollock said to "continue a war-time luxury tax which provides your primary competitors—the United States—with a continuing 25-per-cent price advantage in the developing of a strong domestic market is ridiculous."

Representatives of the drug industry were pleased with Mr. Sharp's proposal to eliminate the 13-per-cent federal sales tax on all drugs, effective Sept. 1.

However, they had mixed feelings on the reduction of the import duty on drugs to 15 per cent from 20 and a narrowing of the anti-dumping rules.

Dr. W. W. Wigle, president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association of Canada, said in Ottawa the budget seems to help the opportunists and imitators at the expense of sheer drug-makers.

S. G. Turner, director of the Ontario Pharmacist Association, said consumers should not look for a 13-per-cent reduction in the total retail price of prescription drugs. The tax applies at the manufacturers's level, not on the selling price.

Family Gets Break on Drug Prices... Little Else

There were no changes in personal income tax. Moreover, the finance minister rejected suggestions that he remove special excise taxes on television sets, radios, phonographs, jewelry and similar popular consumer goods.

For the time being at least, the middle- and lower-income family operating on a tight budget will have to settle for removal of the 13-per-cent federal tax on all drugs.

One question is how much of the drug tax cuts will be offset by additional general price increases. Mr. Sharp said further general increases are likely to occur.

Other tax and tariff changes have little general application to the housewife or hubby, although tequila drinkers will be happy to know of a tariff reduction. The duty has been halved from most-favored-nations in the tariff setup.

Antiquities more than 100 years old will be allowed in duty free. The previous age rule was 130 years.

The longtime government ban on importation of margarine and other butter substitutes was maintained, except for one small group—allergy sufferers who have been denied access to special kinds of margarine not made in Canada.

Farmers should know that new tariffs on some forms of tractor imports do not apply to farm tractors.

Over-all, for the man in the street worrying about higher prices, it was a semi-free budget with no guarantees then.

Wheat and Flour Shipments Down 14 p.c. in Crop Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Shipments of 14 per cent through the first eight months of the current crop year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today.

Exports by Canada, the United States, Argentina and Australia, expressed in terms of wheat, totalled 1,073,200,000 bushels in the August-March period.

This year's level, however, still was 42 per cent above the 10-year average for shipments. And Canada's export share of 340,100,000 bushels was down only 7.5 per cent from the previous year.

Exports by the others: United States 512,700,000 bushels; Argentina 83,500,000 bushels; Australia 136,900,000 bushels.

Pension Surplus Soars

OTTAWA (CP) — The surplus in the old age pension fund is expected to soar to more than $500,000,000 in the 1967-68 fiscal year despite sales tax revenue reductions amounting to $33,000,000.

Finance Minister Sharp's budget Thursday night showed revenue forecast of $1,510,000,000 and expenditures of an estimated $1,491,000,000.

This will add $109,000,000 to the March 31 surplus of about $428,000,00.

The fund finances old age pensions of $75 a month for all who are 68 this year plus up to $30 a month as a supplement depending on other income. Those aged 67 qualify next January for the pension and supplement.

More than half the revenues in the 1967-68 fiscal year come from personal income taxes—an estimated $785,000,000.

Sales tax revenues of $564,000,000 represent 37 per cent of the fund's expected revenues.

Corporation income tax contributes an expected $161,000,000, slightly more than 10 per cent of estimated revenue.

Preliminary figures for 1967 show that sales taxes in 1965-67 produced $560,000,000 for the fund, personal income taxes $378,000,000 and corporation income taxes $150,000,000.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Stock Exchange displayed another burst of strength in morning trading today, raising hopes that the market may be breaking out of a four - week slump.

The industrial index climbed .54 to 163.23.

Analysts said the continuing rise was influenced more by the advance at New York rather than reaction to Finance Minister Sharp's budget.

Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce paced the list, gaining 1 to 67. The bank announced plans to split its shares on a five-for one basis.

Inco rose 1¼ to 100¼ in base metals and Pine Point and Rio Algom ¼ each to 48 and 32¼.

In golds, Kerr Addison moved up ¼ to 15¼ while Hodgson Bay Oil advanced ⅛ to 2¼ in western oils.

On index, golds were up .47 to 170.39, base metals .63 to 55.46 and western oils .24 to 151.56. Base metals fell .25 to 94.83. Volume was 2,328,000 shares compared with 2,315,000 Wednesday.

On index, golds climbed 2.19 to 181.32 and western oils 1.56 to 151.52. Base metals fell .25 to 94.83. Volume was 2,328,000 shares compared with 2,315,000 Wednesday.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Liver Has Nutritional Value

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: Could you help me once again? I clipped 4 recipes with chicken livers and green peppers but cannot find it now . . . Mrs. Alfred B.

ANSWER: The recipes called Diane's Liver was given November 1, 1966. I am repeating it for several reasons, most important of which is that Canadian cooks should serve liver in their families once per week for good nutrition. The other reasons are that this is quick and easy and good and, of course, you asked for it.

FRIDAY

Dinner Menu

Cream of Cucumber Soup (see Thursday); Breaded Pork Fillets; Tartare Sauce; Duchess Potatoes; Green Beans with Tarragon; Lemon Meringue Pie; Tea.

DIANE'S LIVER

(Chicken Livers — repeated from Nov. 1, 1966)

½ cup raw long grain rice
1¼ cups boiling water
¼ tsp. salt
1 chicken bouillon cube
2 tsps. butter (first amount)
3 tbsps. butter (second amount)
½ to ¾ pound fresh chicken livers each cut into 3 pieces
1 large green pepper cut into bite-sized pieces
1/4 Spanish onion or 1 medium - small cooking onion cut into bite-size pieces ½ tsp. soy sauce
Salt and pepper
Water (see below)
2 tbsps. flour
Cook rice in boiling water with the salt, bouillon cube and butter (first amount) covered, until tender and liquid is absorbed.

In large frying pan melt butter (second amount) and in it saute the green pepper (reserving a few slices for garnishing) and onion until barely limp, not brown. Add cut livers, drained mushrooms and mushroom liquid (from ¼ can add enough water to make 1¼ cups). Simmer 4 min. or until liver is barely set. Transfer solids to centre of preheated platter. Stir flour into ¼ cup cold water to make a smooth paste and stir into broth in pan until slightly thickened and boiling. Pour over liver. Surround meat and vegetables with a border of hot, fluffy rice. Garnish with reserved slices of green pepper.

QUESTION: I've just been made president of our church groups. Our centennial project is to go towards the organ but we don't know what to do. My sister met a woman on the train whose child is collecting lots of money selling centennial spoons this year and they won't have to hold their annual Fall bazaar. This may be out of your line but you help so many. Where would I write to find out about a thing like this? Evelina McD.

ANSWER: To me, and it is a pooch of an idea! Send your name and home address and ask again about project for charitable cause. Enclose large stamped, self-addressed envelope marked "Project".

Centennial Unifying Force To Canadians Says Ald.

EDMONTON (CP)—What will a centennial commission direct or do when Centennial Year ends?

Marianna Linnell already is planning projects to add to the other job as aldermen on the Vancouver city council.

The only woman on the 12-member board of the national centennial commission, Mrs. Linnell has worked with the commission for four years and been on the executive board for 2½ years.

In Edmonton to open a folk art festival sponsored by the commission, Mrs. Linnell said working on the board and commuting to Ottawa for a meeting every two weeks, "it involved the study of many individual reports and numerous decisions. Afterward I might be on my way back to Vancouver, or going anywhere in Canada or in the United States.

"I've been as far north as Nabonal Valley, N.W.T., on centennial business and as far east as Corner Brook, Nfld.

"Centennial has been a unifying force in Canada. It has broken down lots of barriers—in the youth program alone, more than 60,000 youngsters from 15 to 18 years of age have visited from one province to another."

With obvious enthusiasm, she said: "Everybody's getting into the act—I even opened a centennial cat show in Vancouver recently.

"We've explored every facet of community life. We're sending a cow on a barge to the Mackenzie River for the Eskimos who have never seen a cow. There are 90 centennial festivals similar to this folk arts festival, bringing Centennial to all parts of Canada, but confining it to the East."

Born in Calgary, Mrs. Linnell graduated in home economics from the University of Alberta in 1933. Her father, Robert Pearsons was first elected to the Alberta legislature by overseas soldiers in 1917.

Mrs. Linnell said women fit naturally into political and civic life:

"They are natural organizers and they know how to get things done. If a women has the qualifications, it's relatively easy to get elected. . . .

"On the Vancouver council we have been very together in support from men—I work with men on unbuilding projects like the parks board, chairman in district redevelopment, and the B.C. Aviation Council, where I asked for the removal of a ban."

She said when Centennial Year ends she plans more involvement with the problems facing young people in Vancouver.

She viewed herself during the Second World War and the mother of two sons, one adopted, Mrs. Linnell knows the problems of a mother who must raise children alone.

"The next four years are the pre-adolescent from 10 to 14, when a boy needs a man to help him," she said. "For this reason I support the Big Brother movement. . . .

"I'm greatly concerned about the educational manual of pornographic material available to young people. And we have the 'pot' problem — houses and psychedelic shops. They draw the young and insecure like cow. There are 90 festivals.

But at least "we know where to find them, to bring them into counselling, direction, and often, we hope, back home."

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Jim wanted us all to go on his Bonanza trip with him this weekend, but now that I'm at the office all week, I have to spend my days cleaning house. Other, wise everything would be a mess all next week."

Reverse in Marriage Causes Raised Eyebrows

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When a man marries a woman who is young enough to be his daughter — or his granddaughter — why, do people think it is so romantic and glamorous? Yet when a woman marries a man who is younger than she is, the eyebrows shoot up and her sanity is questioned.

When I was 18 I married a man 38. That marriage lasted 14 years and ended in divorce. Now I am married to a man 16 years my junior and we get along beautifully. But the outside world will not let us alone. Some fairly intelligent people have asked me some unbelievably crass questions. Will you comment, please? — DECEMBER AND MAY.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR DECEMBER: More old golfers marry young chicks than the other way around, so people have come to accept more readily the May - December combination than the December - May arrangement.

A woman who marries a man 18 years her junior should expect some comment but if she has a good marriage it should not bother her.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am glad you printed the letter from the Information Operator who resented being called "an ignorant broad."

I have been employed by the telephone company for a long time and I would like to offer some additional pointers to the public.

(1) Mothers, please teach your children to use the telephone book instead of how to dial 411 or 113.

(2) Learn the name of your cleaner, beauty shop, grocery store and "that little hardware place on the corner." How do you expect us to know it if you don't?

(3) Please don't chew potato chips and nuts and hard candy in our ears.

(4) Please have a pencil handy when you call information for a number. Sometimes people say, "Hold on while I get a pencil." Then they must go to the store to buy one!

Thanks for helping us educate the public. — AREA CODE 312.

DEAR A.C.: Here's your letter and I hope all you lazy mothers, potato-chip chewers and pencilless people will pay attention.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 18. The boy I used to be apper treated me pretty rotten and finally I told him to flake off. He did — for six weeks. Then he started to call me again. We've had three dates since the break-up and now I am sure there is nothing of that old feeling. In fact, I can barely stand him.

The trouble is my mother thinks he is the greatest and she keeps trying to sell me on him. He knows this so he keeps coming in the house under the pretense of visiting her.

Last night he was here for two hours. I stayed on the phone, and read the newspaper the whole time. I know it was rude but he grates on my nerves.

How can I get my mother to put an end to this phoney friendship which is really a plot to get me re-interested? — D.J.N.

DEAR D.: Your mother has a right to entertain anyone she pleases. Give the guy a pleasant greeting, then go into another room. Since he is not your guest you are under no obligation to entertain him. After awhile he'll give up.

YOUR SMILE HAS A PRICE TAG—A bright smile and spotless teeth are worth cultivating as Marta Kristen, seen in the 20th TV series "Lost in Space" ably demonstrates.

Teeth Should Be Given Extra Special Care

By Rube & Bonnie Churchill

What's the "price" of a smile? According to insurance companies, for settling damages in accident cases, a natural tooth has been rated as high as $1,000. How considerate the value of your teeth — not only to your health, but to your looks. They should be protected by forbidding such bad habits as opening bobby pins with teeth, chewing on pencils, biting down on hard candy and breaking off thread when sewing. These seemingly innocent actions can result in injuries in the enamel, and such unsightly notches on the edge of the front teeth are always on view. A bright smile and spotless teeth are worth cultivating, as Marta Kristen, seen in the 20th TV series, "Lost in Space," ably demonstrates.

Proper diet is imperative in maintaining sound teeth and healthy gums. Tests show there are certain foods which actually have a built-in cleansing action. These include raw apples, oranges, carrots and celery. Also there are artificial aids to keep teeth flawless. Ask your dentist about such helps as pumice pencils to remove stains, gum activators which stimulate gums plumper and teeth seem whiter, and liquid cover-ups that can be painted on tooth surface. Another whitening tip is to check color of teeth. If they have a natural yellow or dark tint, try-pure lipsticks with blue undertones.

How you apply lipstick also has a great deal to do with the beauty of your smile. Large heads appear less prominent on a thin-lipped girl if mouth silhouette is slightly expanded and rounded. Buck teeth seem to protrude less when the upper lip is minimized (use foundation base to conceal camouflage.) Small teeth are more balanced if the natural, not exaggerated, outline is followed. To check shape, press lips against a mirror. Recommended blotter, Lester gives a clear imprint of proportions, so any corrections can be easily made.

Boys Judge Girls by Clothes They Wear

Far better than thrusting a know it when they aren't family on him. Youngsters wanted.

DORIS CLARK

Dear Doris: I'm speaking for many girls who feel that boys are blamed unfairly when girls get into trouble. Many people forget that it's sometimes the girl who begs the guy to go all the way, or who gets the idea of parking.

I like to go out with boys and have a good time, and I've been asked to give in, but I've used my will power and said no. Boys may be hurt at this, but when they think it over, they know the girl knew enough to keep them both out her water.

It is usually the girl who gives the impression of what she is by her clothes and the way she acts. If girls didn't go around in miniskirts or tight pants and tops, then guys wouldn't get overly excited. A boy knows a decent girl when he sees her. He may not want to date her, but he would sure like to marry her and he is mature enough to take care of a family.

Boys are only human, and when you push and pamper people always calling them down, I don't blame them one bit when they use someone or do the things they do.

It's not worth crying over heartaches in your teen-age years, because when you break off with your girl friend or boy friend, it's just like passing bus. Another one will come your way.

Well, hon, at least you have a few girls who are sticking up for you and think you're wonderful. — J. M. L.

Dear J. M. L.: There's much in what you say. Thank you for saying it.

Dear Doris: I am president of a women's group and have a speaker coming from a national organization. There will also be a film.

I'm sure it will be my duty to open the meeting, introduce the speaker, etc. I am at a complete loss as I am not a public speaker but will endeavor to to what I must.

The "thank you's" are also a problem. — Stage Fright.

Dear Stage Fright: For one thing, it is a sign of a good executive to delegate the duties. Also, it looks more like a club effort when several take part. Select someone to introduce the speaker, and have her contact him for particulars about his background. Speakers are accustomed to supplying these.

You keep things running, like an MC. Introduce head table, welcome guests, explain the theme of the meeting, call on introducers, thanksers. Befriend act like a hostess.

To start things rolling have a good joke up your sleeve even if it's an old family chestnut.

Confidential to Stymied: When a married man (or woman) dares to say "I just don't want kids", folks think he is some kind of a nut. He has to provide a socially acceptable reason. But why? Can't he do something else?

Life's Big Turning Point

By CLARENCE W. CRANFORD

Sam Jones, a popular orange-hat in his day, once asked a stranger if he was a Christian. The stranger replied, "When the Lord gets me, He'll have to get me the way he got Paul, the Apostle."

Sam Jones laughed. He said, "Listen to a snow-bird sitting on a fence waiting to be shot by a camon." Then he added, "Friend, when the Lord goes gunning for you, He'll use bird-shot."

This may not have been a tactful approach to take to the stranger, but it does remind us of the dramatic nature of Paul's conversion to Christianity. Paul was a large calibre individual. He had one of the greatest minds of his day. He had intrepid courage. He never did anything half-way. Perhaps more than any other person, he helped to determine the direction western civilization was to take. It is in keeping with the importance of the man and his mission that his Christian life should have been launched by a tremendous vision.

His experience on the road to Damascus was so eventful, it is told three times in the book of Acts. First, Luke tells it as he had heard it from Paul. (Acts 9:3-9) Second, Paul tells it to a mob of his own countrymen. (Acts 22:6-11) Finally, Paul retells it before Festus and King Agrippa. (Acts 26:13-18) There are minor variations in the accounts. This is natural. Paul was not reciting, a memorized piece. He was speaking as memory and the situation prompted him.

Every person experiences turning points in his life. A boy meets a girl, and that meeting turns out to be one of the major turning points in their lives. A youth chooses his college, and that choice affects all the rest of his life. A person chooses a career, or accepts a job, and this determines the direction his life is to take.

But no choice a person ever makes is more important than his choice of faith. Everything he is or does is colored by his religious commitment, or lack of it. Nothing makes a bigger difference in a person's life than his personal relationship with God.

For many this relationship began with a dramatic experience. Moses heard the call of God by a burning bush. Isaiah had a vision in the temple. Jeremiah heard the call of God as he considered seething conditions to the north, and watched an almond tree blossom. Paul experienced a complete about.

This does not mean that religious faith must always be accompanied by a dramatic, emotional experience. Bernard of Clairvaux was a great saint of the Middle Ages although he said he never knew the precise moment God entered his heart. How did he know God was there? Because of the "unconquered of his views" and the "strong reservoir put upon all carnal affections" that spoke to him of the power of God.

Whether it comes in a flash of insight or as gradual as the morning dawn, two questions rise out of a person's confrontation with God. First, "Who are you, Lord?" and second, "What shall I do, Lord?" (Acts 22:8 and 10 RSV)

Men have always wondered who or what God is. "What is your Name?" Moses wanted to know when he heard God's call. (Exodus 3:13) Pharaoh asked, "Who is the Lord, that I should heed His voice?" (Exodus 5:2 RSV) "O that I knew where I might find Him," said Job. (Job 23:3)

Up till the time of his vision, Paul believed in the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. From that moment on, he believed that God has spoken supremely through Jesus of Nazareth. That God would choose him to be a Christian apostle when he had so ruthlessly persecuted Christians was always a source of wonder to Paul. It gave him deep insight into the nature of God's love. God does not wait till men are perfect to love them. In Christ, He reached out to men while they were "yet sinners." (Romans 5:8)

But passive faith is not enough. Dr. J. G. Williams was asked if he did not believe that conversion is the end of religion. He replied, "Yes, the front end." People are saved to serve. God lifts them up that He may send them out. The two sides of religion are "come" and "go." God invites men to come to Him for cleansing and strength. Then He sends them out to love and serve.

Lottery Ticket Sale Illegal In Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Attorney General Arthur Wishart said Thursday sale or distribution of New York state lottery tickets in Ontario is illegal.

He was replying in the legislature to Richard Smith (L—Inglewood) who asked what steps the minister was taking to police sale and distribution of tickets on the lottery which started Thursday.

Compensation Bill Gets Second Reading

TORONTO (CP)—The Ontario legislature Thursday gave second reading—approval in principle—to a bill which allows for compensation of up to $300 a month or lump sums of $15,000 for persons injured while assisting police in their duties.

Attorney - General Arthur Wishart said the bill might become a "platform" on which to base compensation for all victims of crime.

In other developments:

—Second reading was given to a bill which would amend the Fish and Game Act to permit landowners to give the Crown hunting or fishing rights in exchange for land improvements and to a new Mental Health Act.

—Education Minister William Davis proposed amendments to the Schools Administration Act including one under which truant officers would come to be known as "attendance councillors."

Diefenbaker Calls Sharp Budget Travesty and Hopeless Document

SASKATOON (CP) — Opposition Leader Diefenbaker Thursday described Finance Minister Sharp's budget as "a travesty on Parliament and a hopeless document."

Mr. Diefenbaker said in an interview that there was nothing in the budget to deal with the "fundamental economic problems of the country, and nothing in it for the people except removal of the sales tax on drugs."

He said he objected to the fact the 11 per cent federal sales tax had been left on building materials, and that there was "no relief for the taxpayer who is loaded down with the increases in taxes by the present government."

He said the government shows "no determination to reduce unnecessary governmental expenditures."

Mr. Diefenbaker, on a seven-day western tour, will spend the weekend in Prince Albert and return to Ottawa Tuesday.

Interests of Students Must Be Protected

TORONTO (CP) — Education Minister Davis said Thursday it is imperative that the interests of Toronto high school students be protected in current contract dispute between the city's teachers and school trustees.

Mr. Davis told the legislature his department has closely followed the dispute, which led Wednesday to more than half the city's high school teachers tendering their resignations effective Aug. 31.

"Whatever the relative merits of the positions taken by the two sides, it is imperative that ultimately the interest of the students be protected.

"To this end the department is prepared, and indeed anxious, to do everything possible to see the differences resolved so that the schools will operate normally on opening in September."

The minister, replying to a question from Opposition leader Robert Nixon, expressed confidence that the differences will be worked out "in a responsible manner so that there will be no dislocation of the educational program."

Things Man Won't Believe

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

The two things that no man will believe of himself are that he is not somehow desirable to women and that he doesn't, in some deep and mystic way, really have a quite nice singing voice.

He may pretend to deprecate his voice in public, but in the sanctity of the bathroom, with the shower running full, and when he comes down, two questions rise out of a person's confrontation with God. First, "Who are you, Lord?" and second, "What shall I do, Lord?" (Acts 22:8 and 10 RSV)

My voice sounds beautiful inside me, but I am forced to recognize that it comes out somewhat mangled. The beauty is felt, but not expressed. Thus, with defective artists, their grave sin is lack of insight more than lack of talent; they think that because they "feel" a poem or a painting that they have therefore expressed their feelings adequately.

The worst artists are always the most passionately sincere. Most bad poems received by editors come with appended notes saying: "This is really true; this is what happened; this is what I felt." But translating the truth of feeling into the truth of art is quite another matter — and sincerity plays only a minor part in it.

Luckily I don't have to depend upon singing for a livelihood, but if I did I could never allow myself to believe that my vibrato is "horrible." In fact, I scarcely believe it even now. After all, what does a baritone from La Scala really know about singing?

Bruce Parsons of Parson's Cleaners says: "Moist Towelettes in flexible packages are really handy. Also the instant shoe shine and insect repellent are most unique. These products are ideal for commercial and domestic use.

Tension, Pressures Mount As Grade 13 Exams Approach

As soon as the birds start singing and the grass turns green, a young man's tension and woman's thoughts turn to exams. The tension and pressure mounts.

Especially important are the grade 13 examinations on which the future of the student rests. At present all the grade 13 exams are departmentals, drawn up in Toronto by university professors and sometimes inspectors. They are also marked in Toronto by an army of high school teachers.

The departmentals are now almost an institution and they have been used for many, many years. Next year they will be non-existent in grade 13. They will remain only in grade 12. The students in grade 13 write only one or two departmentals out of the whole set of exams in June.

Why are they being dropped after such a long reign as the ultimate in secondary school exams? According to E. A. Orrr, Superintendent of Secondary Schools for the Quinte area, the departmentals cause the students to reproduce knowledge in grade 13.

"We should be educating the individual. We can do this with teacher-made exams."

Mr. Orr is a disciple of the new, mature style of teaching based on the education of students through learning rather than memorizing facts and spurring them from the mind at exam time.

The purpose of the departmentals before was to form some kind of standard across the province so that at least in June all of Ontario's students would have an equal chance to show what they had learned throughout the year. They also served as a guide to universities that wanted to be fair in accepting students to their campuses.

Still, the standardization purpose of the departmentals is conceded. Grade 13 students are now subjected to province - wide achievement tests and university-oriented aptitude tests.

L. D. Read, principal of Moira Secondary School says that the time and cost of drawing up and marking departmentals is quite extensive. High school teachers have to be paid to mark the exams which number literally in the thousands and the grade 13 students do not receive their results until the middle of August.

Besides the saving of time and money the dropping of departmentals will have other beneficial effects.

According to L. F. Reid, principal of Quinte Secondary School, "there is too much pressure and fact cramming." The departmentals will make the exams a "richer experience."

Many principals, department heads and students there is almost complete agreement that the departmentals initiate an overflow of nervous tension and pressure.

Hugh Chandler, a grade 13 student from Moira Secondary School thinks it's a good idea to drop departmentals. "There's lots of tension with departmentals." Still he agrees that the present set of exams are "a good equalizer."

Don Reid a grade 13 student from BCI doesn't think the departmentals should cease. "We need them" to set a standard. There might be some schools in the province with low standards."

R. F. Leach, science department head at Quinte Secondary School, agrees that the pressure will be decreased when internal exams are initiated. "People are against the pressure."

J. MacKay, head of the math department at BCI has "mixed feelings" about the loss of the departmentals. "How are they going to measure students now?"

Hugh Chandler feels that the cessation of departmentals is the first step towards the complete extinction of grade 13 in Ontario.

Still, he feels that grade 13 shouldn't be dropped. "They could improve it. At present there's not enough scope for a student. For example, they could teach something like philosophy."

Kathryn Graham, a Moira Secondary student, believes they can't do away with grade 13 until they teach more in public school.

But Norris Scott, a Quinte student, thinks the topical grade can be dropped. He asks, "it has worked in other countries hasn't it? I think it's outmoded."

John Boyarchuk, another Quinte student, admits that it works elsewhere. "We might have more time to learn in university."

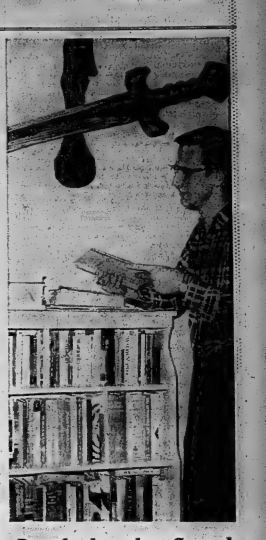
Don Reid, however, has a different outlook. "Grade 13 is a good year for university preparation."

But what do the principals and teachers think of dropping grade 13?

Mr. Orr says, "I hope grade 13 is not dropped. It's an excellent finishing grade. They (the students) mature a lot."

L. F. Reid feels that the future of grade 13 is a political issue. He has mixed feelings but thinks the time is coming when it will cease to exist.

W. P. Buckley, head of the English department at Quinte, would like to see the grade remain. "It's a beneficial grade but the abuses in it could be cured."



M. Irwin, the English department head at Moira believes that 13 could be dropped if the whole program were rearranged, but not now as it stands.

L. D. Read wants radical changes in grade 13. "We want it to stay."

But despite all the controversy about the dropping of departmentals and grade 13 the situation remains the same for the students, at least for this year's set of exams.

The tension and pressure still remains evidence on the faces of pupils as they realize that their future will be decided in a very short time.

The students, excused from school for the week preceding exams, find themselves in various forms of study rooms and concentrate for hours on end. But soon it is over and the exams, the grade, the whole year fade to the back of their minds.

Death by the Sword

It seems that the clouds of impending disaster hang over the head of Hugh Chandler, a Moira Secondary School student, in the form of a sword. Actually the only disaster in Hugh's mind at present is the departmental examinations next week.

The Standard Way

Every now and then one comes across a normal student who studies at a desk. Don Reid, a BCI student, feels that this is the best method.

Restful Concentration

Kathyrn Graham from Moira Secondary makes use of a bed while she studies. It's handy if she wants to sleep.

Who Needs a Desk?

Sunday School Observes 100th Anniversary

Victoria Sunday School on the Redeserville charge in Ameliasburg Township will celebrate its 100th anniversary June 4. A special service is planned at 2 p.m. to mark the occasion with Rev. Verne Zufelt of Picton United Church as guest minister and Mrs. Zufelt as soloist. A reception will follow. The event will be flavored with nostalgia, for Victoria Church and Sunday School will close after July 1.

The Sunday School was organized in 1867 by a young teacher, Henry Jason Parliament. At that time Victoria was known as Bush's neighborhood and Mr. Parliament taught at Bush's school, built in 1864. In 1937, Mr. Parliament, then 92, reminisced about the neighborhood in 1867.

The forest had just been cleared away and the soil of this valley was very rich. Fall wheat had been sown upon the fields, and had ripened into a golden color. Everyone coming from the south got a great view over the valley from the top of the high hill to the south and it took the name "the golden valley". Mr. Parliament recalled that during his first year of teaching four men shot a bear in the woods a half mile away. The first year he was in the section the teacher "boarded around." Money was very scarce among the first settlers, who had everything to buy and little to sell, so they had the teacher board around, one week in each home. Mr. Parliament said it was a first-class picnic the year round, eating the delicious meals put up every day by the kind-hearted mothers of the section. The teacher received $200 a year and paid $1.50 a week board.

The land for the church was donated by David Calnan and Jacob Sager and the building was erected on the line between the two farms. The church was dedicated in October, 1867, in the diamond jubilee year of Queen Victoria's reign, and named in her honor.

Fowl suppers, bean and ox suppers, pancake suppers, social evenings, potluck dinners and quiltings have always played an important role in the finances of the church and in keeping community spirit alive. In August each year for many years the Sunday School held an ice cream social with 30 gallons of ice-cream prepared in the afternoon in old-fashioned ice cream freezers. In 1934 a harvest home chicken supper was served at 50 cents per person to 600 people. Over 600 people were in attendance at a turkey supper in 1953.

Until World War II all the Sunday Schools of the township held a township Sunday School picnic, with a float parade depicting each department of the Sunday School. Victoria usually carried off the prizes.

To improve the standards of Sunday Schools, a 10-point standard was offered by the department in Toronto for the most outstanding Sunday School in the township. Fourteen Sunday Schools competed in several courses: teacher training, CGIT, Tuxis Rangers and Trail Rangers, temperance, missionary, adult, home department and cradle roll. Ministers conducted the training and teachers wrote examinations. Victoria won the 10-point standard for three years and it became hers to keep.

Superintendents during the 100 years were: Henry Jason Parliament, Charles Adams, Simon Lewis Delong, W. H. Glenn, Richard Calnan, David Calnan, Herb Fulver, Lorne Brickman (46 years), Nelson Vanchief, Morley Dempsey, Mosstr Pulver and Roy Wellwall.

POINT WILLIAM (CP)—A total of $56,100 has been awarded to Lakehead University by the National Research Council for studies in the fields of biology, chemistry, geology, physics and computer science.

Workmen lay cement blocks for walls of Hallowell Township School near Bloomfield, slated to open in the fall.

Hallowell School on Schedule

PICTON (Staff) — A spokesman for Miron-Wiggers Construction Co. said Wednesday work on the new Hallowell Township School is progressing on schedule.

The new school, situated near the village of Bloomfield, has taken shape rapidly in the past few weeks. Steel work is nearly completed, cement block walls in some areas are now being bricked on the outside, in other areas roofing is being put in place and water and electric lines are being installed.

The 12-room school will contain space for shop work and home economics. The school, scheduled to be opened in the fall, will cost in the neighborhood of $600,000 and is situated on 20 acres of land purchased by the township for $1,000 an acre. It is expected municipalities other than Hallowell will be using the facilities of the new school.

A recently encountered drainage problem has now been rectified.

MONTREAL — Things were normal in the handsome Cuban bar at Expo 67 here yesterday afternoon. Expo patrons apparently refusing to be affected by the recent bomb scare were lined in a long queue awaiting tables in the restaurant.

Outside tough black-garbed Cuban security guards kept a close watch on the roaring humanity. Inside the bar handsome young Cubans doled out "cervesas" and powdered-sex daiquiries to a thirsty clientele.

Then it happened. There came a sound like an explosion of a medium size firecracker. Everyone tensed. The conversation hushed. My feet were cold-as that the bar-maiden delayed.

Then a child sobbed. Her mother picked her up and soothed her. The "barristers" relaxed. The youngster had brought a giant balloon into the restaurant and some careless patron had brushed it with a lighted cigarette.

My advice to potential Expo patrons: Take an extra pair of feet with you.

And if you like mini-skirts, miniveils, Metro and Montreal, take along an extra pair of eyes. You'll need 'em.

Expo 67 has been extensively covered by reporters of this newspaper but there is something new every day in this moving kaleidoscope of color and sound.

Stationery is the awesome grandeur of architecture. Equally inspiring is the skyline of Montreal. Expo itself in its man-made islands rising out of the St. Lawrence River with the myriad colours of the show-pieces of a host of nations is something that will never be forgotten by those who see it.

Yesterday I had rather vast, a nautical sea of color. Mandatory was the cruiser from Canada and the U.S., schooners, and other sailing craft, the "Bicentos" and the "Victory." Colourful yet with a grim overtone were ships of the Royal Canadian Navy at anchor at wharfside, flag-bedecked for the occasion.

The Russian, Czechoslovakian and British buildings were the scene of huge crowds. The United States building was also popular. Outstanding things of architectural beauty at the Burmese, Thailand and other South Asia exhibits. Color and striking beauty enhanced by a brilliant afternoon sunshine.

Outdoors bars and restaurants are a dime a dozen. But not the food and the drinks. The souvenir shops of the nation are, like their prices, out of this world.

And if you have a yen for international pulchritude you'll find it in these patron-baiting emporia. The Arabs, the French, the British, Canadians, Czechs, Italians have sent their "Hollywood" best, some of them in native costume. And their charm far exceeds their salesmanship. This is international beauty at its best.

Even the "ladies known as Lou" in the Edmonton Stockade's Dawson City would have stunned Robert W. Service. So would have the raucous cacophony of a musical troupe of the era who belted out old-time songs in a tinkly piano and banjo.

The gondolas, motorcraft, the mini-rail, the Metro, were jam-packed all afternoon. People of all nations in national garb mixed with western counterparts. People were everywhere rushing, walking, strolling, resting. I spent a half hour with some school pupils' parties, one of them a 150-job from Huntingdon township of Hastings.

Food? If you crave foreign fare you can pass up the western variety of hodge-podge of meat and potato and nibble on anything from Tibetan yak steak to a Czech kish-ma-bob of seasoned duckling. You can linger over exotic Oriental dishes, Finnish smorgasbord caviar or get your roast beef and Yorkshire in an English pub.

I lined the Slovak Restaurant with waiters in native costume moving in a national atmosphere. Space won't permit coverage of all the eateries, but name it and it is there.

And here's a tip. Don't go to Expo wearing a new pair of shoes. Better tackle ground in casuals or even bedroom slippers and you won't, like this dumb reporter, be limping around the next day riding on blister-cushioned tootsies.

Thanks to mine host Milan Dracka and the CNR I had a very enjoyable day at Expo. Patrons may come home slightly light-headed over the experience but if you live it up at Expo and crowd as much as you can in a limited period, your wallet will come home this your head, intact but much lighter in weight.

Tribe Topples Tigers Off Top Rung

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Washington Senators have not lost a game since making their celebrated trade for Mike Epstein.

Whether that happy situation will continue once Epstein enters the lineup is problematical.

The Senators have won four-straight since obtaining the big first baseman Monday from Baltimore for $100,000 and, including Thursday night's 1-0 decision over California Angels.

Epstein is due to enter the Washington lineup as soon as manager Gil Hodges feels he has worked off the effects of his self-imposed exile when the Orioles wanted to send him down to the minors. In the interim, the Senators have won a doubleheader from Kansas City Athletics and two games from California.

In Thursday's game, Camilo Pascual suddenly returned to the winning form that has been eluding him for the last few years, limiting the Angels to four hits in the tight game.

The curveballing right-hander scattered three singles and gave up a double to Jose Cardenal in the sixth. Cardenal moved to third on Jay Johnstone's fly to centre but was out attempting to steal home.

The lone run of the game came in the third inning when Ed Brinkman singled, moved to second on a sacrifice bunt by Pascual and scored on Bob Saverine's single to left.

Celebrating his 28th birthday, Chance struck out 10 and allowed only one Boston runner as far as third base. Home runs by Bob Allison, his 16th, and Russ Nixon, his first, gave Chance all the runs he needed.

Another pitcher, John O'Donoghue, provided the difference in the Detroit-Cleveland tussle, but he did it with his bat as much as with his arm.

O'Donoghue's grand slam homer was the big blow in a six-run sixth inning for the Indians, who knocked the Tigers out of first place.

The Cleveland left-hander allowed just two hits until the eighth when he was replaced by Orlando Pena after Mickey Stanley belted a homer for the Tigers.

Chicago, which didn't play Thursday, moved back into the league lead by six percentage points.

Jockey Switch For Clarion

Expect Ten Entries In Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Proud Clarion, winner of the Kentucky Derby and third in the Preakness, had history and a shift to one of the nation's top riders going for him as entries were made today for the 99th running of the $125,000 - added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct Saturday.

The name of 10 three-year-olds, headed by Proud Clarion and favored Damascus of Preakness fame, appeared to be the entry box by 10:30 a.m., EDT.

If all are in the gate for the 2:30 p.m. start, the 1½-mile third leg of the triple crown will be worth $142,700, with $106,950 earmarked for the winner. Second place will be worth $25,000 third $12,500 and fourth $5,350.

The oldest of the three big U.S. stakes races will be televised by CBS and the CBC from 2 p.m.-5:45 p.m.

If Proud Clarion, owned by John Olin's Conn. Darby Dan Farm, wins, he'll be following in the footsteps of another Darby Dan Farm winner.

The last time a horse won the Derby, was beaten in the Preakness and then captured the Belmont was in 1963. The horse was Chateaugay.

Braulio Baeza, who rode Chateaugay, will be aboard Proud Clarion in a shift of riders from Bobby Ussery.

Galbreath had wanted Baeza to ride Proud Clarion in the Derby. But Braulio already was committed to Successor, the 1966 two-year-old champion.

Mrs. Vince Reid of Toronto and Mrs. William Seitz of Montreal, will be in somewhat the same position Saturday as Proud Clarion was before the Derby.

Normally ridden in major events by Walter Blum, the big chestnut son of Nearctic will be following the footsteps of Northern Dancer, the only other Canadian colt ever to run in the Belmont, with rangy Johnny Sellers in the saddle.

Memphis Open

Hiskey Fires Hole-In-One

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)— Babe Hiskey trailed leader Dave Hill going into the second round of the $100,000 Memphis open golf tournament today, but the new car he won for a hole-in-one soothed the pain.

Hill, from Jackson, Mich., had a five-under-par 65 in the opening round Thursday and used a powerful driving game to post an eagle three, three birdies and 14 pars.

Chasing Hill as play resumed today were Bert Weaver at 67 and four others bunched at 67— Gary Player, Harold Henning, Dave Marr and Hiskey.

Next came Dave Stockton, Dave Ragan, Steve Spray and Randi Petri with 68s. Defending champion Bert Yancey shot a par-70, and former champ Jack Nicklaus soared to a 77.

Hiskey, 28, of Burley, Idaho, jumped to an early lead with a seven-iron hole in - one on the 182-yard 12th. And he missed another hole - in - one by two inches on the 17th.

But the putter was his big stick and perhaps the deadliest club on the course. Hiskey was 100 accurate with his tee shots and he hit only 12 greens in regulation. But he tied for first on the greens—with eight one-putts

Guelph's CIOY's won their second consecutive game in Senior Inter-County Baseball Association play Thursday night defeating Hamilton Red Wings 7-4. In the only other action, Brantford Red Sox opened their season by trimming London Pontiacs 4-2.

Knudson Likes Course

MONTREAL (CP) — George Knudson, Canada's No. 1 golfer, shot a casual two-over-par 71 Thursday over the Municipal course as an early prelude to the Canadian Open championship June 29-July 2.

Workers were still busy shipping the rearranged course into shape, but Knudson was satisfied. He said it is a course that will leave the scramble for the prize money of $200,000 wide open and predicted it is about the type he prefers.

Knudson came here from his Toronto home where he has been taking a rest following his win in the New Orleans Open and a less impressive showing at Fort Worth.

"I pace myself on the tour," he said. "I have my program laid out a year or so ahead and follow it.

Cool Reception, owned by Blum is committed to ride in California, Saturday, so will miss the chance to ride the horse he said he would go anywhere to handle.

Pointed toward the Queen's Plate, Canada's premier thoroughbred race, June 24, Cool Reception is mated with Reason To Hail at 8-to-1 behind Damascus, 6-to-5, and Proud Clarion, 5-to-2.

Behind them given scant chance in the field are six other horses including Prickpo, which is expected to be the early pace Saturday.

A victory by any of the others mentioned — Jamaro, Blasting Charge, Gaylord's Feather, Noboc's Bullet and Favorable Turn—would be even more of a surprise than when Proud Clarion took the Kentucky Derby at odds of 30-1.

Many Top Athletes Enter Meet

TORONTO (CP) — Many of Canada's best - known athletes will compete in the Golden Centennial track and field championships here Saturday.

The entry list includes Roberta Pace, Maureen Wilson, Abby Hoffman, Roy Tucker, Bruce Stacey and Jenny Wingerson-Meidrum, all of Toronto, and George Cloutier of Ottawa.

More than 200 athletes from 30 Ontario track and field clubs in Ontario as well as a number of competitors from the United States will take part.

The meet will be held at Exhibition Stadium.

The Don Mills Track Club of Toronto, coached by Lloyd Percival, has entered 88 athletes including Miss Pisco, who holds unofficial world records in the women's two-mile and one-mile races.

Skeet Shoot

Canadian Wins 3 Titles

STE. JANVIER, Que. (CP)— Winds gusted at up to 35 m.p.h. Thursday in the second round of the Canadian and Quebec skeet championships, knocking over in the tables and chairs and causing the targets to behave as irrationally as pinballs.

But Eddy Tuvo of Montreal, one of the smoothest and most experienced shooters, overcame the winds to shoot a perfect round and win three major titles in the 28-gauge competition.

Tuvo, 28, the only non-professional to shatter all 100 of his targets in the adverse conditions, took the Canadian open and closed crowns and the Quebec title, edging out three highly-rated United States shooters.

Tuvo's ace Thursday, combined with his 96 Wednesday which won him the Quebec crown in the .410 division, put him one point behind Dominic Pisciteli of New Haven, Conn., in the competition for over-all honors.

GRAY SIGNED

EDMONTON (CP)— Edmonton Victoria Canadians of the Western Canada Soccer League announced Thursday signing Jimmy Gray, 20, a Scottish Second Division pro player. Gray, a former right winger with the Clydebank football club, is the club's ninth import signed this year.

Reds, Cards Snatch Wins

Ninth Was Nemesis For Braves, Cubs

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The way Phil Niekro's knuckleball was dancing around it should have been wearing ballerina's slippers.

Or perhaps a suit of armor for catcher Joe Torre would have been more appropriate.

Torre was the unfortunate fellow on the receiving end of Niekro's fluttering floater Thursday night. The Atlanta catcher was charged with two passed balls in a nightmarish ninth inning as St. Louis Cardinals rallied for a pair of runs and then went on to defeat the Braves 5-4 in 10 innings.

The ninth inning was just as bleak for Leo Durocher's Chicago Cubs, who saw a two-run lead evaporate into a 7-6 Cincinnati victory. In other National League games, Houston Astros dropped New York Mets 4-1, San Francisco Giants pounded Pittsburgh Pirates 7-1 and Philadelphia Phillies defeated Los Angeles Dodgers 6-1.

Denny Lemaster was sailing along on a six-hitter with a 4-3 lead as the Cardinals came to bat in the bottom of the ninth. John Romano opened with a bouncer to Clete Boyer, but the usually sure-handed third baseman threw the ball away for a two-base error.

Ekth Lemaster, enter Niekro.

Dick Stuphes ran for Romano and moved to third as Niekro served a wild pitch.

Lou Brock's sacrifice fly brought Stuphes home. Then Julian Javier walked and two of Niekro's knucklers fluttered their way past Torre, moving Javier to third. Curt Flood's single scored Javier with the tying run.

Niekro was gone in the 10th when Phil Gagliano singled and raced home on Bobby Tolan's two-out triple for the game-winner.

The Cubs suffered through a similar ninth inning against the Reds. Cal Koonce was protecting a 6-4 lead built mostly on five runs batted by Billy Williams, who socked a pair of home runs.

Koonce struck out the first two batters in the bottom of the ninth, but Floyd Robinson beat out an infield hit. Vada Pinson's triple brought Robinson home, and a moment later Pinson scored the tying run on a wild pitch.

Then Pete Rose walked and was safe at second on an attempted force play when Glenn Beckert dropped the throw for his third error of the game.

Deron Johnson, who had singled home two runs in the eighth, walked, loading the bases and Tommy Helms drilled a single, scoring Rose with the winner.

Mike Cuellar fired a three-hitter as the Astros handed the struggling Mets their fifth straight loss. Cuellar, who struck out nine, also drove in a run with a double.

Rookie Norm Miller stroked three hits, scored one run and drove in another for the Astros.

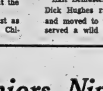
Gaylord Perry pitched six no-hit innings against the Pirates and finished with a two-hitter as the Giants moved past Pittsburgh into third place.

Rich Allen drove in four runs for the Phi — stiltothefreehen for the Phillies—three of them on a sixth inning home run against the Dodgers.

Larry Jackson scattered eight hits and had the Dodgers shut out until the ninth when Los Angeles snapped a 23-inning runless skein on Jim Hickman's triple.

Win It In Ninth

Ellis Seniors Nip Kingston



By GARRY ALEXANDER
(Staff Sportswriter)

Stu Muirhead and Ralph Plane put together the longest and shortest hits of the ball game to give Belleville Ellis Seniors an 11th-hour 6-5 win over Kingston Prince George Regals here last night.

Muirhead slammed a two-out triple off the left-field fence to drive home two runs for a 5-5 count and then dropped a perfect bunt single to squeeze Muirhead home with the deciding tally in the Quinte-KASA tilt, at Alemiie Park.

An error opened the Belleville ninth with Kingston in front 5-3 and Ethier drew a walk. LeSage popped a single to right field but Gardiner was cut down at the plate by a perfect throw to the play. Meraw went down on strikes and Muirhead had two strikes on him when he slammed the long blast to the fence. Then came Plane's game-winning bunt.

Bobby Ethier, despite appearing tired from the previous night's 15-inning win in Kingston, hurled the victory. He struck out 12 and walked only one while surrendering 11 hits.

Buhe VanHooser gave up 10 hits while going the route for the Regals. He struck out seven and dished out three free passes.

Moon's triple, following Meraw's single and an error by Muirhead's scotch bunt, gave Belleville 2-0 first-frame lead. Kingston got one back in the third on a single, Chestnut's double and Jim Cashman's squeeze bunt.

A throwing error by back-to-back hits by Clyde and Ferguson and a wild pitch put the Regals up 3-2 in the fourth.

Senior singled and came home with two out when Clyde's base hit was misplayed in the field for a 5-3 Kingston lead in the sixth. Belleville loaded the sacks without scoring on a hit in their half of the inning but a walk, LeSage's hit, Meraw's sacrifice and Muirhead's base hit put the margin to 5-3 in the seventh.

VanHooser doubled and singled while Jim Clyde singled three times and Mitch Moonette twice for the visitors. Dave Chestnut doubled, Lou Masters and Bob Senior adding a single each.

Kingston had a run erased in the eighth when Masters was called out by base umpire Ray Stewart for missing third base following VanHooser's double. The call was disputed — to no avail.

Brants Bow 9-7 To S. Warner

Stewart Warner built a 9-0 lead and held off a pair of comebacks by Brants to defeat Brants's Mountain View 9-7 in a Commercial Softball League game at Annelhamp last night.

Stewart Warner netted one run in the first, six in the second and two in the third before Brants's tipped back, plating four in the fourth and three in the sixth to make it close.

Dwayne Spinks garleys a six runs and 10 of the 12 hits before giving way to Grant Coulette on the losers' rubber. Coulette finished five and each pitcher walked one.

Chuck Rowbotham paced the Warnermen hitters with a double and two singles while Rick Howard hammered a home run and single and G. Green singled twice. Gary Gee, Jim Sopha and J. Eaton also left safely.

Al Colden hit a double and single in defeat and Jory Spinks doubled. B. Richardson and John Spinks had singles.

Pointers Win Four in Row

Bunching seven runs in the fifth and sixth innings, the Point Anne Cementmen clipped RCAF Flyers 9-5 at the Point last night to climb up into fourth Trent Valley Softball League win in as many games.

The Cementmen snapped a 3-3 deadlock with four runs in the fifth and opened up a 9-3 lead with the sixth - frame trio.

Mike Cook pitched the victory, scattering six Flyer effective while fanning one and walking four.

Langard was the losing moundsmen, with Al McVicar taking over in the seventh. They gave up 10 hits, struck out one and passed three.

Akey, Cook and Marsale put together first - frame hits for a 2-0 Or - point lead while a walk, G. Maher's single, another by Akey and Cook's home run broke the game open in the fifth. Whalen's double ignited the three - run blast in the sixth with a walk, error and G. Maracle's hit making it 9-3.

Home runs by Cameron and McVicar cut the lead in the ninth but proved too late and too late.

Mike Cook sparked his own attack for the Cementmen with a home run and double. David Akey, Glen Marsale and Gerald Maher contributed two singles each. Vern Whalen's double and a single by Rick Rosebush completed the hit total.

Coleman Faces Trial

CALGARY (CP) — All-star fullback Lovell Coleman of Calgary Stampeders Thursday was committed for trial on a charge of using an instrument with intent to procure a miscarriage.

Coleman, 29, who elected jury trial after his arrest on May 13, is free on $500 bail. Next regular sevsignment day for Alberta Supreme Court criminal cases is Sept. 5.

The girl told Coleman's preliminary hearing she was directed to the Western Football Conference star when she sought help from friends after confirming she was pregnant.

She said there was no discussion about money but, she said Coleman also would kill herself.

Coleman's lawyer, Mel Shannon, asked the magistrate to dismiss the charges on the grounds the girl admitted having had psychiatric attention and had told a "fantastic story."

He questioned the girl's statement that a prominent figure like Coleman would commit such an act as a "favor" when it could endanger his whole career.

Coleman, a native of Hamilton, Ont., joined the Stampeders in 1960. He was out of action much of last year with kidney hemorrhaging and returned to the Western Football Conference star when she sought help from friends after confirming she was pregnant.

She said there was no discussion about money but, she said Coleman also would kill herself.

Briton Victim Of Tough Loss

FORMBY, England (CP)—Probably the toughest loss of this year's British amateur golf tournament came Thursday when British Walker Cup player, Mike Attenborough, lost on the 19th hole to Marty Fleckman of the United States.

The loss, which left four U.S. and four British players in this morning's quarter - finals, left Muirhead's scotch bunt, borough appeared to have won right up to the 18th green.

There, in a trap 70 yards from the pin, Fleckman pulled out a sand wedge and whipped the ball into the cup to square the match with an eagle two and carry his impetus to the next hole and victory.

The morning round today has Fleckman against Bill Murray of Scotland, Bob Dickinson against Alan Moss of England, Jim Grant against Gordon Clark of England and hard-hitting Ron Cerrudo against Mike Bonallack of England.

Semi - finals over Formby's 6,854-yard, par-72 course will be played in the afternoon with the finals set for Saturday.

Two surprise losses to the British contingent Thursday were the fourth - round 3 and 2 defeat of Joe Carr, Irish champion and Walker Cup captain, by Larry Hinson of the U.S. and Dickson's 2 and 1 fifth-round win over Ronnie Shade. Carr has won the tournament three times.

Leafs Move To Second

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs always seem to start each International League season around the cellar of the eight-team baseball circuit and wind up battling for first place.

The Leafs are doing it again this year. They have bounced past Syracuse Chiefs and Columbus Jets to round out a game into second, five games behind leading Rochester Red Wings.

The combination that moved them into the challenger's spot Thursday night came when Rochester dumped Syracuse 1-0 and Toronto clipped Buffalo Bisons 5-1, Toledo Mud Hens battered Columbus 9-2 while Richmond Braves at Jacksonville Suns were rained out of a doubleheader.

Yesterday's Fights

Portland, Me. — Pete Riccitelli, 174, Portland, outpointed Irish Billy Conlin, 170, Fitchburg, Mass., 8.

Los Angeles—Dwight Hirsch, 127, Los Angeles, and Bobby Valdez, 127½, San Diego, Calif., drew, 10.

Minor Softball

One lop-sided and one close score resulted from a pair of Belleville Minor Softball Association bantam division games last night.

Belch Construction, the OASA peewee team, nipped the Jets 12-9 while A.C. Travellers whipped the Aces 25-4.

With The Trotters

HAMBURG N.Y. (CP) — Barra Mor, owned by Bernard MacKinnon of Buffalo and driven by Jack Welch, won the $250 feature at Buffalo Raceway Thursday in 2:10.3, returning $2.60 at 1-5 odds.

The co-feature was won by Shadydale Payoff, driven by owner Lew Bailey for a $4.80 return. The daily double, on numbers 7 and 7, returned $20.80.

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Dr. John Findlay of Arnprior, Ont. drove Royal Mint to a 4½-length win over Lucky Hanover in the first race Thursday night at Garden City Raceway.

Clocked in 2:06 1-5, Royal Mint paid $4.10, $2.90 and $2.70 and combined with Hello Killean in the second for an $8.50 daily double.

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Goldie's Joe was the winner of the feature $800 pacing dash at Western Fair Raceway Thursday night, running the mile in 2:07 2-5. A record for him and the fastest trip of the night, for $8.30.

In the fourth race, Katherine Hal and Victory Dale came in first and second in that order to return an exactor of $83.40.

Juckes Chides L'Heureux

TORONTO (CP) — Gordon Juckes, secretary - manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, says Willie L'Heureux is pro - judging the association.

L'Heureux said in Sarnia Wednesday night that the CAHA might lose its $100,000 annual subsidy from the federal government because of its $250,000 subsidy from the National Hockey League.

L'Heureux, chairman of the national advisory council of physical fitness and amateur sports, said the council will meet June 24 at Ingonish, N.S., to consider its grant to the CAHA.

Juckes, in Toronto on business, said:

"Mr. L'Heureux seems to forget that he recommended a year ago that the NHL give up sponsorship of junior clubs. This is what we have done. The NHL clubs now pay the CAHA a subsidy."

Juckes said the CAHA "has nothing against Mr. L'Heureux making these statements, but he must remember that he has been appointed to advise the government, not set policy."

Departmental Softball

The Intelligencer snapped out of an early - season slump at the expense of Eastern Motor Sales in Departmental Softball League play last night, jumping on the Motormen 24-7.

The winners chased D. Marchand and W. Barger in the first inning with Davis going the rest of the losers' pitching route despite 11 and 12 - run bursts.

Leading the attack at The Intelligencer crew shared in the hit parade, led by Randy Johnston with a triple, double and single. Moe Switzer added a triple and home run, Terry Hiddleston a homer and double, Merv Thompson a triple and single and Bill Cooney two singles.

Criticism Forces Valued BMBA Worker to Quit

The Belleville Minor Baseball Association lost one of its most ardent supporters and workers last night.

Mrs. Doreen Meagher has resigned her voluntary position as publicity chairman of the BMBA.

Obviously upset, Mrs. Meagher said by telephone this morning that "unfair criticism, mostly from people who do nothing to assist minor baseball in any way, late-night telephone calls and another matter which will come to a head shortly" brought about her decision to resign. She added that the Minor Baseball Association itself is a fine organization.

Only scores are available for last night's games.

In bantam, Mead Johnston shaded Parkdale 4-3 and is tadpole Jaycees defeated Watkins' Texaco 9-4.

Romeo $50,000 Richer!

The heir apparent to the harness Horse-of-the-Year title, in succession to the now retired Bret Hanover, made it 21 straight Thursday night in the $100,000 International Pace at Yonkers Raceway.

The doubters said Romeo could not go the 1½ miles of the International and beat the 11-year-old Cardigan Bay, who won the race last year and was accustomed to long distances in his native New Zealand.

What happened? Driver George Sholty took Romeo away from the No. 1 post position and turned back all challenges to bring home the 1-to-4 favorite by one length over Cardigan Bay.

For about five seconds during the first turn, Sholty yielded the lead to True Duane and driver Chris Doring, but he regained it at the end of the first quarter and stayed in front the rest of the way.

Sholty slowed down the pace with a bit of slick driving, doing a comparatively slow mile of 2:06 3 with most of the field strung out behind in Indian file. Stanley Dancer moved to the outside with Cardigan Bay at the mile and kept virtually abreast of Romeo Hanover down the backstretch for the last time.

Sholty clucked to Romeo on the last turn and his magnificent pacer put in a blazing 28 3-5 last quarter to draw out in the stretch. His time was 2:03 3-5 and he paid $2.60, $2.20 and 2.10 across the board in the mutuels.

Cardigan Bay picked up $25,000 for finishing second and became the second all time money winning harness horse with $885,671. He passed Su Mac Lad who retired with $885,000. Bret Hanover is No. 1 on the list with $922,816.

Romeo now has earned a total of $617,857 for his owners, the Lucky Star Stable and Morton Finder of New York.

Typhoid Hits Athletes

STANFORD, Calif. (CP)—Ed Preston Chairman of the Western Football Conference may have to play the coming Canadian football League season without fullback John Read.

Read, signed by the Eaks May 15, is one of five Beta Theta Pi fraternity members at Stanford University stricken Tuesday by typhoid fever.

Also stricken and withdrawn from the U.S. swimming team bonded for the Pan American Games at Winnipeg in July was Dick Roth, holder of the world 400-metres Medley relay record set at the Olympic Games in Tokyo in 1964.

The others, football players like Read, are offensive tackle Mike Hibser—drafted this year by Oakland Raiders of the American League—John Hunt, Stanford starting halfback and Bob Coured, starting varsity end.

Read, reported in good condition in the university's health centre, was not drafted by U.S. pro teams but Edmonton officials couldn't have to be one of their bright prospects.

Twenty years old, he is six feet and 220 pounds and is rated a topnotch blocker.

The first fishing motor ever built

The best fishing motor ever built

both by Evinrude

It was back in 1907 when Mr. Ole Evinrude rented a boat and put his new invention on the transom. Fishing was never the same.

That old engine of his still runs. But outboard motors have changed and leading the engineering innovations ever since is Evinrude.

Evinrude's new 18 gives you 30% more fuel economy in a comparable size. With a fast 14-footer you can go 85 miles on a 5 gallon tank of gas.

The Evinrude 8 is the smallest motor we make that has a full complement of big motor features. The 8 is small and light (no bigger than most 3's).

The Evinrude 9 offers you the most fishing motor for the least money. Not a "bargain single," but a smooth, quiet alternate-firing twin.

Evinrude's folding 3 is a fisherman's or camper's dream. It folds and unfolds like a jack-knife quickly and fits neatly into a luggage-type carrying case for easy storage.

Through the years Evinrude has been "first" in the development of quiet outboard motors. And the Evinrude fishing motors for 1967 are the quietest outboard motors you can buy.

All Evinrudes carry a full 2-year warranty and use 50:1 gas/oil mixture, which increases engine life, saves wear and expense. And with Evinrude's complete coast-to-coast dealer organization, service is never a problem.

See all 18 models for '67 from the folding 3 to the world record breaking 100-S, plus 5 OMC Fastback Stern Drive engines at your Evinrude dealer's now—he's listed in the yellow pages.

National Day

Britain's national day opened with striped - pants ceremony, ramrod-stiff Royal Marines and a guard of honor, and ended with rockets and fun-poking at hallowed institutions.

At the official flag-raising in Place des Nations in the morning, Commonwealth Secretary Herbert Bowden apologized for the absence of Prime Minister Harold Wilson — "very grave reasons have prevented him from being with us."

Before a crowd of 3,500 in the fair's great amphitheatre he paid "special tribute to Canada's deep faith in the Commonwealth and her constant efforts to make a success of this wonderful multi-racial conception."

In the afternoon British entertainers compressed 2,500 years of their country's history into a 40-minute spectacular that had 7,000 spectators howling with laughter.

Against a massive backdrop with eight-foot statues o grinning bulldogs and Britannias in traditional garb, they mocked tradition and the class system. Girls in mini-skirts paraded in mini cars and before the show was over even the Britannia statues had been switched to mini-skirts.

With the afternoon temperature at 75 and a blazing sun, it was the hottest day since the fair opened April 27. Crowds responded by coming in droves, although Thursday is normally a slow day.

By midnight the turnstiles had counted 206,251 compared with an expected crowd of 101,-150. Total attendance so far has been 8,953,222.

Prime Minister Wilson was originally to have been Britain's representative on British national day but instead he flew to Ottawa for talks with Prime Minister Pearson and today goes to Washington to see President Johnson.

Mr. Bowden asked visitors to the British pavilion to "think not only of our ancient historic story, but of Britain in the world ot today.

"When you think of 'swinging' London, of our 'pop' groups, our long-haired young men and our short-haired mini - skirted young women — think, too, of our achievement today in science and technology. . . ."

Later, in answer to a press conference question, he said Britain wanta the major maritime powers of the world to declare that the Gulf of Aqaba is free to the shipping of all nations, if the United Nations does not take such a declaration first.

During the day Quebec trotted out some tradition of its own when a party of 12 soldiers was sent off on a 675 mile canoe trip to James Bay. They are following a fur-trade route blazed 281 years ago by French colonists.

The soldiers, members of the Royal 22nd Regiment, expect to make the voyage in 45 days.

Heifetz Drives Electric Car As An Anti-smog Measure

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Everyone talks about the anti-smog measure, but look who has done something about it: Jascha Heifetz.

The violin virtuoso has developed his lifetime to fine musicianship, records and plays an occasional concert. Lately he has developed a new passion — the crusade against smog.

"Smog is not really very important; it's merely a matter of life or death," Heifetz says.

From his home atop Beverly Hills, Heifetz can look down on the stifling blanket of smog that envelops the Los Angeles plain. He ventures into it for his classes at the University of Southern California.

In his billfold he carries articles about our polluted cities, and he produces dozens of clippings to bolster his arguments.

"Three years ago, I decided I might be able to help fight smog by setting an example," he related.

"Obviously nothing can be done about smog until we do something about the automobile. It's either people or the automobile, and I happen to think people are more important."

Heifetz told of his yen for an electric car to auto expert L. M. Cohn. The pair took the project to Lou Cordell, an engineering firm in nearby Studio City. Building of the electric car began in February, and delivery was made last week.

The Heifetz car, which has the body of a 1961 Renault, has its limitations. It can travel only 40-50 miles before it has to be recharged. Each hour of charging provides eight miles of travel. It can be charged a maximum of eight hours which would be 64 miles travel but away.

To Your Good Health
Corn Starch Bath Relieves Itching

Dear Dr. Molner: To relieve a body itch, a friend said to take a bath with corn starch but no soap. I tried. It works like a charm. Please comment. — A. B.

It's an old — but still useful — method of relieving itching, and many a youngster with a lot of poison ivy or eczema has found relief in the bathtub.

It relieves, it eases. It does not cure because it is not capable of temporary lifting, it's fine. Don't expect it to be a cure for serious skin ailments, though.

Dear Dr. Molner: I recently lost a baby because the placenta detached from the baby. The placenta came first, and the baby lived only 2 hours. Is there a reason for this or is it something that happens regardless of what you do? — Mrs. R. B.

The placenta does not separate from the baby. Rather, in such cases, the placenta is attached to the lower uterine wall. Then, as the fetus develops, the placenta separates from the uterine wall sooner than it should, often about the seventh month.

Bleeding late in pregnancy may be a sign of this, so it should be reported to your doctor instantly.

Both because of interruption of circulation and prematurity, the baby frequently dies. The danger to the mother is in loss of blood.

This condition seems to occur more often in women who have had several pregnancies in rapid succession. Some disorder of the lining of the uterus may be involved.

It is, however, the placement of the placenta that is to blame and there is no way of preventing this. The only reason to believe that it results from anything you did or did not do. It is just one of those unfortunate things.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am 17 and my stomach has been hurting for several weeks. Is it possible to have an ulcer? My mother said I am too young to have an ulcer. I am also very nervous. — L. F.

It is possible to have an ulcer at 17. Ulcers have been found even in babies. But nervous also can make a stomach cramp. Instead of disputing over whether it is possible to have an ulcer, have a doctor examine you and find out. Then you'll know for sure.

Dear Dr. Molner: A year and a half ago I had quite a bit of rectal bleeding. A specialist made tests and said I had internal as well as external hemorrhoids as well as diverticulosis. I was told to avoid seedy foods, nuts, pop corn, etc.

Since then I have had more bleeding, mostly when I was taking some weight control pills prescribed by a doctor. Would the pills have anything to do with the bleeding? Should I return to the specialist? — Mrs. J. A.

I doubt that the weight control pills had much if any effect. You might, however, mention it to your doctor and whether the bleeding subsides.

You were told to avoid foods that could irritate or produce irritation of the surfaces which have been bleeding. This does not necessarily mean that they will heal completely.

Yes, by all means return to the specialist to see whether you are making acceptable progress or whether further measures should be taken.

BONARLAW—Mrs. Florence McDonald of Regina spent the week with Mr. and Mrs. Cyril McKeown, Lisle and Jane.

Mr. and Mrs. William Neal spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Rod McKenzie, Kingston.

Several attended the shower Friday night, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tanner.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Dickie, Brentford, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Dickie.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Burkitt were Mr. and Mrs. James Meneely and Jerry, Oshawa; Mr. and Mrs. Reg Burkitt, Fetherston's Corners; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Burkitt and Brian and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Burkitt and Shirley, Campbellford.

A barn on the 10th concession of Rawdon was destroyed by fire early Saturday morning. Seven cows, 40 pigs, hay and grain were lost.

Carol Anne Peacock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peacock, Wellington Crescent, received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Victoria College, University of Toronto, at convocation on June 1. Carol is a graduate of BCIVS.

Police Group Support Amalgamation of Forces

ORILLIA, Ont. (CP)—The Ontario Police Association has passed a motion supporting the abolition or amalgamation of small police forces for increased efficiency, provided the affected officers do not lose pay or seniority in the changeover, it was reported Thursday.

All Ontario forces with fewer than 10 men are being amalgamated with other forces or being abolished by the attorney-general's department in favor of policing by provincial police.

The association's quarterly meeting also voted to ask the provincial government to change the Highway Traffic Act to allow officers to record the licence number of a car when they feel it is unsafe to pursue it, rather than have to stop the vehicle at the time of the offence and identify the driver.

Unanimous support was given to the proposed two-year police technology courses for Grade 12 graduates interested in police or security work. Students in the course would take police and basic arts courses and would graduate with a police technology course certificate from the department of education.

Gordon Allen Nelson Pinder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Pinder, received a B.A. degree in psychology May 26th at Carleton University spring convocation. Gordon attended B.C.I. and Moira S.S. in Belleville. While at Carleton he was awarded five athletic letters for varsity golf and curling. He has accepted a position with the Canadian Penitentiary Services as classification officer at the Warkworth Institution and will reside in Belleville.

Budget Shelved

Members Discuss Interpretation Act Revision

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons dusted off the 100-year-old Interpretation Act Thursday and, after some sound and fury over archaic terminology, ordered amendments to the measure.

MPs spent the afternoon on the bill to revise and consolidate the act before turning in the evening to Finance Minister Sharp's budget.

The Interpretation Act defines legal terminology used most frequently in legislation. The Commons gave the bill second reading, approval in principle, and completed clause-by-clause study. It now requires only third reading and royal assent.

Today the House begins study of estimates of the postmaster-general's department, with the budget debate shelved until Tuesday.

Frank Howard (NDP—Skeena) saw the defeat of his amendment to make St. John the Baptist Day a statutory holiday this time on a 31-to-8 vote. Only Augustin Chequette (L—Lotbiniere) supported the NDP.

Justice Minister Trudeau said he was bewildered by Mr. Howard's choice of the French-Canadian holiday, rather than St. George's Day, St. Patrick's Day or some other traditional national day.

Alfred D. Hales (PC—Wellington South) argued that Monday holidays would hurt retail merchants. He said municipalities should be left the discretion to set their own holidays.

Mr. Howard also made a determined effort to rid the Interpretation Act of terms he said were archaic. The phrase governor - in - council and privy council "should be dispensed with."

Burning Permits Cancelled

TORONTO (CP) — Burning permits have been cancelled and travel permits are being curtailed as a result of an "extremely high" forest fire hazard rating throughout Ontario.

A lands and forests department statement Thursday said 25 fires had broken out in the previous 24 hours. Largest outbreak, 40 miles northeast of Kenora, was being held in check by aircraft and forest protection staff after burning more than 365 acres.

The statement said special fire - fighting crews are on standby alert, backed by a fleet of 50 water-bombing flying boats and Canso aircraft and helicopters.

The department said 576 fires have been reported this year compared with 382 at this time in 1966.

Minto Personals

MINTO — Following a community meeting Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Hagerman, Mr. and Mrs. George Siler and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Twiddy were appointed members of a committee to investigate having the church property assigned to a Minto Community Association for future maintenance.

Stewart Brady is a patient in hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Cook have moved into the home formerly owned by the late Mr. and Mrs. William Wright.

How to buy a good used car

One in a series

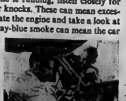
When buying a used car, determine, first of all, what will best suit your needs. But don't look for only Make A because you've never liked Make B. Make B might fit your purpose better. Once you know what you want, inspect it carefully. Remember, though, a good used car should look used, not abused. Here, then, are some ideas on what to look for when you're buying a used car. Keep it for reference and look for more good advice in the rest of the series.

Engine—The dry-run test covers basic engine checks you can make right where the car stands. Start with a good, hard look at the engine. The most important single thing you are buying in a used car is unused engine performance. A reasonable amount of oil film and dust is a normal sign of service. If you think the engine is too dirty, find-out why. Look closely at every engine part you can see.

Fan Belt—If the fan belt is loose or frayed, adjustment or replacement is more than likely necessary.

Air Cleaner—Remove the air cleaner cover and examine the filter. A neglected cleaner lets dirt into the engine and causes excessive wear of moving parts and restricts air intake.

Battery—You don't want to get stuck in the middle of nowhere some day, so check very carefully for cracks in the battery case and for corrosion around the battery cables and battery carrier.



Radiator—Remove the cap and look at the underside. If it's oily, the head gasket could be leaking. Squeeze the radiator hoses. If they're spongy, new hoses should be installed.

Carburetor—Look closely for deposits around the carburetor. Leaky gaskets allow fuel to wash down and leave varnish deposits on the carburetor body.

Distributor—Check the cap carefully to make sure it's free of cracks and all the leads aren't worn or frayed.

Spark Plugs—These can be a good barometer of an engine's running condition. Have one of the spark plugs removed. If the tip is covered with black, greasy carbon and oil, the engine could be an oil burner.

Starting—Once the engine is running, listen closely for unusual slaps, bangs or knocks. These can mean excessive wear. Then accelerate the engine and take a look at the exhaust. Gray or gray-blue smoke can mean the car is a heavy oil burner. While exhaust is usually steam which stops when the engine warms up. Black smoke suggests poor carburetion. If you hear slight popping noises, while racing the engine, it might mean the valves are leaking.

Tailpipe—Run your finger around the inside of the tailpipe. If it's dry, the engine is not an oil-pumper.

Gauges—Make sure the fuel gauge works while the engine is running. Turn the engine off. Wait a moment. Then turn it on again. The oil indicator light and the ammeter indicator light should come on. If working properly, they will go off as soon as you start the engine again.

Your awareness is your protection. When you know what to look for, you can buy with confidence. This series has been developed to help build your confidence in used-car buying.

Of course, an even better way to gain confidence is to talk to a Chevrolet-Oldsmobile OK Used Car Dealer. He has the choicest used cars available—reconditioned and selected to meet the highest used-car standards. You can be sure that they will stand up to this recommended inspection. Your Chevrolet-Oldsmobile Dealer's reputation rides with you. That's why, when you buy an OK Used Car, you know what you're getting into.

THE BEST ROSE SPRAY YOU HAVE EVER USED-or your money back!

Let you—and your roses—be the judge! Watch Gardal go to work on insects, black spot, mites and mildew. And if it isn't the best rose spray you've ever used, tell us so. Write to Green Cross Products, P.O. Box 489, Montreal. Send us the bottle with label, and we'll send you your money back.

Applied as a liquid spray, Gardal leaves no visible powder or dust deposits. Its systemic insecticide and systemic fungicide go right inside the plant. The systemic insecticide distributes itself throughout the entire plant, protecting tender new growth from insect damage for up to two weeks after application. Systemics cannot be washed off by rain, since they are within the plant.

Russia Charges U.S. Jets Killed Seaman on Attacked Ship

MOSCOW (CP) — Russia charged today that two U.S. jets bombed a Russian freighter in a North Vietnamese port, killing one seaman and injuring six. The Russians warned they would take "appropriate measures" if such an incident occurred again.

Shortly after Moscow received a report Friday from the captain of the 3,858-ton Soviet ship Turkestan, Foreign Minister Gromyko handed a sharp protest to the U.S. embassy's minister - counselor, John C. Guthrie.

Gromyko's note was reported to have said:

"In the event of a recurrence of such actions on the part of U.S. armed forces, the Soviet Union will be compelled to take appropriate measures to ensure the safety of its ships.

"The Soviet government insists, firstly, on the strict punishment of those responsible for the attack on the Soviet ship and secondly, awaits assurances that there will be no recurrence of actions like this in respect of Soviet ships."

The U.S. embassy had no immediate comment and forwarded the note to Washington.

The United States neither confirmed nor denied that U.S. planes bombed the ship, which the Soviets said was anchored in the harbor of Cam Pha, 30 miles north of Haiphong.

The U.S. answered earlier Soviet charges of hitting ships by saying that falling North Vietnamese anti - aircraft shells were to blame.

"It would be a mistake if the provocateurs did not fully consider the seriousness of the warning in the Soviet government's note. The sponsors of this kind of provocation evidently have a poor understanding of the situation and do not fully consider that they may be given a fitting rebuff."

The Soviet news agency Tass reported from Vladivostok that an electro - mechanic named Zemlnev was reported in critical condition after a three-hour operation. Tass also said that "there were five lightly wounded" and that "there are bullet holes in the upper structure and the ship's boats."

Tass said the Turkestan, a diesel cargo ship, was carrying coal from Can Pha to Japan.

"Eyewitnesses," said Tass, "confirm that two American planes came in from two sides to bomb the Turkestan. The bombs fell 100 yards from the ship and afterwards both bombers fired explosive bullets at the ship from large calibre machine-guns."

The Soviet note on the Turkestan incident was the strongest in a series of notes involving more and more serious charges of U.S. disturbances of Soviet ships in a Vietnam area.

U Thant Says Crisis Explosive, Delicate

MONTREAL (CP) — Secretary-General U Thant of the United Nations described the Middle East crisis Friday night as "explosive and delicate" and warned that the world must prepare for the 21st century—if there is to be a 21st century.

Mr. Thant issued his warning during a six-hour flying visit to Montreal to address the council of the International Civil Aviation Organization, a UN special agency, and the United Nations Association in Canada.

He also held private discussions on the Arab-Israeli crisis with External Affairs Minister Martin.

Mr. Thant told the UN association the 122-member world organization should recognize "our present dangers and our future problems" and strive to "strengthen international peacekeeping machinery" as a new step toward a peaceful, just and orderly world.

He praised Canada's peacekeeping role in the UN and said that Canada—with its enlightened view of international relations—has even taken "the revolutionary step of reorganizing its armed forces with the peacekeeping function primarily in mind."

"This is an imaginative and far-seeing step which will, I have not the slightest doubt, prove to be historically right and of profound future importance far outside the borders of Canada.

Mr. Thant, who recently returned from a tour of the Middle East following the current crisis which resulted in the withdrawal of the UN Emergency Force because of Arab objections, said:

"I know that the withdrawal of UNEF and the situation which has given rise to it are a source of bitter disappointment and deep anxiety in many countries.

"But we must understand clearly the context in which UNEF operated and in which it has now been withdrawn. We must remember that UN peacekeeping is a highly novel and sophisticated concept. It relies on reason, local co-operation, skilful diplomacy, restraint and good faith.

Just on Top of It All

Ken Jackson takes a smoke break on steel 350 feet above ground in Calgary. He is iron workers' foreman on the downtown Husky Tower, rising at a rate of up to 35 feet a day toward the 600-foot mark. Decision To Leave Criticized

WASHINGTON (CP) — Time is short in the Middle East crisis between Arab and Jew which in "only a matter of hours" could lead to a much larger conflict, says Prime Minister Wilson.

The British leader winds up a brief Washington visit today by apparent agreement with President Johnson on the need for urgent efforts to head off a war.

In between his talks with Johnson, the prime minister told a news conference that if a peaceful solution to Egypt's avowed blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba is not worked out "in very, very dangerous state" would be reached in the tinder box area.

"Stop!"

World Capitals Express Fear Time Running Out

JERUSALEM (CP) — Attempts to cool passions in the simmering Middle East crisis went on in many world capitals today amid fears that time is running out.

It gave no details.

King Hussein of Jordan, who signed a five-year defence pact with Nasser earlier in the week, indirectly warned Ahmed Shukairy, firebrand leader of the Palestine Liberation Organization, not to try to use the crisis for personal political gain.

Shukairy, campaigning in the Jordan sector of divided Jerusalem, urged thousands of cheering Arabs to wage holy war on Israel.

An Egyptian envoy to Brazil claimed that Egypt has no intention of destroying Israel, diplomatic sources reported.

Cairo radio had broadcast a speech by Nasser May 26 in which he said Israel would have to start any Arab-Israeli war but if it did, war "will be total and the objective will be to destroy Israel."

The expressions of restraint underlined the shaky nature of Arab unity.

British Prime Minister Wilson said in Washington that if Egypt's threat to block Israeli shipping from the Gulf of Aqaba is not solved peacefully, a clash could so mushroom into much more than just a local conflict in "only a matter of hours."

The gulf blockade issue also held up agreement among the 15 nations of the UN Security Council on measures aimed at easing the Middle East crisis.

King Hussein, who spoke on Amman radio, declared:

"I have given instructions that no one should be allowed to seize the opportunity to manoeuvre in order to make individual political gains."

Lucky to Control Fires Forestry Official Says

So far, there have been four fire eruptions in the past 24 hours in the Tweed forestry district — all of them confined to small areas by fast-moving firefighting patrols.

Most of them have been caused by careless campers and smokers.

"We've been lucky — we managed to get to them fast," said one department official today.

Since April 1 there have been 90 fires in the Tweed district — for a total loss of 419 acres. This compares with 33 fires and 73 acres lost during the same time last year.

The weather remains dry, with temperatures mostly in the mid-80s, today and Sunday.

Post Says Private Talks Fail

WASHINGTON (AP) — Private U.S. talks with Egyptian President Nasser to end the announced Egyptian blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba have failed, the Washington Post says.

The newspaper says Charles Yost, U.S. special envoy sent to Cairo, has been unable to bridge Nasser's stand on blockading the gulf.

The Post quotes unidentified U.S. officials as saying the breakdown in talks may result in the use of force, including a test of the blockade in about 10 days, probably by a tanker escorted by naval vessels.

The state department declined comment.

British Prime Minister Wilson warned Friday that if Egypt carries out its threat to blockade the gulf, a conflict sweeping the Middle East dispute "might be only a matter of hours."

Riot Squads In Action At Boston

BOSTON (AP)—Police maintained an uneasy vigil in the predominantly Negro Gove Hall section today after a night of looting and rock - throwing touched off by a welfare demonstration.

Police formed assault lines throughout the night to clear the streets.

A least 33 men and 11 women were arrested. They were charged variously with trespassing, taking part in an affray or assault on police officers.

Windows of businesses were smashed and there were reports of widespread looting. Several fires were reported in the area.

There was no estimate of damage.

Army Doctor Faces Prison

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Army Capt. Howard B. Levy, convicted by a court martial of disloyalty and disobedience, faces a possible prison sentence of 11 years.

Levy, 30, Brooklyn-born dermatologist at Fort Jackson Army Hospital, was convicted Friday of disobeying orders to train special forces — Green Beret — medics and of promoting disloyalty among troops by making statements opposing U.S. involvement in Vietnam.

The 10-member tribunal of army officers, four of them Vietnam veterans, reconvenes today to consider defence arguments for a lighter sentence.

Levy's lawyer, who had warned that a conviction might create a martyr for the peace movement, failed in attempts to prove that the army doctor's disobedience was justified on claim that Green Beret troops committed war crimes in Vietnam and that Levy's medical ethics took precedence over army orders.

News Briefs

RAIPEI (AP) — Chinese Nationalist intelligence sources report armed clashes in China's provinces of Kiangsu and Chekiang between supporters and opponents of Mao Tse-tung. A report, distributed by Nationalist China's official central news agency, said clashes broke out Wednesday at Suchow in Kiangsu province, disrupting rail traffic in the area.

Smoking Critic Wins Free Time

WASHINGTON (CP) — Cigarette manufacturers in the United States who advertise their brands with radio and television commercials may in the future be assuring free air time to groups opposing smoking.

The Federal Communications Commission ordered Friday that stations broadcasting cigarette ads must provide an unspecified amount of time to anti-smoking programs.

The order said stations could try to sell time for the anti-smoking programming. But it said if no sponsor could be found, the time would have to be provided free of charge.

The commission's ruling, in a 7-to-0 vote, came in response to a complaint filed by John F. Banzhaf III of New York against television station WCBS-TV in that city.

Banzhaf wrote the FCC last Jan. 5 saying WCBS-TV, while broadcasting many cigarette commercials, failed to offer him or anyone else a chance to present contrasting views on the issue of the benefits and advisability of smoking."

Three Injured in Mishaps Within Space of Two Hours

PICTON — Provincial police at Picton were kept busy Friday night as they were called to investigate three separate accidents all within one-and-a-half hours.

Three persons were admitted to Prince Edward County Hospital as result of the mishaps.

Gerald Prettie of Cherry Valley Road, suffered severe head lacerations and other injuries when he was pinned between his car as it rolled into the ditch near his home. Passing motorists lifted the car to free the driver, who was alone in the vehicle.

Half an hour later Arthur Richardson, 15-year-old Picton district high school boy was struck by a car as he walked with a school chum along the Waupoos Road just outside Picton. The boy was knocked unconscious and suffered a broken elbow. The car did not stop.

The third accident occurred on a curve on the Salmon Point road near the Outlet Beach intersection, when a car driven by Larry Cook, 20, of Shannonville missed the turn and plowed through the guide rails. Mr. Cook was taken to Picton hospital with chest injuries.

Obituaries

PETER B. LITTKEMANN

The sympathy of the district is extended to the sorrowing relatives of Peter B. Littkemann of Thomasburg, who passed away in Kingston General Hospital on Friday morning, May 26, after a short illness.

The funeral took place from the W. M. Bush Funeral Home, Tweed to St. John's United Church, Tweed, on Monday afternoon, May 29 with interment in Thomasburg Cemetery.

He was on the staff of the Wildlife Division of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests and fellow workers in uniform formed a guard of honor outside the church.

His wife is the former Karen Morton of Thomasburg.

FREDERICK PELKY
Deseronto

Frederick Pelky of Main St., Deseronto died May 27, in the Belleville General Hospital at the age of 81. His health had failed recently, and he had been admitted to hospital two weeks earlier.

Few details of his early life are available, except the fact that he was born in Belleville. His home had been in Deseronto for the past 15 years, and therefore is that he had lived for 35 years in Brockville. He built and then sold houses, and in Deseronto dealt in real estate in a modest way. People remember him as a quiet man, kindly, and devoted to his home and his family.

He is survived by his wife, who was Lena Flarend before her marriage; by two sons, Leonard and George of Buffalo; by four daughters, Myrtle, Mrs. Robert Schwab, and Verna, Mrs. Frank Takaca, both of Belleville, Geraldine, Mrs. Kenneth Topping of Mallorytown, and June, Mrs. Donald McNish of Canifton, and seven grandchildren. He was predeceased in 1964 by a son Frederick, Jr.

The funeral service was held Tuesday, May 30, at 11 a.m. in the White and Morris Funeral Home, Deseronto, the Rev. Father John Ferguson officiating.

The bearers were: Ernest Dorey, Donald Galt, Frank Takaca, James Marlow, Kenneth Garrett, and Alex Laverdure. Interment was in St. Vincent de Paul Cemetery.

EARL THOMAS KEENE

Popular city resident, Earl Thomas Keene, garage mechanic for many years, died yesterday in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. Keene, in his 52nd year, had been ill three months.

He was a leading member of the Orange organization, was deputy grand treasurer of the Royal Black Preceptory of Ontario East and a past preceptor of the RBP 382, Foxboro. Mr. Keene was also a past district grand master of Hastings South.

Mr. Keene was born in Thurlow township's third concession, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Keene and had lived all his life in the area.

He was a member of College Hill United Church.

Mr. Keene is immediately survived by his wife, the former Mabel Kincaid, a son Danny, two daughters, Mrs. Dale (Nancy) Embury and Miss Beth Elaine Keene, and a grandson, Paul Embury, all of Belleville.

Also surviving is a sister, Mrs. Russell (Ila) Parkinson, of Almonte, a half-sister, Mrs. Laura Swinton of Belleville, Michigan and a half-brother, Frank McCabe, of Texas.

FREDERICK GRANT McCRAE

FRANKFORD — A young Frankford man drowned Thursday in Lake Ontario in Brighton Municipality.

Frederick Grant McCrae, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis McCrae, 50 Victoria St. of Frankford.

Belleville OPP informed village constable G. C. Partington of the drowning after being notified by the Toronto Township Police Department in Cookaville.

Detective Burroughs of the Toronto Township Police said this morning that Mr. McCrae was trying out a new boat with two companions 150 yards from shore at 1.15 p.m. when the boat overturned.

The three men swam for shore but Mr. McCrae failed to reach it. His body was recovered at 5.45 p.m.

Detective Burroughs said that Mr. McCrae's Toronto address was listed as 1 Heatherdale Road.

He is survived by his parents, one brother Norman, Belleville, and one sister Judy, at home.

The funeral service will be at the Rowe Funeral Home, Frankford today with interment in Stockdale Cemetery.

With co-operation finally from the weather-man, apple blossoms in the Quinte district are in full bloom this weekend. Here Debby Conley and Roxanne Tugnette enjoy the aroma of McIntosh blooms at the Herrington orchard at Rossmore.

Heavy Loss In Fire

TRENTON — Fire Chief Cecil Ellis has estimated the loss in Wednesday's Domtar Chemical plant fire at "between twenty and thirty thousand dollars."

It took town and Canadian Forces Base firemen about an hour to smother the blaze which was touched off by a cutting torch being used by plant workmen, and which ignited a drum containing 3,500 gallons of diesel oil.

Chief Ellis said there was little likelihood of an explosion occurring, so long as the oil kept feeding the fire. He added firemen would probably have extinguished the outbreak within minutes had not a valve burned off the oil tank.

The fire chief expressed appreciation for the assistance rendered by CFB Trenton firefighters and their crash foam truck in averting more serious damage.

A tin-covered frame building was gutted which contained some costly motors and pieces of equipment, thereby accounting for the bulk of the loss estimate.

Two Trenton firemen, Elmer Stacey and Gerald Chard, were treated for minor burns received at the scene.

Cold Storage Plant Gets Building Approval

TRENTON — The Ontario Municipal Board has approved a town committee of adjustment decision of May 15, permitting Trenton Cold Storage Ltd. to extend Albert St. plant facilities. The building permit was effective June 1.

However, there has been no word on whether the town will take legal action against the firm's owners for beginning construction before being issued a building permit.

The town planning officer and building inspector advised council of the situation at the last regular meeting. Council referred the matter to the town solicitor, who was to determine whether charges should be laid.

Planning officer Arie Hoornweg told council the construction was also in contravention of the town's zoning bylaw, since the expansion site is zoned open space.

Building permits for construction with a value of more than $418,000 were taken out in Trenton during May. Among the 48 permits issued was a substantial one covering Eric Technological's recently announced expansion program.

Twelve permits were made out for construction of new single dwellings worth $144,500.

A recreational building permit with construction value of $15,000 was issued for the lawn bowling clubhouse in the Centennial Park.

Unemployment figures from Trenton's Canada Manpower Centre for May indicate an increase in male job placings and a slight decrease in those for women.

There were 304 unemployed males registered in the Trenton office at the end of April, which was reduced to 427 by the end of May. These figures are against 382 unplaced males at the end of April, 1966.

Female unemployed number-ed 433 at the end of May, up slightly from the 421 of a month before. There were 238 unplaced females registered here a year ago.

A spokesman for the Manpower Centre said there has been a good demand for waitresses and short order cooks in the female line, and male help is in demand for construction and truck driving work.

There is at present an overwhelming demand for asparagus cutters for area farms.

Napanee Resident Killed

NAPANEE, Ont. (CP) — John David Dempsay, 34, died today when his car overturned eight miles east of Napanee, about 20 miles west of Kingston.

Strike May Delay Bridge Work

TRENTON — A spokesman for the Department of Highways, which is supervising the construction of Trenton's new bridge, says the strike of some Ontario members of the International Association of Bridge, Structural, and Ornamental Iron Workers may soon affect the local project to erect a second span over the Trent River.

DHO district engineer Dan Collins said about eight workmen of Lackie Brothers of Waterloo — the firm responsible for erecting steel for the D. James MacDonald bridge — walked off the job last Friday. The men are members of the union which is currently striking a number of Ontario iron works firms to back up their demand for a $1.27 hourly increase in a two-year contract.

Mr. Collins noted that other workmen laying forms for the bridge deck were continuing as far as possible, but added the deck had been nearly extended to its limit, without the placing of additional structural steel. Only the eastern-most span remains to be installed.

Trenton's Central Bridge company has a contract for providing steel for the project, but no local plant workers are involved in the strike in connection with the new bridge.

However, about 30 Central Bridge field workers involved in other projects have been off the job for several weeks. They are members of Toronto area Local 721 of the striking union.

So Near and Yet So Far

No construction activity seen around bridge as eight steel erectors have walked off job due to strike. There is only one span left to be installed.

IN MEMORIAM

CAIN — In loving memory of our dear father, Ernest Cain, who passed away June 3, 1965.
Two years have passed since that day
When one we loved was called away
God took him home — it was His will
But memories linger with us still.
Within our hearts she liveth still.
Lovingly remembered by daughter Ruth.

HAKES — In loving memory of our dear father, Harry Hakes, who passed away June 3, 1965.
Sweet memories are sacred gifts
Memories we've gathered for a lifetime
Memories we'll meet again
Somewhere we know not when
We shall meet in that land above
Never to part again.
Lovingly remembered by his wife Ada and son Clair and daughter Bonnie.

FRENCH — In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away June 3, 1966.
We do not forget his smiling face
Nor the memories we have of him
The smile that won so many hearts
Bright.
In those happy bygone days.
Sadly missed and deeply cherished Always.
His memory we shall always keep.
Lovingly remembered by his family.

FRENCH, Raymond A. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father who passed away June 3, 1966.
Farewell; his was never given.
He left quietly and he went meek.
For none knew but those that loved him.
For him when he went to bed:
And locked no more in sad mourning.
He thought God then and do today.
That is why.
Our Father's love sent
In rainbow sleep he passed away.
—Ever remembered by his wife Janet and children Alan, Darlene and Judy.

JEFFERY — In loving memory of our dear father, Thomas Jeffery who was suddenly killed June 3, 1966.
This month comes back with dull regret
It better back a day we won't ever forget
And though remembrance fades with years
But not the sorrow of you will never die.
We miss you more than anyone knows
As each day passes the emptiness grows
The tears we shed we can wipe away
But the ache in our hearts will always stay
Sadly missed by sons and dad, brother Ernest, sisters-in-law and family.

McINROY — In loving memory of a dear mother, Nora McInroy, who passed away June 3, 1957.
Dear mother, you left us in silence
Now we miss your smiling face.
Memories of you we treasure
None on earth can take your place.
Sweet memories are all I have left you
Dear record the memory still.
—Sadly missed by daughter Marion and son-in-law Alfred.
—Always remembered by daughter-in-law and grandchildren Ruth and Allen.

SILLS — In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother Frankie Sills who passed away two years ago June 4 1965.
We will not say.
We will not sigh.
To us it is not good-bye.
We shall meet and smile and a word
He has wandered into a better land
Remember how very fair,
It needs must be since I lingers there.
—Sadly missed by mom and daddy, Darlene, Bruce, Kelvin Joanne, Jeanette and Jeffery.

Break Ground for Union Carbide Addition

Company officials and building contractors check plans for new $250,000 phenolic resin flaker addition to be built at Belleville plant. Mechanical shovel in background has already started excavating for the foundation.

$250,000 Addition

Union Carbide to Produce "Foundry Resins" at Plant

Installation of a phenolic resin flaker unit at the local plant of Union Carbide will open a new chapter in the development and manufacture of "foundry resins" at Belleville and at the same time will be a "first" for all Canada.

Excavation for a new $250,000 two-storey addition to the firm's Dundas Street, East, plant was begun yesterday by White Lumber Company and plant manager R. F. U. Bailey says the equipment is expected to be installed and in production by late summer or early fall.

The flaker will make it possible for Union Carbide to supply solid phenolic resins to foundries from a "made in Canada" source.

It was during World War II that the use of phenolic resins came into use allowing a brand new method of manufacturing metal castings.

The new development became known as "shell molding" and involved the use of relatively thin molds and cores produced by bonding silica sands and phenolic resins.

The advantages were less weight and more durable molds and cores, and more accurate castings requiring less machining.

After the war the process was quickly adapted to peacetime use, the method developed for the production of gun barrels and hand grenades finding ready application in automotive and plumbing parts.

To date the most common method of producing the sand shell has been with liquid resins. However, major foundries are changing to solid resins in flaked form to lower costs and increase productivity.

Two "Carbide Belleville" members of the firm's development group have been closely involved in the foundry resin technology and to a great extent have been responsible for introducing solid resins to this country.

Ron Boyce has been working on the project since 1958. He has been assisted by Robert Lough. Another technician, Richard Lawson, more recently completed the picture.

Mr. Boyce says the use of foundry phenolic resins and shell core principle of making castings eliminated much of the highly skilled labor formerly required in foundries.

Shell molds and cores made with phenolic resins have a "one shot" use. They are destroyed each time a pattern is made.

The newly developed flaked resins are easier to use, more easily melted and eliminate the dust problem formerly associated with the use of solid resins.

to Shukairy, whom he had barred from Jordan until a reconciliation Tuesday at the same time Hussein signed the mutual defence pact with Nasser, a former foe.

Shukairy's organization is dedicated to ousting the Jews from Palestine and giving the land to Arab refugees from the Israeli-Arab war of 1948.

Efforts for a settlement will focus first, he said, on discussions at the United Nations and on a British-U.S. proposal for maritime nations to declare that the gulf of aq, open international waterway.

French President de Gaulle made a personal effort Friday to cool off the Middle East situation and bring Israel and the Arabs to an international conference table.

Reuters correspondent Harold King wrote that although Moscow turned down a French bid for four - power talks among France, Britain, the U.S. and Russia to deal with the crisis, the Russians changed their attitude about four-power consultations.

King, quoting French government sources, reported that Russia now is willing to keep in touch with the other three powers on the crisis, though not by a way of the four-power meeting. Contacts were believed taking place at a certain diplomatic level between the Soviet and French governments, in turn, with France, maintaining contact with the U.S. and British.

In a statement after a meeting of the French cabinet, de Gaulle warned that any nation starting armed action would have neither France's "approval nor support."

Three Soviet destroyers, en route to the Mediterranean apparently because of the Middle East crisis, steamed through Turkey's Bosporous Straits today. Turkish officials announced earlier the Soviet government had notified it that 10 naval vessels would pass through the Bosporous from the Black Sea within one week.

The Cairo weekly Akhbar Elyom, quoting its Arab affairs correspondent, said there were signs of British military movements in Libya. It said troops there were detailed to guard Libyan oilfields.

Syria ordered some of its 300,000-man para-military volunteer People's Army to report to the posts and Iraq sent powerful elements of its 1st Army Division and mechanized units to take up undisclosed positions alongside other Arab armies.

Airman Fractures Skull, Car Hits Parked Truck

TRENTON — A Canadian Armed Forces Corporal, Aubrie L. DeLong, 26 Dunbar Street, Belleville is in critical condition in Kingston General Hospital with severe head injuries suffered in a motor accident on the outskirts of Trenton early today.

Trenton police said the airforce corporal was westbound when opposite the Dutch Mill Inn his car left the roadway and plowed into a parked truck loaded with four tons of steel. He suffered a depressed skull fracture, compound fracture of the jaw and severe forehead lacerations. The corporal was alone in his car.

The entire front end of the car was demolished.

Firemen Fight 2 Rural Fires In 12 Hours

Firemen have fought two rural fires in less than 12 hours east of Belleville.

Heavily damaged by smoke and water this morning was the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McPhee, on Highway 1 about three miles east of Point Anne.

Cause of the blaze was not known.

The McPhees have six children, ranging in age from two to 13 years and the fire is believed to have centred in one of the children's bedrooms.

Mrs. McPhee said she and her husband were awakened shortly after 7.30 by their children and the upper floor already was smoke-filled

Last night, fire gutted a drive-shed at the farm of Clare Cockins, east of Roslin on Tyendinaga township's eighth concession.

Ten cords of stored wood fueled the blaze which also destroyed two disused automobiles and a chain saw.

Guy Wire Snaps Car Into Ditch

WELLINGTON — A 17-year-old man escaped injury yesterday when his car was jolted off the road near here in a freak accident.

The chain of circumstances began, say police, when a pick-up truck driven by Ross White, hit a hydro pole on the Belleville county road at Allisonville about four miles north of here.

Minutes later, James Reeves, of Bancroft, drove by.

As his car passed over the guy wire it coiled around the rear bumper and snapped his automobile off the road.

"It swung the car into the ditch like a pendulum", said a provincial police officer.

Damage to the automobile was estimated at $600.

Mr. White was detained in Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital for observation.

Asparagus Strong Seller On Market

Held back up to now by cold weather, a fair supply of the vegetable sold up to 50 cents lb.

Elsewhere, trading was fair on generally light market offering.

Tomato plants brought 50 cents a box while blooms — hibiscus and plants — sold from 40 cents to $1 according to variety.

Blessington Pupils Hold Closing Party

DESERONTO — Blessington School is one of those in Tyendinaga which will close its doors at the end of June. Next September its pupils will join all those from the other concerned schools in Tyendinaga Township in the new school now under construction.

Like all the other schools, Blessington is going under with a great flourish.

All year the pupils have been collecting information about the former pupils and teachers of the school, and about the families now represented there. Some of the pupils are the fourth generation of the family to attend. About six weeks ago the results of their research efforts appeared in booklet form, typed and mimeographed by the teacher, Mrs. Ralph Lawlor. All the stories were contributed by the children, and are in their own words, without change. The booklet is a valuable addition to local history.

Last Sunday the doors of the school were open from 2.30 to 6.00 p.m., with at least 250 former teachers and pupils and people of the neighborhood coming to pay their respects to the old school, and to visit with former classmates or pupils. Among the teachers were: Mrs. Dora Walmsley; Mrs. Mary Dawe; Mrs. McIvor, a supply last year; Mrs. Norman Jeffrey, teacher from 1934; her predecessor, Miss Irene Murphy, who taught there from 1927 to 1934.

Among the former pupils were Mrs. Arthur O'Ray of Ottawa, Mrs. Douglas Gamble of Brampton, and Mrs. Herbert Patterson of Binbrook.

On display in the school were many things of interest, including text books, and even a slate. All the registers were there, and the first thing each former pupil did was to look up his name.

ELIZABETH THE SECOND, by the Grace of God of the United Kingdom, Canada and Her other Realms and Territories QUEEN, Head of the Commonwealth, Defender of the Faith.

TO ALL TO WHOM these Presents shall come or whom the same may in anywise concern,

GREETING!

a proclamation

DONALD S. MAXWELL, Deputy Attorney General, Canada. WHEREAS it is desirable and Our Privy Council for Canada has advised that a Proclamation do issue setting aside a week in 1967 to be known as "Veterans Week" to bring to the attention of Canadians the importance of the contribution of the members of the Canadian Armed Forces, particularly during the wars in which Canada has participated as a nation.

NOW KNOW YE that We, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council for Canada, do by this Our Proclamation

1. Set aside and name the week of June 11 to June 17, 1967, as "Veterans Week";

2. Recommend that on Sunday, June 11, 1967, memorial services be held in communities in Canada to mark the sacrifice made by those Canadians who gave up their lives in defence of freedom; and

3. Call upon all Veterans to wear on the said Sunday June 11, 1967, and during other observances and occasions that may be held during Veterans Week such insignia as gives evidence of their service to Canada.

OF ALL WHICH Our Loving Subjects and all others whom these Presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and to govern themselves accordingly.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. WITNESS: Our Right Trusty and Well-beloved Counsellor, ROLAND MICHENER, Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Canada.

AT OUR GOVERNMENT HOUSE, in Our City of Ottawa, this second day of May in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and sixty-seven and in the sixteenth year of Our Reign.

By Command,

JEAN MIQUELON,
Deputy Registrar General of Canada.

Another Budget

Finance Minister Mitchell Sharp's budget presentation to the nation is a thoughtful document. It makes a few concessions here, a number of strictures there, and warns both Government and public of the perils of financial excess that is not matched by a parallel increase in productive capacity.

Although Mr. Sharp envisages a rise in the gross national product 6% will be slower than last year. Warning that inflationary pressures are still present and that productivity is lagging, the minister predicted further price increases for consumers, a small increase in unemployment and a tighter rein on profits. At the same time he spoke of brighter prospects for everyone in 1968.

Specific concessions include a cut in drug prices, as had been anticipated (although this will not come into effect until September 1), immediate removal of the 6 per cent sales tax on production machinery and equipment (which it is hoped will encourage business investment) and removal of the 11 per cent sales tax on certain equipment required by invalids. Provincial crown corporations will also be relieved of the 11 per cent tax on building materials, a move aimed at assisting in the construction of student residences at expanding universities. However, the sales tax on building materials in general remains.

Mr. Sharp made a number of general observations on economic principles that the public would do well to heed. He said "the chief obstacle to our attaining stable growth in the next few years is the danger of excessive increase in prices and costs."

Warning that Canada's record in this regard had "deteriorated," he said: "If unchecked, such increases in costs and prices must lead to increasing inequity and dissension in the country and to a worsening of our competitive position vis-a-vis the United States."

Specifically, he visualized such a trend tripping "a serious restraint on the growth of Canadian industry. . ."

On productivity, the minister said: "We Canadians have not taken to heart the obvious point that increases in our incomes must be founded upon increases in our productivity if we are to avoid self-defeating and inflationary efforts to profit at one another's expense."

Mr. Sharp in turn should consider the Government's own sins of commission with regard to costs and proliferation of services at the taxpayers' expense. That Government spending is an enormous factor in the day-to-day operation of the country is indicated by the fact that federal financial operations outside the budget will show a deficit of $301 million.

The budget itself shows the largest deficit in six years, amounting to $740 million. This alone should be a spur to Canadians to work still harder, to produce the goods needed for both home consumption and for export.

Traffic Safety

The Ontario Government's regulations requiring a test for new motorcycle riders is believed to account for a drop of 18.5 per cent in sales in the period from January to April.

A fatal accident near Outlet Beach last week is indicative of the need for care in the operation of these vehicles. A young man died when he failed to take a curve on his motorcycle.

That is not to say that everyone who rides a motorcycle is necessarily accident-prone, but there is a vulnerability about this type of vehicle in the event of an accident which increases the possibility of serious injury.

In the city young riders still race along Pinnacle Street, and not all of them wear crash helmets. Traffic can be heavy on Pinnacle, especially in the evenings, and speeding motorcycles are often in evidence.

Consequently, any regulations that tend to make for safer movement of traffic are welcome.

Pest Control

Canadians will rejoice at a major triumph over those critters that "bug" them in the bush and on the golf course and in sundry other places.

So look out black fly, your time has come! Scientists of the Ontario Water Resources Commission have taken an insecticide developed in the United States for mosquitoes and turned into an agent that will destroy black flies in their vulnerable larva stage without killing other aquatic life.

It sounds just the sort of thing the Australians could do with just now, to halt the onrush of rats and mice moving southward in the island continent. Black flies are one thing, but they sound infinitely more preferable to the rat plague "down under."

Ottawa Offbeat

'Swinger' Pierre Trudeau Outwits NDP Critic Reid Scott

By RICHARD JACKSON

A man on the move, he is at the very crux of Prime Minister Pearson's "New Wave" of Quebec political youth breaking over the ruling heads of the Federal Cabinet.

He is the nearly new, comparatively young (47 years) Minister who rode like a rocket to this eminence in the Cabinet on momentum generated as one of the Prime Minister's two MP Parliamentary Secretaries.

Also he is what Parliament Hill regards, a bit askance, as a swinger.

But swinging or not, he makes just about the most extraordinary appearing Justice Minister ever to come down the political pike.

For a few days after his election he the heady heights of the prestige-charged Justice Department, he put on shoes, a button-down shirt and tie, and mind you, even a suit.

Since then he has been a standout of offbeat fashion in sandals, open-throat shirt with medallion, and sporty (yet) casual jacket that usually sound off in gorgeous technicolor.

He tried that quiet-suit bit for a short time, then contentedly shrugged back into his casual threads that sometimes make him look like he is headed perhaps for the beach, or maybe one of those campus "love-ins" to get about anywhere but the House of Commons.

This MP is regarded him, in some honest admiration, as a political intellectual, they could not be altogether blamed if they took him, too, as somewhat of an eccentric.

But not any more.

Man, the boy is in operation. But deadly.

He went to work the other day on Reid Scott, one of the covey of New Democrats from Toronto.

He used a very skilful needle, and when he had finished jabbing him, he had the socialist MP all but whimpering.

Resignly the New Dems seemed everybody by going for "special status" for Quebec, setting the one province apart as different from the other nine.

Obviously it was a bare-faced attempt to bag a few fast separatist votes for the NDP long velveteen in Quebec.

So here was Reid Scott making a speech and advocating that the Federal Government set up a Housing Department in each of the nine provinces with what urban development is all about.

Here the provinces, asked Pierre Elliott Trudeau innocently, "including Quebec?"

"Quebec's no different from the other provinces," snapped Reid Scott.

"Then why does the NDP want 'special status' for it?" gently pressed the young Prime Minister Justice Minister.

Did Reid Scott answer that quite proudly, if pointed question? He did. Like this:

"The people of Quebec are Canadians first and Quebecers second, but the Government is afraid to test them. It would rather play Quebec off against the rest, for that is how it has remained in power for 20 or 30 years."

"Then why," insisted Pierre Elliott Trudeau mildly, "did you move not for 'special status' for it?"

What was the New Democrat's answer this time? Try this for size:

"There have been many interjections from across the way . . . and my experience has been that those Members who are in the habit of interjecting are those who sit on their brains to keep them warm."

Now how is that for a bright answer, what?

"If you feel Quebec is no different from the other provinces, as I do," he smiled sweetly at the reddening New Dem, "why did your people just the other day move in the Commons to amend the constitution so as to give 'special status' to it?"

The young New Dem couldn't take the needle.

The Justice Minister, he silk-ed, was trying to "divert" him, and it was "neither appropriate, reasonable nor fair to attempt to 'test' me," he mocks. Picking on him like that.

But he didn't answer the question, did any other of the New Dems.

Which leaves Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau smiling, well content, that with his sharp question he got to the socialists where it hurts, spearing them in their terribly tenderable inconsistency of talking out of both sides of their mouth, out of one to Quebec, and out of the other to the rest of the country.

Graduates Shun Industry

Windsor Star

Canadian business firms report an acute shortage of new university graduates interested in making careers in business, and one spokesman blames this on a failure to communicate with the students on "what business is about."

Much more important than any nebulous "breakdown in communication" is what appears to be a deliberate attempt by business to ignore students until they graduate.

Graduates are eagerly sought by employers in all fields. But under-graduates, most of whom want summer jobs to finance their next year's work, are a drug on the summer market. Most businesses have no place for employees who will be on the payroll for only a few months before returning to school. Very few make any attempt to split a training course into segments over several summers, providing badly needed summer employment for the students and at the same time interesting them in future careers with the firm or industry.

Consequently, firms which operate a summer training plan report no shortage of graduates applying for permanent jobs. Applications come both from those who have worked for the company in past summers and from others who have heard that the firm is interested in undergraduates.

By providing summer employment, even perhaps at an added cost to itself, a business firm can build up a good reputation for itself among undergraduates. Its offers to graduates are more attractive, in the highly competitive field of hiring graduates than those of a firm which shows no interest in students until they graduate.

The Battle with Junk Mail

Kitchener-Waterloo Record

A triple effusion from the Spanish embassy in Ottawa this week demonstrates that editorial writers are getting nowhere in their continuing battle against junk mail.

Obviously we are raising a nation of postmen slowly going bow-legged from hauling around mountains of useless communications, many of which are duplicates and triplicates.

In case of the Spanish Epistles, labelled The Week in Spain, Gen. Franco's representatives seem hipped on the idea that the message is the message. They are sending three copies, two of them in the French language which isn't exactly the readiest answer to local reading tastes.

The wonder of the junk mail flood is not only the duplication, but the variety of subjects which are thought to be worth wide distribution in the faint hope that they will be read before reaching the nearest waste receptacle.

In most cases this sort of traffic may fatten the coffers of the post office department, which is something, even if it is a dubious compensation for postmen who develop the spring halt from overloading. But in the Spanish messages can't offer that saving grace. They come free franked as diplomatic messages.

There is scant hope the junk mail problem will vanish, although one might think that economy alone would move organizations occasionally to check their mailing lists for duplication.

Perhaps this is asking too much, since it would offend one of the basic Parkinson laws about the relationship of work and workers.

Indian Chief Is a Woman

Christian Science Monitor

Women are entering so many formerly male occupations that it hardly surprising that one has just become an Indian chief.

A democratic election has put Betty Mae Jumper in the chair of the council of Florida's Seminole Indians. She is the first woman to hold the post. Here is the bold tribe that fought the United States government for seven years from the swamps of the Everglades until the government gave up in 1842. This branch of the Seminole tribe claims to be (technically) still at war.

The Subject Is Women

By DIANE TURNER
in the Montreal Gazette

Peter Ustinov — actor, writer, director — is also well known as a talker. And when the subject is women, he is as voluble as ever.

His way of his best last week, relaxing in a king-sized chair in his suite at the Windsor Hotel, concentrating on everything from miniskirts to marriage.

On current fashions: "I'm always surprised there are so many new ideas, because the human body is rather limiting."

On his own visit to a show of French couture at Expo: "It was really solidarity. We came over on the same boat; I don't go to fashion shows often. I could never wear those things."

On miniskirts: "I like them, but only with colored stockings not with bare legs.

On mixing marriage and a career: "It depends on the ratio of interest of both of them in their work and the amount of interest between them.

Expo Skaters

Montreal Gazette

Expo fleet Along legs? Weary of cosses for minirail or Expo Express?

Well some enterprising young people, we don't know whether they're Montrealers , or not, have found the perfect solution. Roller skates.

While others were taking the more orthodox means of transportation, the young man seen making his way with verve and abandon from the Ste. Helene to Le. Ronde, cartainly had the right idea.

"Get-up-and-go" Girl

Windsor Star

Expressions still exist which originated in the horse-and-buggy days and, often had to with horses. Farmers of an earlier era liked a horse (or team) with get-up-and-go. It implied a willingness to work, a spirit and spunk, with enough intelligence to react to commands. And, in those times, the phrase often was used in reference to humans.

This comes to mind with the recommend of a citizen about a new girl in his office. She was not a "go-go girl, which has an entirely different connotation, but a get-up-and-go lass. She was eager to learn her job, enthusiastic and pleasant about it, and alert for things to do in otherwise idle moments.

The reason the citizen noted this girl's spirit is that the one he displaced had no get-up-and-go, and was lethargic in her attitude to her work. The fact is that most successful people have this spirit of get-up-and-go. They are unwilling to sit around waiting to be told what to do. They have a willing initiative.

Jogging Healthy

American Medical Association Journal

Jogging one or more miles a day, three times a week, for 12 weeks, can reduce waist lines by 1½ inches, according to a study of 265 white-collar workers reported by Dr. W. E. Hazris of Eugene, Ore. One hundred and seventy - nine men who were overweight lost an average of 7.8 pounds. The particular advantage of combining walking and running as a form of physical exercise, Dr. Harris said, is that the degree of exertion can be varied according to individual abilities. What is more, jogging is convenient and inexpensive.

Births Up in Merry Month Of May!

Ottawa Journal

"Spring, A Young Man's Fancy and Birth Rate" is the gay title of a National Health and Welfare Department press release that asks the provocative question, "Can we expect a rise in the birth rate nine months after the merry month of May!"

Before any eager readers damage their health or welfare scrambling for copies of the answer, we return to NH and W:

"Interestingly, in Canada, our highest birth rate has not been nine months after the spring season, but May itself, nine months after September.

"In May, 1964, it was 8.8 per 1,000 population and in 1965, 9.0 per 1,000 population.

The theory that weather affects the birth rate is not borne out in Canada. Accordingly this theory states that nine months following hot spells, the birth rate will dip.

Manning's Alberta

Calgary Albertan

Alberta's oil revenues have been the envy of other provincial governments, and it has been said that it was easy to be a good government with all the conditions prevailing here. In a sense that's true. What is often overlooked is that the existence of such wealth has also imposed a tremendous responsibility, not just in administrative terms but also in the context of political philosophy and political integrity. If the Manning government's discharge of this responsibility has not been absolutely perfect, it has certainly been remarkably exemplary.

Today in History

The battle of Midway—turning point of the war in the Pacific—began 25 years ago today—in 1942. Seeking a naval showdown, Japan committed the bulk of her fleet to an invasion of Midway Island, westernmost of the Hawaiian group. American carrier - based planes attacked the Japanese northeast of Midway and sank four large carriers. Japanese planes sank the American carrier Yorktown. Appalled by their losses the Japanese called off the invasion of Midway. The destruction of so many aircraft carriers crippled the Japanese of their early initiative in the Pacific and restored naval parity.

Experience Still Counts

Kitchener Waterloo-Record

Arbitrary standards of judging fitness bases on age alone have never been logical but they have been accepted, even encouraged, by segments of the community for various reasons some of them selfish. Older men may not have the stamina of younger associates, but they have experience to temper judgment. In ancient times the aged were respected as a source of communal wisdom and their counsel for example were highly regarded. The modern tendency to write off their contribution as completed through an accident of the calendar has obviously gone too far.

Chichester Trip Termed Successful

LONDON CP — The solo voyage around the world by Sir Francis Chichester has turned into a profitable trip for the 65-year-old adventurer — yacht-man.

Manufacturers and merchants estimate Chichester's 226-day, 30,000 - mile voyage will be worth about £100,000 ($300,000) to the battered-but-proud hero during the next five years.

Already sales campaigns for Chichester trousers, coats, sailing-waters and jackets have started. One company even plans a Chichester whisky.

Basil Charles - Dean, appointed by Chichester to handle the business end of the voyage says everything is arranged on a royalty basis. But he did not name a figure.

"It could go as far years and be worth a vast sum," he said. "We have also been offered a lecture tour at a rather fabulous fee."

Since Chichester's May 26 arrival at Plymouth, Charles-Dean has accepted offers from manufacturers planning to sell Chichester linen, dishes, plaques, games and doll-pressed kits of Chichester's yacht, Gipsy Moth IV.

Chichester is working on a book of the voyage, prepared from his own log, and London newspapers speculate it may be worth from £10,000 to £40,000

Meanwhile, there has been an increase in the sale of Chichester's previous books. Paperback copies of The Lonely Sea and The Sky are selling at the rate of 10,000 a week and publishers claim £25,000 have been sold since March 2.

At first, even before Chichester started his journey in the 53-foot ketch, the voyage was well-sponsored.

The Gipsy Moth belongs to three main backers who shared £25,000 purchase cost. A wool company put up £3,000 to furnish the ketch and other firms donated equipment ranging from sextants.

Commissioner Claims Canada Must Change

LONDON (CP)—If Canada is to attain unity and identity, she may have to drop some historic symbols, change some traditional attitudes and perhaps adjust the constitutional foundation of Confederation, Geoffrey Murray, Canada's deputy-high commissioner, said Wednesday.

"Confederation can and will ensure a true Canadianism because we have no real stirring even in institutional terms," he told the Royal Society of Arts in a lecture on the meaning of Canadian Confederation.

The blueprint drawn up at Charlottetown in 1867 was intended to deal with Canada's problems then and it served the country "reasonably well for 60 or 70 years" until the Depression exposed some of its weaknesses, Murray said.

"It could not last forever, even with the most liberal of interpretations. . . . We have been striving to apply a legal document which is popularly described as our constitution but which neither embraces it entirely nor suitably fits our changed Canadian conditions—especially in the political realities of today."

Murray listed some constitutional problems resulting from the British North America Act, among them the fact that Canada's direction of foreign policy still emanates from royal prerogative, her inability to amend the act in her own Parliament and the vast complexity of modern federal-provincial relations and governmental responsibility, undreamt of by the fathers of Confederation.

Priest Is Teaching Course in Atheism

Rev. Arthur Gibson, 44, introduced the study of modern atheism last September as one of four optional courses in religious knowledge.

The course is being given at graduate and undergraduate levels. The graduate course has 12 students and the undergraduate course 58 students.

Father Gibson, who served as an occupation forces interpreter during and after the Second World War, says the interest in atheism may help to bar Christians awake.

"It is forcing thinks—particularly Christians—to face up to the importance and the astonishing status of human beings, man, and the present world in which we live.

"I think there's a tendency in Christian circles to think only in terms of the life beyond. This leads to political stand-petism, social lethargy and a lack of charity."

Father Gibson, who is built like a football guard, was born in London, Ont., of Anglican parents. He grew up an Anglican but became a Roman Catholic after the war and was ordained a Basilian priest in 1952.

Father Gibson says he thinks atheism may be a fad with most people. But "there's no question there is a shock value in it."

The Marxists have made a good case for atheism, he maintains, "and they have some factual, objective grounds for their case . . . for man to obtain his real dignity he's got to get rid of God."

"My answer is that he's got to get rid of God, but he's got to get rid of the old-style God presented by theology.

"I do feel that there has been an atrocious failure on the part of Christendom to live Christ."

As for atheism and youth: "I do not believe there is anything good in the phenomenon (of atheism) itself. It's something to fear. But it has triggered Christian thinking, given it a push in the right direction."

Style Show Sponsored By Business Women

On Wednesday evening, at the home of Mrs. George Graham, Tyrrel Rd., Bond Belleville Business and Professional Women held a coffee party and style show.

The fashions from Georgia Salon and Marianne's ranged from the sporty to the sophisticated, with emphasis on glamor,—and the gorgeous colors and freedom of line so popular in this year's styling.

The models' hair styles were arranged by the French Salon, and make-up was done by Mrs. C. Mayell of Stirling.

Among the numerous costumes Mrs. Audrey Hall gave the guests a treat in a lovely jacket-dress of printed georgette. Mrs. Colombe Both artfully displayed a two-piece celaro acetate knit, with the new longer jacket. An all-occasion dress of linen with lace insets worn by Mrs. Lois Brown in sheath style appealed to the practical souls. Mrs. Rita Bland featured a tent dress, of cotton festival print in dark brown. Mrs. Gloria McNeil presented a multi-colored mod set, complete with hat, to catch the eye of the young at heart. Mrs. Shirley Woodcox did justice to the sporty set by Cole of California.

A collapsible umbrella was won by Mrs. Anne Brickwood. The floral centrepiece went to Merle Ostrander. Miss Maxwell's prize was received by Miss L. Courneyea. A hair piece gift certificate was won by Bev Lewis, and a hat was won by Mrs. Elsie Westfall.

A NETHERLANDS VISITOR

"It is an old saying that he who gives another a fish, feeds him for a day, but he who teaches him to fish, feeds him for a life time." — His Royal Highness, the Prince of the Netherlands in an address entitled "Food and People" at the International Chamber of Commerce Congress, Montreal.

* * *

Have you ever attended a convention, girls? As a delegate?

Or as one of two women delegates along with a thousand men delegates from all over the world?

Such as are Miss Kieje Keergens of Arnhem, Holland, and a woman delegate from South Africa, the only two women delegates attending the worldwide 21st Congress of the International Chamber of Commerce, Montreal.

In the meantime, Miss Keergens is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Geerkens and their two sons, Pieter and Ian, 45 Edgehill Road.

"The ICC Congress just happened to fit in with my previously planned visit to Belleville. I have not seen my brother (there are just the two of us in our family) since his coming to Canada in 1951. You can imagine how exciting it is to meet my sister-in-law and two nephews for the first time."

A secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Holland, the National Chamber of Commerce and Industry in Arnhem, Miss Keergens is also a lawyer.

"But many Netherlands women take up law," she said modestly, pointing out that anyone might be impressed by this. "I gave up my practice in The Hague four years ago since I was chosen among applicants for the secretaryship of Arnhem. Though it is not a stipulated qualification, most such secretaries are lawyers.

"My work is a nice position for a woman which puts me in touch with interesting people and requires that I have to do with trade and commerce which have constructive aspects for me country in particular and the world in general. I must say I enjoy it.

"What a country is Canada!" exclaimed this fair-haired, slim, young Netherlander, eyes matching the blue of her dress (display ing a handsome Maple-leaf pin encircled with gold filigree). Canada's gift to all ICC (delegates), whose report with vows is instant and warm. She speaks perfect English and is fluent in French and German. "For one like myself, who can practically see across our small, flat country from my garden apartment, Canada's size is overwhelming.

"Just think, it is as far to fly from Amsterdam to Montreal as from Montreal to Vancouver. Truly, it is an achievement to be congratulated. Nor shall Holland forget the part Canada has played in World War II on its behalf.

"The supermarkets are superb here. Now, Holland, as you know, is mainly flat, grass land, and the cows produce the best grass upon, and of course part of our nation's economy is to export the meat. But I have never seen a meat display as seen in your supermarkets. It is incredible. Oh, I know we have variety in cheese, but your locally made cheese is outstanding.

"Canadians, I find, are thoughtful and mannered with common courtesy that is pleasing. Even the motorists here are more considerate than at home; our young teenagers wear brasher colors, shorter minskirts and longer straight hair.

"Montreal is a splendid city. Expo 67's created islands remind one of Holland's land reclaimed from the sea," and for a moment conversation veered on Holland's remarkable land reclamation feat which aids the threat of over-population, the labor market and food production.

"The ICC Netherland delegates with their wives and escorts (I with my brother) attended, by invitation, the opening of the Netherland Pavilion at Expo. In the absence Queen Juliana spoke, looking chic in a black gown and a large brimmed hat to match. She greeted the cocktail-party, the dinner and reception in the evening, wearing an off-white evening gown, most beautiful, enhanced by her exquisite jewels.

"Her Royal Highness, who is an honorary chairman of the Netherland CC, spoke at one of the ICC sessions. Plain, platform chairs were assigned to all dignitaries except for our chairman's—a chair for Queen Juliana, who refused to sit in it. She chose a plain chair, just like the others, since, she said, she was attending the meeting not as the Queen but as the wife of the banker.

"Our Queen who is a force for the good, strength and unity of the nations holds the love of us all, and we say, if ever Holland should become a Republic, Queen Juliana will be asked to be our first President."

NO GRADES BETTER

DARTMOUTH, N.S. (CP)— Advocates of the ungraded school curriculum were outlined here by Lewis Pidaud, director of research for Dartmouth schools. He said under the ungraded curriculum examination periods would be replaced by more frequent tests to give the teacher a continuous picture of each child's progress.

Women Used To Search Smugglers

CANBERRA (Reuters) — Women recruited into the Australian customs anti - smuggling team will be trained in Japanese if with any success.

"They do not have to be beautiful — just efficient," an official said.

They will be required to search men suspected of smuggling diamonds, drugs and other contraband and carry out interrogations.

They will do work similar to that done by Australian airport security officers—except for boarding ships to search for contraband.

Four women are wanted, two to work shifts at Mascot, Sydney International Airport, and two for the waterfront.

In the past, searches of women suspected of being smugglers have been made by policewomen or women customs officers, such as cleaners and typists who agreed to do the work.

The four women assigned to the anti-smuggling jobs will be given full training, the officials said.

They include special shadowing jobs. It is believed that women can best carry out investigation work on smuggling gangs employing women.

Svetlana Stalin's Flight Creates Stir in Russia

MOSCOW (CP)—In a muffled, typically Russian way, Svetlana Stalin's flight to the West has created a big stir among ordinary people of the Soviet Union.

Though they don't go out of their way to talk about it with foreigners, it's obvious from what little you can coax out of them that they have discussed it a good deal among themselves.

Many appear vaguely upset by it, as though the news had compelled them to come to grips with thoughts and ideas they would rather have comfortably suppressed.

All seem perplexed as to the factors leading this most sensational defection from communism. They are aware, though not noticeably outraged, that Svetlana would go to the West having been kept in the dark by their press, radio and television.

In the two months after Svetlana knocked at the door of the U.S. Embassy in New Delhi, Russian newspaper readers were treated to exactly three sentences about the case.

They were in a Tass statement May 12, four days after her flight had broken in the West.

"In the foreign press," it said, "reports have appeared that Svetlana Alliluyeva (daughter of J. V. Stalin) is at the present, time abroad. In connection with inquiries of journalists on this question Tass can state that Svetlana Alliluyeva at the end of 1966 went abroad on exit visa to go to India for the interment of the remains of her husband—an Indian citizen who died in the Soviet Union. How long Svetlana Alliluyeva stays abroad is her personal affair."

Nothing further has appeared in the press; nothing on her subsequent journey to Switzerland or her widely publicized arrival in the United States.

But an efficient grapevine ensured that Russians knew about these events almost as soon as they happened.

I asked a girl in Georgia, Josef Stalin's birthplace, how she had found out Svetlana was in the U.S.

"I don't know exactly. Suddenly everybody started talking about it, that's all."

"I heard the news on the Voice of America," said another Georgian. "I like the VOA. Every night I move the dial on my Grundig and there it is."

As for the defection itself, two people in Georgia said they thought it "strange" that Svetlana would go to the West leaving her children, a boy 21 and girl 15, behind in Moscow.

One added that she didn't understand how Svetlana could have found "peace" in India, as reported in foreign news accounts. "How could anyone find peace away from her homeland and her children?"

A young working girl in Moscow said the word on the grapevine in that first week was "strange" in the sense of being mentally unbalanced.

"Everyone I've talked to says the same thing. They also talk a lot about the number of boy friends and husbands she's had."

Svetlana is said to have been married at least three times.

"I sympathize with her. It must have been very difficult for a nobody who was brought up a princess to be vilified in later years and made to share the guilt for her father's crimes. Better to be born a peasant's daughter."

GIRL GUIDE BROWNIE NEWS

BAYSIDE BROWNIES

WHITE'S DISTRICT — Bayside Brownie Pack No. 1 met at Queen View School for a Japanese program. Pixie-sr Patti Barr, Michelle Spence, Christine Gilmour, Alana Foyle, Theresa McEwen and Joni Martel were dressed in Japanese costume as they greeted the other Brownies in Japanese. Two of the Pixies sang a few tea salad and green tea from a Japanese tea pot. Two of the Pixie-sts distributed Japanese dolls, which they had made, to the rest of the Brownie pack. They sampled Japanese food such as tiotura, rice balls, kamaboko (deep fried fish with onions and carrots), sukiyaki and Japanese candy wrapped in rice paper. Each Pixie-str read a description of the Japanese people. All took Japanese lanterns, which they had made, home with them.

Two year service stars were presented by Brown Owl Marion Alderson to Gaye Conroy, Debbie Grey and Peggy Ackerman.

A meeting was held Wednday afternoon at Hanna Park where the pack enjoyed a nature walk conducted by Tawny Owl Della Dadoo. They hunted for spring flowers, wood and birds.

Packie Dobbie Harding conducted games and the finale was a wiener roast.

Church Groups

ST. JOHN'S FRIENDSHIP GROUP

The Friendship Group of St. John's Anglican Church Point Anne-Bayside held its monthly meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Paul Horwood.

The president mentioned the former members who poured at the centennial tea dance and orchestra. They were Mrs. J. Charlton and Mrs. Evie MacDonald of Point Anne; Mrs. Redd of Consecon; Mrs. Irene Luffman, Mrs. Jane Hickey, Mrs. Edna Bradshaw, Mrs. Rose Bellwood, Mrs. William Insley, Mrs. Mary Toogood of Belleville; Mrs. Gladys Insley, Mrs. Laura Safford of Trenton and Mrs. G. Loder of Toronto.

Plans were made to cater to the firemen's banquet next month.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Dolly Brown.

THOMASBURG EXPLORERS' TEA

THOMASBURG — The Explorers' group sponsored a Topsy Tea in the United Church Hall Saturday afternoon. Admission was a penny for each inch of the patron's waist measurement.

Tea was served buffet style by the girls from decorated tables centred with bouquets of spring flowers. At the rear of the hall, bouquets and articles made by the girls were on sale. A display of antique articles and an old photograph of the tearoom and students at Thomasburg were admired by the patrons.

The stage depicted an old-fashioned parlor complete with centre table, oil lamps, and hand-crank wall-type phone. Several musical numbers were presented by the girls during the afternoon and the audience was asked to join in singing some of the numbers.

WOMEN'S GUIDES

MONTREAL (CP) — Some 800 volunteers from 25 Quebec associations will help the handicapped at Expo, act as translators, guide VIPs on the playgrounds and be of practical assistance to women's groups. The volunteers speak a total of 18 languages and wear blue and white plastic Expo buttons with white ribbons marked "Volunteer."

One With Manners Opens Car Door

Dear Doris: This message is to all these charming, red-blooded Canadian bachelors who read your column. Fellows, hear this:

When the car has stopped please do not embarrass us (the girls) by starting into our bewildered eyes because we have not opened the door and climbed out. We are quite capable of the mechanics of a door handle, but we have not pushed it because we have credited you with being gentlemen enough to operate it for us.

Of course, we will not sit so long waiting that you think we are helpless. We know that a young man with good manners will recognize the signal immediately. — Special Beef.

Dear Beef: I'm with you — and so are the Cream of the Male Crop.

Re your other questions— relax principles — no. Relax yourself — yes! If you are holding out for perfection in yourself and in your friends— forget it or end up in mental whytach

Dear Doris: What do you think of that lotion for curing thumb sucking or nail biting on children's fingers?

I wondered if it might affect them adversely in removing this obvious cause of their enjoyment. — Constant Reader.

Dear Constant: He sucks his thumb because he is fearful, or jealous, or bored, or lacking satisfaction of some kind. Maybe he is under too much pressure to keep dry.

So he falls back on thumb sucking for comfort. If he is a nervous or fidgety type he may bite nails instead. Or he may do both.

Scolding or forcing him to stop may drive the practice underground. Which is worse. Has he plenty of creative toys — paper, blunt scissors, blocks modelling clay? Well, you get the idea.

Dear Doris: While visiting in my home town an old aunt gave me some advice. She said all my friends were worried about me and my health and that my husband was working me too hard and thus I developed a nervous breakdown. (Their doctor said "tired nerves" and didn't give this as the cause.)

She said I shouldn't have a family but rather adopt, because of the age of my husband. He is 48. My husband is horrified by her interfering and thinks he should tell her off. But in a nice way, face to face; or write her a letter. — Flabbergasted.

Dear Flabbergasted: Auntie took a good deal upon herself; but what do you gain by blasting her? An enemy.

I'm thinking your husband may imply a slur on his manhood — and so he might. But there is no sense to it; lots of times it does too, after 48.

She accused him of it? Maybe you - too - hard part, too. I notice you both headed the psychiatrist, and gave up your job. Simmer down; don't add a meddler to your tensions.

Longer, fuller replies went privately to those correspondents who enclosed a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Know Your Antiques

Refrigerators were unknown, but ice was used in the 19th century. Ice tongs were needed to handle the large ice blocks. This tong was made about 1885.

Wife Blames Husband In Marriage Failure

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As I sit here waiting for my adulterous husband to come home (usually between 3:00 a.m. and 6:00 a.m.) I feel compelled to write an answer to the

ANN LANDERS

Bronxville tramp who is mad because people don't look more kindly on "the other woman."

The Bronxville tramp said every married man who winds up in the arms of another woman is there because the other woman can give him something his wife cannot give him — namely appreciation for his life and the good things it has to offer. The dumbell doesn't realize her self attraction is sex, with no responsibilities. You can be sure if she makes any demands on that married man he'll drop her like a hot potato.

I am sick of adding myself, "Where did I fail?" I can truthfully say I did my damnedest, but no woman can make a marriage work by herself. It was my husband who failed. And he failed because he was too immature and too vain to accept the responsibilities of a husband and father.

I know you will not print my letter because you are prominent, and furthermore it has a cuss word in it, so that can be your excuse. — GETTING LATE IN DALLAS.

DEAR DALLAS: Here's your letter and a good one it is — cuss word and all. Thanks for writing.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The biggest mistake of my life was agreeing to go steady with Jake. Now I am fed up with him and his possessive ways but I just can't get him to leave me alone.

I told Jake two weeks ago that I wanted to call it quits. He bawled his head off and I didn't have the heart to go through with it. Saturday I told him again that I just had to be free to date others and that he should stop calling me. He said if I quit going with him he would become mentally disturbed and flunk out of school and become a bum.

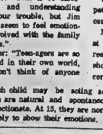
I don't want to be responsible for the ruination of a person's life but I really am bugged by this guy's pestiness and I need to know what to do. — TOO LOVABLE.

DEAR LOVE: Bid him farewell and make it a positive statement — not the first sentence of a debate. Too many girls are flattered by a boy's persistence, so they encourage him to keep banging around by being less than emphatic. Could you be one of those?

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My parents are driving me crazy. I am not a teen-ager, I'm a married woman with kids of my own.

Dad has been seeing some gold diggers for five years. Every day Mother screams at him about cancelled cheques made out to cash. She accuses him of spending the money on a floozy and he denies it. (I am sure she is right.) Dad is 62 years old, in poor health and nothing to look at. The only thing he could possibly do for a woman would be to give her money.



In all fairness I must say Dad pays the bills and Mother embarrass the family by being seen in public with anyone. He has warned Mother to stop nagging him and resting to him from the Scriptures or he will divorce her.

I think she should accept the situation and settle for what she has. What do you say? — FED.

DEAR FED: Since neither your mother nor dad wrote to me I don't feel it is my place to say anything. Urge your mother to talk to a counsellor and to take his advice.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Father: "Tom is so affectionate and understanding about our trouble, but Jim doesn't seem to feel emotionally involved with the family anymore."

Mother: "Tom-agers are so absorbed in their own world, they don't think of anyone else."

Each child may be sorting according to his age. At 10, children are natural and spontaneous and seem more warm and affectionate. At 13, they are normally more withdrawn and less likely to show their emotions.

Mother: "He cares, but he's at an awkward age and he really doesn't know how to show us he is sorry and concerned about family trouble."

Honor Couple On Departure

A social evening was held Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Pilchett and Miss Beadle Hollinger before their departure for their new home in Stirling. Sam Twiddy sang a number of ceremonies and the program opened with a sing-song led by Mrs. Goldie McIlroy with Mrs. V. Hagerman at the piano. Readings were given by Mrs. John McIlroy, Mrs. Stan Thompson and Mrs. Ted Pollock. Mrs. Goldie McIlroy sang a solo and Mrs. Hagerman played an instrumental number.

Mrs. Harold Thompson read an address and the neighbors presented Mr. and Mrs. Pilchett and Miss Hollinger with gifts. The UCW also presented gifts.

WOMEN OF THE MOOSE

The last meeting of the month was held in the Moose Hall with Nell Shandraw presiding in absence of Sr. Regt. Joyce McCammon, due to illness.

Meeting came to order with discussion of the family picnic to be held the last Sunday in June at Cove Beach.

New officers for next year are Sr. Regt. Nell Shandraw; Jr. Regent, Bernice Prindle; recorder, Nellie Scrymgeour; chaplain, Olive Patrick; treasurer, Clara Seames.

Next meeting is installation of officers. Bus leaves the hall 6.30 p.m., guests to be worn. Draw donated by Olive Hansen was won by Nellie Scrymgeour.

Milltown School Holds Reception

About 200 guests, among them eight former teachers, met at SS No. 5 Milltown School Sunday afternoon to bid goodbye to the old school. In the fall its pupils will be attending the new school near Shannonville.

Mrs. Sid Fitzgerald in centennial costume welcomed the guests and Mrs. W. Stewart and Mrs. R. LaForte registered visitors. Mrs. Albert Hayter read letters from former school teachers and pupils unable to be present. Josie Roxburgh, Lillian Bennett and Grace Merry in 1897 attire showed school records and old class pictures. Mrs. Jim Hinchey, Olivia Vance and Jo Anne Vesterfelt served refreshments. Among the decorations was art work prepared by pupils under the direction of the present teacher, Mrs. Mary McConnell.

Reader Wants Ideas For Filing Recipes

By MARY MOORE

QUESTION: My husband is the office manager for a large computer firm. He likes my cooking, mostly because your recipes, but may drawerful of newspaper clippings drives him crazy. Until we can buy your future cookbook would you give me some ideas for filing them? — Ivy J.

ANSWER:

MAN-SIZE MEAT LOAF
(reposted from August, 1963)

1 lb. ground beef or lean hamburg
½ lb. ground stewing veal
½ lb. pork sausage meat
2 eggs
1 chopped onion
2 tsps. salt
2 tbsps. Worcesters hire sauce
2 tbsps. horseradish
½ tsp. dry mustard
1 med. sized ripe banana
2 cups soft breadcrumbs
1 tbsp. chopped parsley or bottled flakes
1 tbsp. finely chopped celery
Pinch of summer savory
Pinch of rosemary
¼ cup milk or water

Mix all of these ingredients in a very large bowl. Shape into a loaf on shallow pan. Bake, uncovered, at 375 deg. Fahr. for 30 min., then cut 4 strips of bacon in halves crosswise. Place 8 strips on top of loaf and bake 30 to 35 min. longer, or until bacon is crisp. When loaf is sliced at dinner table each serving is topped with strip of bacon.

SATURDAY

Dinner Menu

ANSWER: Your letter gave us a good laugh. There are two or three methods of filing clippings: 1, some genius has designed a recipe box smaller but similar to large filing card wheels in modern offices. To the spindle of the wheel are attached punched recipe cards enclosed in pastel plastic envelopes. Neatly cut out printed recipes and tape them to a recipe card and date it. If recipe is long use both sides of card. File in appropriate section. For instance Baked Custard would be inserted behind divider marked "Desserts". Or if you have time, write or type recipe on blank card. Write to me for address of xpert, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope. Or 2) Buy a looseleaf scrapbook with alphabet tabs from your stationery store and neatly type recipe cuttings on the blank pages in proper section. For instance this week's Lightning Beef Casserole would be filed under "Casseroles" with date. Or 3) Buy a metal card index file from office supply dept. These have dividers in alphabetical order. Tape clipping or write or type recipe on blank card, date it and file in proper division. For instance a chocolate cake would be under "Cakes" "C" division with subdivision marked "Cakes". Good luck.

QUESTION: About 3 or 4 summers ago you gave Man-Size Meat Loaf—I've lost it . . . Mabel N.

Identification of Antiques Often Tells Owner's Age

By RALPH and TERRY KOVEL

Identification of an antique or even an antique-to-be can sometimes tell the age of the owner as well as the age of the antique. Show a pair of ice tongs to a group of teen-agers and most of them are unable to identify it.

Try the same "antique" with a group over 40 years old and most of them will remember the tongs with fond memories. The ice tongs were a necessity in every home because ice was needed to preserve some foods.

The ice was cut from a pond each winter and stored in an ice house for use later in the year. Ice tongs well over 100 years old can be found in antique stores or attics. New tongs are being made to hold rolls of paper toweling in a kitchen.

Q. Our friends gave us a muffin stand. It has four round shelves of mahogany that are bound with brass. The shelves hold a 6¼" plate perfectly. How was the stand used? It is labeled "Frederic Massin, St. Honore."

A. The muffin stand is a small table with round shelves. They often had a handle at the top. They were first made during the early 18th century to hold tea dishes. Your stand was made in France.

* * *

Q. My unusual pencil sharpener only has one label which reads "rail here." The pencil was inserted into a hole at the side of the sharpener. The handle turns a series of three blades that cut down the length of the pencil point. The shavings are caught in a drawer at the bottom of the sharpener. Is it old?

A. The type of sharpener you described was patented in 1906. It was made by the Automatic Pencil Sharpener Company of Chicago, Ill. The earliest patent date for an automatic sharpener in America was dated 1901. Earlier hand sharpeners were made but not patented. The pencil of wood and a writing material was first recorded in 1565.

Q. I have a pair of pewter candlesticks that I sprayed with aluminum paint. Are they ruined as collector's items?

A. You can remove the paint with any good spray-paint remover. The candlesticks are worthless to a collector if they are painted.

Q. The signature "Niagara" is written in script on the inside of my cut glass bowl. Is that the pattern?

A. No. The Niagara Cut Glass Buffalo, New York in 1906. The company continued in business until about 1915.

Estimates Must Be Passed

MP Pleads for Recess But End of June Earliest Date

OTTAWA (CP)—As the temperature in the capital topped 80 degrees F+1 day, Government House Leader MacEachen told MPs a "realistic target" for a summer recess is the end of June.

He said the recess would come as soon as the main 1967-68 estimates are passed by Parliament. The estimates campaign, $8,700,000,000 in government spending.

Many MPs have already gone to their home ridings and the others are champing at the bit. Only about 100 of the 265 seats in the House were filled Thursday night for the budget speech, which normally draws a crowd.

Harold Winch (NDP — Vancouver East) reflected the feelings of those who are still here Friday when he in effect begged for word on a recess.

Mr. Winch said he has been home for only one week since the parliamentary year began in January.

"Could we not some definite indication as to what is going to happen with regard to a summer recess?" he pleaded.

Mr. MacEachen said the main job is the estimates. No new legislation would be introduced before recess.

A resolution to have Mr. Justice Leo Landreville removed from the bench is expected to be introduced in the Senate Tuesday night. If it passes the Senate, the Commons will have to deal with it.

One spokesman for each opposition party will speak on the Throne Budget Tuesday in the Commons, then the budget debate will be adjourned until fall.

The other 13 sitting days in June will be mainly devoted to the estimates, Mr. MacEachen said.

Of about 27 departments, the estimates of only one—the post office—have been approved so far.

However, nine have been sent to committees, meaning a relatively brief time in the Commons unless there is a serious conflict.

Trouble could come in the form of the public works department estimates as a result of the federal decision to try to scale down the cost of the Northumberland Strait causeway.

All four Prince Edward Island MPs are Conservatives and at least one, Davis MacDonald (Prince), has said that he will dig in his heels on those estimates until the government guarantees that the huge project won't be delayed or ditched.

Second - class mail, all newspapers and magazines, was blamed for the $30,000,000 deficit the post office suffered in the 1965-67 fiscal year.

Fire Hoses Dusted Yearly, Inquest Told

TORONTO (CP) — A janitor Friday told the inquest into the death of a man in the Ontario Workmen's Compensation Board Hospital fire March 31, that fire hoses in the burned part of the building had not been replaced since 1950.

Alfred James Morton, board hospital maintenance man, said fires "always" were put out, dusted, rebolded and put back again," in fire boxes three floors up.

Forbes West, assistant administrator of the hospital, said the last fire drill was on Jan. 26. He said the average stay of patients was 40 days. He agreed with earlier staff witnesses that a pre - alarm fire gong bell was not to be heard by patients.

He said the general alarm was activated only if a staff member turned a key in an alarm switch.

Mr. West said the hospital had made some changes since the fire. They were:

1. Fire instructions posted in French and Italian as well as English.

2. Louvres on dormitory doors closed.

3. A double coat of fire-resistant paint on the remaining wood fibre tiles.

Mr. West said in the 18 months he had been at the hospital, he had sent notes to 88 patients, talked to 68 and discharged 34 out of a total of 7,400 for drinking.

A police arson expert testified that the fire which injured thirty-five persons and killed Mr. Gualtieri started in a waste-basket.

Detective David Mullett told an inquest jury the fire began in the basket in a television lounge in the second floor of the hospital's dormitory section.

It could have originated with a cigarette, a match or a cigar or cigarette butt.

The flames spread to nearby drapes, over the ceiling and into the hall, the detective testified.

Arthur Ash, director of security at the hospital, said regular bed checks are not made to stop men from smoking in the dormitory wards "because we put locks and everything thrown at us." However, guards enter a room if they see a man smoking and tell him to stop.

He said patients in the dormitory wing who are free to leave the hospital, drink at local bars. They are "coded" for intoxication as they return. Under each code, an intoxicated man is continually checked to prevent smoking; under another a guard stays with the patient if he is unruly.

Wesley Reid, a patient at the hospital in 1961, who had been subpoenaed at the request of Dr. Morton Shulman, former chief coroner of Metropolitan Toronto, said he had seen no drunkenness at the hospital, but he knew that some men smuggled in liquor strapped to their legs in boxes of facial tissue.

The five-man jury was given a brief recess Friday to consider whether they wanted to recall any previous witnesses.

Crown counsel Harold Rosenthal offered to recall any or all previous witnesses because Dr. Shulman had criticized the proceedings as limiting the testimony of men who might support his claims that there was drinking at the hospital, construction of the building had been faulty and there was laxity among the staff.

Marcel Thom of Hamilton testified Friday patients have held back testimony because they are afraid hospital officials will deprive them of compensation benefits and treatment.

"Most patients were afraid to tell the truth, especially the Italians," he said.

Coroner Dr. Elio Cass told Mr. Thom he had made a serious allegation and asked Earl Anderson, hospital administrator, to reply.

Mr. Anderson denied that the hospital would discriminate in any way against patients who testified.

Dr. Shulman was dismissed as chief coroner April 7 after he charged that Dr. H. B. Cotnam, Ontario's supervising coroner, wanted to take over the inquest himself to suppress evidence.

Earlier, Mr. Timm testified that a fire door on the third floor of the hospital dormitory wouldn't open when he and other patients tried to escape the burning building. They were finally rescued by firemen.

Late-week Surge Pulls Markets Out of Slump Lasting 5 Weeks

By LARRY DWORKEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A late-week surge on Canada's major stock exchanges was almost enough to pull the markets out of a five - week slump.

At Toronto, however, a heavy wave of profit-taking in the dying minutes of Friday's session spelled the difference between a gain and a loss.

As a result, the industrial index, which measures the price movements of key stocks, fell .74 to 163.26. It had reached 163.32 at mid-afternoon.

A number of analysts said the surge Thursday and Friday was due to technical factors resulting from a heavily oversold position and not to any new developments.

They said the markets were following the general trend on the New York Stock Exchange, which scored one of its best gains of the year Thursday.

In the last two weeks, North American exchanges have come under heavy selling pressure as tension increased in the Middle East.

Analysts also said Finance Minister Sharp's budget had little effect on the markets because the changes were anticipated by the investment community.

However they are divided in their opinions as to whether or not the market has bottomed out. Some feel the markets will continue to undergo correction while others say they have consolidated their positions and are ready to launch another rally.

J. H. Crang and Co., Toronto stockbrokers, said: "There is no weight of evidence to suggest that the major trend of the market has reversed its upward trend which has been in effect since late 1966."

At Toronto, bank issues took it on the chin for the third consecutive week. Some brokers have suggested bank profits may be reduced as a result of increased interest payments on savings accounts.

Royal fell 1¾ to 78 and Montreal 1¼ to 63¼. Imperial-Commerce, which announced plans for a five-for-one stock split, also dropped 1¼ to 67. The stock had been up to 68¼ at mid-afternoon Friday.

Canada Cement fell 1¼ to 41½, Texaco 1 to 27, Moore Corp. ¾ to 27¼ and Alcan ¾ to 31¼.

On the plus side, B.C. Sugar advanced 2½ to 36½, Domtar 1¼ to 31½ and Algoma Steel 1 to 28.

Golds, the only major group to advance, climbed 4.57 on index to 171.35. Brokers could give no reasons for the group's move.

Dome gained 2 to 48¾, Giant Yellowknife 70 cents to 8.85 and Kerr Addison ¼ to 15½.

Hudson Bay Mining highlighted base-metal activity and rose 3¼ to 63. Inco added ¾ at 100 after touching a high of 101¼ in Friday's session. Denison backed off ½ to 69¼ and Rio Algom ¼ to 32.

Among western oils, Hudson's Bay declined 1¼ to 31. Dome 2 to 34, Great Plains ¾ to 11 and Pacific Petr ¼ to 12½. Scurry-Rainbow advanced 1¼ to 23.

On the speculative side, Silverfields jumped 95 cents to 4.70. Silver issues have strength-ened following a favorable announcement that the U.S. government is restricting its sales of silver because of dwindling stocks.

On index, base metals were off .45 to 95.52 and western oils 2.11 to 152.91.

At Montreal, utilities were down .44 to 146.42, banks 2.19 to 127.34 and papers 2.39 to 111.08.

Sniffing Repellents Impractical

TORONTO (CP)—Health Minister Matthew Dymond said Friday that the problem of people from sniffing glue could do more harm than good.

He was replying in the legislature to James Trotter (L—Toronto Parkdale) who suggested glue manufacturers be forced "to add an element that is so repellent at close quarters that it would make glue-sniffing intolerable."

Mr. Dymond said there was no doubt it would be possible to place such repellents in glue but the action would impose a hardship on workers in some industries who must use glues in their jobs.

Mr. Trotter also suggested the minister press manufacturers to try to recover the toxic content of such glues.

Wallbridge

WALLBRIDGE — Mr. and Mrs. Ken Garrison of Ottawa were weekend guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrison. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Townsend of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Townsend of Milton and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Garrison were also guests.

Those assisting were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Dafoe; Miss Debbie Jones, Scott Wheeler and Tommy Chartrand. As the choir sang an anthem, the youngest child in each family received a Flower from Miss Willows to pin on his mother.

Gerald H. Putman of GP Design Studio says . . .

Dirty art can be controlled in two ways. The first would be for all commercial artists to prevent finger marks and color smudges on their work by using a quick, pre-moistened "wash up" pad as I do. They really save time and are compact enough to keep several in a pocket. The second way of course is to call in the mounties.

THE PUTTER'S DREAM

It consists of a metal sphere the same size, 1.62 inches, as a golf ball. Fitted in a golf shaft the sphere is a tricky teacher.

THEY "NOSE"

A west coast school teacher has a couple of buddies who have proven very helpful to him pursuing his hobby of golf. They go out in the quiet of the early morning when all is still on the links and spend their time retrieving golf balls.

"They do it entirely through their sense of smell" says teacher Garfield Brown of Seattle. "One day they brought back 137 balls and altogether have found more than 1,000 lost golf balls."

BOWLING ROOTS

Archeologists have traced the art of bowling to 7,000 years ago and the days of the early Egyptians according to a sports bureau. Implements for playing a game similar to the modern game of ten-pins have been discovered in the grave of an Egyptian child. The date of burial has been placed at 5,200 B.C.

SIGN OF THE TIMES

SITDOWN WAS FINE

Lausanne Sport was fined $1,490 for staging a "sitdown strike" and refusing to play the closing minutes of the Swiss Soccer final on May 15.

The final played before 45,000 fans in Wankdorf Stadium ended in a riot when Berne took a 2-1 lead through a hotly disputed penalty three minutes from the end.

When the police finally removed fighting spectators and photographers from the field, the Lausanne team sat down and refused to continue. The other side was awarded the match by a 3-0 score signifying a forfeit.

GOLFBANS IN TOKYO

Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player will appear in six exhibitions in Japan between September 27 and October 7 at the invitation of the Tokyo Broadcasting Company. Three of the exhibitions will be devoted to Palmer, Nicklaus and Player. In other exhibitions the three will make a single appearance competing against top Japanese pros.

THE YOUNGER JACK

Several Ontario hockey players recently received letters or numerals in hockey at Princeton University. The most famous name was Sylvanus Apps Jr. who got freshman numerals. Among the others was John McNab of Ottawa, who received freshman numerals. He is a son of portly Jack McNab formerly of this city and well known in sports here, and now of Ottawa where he is in the hotel business.

SOCCER

Opening what is said to be one of Eastern Ontario's best soccer fields the Parsons Centennial Soccer Tournament gets under way on the new six O'clock Island June 17 through June 18th. There will be bands, majorettes and other attractions besides four outstanding football squads. Mark the date.

Sport Miniatures

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Township took over second place in the Ontario Lacrosse Association Junior A league Friday, defeating Toronto Marlboros 23-11.

* * *

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Canadian amateur golf champion Nick Weslock of Burlington, tied Kitchener's Gary Cowan after 35 holes and went on to win the Burlington Invitational tournament here Friday on the fourth extra hole. Third place went to Burlington's Willard Cowan with two 74s for 148.

* * *

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Falcons scored their second victory in the National Professional Soccer League Friday night, defeating New York Generals 2-1 before a crowd of 1,861 at Varsity Stadium.

* * *

BRAMPTON (CP) — Brooklin Redmen moved to within a point of first-place Toronto Maple Leafs with an 8-7 victory over Brampton in the Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior A league Friday.

* * *

HALIFAX (CP) — Canadian heavyweight champion George Chuvalo of Toronto hammered a game but outclassed Yvon Durelle for five rounds of an exhibition boxing match Friday night. Chuvalo constantly hit the former Canadian and British Empire lightheavyweight champion from Bale Ste. Anne, N.B., with solid lefts to the head.

Third Shutout In Row For Phoebus

By BOB GREENE
Associated Press Sports Writer

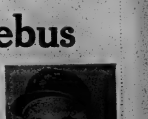
Tom Phoebus, 25 - year - old rookie right - hander, Friday night bested his third consecutive choice for Baltimore, a 12-0 blanking of Washington.

That pushed his season record to 4-1 and gave him five shutouts in his major league career victories—he was 3-1 last season.

Detroit Tigers clubbed New York Yankees 9-5 and took over first place in the American League when Kansas City Athletics outlasted Chicago White Sox 6-4 in 13 innings. Boston Red Sox shaded Cleveland Indians 3-1 and California Angels took Minnesota Twins 2-0 in the other games, all at night.

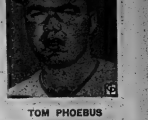
"I'm pitching better now that I'm in the regular rotation," Phoebus said after his shutout of the Senators. "But I had some troubles. I was in the groove, then out of it."

He struck out five, walked seven, gave up five hits and have base runners in every inning. But he left 10 of them stranded.



Frank Robinson gave him plenty of support, his 13th, and a double. Andy Etchebarren also had a homer in the 14-hit Oriole attack.

A three-run double by Willie Horton sparked a decisive, six-run sixth inning in Detroit's victory over New York. Al Kaline singled in two other runs while Horton added another double and a single to the Tigers' 13 hit attack. Joe Sparma won his fifth straight but needed relief help from Dave Wickersham.



Pitcher Lew Krausse cracked a bases — loaded single with two out in the 13th inning and propelled the Athletics to their marathon decision over Chicago, dropping the White Sox a full game off the pace.

Jim McGlothlin stopped the Twins on five hits, rapped out two of his own and ran his record to 5-1 in the league's victory over Minnesota. McGlothlin started the Angels' winning burst with a single in the fifth.

Jim Lonborg had a no-hitter going for 7 1-3 innings and finished with a three-hitter in leading Boston past Cleveland. His seven - strikeout performance pushed his record to 7-1. Ceet Vastreemak's 11th homer, a two-run shot, was all the offensive support he needed.

Belmont Stakes

"Cool Reception" Third Choice!

The horse is expected to be third choice at 8 to 1 behind Preakness winner Damascus, 6 to 5 and running from the pole position, and Kentucky Derby champion Proud Clarion, 5 to 2 and drawing the No. 4 starting spot.

Pulled out of the Kentucky Derby because he ran only second in the Derby Trial, Cool Reception charged back into the good graces of Cavalaris and co - owners Mrs. William Sells of Montreal and Mrs. Vince Reid of Toronto with an eight-length victory in the Marine Stakes at Woodbine a week ago.

Canada's top two - year - old in 1966, Cool Reception chipped a bone in his ankle during the winter and it was doubtful he would even race this year. However, he won the Fort Lauderdale Handicap at Gulfstream with Johnny Sellers urging him on and it will be Sellers in the saddle again today.

Cavaris picked Sellers only this week over Walter Blum who rode Cool Reception in the Marine Stakes. Sellers won the 1965 Belmont aboard Hail To All.

The big question for all the horses in the $125,000 added battle that will gross $140,700; Can they handle the 1½ miles required in the longest of the U.S. triple crown events.

The winner in the 10-horse field will win $105,350. The second horse earns $25,000, third $12,500 and fourth $6,250.

Damascus also was pronounced fit Friday after a three-eighths work in 37 3-5 seconds at Delaware Park where trainer Frank Whitley has had him working.

Ranked behind the leaders for the race, which will be televised by CBS and the CBC from 5 to 5:45 p.m. EDT, are Reason to Hail, at 8 to 1 with Cool Reception; Gentleman James, 12-to-1; Blasting Charge and Prinkipo, which is expected to provide the early speed, at 15-to-1; Gaylord's Feather at 20 to 1 and Favorable Turn and Nebec's Bullet at 30 to 1.

Memphis Open

Hill Has Four-Stroke Lead

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Dave Hill would like nothing better than to be a copycat—to match Dave Stockton's pattern of success two weeks ago and he is halfway there.

Hill, a powerful ice shot artist, carried a four-stroke lead into today's third round of the $100,000 Memphis open golf tournament. He had a nine-under-par 131.

That was the margin Stockton held in the same round when he won the Colonial Invitation at Fort Worth, Tex.

Challenging Hill as the third round began were three players tied with five-under-par 136s —Gary Player, Bruce Crampton and Chuck Courtney.

For Player, who returned to the tour recently after six weeks at his ranch in South Africa, the past two weeks have been amazing. He played well in losing a playoff to Miller Barber last week at Oklahoma City, and bettered his sharpness here.

Seventy - nine players at 143 or under qualified for the final two days—the second largest field on the 1967 tour.

Jack Nicklaus, a crowd favorite, here, qualified for the final rounds with a 77-67—144.

Under Advice

Clay May Change Mind

CLEVELAND (AP) — Captius Clay and several other Negroes prominent in sports are scheduled to be in Cleveland Sunday amid speculation that Clay may be considering changing his mind on military induction.

Clay refused to be drafted last month and was stripped of his heavyweight boxing title.

Jim Brown, who has been trying to persuade Clay to make the move, also is to be in the huddle. Brown is a former Cleveland Browns fullback.

A spokesman said that others scheduled to attend include Bill Russell, coach of Boston Celtics; Bobby Mitchell of Washington Redskins; Lew Alcindor, star of the UCLA basketball team; John Wooden, a guard for Cleveland Browns, and Gale Sayers of Chicago Bears.

CASSIUS CLAY

"Farewell" Bout For Cassius ?

DETROIT (AP)—Cassius Clay said Friday he will fight a 15-round exhibition match in Detroit June 13, his first bout since being stripped of the heavyweight boxing crown.

His opponent will be Alvin (Blue) Lewis of Detroit who, although unbeaten in 10 fights, has never gone more than six rounds as a professional.

The bout is scheduled for three days before Clay goes on trial in U.S. District Court in Houston, Tex., on a charge of evading the U.S. military draft.

Angler Lands Prize Trout

SHALLOW LAKE, Ont. (CP) — Murray Noble of Shallow Lake, 10 miles northwest of Owen Sound, had landed an eight pound, 10 ounce brown trout, one of the largest fish of its kind caught in this area in recent years.

Noble was fly fishing on the Saubis River, west of here, when he caught the 28-inch fish.

Hill Sets Grand Prix Lap Record

ZANDVOORT, Netherlands (AP)—Graham Hill of London, driving an all new Ford-powered Lotus, shattered all opposition to set the fastest lap in practice Friday for Sunday's Dutch Grand Prix auto race.

Hill, looking tired after an all-night from the United States, registered 1:25.6 for the day's best lap.

That was five seconds better than the record for the 2.6-mile track. His average was 109.37 m.p.h. compared with the record of 103.32 held jointly by Jim Clark of Scotland and Denis Hulme of New Zealand.

Letter to the Sports Editor

I would like to bring to your attention a situation which has plagued the Belleville Minor Baseball Association for some time, in the hope that some publicity may stir the Recreation and Parks Board to give Minor Sports the backing and assistance which it sorely lacks.

For the last couple of years, at the Parkdale area, one or more of the home-owners in that area have confiscated baseballs that landed on their property. It is estimated that the value of balls now being held by these people is close to $400.00. All attempts to retrieve these balls or come to some agreement have ended in failure. Offers to increase the height of the fencing or any other proposals to lessen the incidence of balls going on these properties have produced no success except a stubborn refusal by the home-owners to return the balls under any conditions. It is realized that there is some justification for their refusal but, unlike the people involved in Minor Baseball, there seems to be no desire to work for a mutual agreement to end the problem. Their only solution is to see us minor sports in the Parkdale area, apparently.

Requests to the Recreation and Parks Board for assistance in this matter and the benefit of the City Solicitor's advice as to legal rights, have produced nothing more than evasive answers and a do-nothing attitude. This attitude, I might add, has been the general attitude by the Parks Board over the years, in any dealings with minor sports. In the case of minor baseball, which supplies recreation and healthful activity for hundreds of local boys, it is sometimes forgotten that the men who organize it and run it, do so on their own time and receive nothing for their efforts except a feeling that they are contributing something worthwhile for Belleville youth. The same applies, of course, to Minor Hockey and Softball.

Speaking for minor baseball, the general feeling now by the people, involved is "to heck with it." Why sacrifice my time and efforts when the city will give no assistance or backing when problems arise.

If the Parks Board feels that the efforts of people like Ron Lapenetta and others, who spend countless hours and sacrifice so much of their leisure time on minor sports, can be taken lightly, I can assure them that unless more positive action and support are forthcoming there will be a mass exodus of community-minded but disgusted officials from minor sports.

Wins Quebec Golf Title

MONTREAL (CP)—Jack Bissegger, professional at Richelieu Valley golf club, Friday night won the 18-hole Quebec open golf tournament with a three-under-par 68. His share of the $1,200 prize money was $400.

Tied for second were Adrien Bigras of Cornwall and Franco Sirianni of St. Basile, Que., each with 71.

Outdoor Tips And Tricks

BY BOB BLAIND

I have declared war on beavers again. Those mean scoundrels are still trying to ruin one of the better trout creeks.

Last Thursday a buddy and I took a small boat to explore Springbrook Creek from the bridge at Springbrook crossing to the marsh at Harold.

We had observed the day before the creek was slowing down and becoming stagnant, much green scum was beginning to form on the bottom.

Moving water was pushing the banks and backing up in the woods making it nearly impossible to fish.

I knew there had to be at least one beaver dam and a big one at that, down stream somewhere for the water to back up. So away we went to investigate.

The stream had slowed down to a crawl and was hardly current at all and places that had once had rapids were now deep slow moving moats of water.

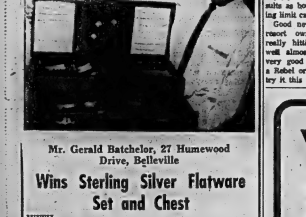
About one quarter of a mile downstream we found a good sized dam blocking the creek, built where there once had been a rapids with the rocks helping to make the base for the dam itself.

Trees were cut down all over the area and a good sized woods lot completely flooded out.

We took our boat over this dam and continued our observations about another quarter mile and came to a large dam holding back about 30 acres of water, and flooding the banks of the creek so much it could not be fished at all.

The breach we put in this dam took the water down about six inches and we made our way back upstream we could see the moss clearing off the bottom and moving downstream in the current.

When we reached the first dam again we took out a bait shovel ten feet wide. The second current which moved most of the slimy moss which had formed on the rocks and bottom.



A couple of days later I took a jaunt out again to see what had happened. The water has now lowered to the point the whole creek can be fished. The bottom has cleaned up beautifully and a nice steady passage of cool clear water is flowing down stream.

Northern Electric and Bank of Montreal employees are holding their annual golf tournaments this weekend, Northern are fishing Moira Lake and the bank West Lake. Best of luck boys, you should have good results as both lakes are producing limit catches.

Good news for Wellers Bay resort owners. Pickerel are really biting here. Everyone, well almost, has been having very good results if they use a Rebel or Rapala lure. Better try it this weekend.

Leafs "Chief" Quits The War Path!

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto may have to look more to their young players than they expect in April after they defeated Montreal Canadiens to win the Stanley Cup.

Even then veteran goalies Terry Sawchuk, who was a standout goaltender in the National Hockey League semi final against Chicago as well as the Montreal series, was talking of calling it quits. Last month 20-year centre—defenceman Red Kelly quit to coach Los Angeles Kings, one of the six new teams in next year's expanded NHL.

Friday it was George Armstrong, a veteran of 18 years and the team captain, who said he was through.

The main reason for the surprise move is Armstrong's belief that manager-coach Punch Imlach will not protect him in the league draft set for Tuesday in Montreal.

Both, even at the start of the 1966-67 schedule there were rumors he would retire after the season.

At that time he said:

"I know for when I was 20 or 21 I didn't think I'd be playing now, although I must admit I hoped I would be."

He will be 37 in July. The offspring of an Irish father and an Algonquin Indian mother now has decided it's time to move on to other interests.

One of his main interests for many years has been working with the Indians of Canada's northern areas, attempting to help them integrate into urban areas.

But, Friday, tied up with professional work with two all contracts, he would not comment on his specific plans for his retirement.

Never one of the fast skaters in the league, it surprised many when the Leafs, Friday, Only native was named team captain by then owner Conn Smythe.

But Smythe always defended his decision, saying it was one of the best decisions he made while guiding the team.

As it turned out he was right when The Chief, as he was called by his team-mates, went to lead the club to three straight Stanley Cups—1962, 1963 and 1964.

After graduating from Toronto Marlboros of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series in 1948, the Leafs sent him to Pittsburgh Hornets of the American League for two years. He scored 30 goals in his second AHL season.

His best scoring season with Toronto was 23 goals in 1959-60, but he did produce 232 goals and 347 assists for 598 points in 964 games as a Leaf. His playoff totals include 26 goals and 36 assists for 62 points in 103 playoff games.

Imlach Friday said he wouldn't recognize Armstrong's retirement.

NHL Draft

Transplanting Starts On Tuesday

MONTREAL (CP) — Eight players have shifted affiliations since the close of the 1966-67 National Hockey League season. Chicago Black Hawks have sent Phil Esposito, Fred Stanfield and Ken Hodge—all forwards—to Boston Bruins in return for forward Pit Martin, defenceman Gilles Marotte and winger Doug Mohns and goaltender Jack Norris, Stanfield and Norris were affiliated with minor league clubs last season.

Boston then sent Murray Oliver to Toronto Maple Leafs for Eddie Shack and cash. Both are forwards.

With Tuesday's expansion draft, a good many more players can expect to be uprooted from their current clubs and headed for new rinks next season.

With the advent of the two-section, 12-team league in the fall, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, Los Angeles and Minneapolis - St. Paul will provide new postal addresses for many players that are familiar in the old rinks.

Each of the current six clubs is allowed, under the new rules, to protect one netminder and 11 other players. This is the way their NHL rosters look going into the draft:

Ellis Midgets Shade Tiki Club

Last night's Lakeshore Midget softball league game between Port Perry and Belleville was postponed and the Ellis team nipped Tiki Club, of the Commercial League 5-3 in an exhibition.

Each team had 14 hits with Jamie Hunter and Ted Waite pitching for the winners, Art Pullman and Gary Matier for the losers. The midgets scored six runs in the ninth to win despite the hitting of Tiki's Dale Duvall, who punched a two-run homer and a bases-loaded blast to drive in six runs.

Reds Rally To Nip Slumping Braves

BY HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Lightning struck Atlanta's Jay Ritchie the second time around and although he had to be white for the Cincinnati-Cincinnati manager Dave Bristol is not complaining.

Ritchie fought his way out of trouble every time after leaving the Reds' winning run stranded on third base in the second inning Friday night, but when he climbed out on the limb again in the 11th, Vada Pinson didn't let him off.

Pinson's fourth hit of the night drove in Tommy Helms with the winning run and lifted the first place Reds to a 5-4 comeback victory over the slumping Braves.

In other National League games, St. Louis Cardinals edged Chicago Cubs 2-1, Philadelphia Phillies topped Houston Astros 3-2, and Pittsburgh Pirates romped Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3. New York Mets' game at San Francisco was postponed by rain.

The Braves were leading 4-3 on Hank Aaron's two - run homer which erased a 3-2 Cincinnati edge in the ninth. But the Reds struck back quickly. Tony Perez lined Pat Jarvis the with a leadoff double. Deron Johnson's triple tied the score and put the winning run on third with none out.

Tommy Helms was purposely walked and then Ritchie came on to walk Art Shamsky intentionally. That set up a force play at any base, but Ritchie didn't need one. He struck out Leo Cardenas and Don Pavletich and then got Floyd Robinson, on a pop fly, stranding the runners.

It remained 4-4 until the 11th when Helms opened with a single and one out later, moved to third on Cardenas' hit. Pavletich walked, loading the bases.

Ritchie fanned pinch hitter Bill Colton for the second out, but Pinson ended his charmed life with a game-ending single. Joe Torre led three hits for the Braves and drove in Atlanta's first two runs.

Lou Brock socked a two-run homer and Steve Carlton pitched a three-hitter as the Cardinals nipped Chicago.

The Cubs' only run came in the eighth when Ted Savage zapped his first homer of the year.

Farrell allowed three hits and one run but shut off a Houston rally in the sixth when he relieved Ellsworth. The Phillies jumped in front with two runs in each of the first two innings against loser Chris Zachary, 0-6.

L.A. Meet Crothers Wins 880

LOS ANGELES (CP) — Bill Crothers of Markham flashed to a one minute, 47.7 second victory in the 880 - metres event here Friday night in the Compton invitational track and field meet.

Ryun ran his second mile of the year in less than four minutes, finishing with an easy 3:53.2 clocking. His world record is 3:51.3 set last July 17 at Berkley, Calif.

Ryun ran his second mile of the year in less than four minutes, finishing with an easy 3:53.2 clocking. His world record is 3:51.3 set last July 17 at Berkley, Calif.

World record holder Ron Clarke of Australia coasted through the 3,000 - metre run, winning just about as he pleased in 13:32.8—slow in comparison to his record 13:16.6.

U Thant Bypasses UN Day at Expo

MONTREAL (CP)—Expo 67, born forecast for this stage in its career.

Today is United Nations Day at the fair. Some of the originally scheduled visits of the day will have disappeared with the decision against attendance by U Thant, the UN secretary-general.

However, a holiday atmosphere prevails at the site, with temperatures under a brilliant sun hitting 70 on Friday and expected to go at least that high through the weekend.

The Friday crowds came in their droves, with 210,943 turning up at the St. Lawrence River site as of 12 midnight. Total attendance at that time, when the fair's formal inauguration April 27, was 9,303,531.

Expo had other Friday visits on hand also.

The large - winged nuisances formed up in limited numbers at the exhibition's administration building. There were few on the main section of the site. Expo officials counted hopefully that the phenomenon, an annual one on the river, would not turn into anything massive. Some spraying of the river was carried out last year.

Taxi drivers paraded their vehicles Friday near two of Expo's entrances in protest against the barring of cabs from one of the two Expo islands, St. Helen's. The parades caused at least one major traffic mart.

Leisure representatives of Expo and the cabbies agreed that taxis should be allowed on St. Helen's within carefully-regulated limits.

There also is a new addition to Expo facilities. Opened on the weekend's eve was Notre Dame Park, a 100-acre stretch of western and greenery designed to afford a rest area for footsore fair-trekkers.

Charades Marvellous Practice Says Martin

"It's marvellous practice for an actor because you must learn to go from your initial impulse—work close to your instincts," he says.

Before his acting days the emigrant from an east side New York tenement played charades with friends — in lean, early years simply because it was cheap diversion.

He got so good he once was a regular on TV's now defunct panel show, The Stars.

Polish-born, Martin has flexible features helpful at either charades or acting. Head erect, tongue flicking, he's an iguana. Or downcast and chewing slowly sidewise, he's a camel.

His two years on Stump the Stars created a public awareness of himself as Ross Martin. Previously, autograph seekers often addressed him as Andame, the character he had played on the Mr. Lucky-TV series.

Many of the more immediate characterizations provided unforeseen training for his Wild, Wild West assignment. As Artemus Gordon, U.S. secret agent, he has disguised himself in two seasons as 26 characters, as many as five a show.

He has played a 90-year-old clairvoyant, a scarred Mexican gunfighter, even an Indian squaw.

No Champion

SYLVANIA, Ohio (AP)—Ernie Terrell, the former WBA heavyweight champion, may regain a place in the World Boxing Association's heavyweight rankings on June 10.

The WBA dropped the towering fighter from the top 10 after he suffered an injury to his left eye in his losing title bout with Floyd Patterson in Chicago last Feb. 6. Since then, the WBA has declared the heavyweight title vacant.

Terrell, who has been declared fit by his medical experts, will be examined by the WBA's medical advisor at a June 10 meeting of the WBA's executive committee in Louisville, Ky.

He said the top 10 will depend on the examination of Terrell and the result of the June 8 fight between contenders Floyd Patterson of New York and Jerry Quarry of Los Angeles in Los Angeles.

Patterson, former two - time champion, was ranked 10th in the last issue.

Curtis Cokes, welterweight champion from Dallas, Tex., was named the WBA's Boxer of the Month for his 10th-round technical knockout of France's Andre Parisis at Dallas last May 29.

To Your Good Health

Throwing Dishes Helps Live Off Steam

Dear Dr. Molner: I am writing at the request of my husband.

When he got home from work today he gave a couple of broken dishes and asked what happened. I told him, and he said I should be ashamed to tell it.

I threw them against the wall because of a violent temper brought on by things my daughter had been doing all morning long. She is 4.

As mad as I got, I figured it was better we retire to the kitchen and get it out of my system instead of whipping her.

My husband says he would just like to see what answer you would have for someone who would do such a thing, and not be able to handle a 4-year-old child better.

I am 45, and he is 48, she is an only child. She goes everywhere I go. We have only been separated, for any length of time, the two times I was in the hospital, the three times she has been, and about a dozen times for social affairs. Please, I would appreciate an answer. — Mrs. A. A.

I vote for smashing a couple of dishes instead of whipping a child in front of her. They weren't your best china.

Does your husband know that there's a common bond of attraction (and used by the home folks, too) in Copenhagen? It's a little cantrip-type booth in the Tivoli Garden. Been there for years.

It's just a big rack which they keep filled with cheap crockery, and for a small sum you get some rubber balls (they look like baseballs, anyway) and you see how many dishes you can smash.

Folks let off all kinds of steam that way.

Now it's not a good thing to lose your temper, but in schools. I know that everybody has to blow up sometimes. Just don't have too low a boiling point.

I wonder if your husband ever stopped to think what it can be like, so constantly in company with your little girl. Even though you love her very much, it can be wearing.

My suggestion is that you set aside enough money to have a baby sitter one afternoon a week. It will give you a chance to get out and do things you like to do. Both you and your daughter will be that much happier to be together afterward.

If you have a playmate for your child and mother — and it's good preparation for the time when she will HAVE to learn to let go of the apron strings. She'll be start i n g school soon, and I've run across some pretty sad cases of children who hadn't had a chance to learn to be away from mother.

Suggest this to your husband. It's sound advice. If he blows a fuse, offer him a couple of old plates.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: My 14-year-old daughter is quite certain that she swallowed a straight pin. The doctor ordered X-rays of her chest and abdomen twice, but neither time did the pin show. Are we safe in assuming she didn't swallow it? Could it be lodged somewhere and not show on X-ray? Can it do serious damage if not found? — Mrs. J. R.

The best assumption is that she didn't swallow it, but it is also possible that she may have passed it. If it were still anywhere in the digestive tract the X-rays should have disclosed it.

Sharpened needles sometimes can travel through the body to odd places but a pin, having a head, cannot travel except through the intestinal tract.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Don't alarm clock that has illuminated hands and numbers radiate harmful rays to occupants in the same room? — Mrs. F. H.

No.

Judgment Reserved by Court On 5-year Union Dues Fight

OTTAWA (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada reserved judgment Friday on an Orangeville, Ont., man's five-year legal battle to refuse payment of union dues under a compulsory check-off agreement.

Dirk Hoogendoorn, formerly employed by Greening Metal Products and Screening Equipment Co. of Orangeville, was fired because of his insistence that political and compulsory dues victions barred him from paying dues to the United Steelworkers of America.

He objected chiefly to the union's financial support of the New Democratic Party.

Mr. Hoogendoorn, a metal worker who now has another job, is being financed in his legal campaign by the Committee for Justice and Liberty, a semi-religious organization in Toronto opposed to socialism and labor unions.

At stake in the controversial case is the future of the closed shop union and compulsory dues checkoff, both now embodied in Ontario labor law.

Mr. Hoogendoorn's lawyer, Brian A. Kelsey of Toronto, appealed to the Supreme Court to quash an arbitrator's ruling last year which directed Greening Metal either to get Mr. Hoogendoorn's signature on a checkoff agreement or dismiss him.

Mr. Kelsey said the arbitration hearing was held without giving Mr. Hoogendoorn notice, thus denying him an opportunity to defend himself.

The arbitration proceeding has been upheld in previous judgments by the Ontario Supreme Court and the Ontario Court of Appeal.

John H. Osler of Toronto, counsel for the United Steelworkers, argued that the arbitration hearing dealt with a policy grievances between the union and the company.

He said the union contract placed an onus on the company to collect union dues from all its employees as a condition of employment. When it did not collect from Mr. Hoogendoorn, the union filed a legitimate grievance.

When the dues dispute first began after union certification in 1962, two other employees sided with Mr. Hoogendoorn. They later left the company.

Mr. Kelsey said there is little doubt that the union's grievance was aimed directly at Mr. Hoogendoorn and the whole idea of it was to force his dismissal.

The arbitration hearing then became a denial of the first principle of natural law: "That no man's rights shall be abridged or destroyed without the opportunity of being heard in his own defence."

Mr. Kelsey said the first purpose of a union is the improvement of working conditions for its members.

"However, once the union has acquired a position of its own, there is a tendency for it to be satisfied with that position and its own preservation and the advancement of its own interest, as distinct from that of the persons it represents," he said.

Such self - preservation was manifested by union security clauses, the closed shop, the union shop and the compulsory dues checkoff. In a checkoff plan, employees do not have to belong to the union but must pay dues.

Mr. Osler said Mr. Hoogendoorn's exclusion from the arbitration hearing was in line with labor law which makes a certified union the exclusive agent for workers in a bargaining unit.

No individual worker was entitled as a right to be present during bargaining, for example. To require that notice be given to every employee affected by discussion of a contract or its interpretation would destroy the basic principle of a bargaining agent.

The union lawyer also contended that Mr. Hoogendoorn could have presented his complaint through normal grievance channels provided in the contract. This wasn't done.

Mr. Kelsey countered that under the contract terms no grievance could be taken to arbitration without the specific consent of the union.

Mr. Hoogendoorn first refused to pay dues in 1962 under a voluntary checkoff plan. He was fired in March of 1965 when a compulsory checkoff was introduced but reinstated after a lawyer said the compulsory applied only to new employees.

Later the agreement was amended to require dues payments by all employees at Greening Metal and Mr. Hoogendoorn again refused. The situation led to a seven-day protest strike in the spring of 1966, an arbitration hearing and Mr. Hoogendoorn's dismissal.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For June 4

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): Special time to appreciate beauty, inner tranquility. Avoid tendency to overvalue material goods. Spiritual insight possible if receptive. Seek advice from authorities . . . attend church of choice.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): Cycle high. Your desire to expand knowledge could be fulfilled. Look in and concentrate position. One in authority is interested listener. Circumstances due to turn in your favor. Be ready!

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): What starts out as pleasant affair connected with neighbors, relatives . . . should be kept on that plane. Important to be careful . . . to maintain poise. Petty argument can be avoided. Know this!

CANCER (June 21 — July 22): Friends could inspire you to begin new project. Be receptive, but maintain independence. Stress originality. Don't imitate. Day to assert yourself. Be an innovator . . . not a "repeater."

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Overcome obstacles by following through on hunch. Indirect approach is one that succeeds best. Share knowledge. Pivot less — let others take work off their own. Message clears later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Communique from afar could cause change of mood. Day becomes pleasant as it progresses. Gain shown if you co-operate with group, club or charity project.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Social activity increases. Accent today on moves of friends, fulfillment of desires. Permit mate or partner to take initiative in many matters. Solutions are close at hand.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): Specific proposals are put forth. Obtain agreement. Be sure of sources. Investigate, ask questions, get answers. If a keen observer . . . you can piece together bits of information.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): Stress harmony of home. Keep promises made to family members. Fulfill obligations. Accent on health, diet. Important to be moderate. Show appreciation to one who serves you.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): Nothing appears to occur halfway today. Tendency is to commit yourself all the way. This is fine if you are selective. Stick to quality. Don't confuse flashy approach with true value.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 19): Opposition tends to fade. Green light indicated on pet project. More responsibility indicated—also greater reward. Push forward — exude confidence. In short, stand tall!

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Fine for reunion. Share pleasure with relative. Remember those who are celebrating birthday, anniversary. Gesture on your part today could result in closer bond with loved one.

"Enough of a Challenge"

Expo Engineer Given Job of Building Maritime Causeway

MONTREAL (CP)—Col. Edward Churchill, the crusty, bushy browed ex-army engineer who bulldozed Expo 67 into shape, has got himself a new trouble-filled job which he says "I wanted the moment I heard about it."

Announced in Ottawa Friday, his task is to supervise construction of the $150,000,000 Northumberland Strait causeway whose planned design is being reassessed by the government in view of mounting cost estimates.

"This is going to be a very difficult bridge job," Col. Churchill said in an interview soon after the announcement that he would take charge of spanning the gap between Prince Edward Island and the mainland.

His selection for the causeway job comes at a time when Maritime MPs are gritting their teeth over the just-announced decision not to let the major contract for the New Brunswick end of the project.

Works Minister McIlraith told the Commons this week that bids submitted for the work were higher then anticipated and the government turned them down.

It has been decided to review design plans and possibly drop or revise the railway facility incorporated in the original plans to drop the cost.

Mr. McIlraith told the House no delay in the causeway's 1970 completion date need result from the delay on awarding the contract. Col. Churchill is likely to become the man most squarely faced with that three-year deadline.

Another problem facing him is a report by O. J. McCulloch, a Montreal engineer, which says the proposed causeway will not stand up to ice conditions in the strait.

Col. Churchill summed up the task as a "very difficult bridge job."

"It's fascinating from the point of view of height, its nine-mile length, the depth of the water. . . . It should be enough of a challenge even after Expo."

A tough-talking boss who takes pride in "turning the screws" on employees who fail to produce, the colonel has built himself a reputation as the trouble-shooter who banged Expo together when the most optimistic doubted it could be ready on time.

But as director of installations at the fair, he proved himself as much an esthete and dreamer as ham-fisted commander and can take credit for a lot of the imaginative attention to detail that makes Expo fun just to look at.

Soon after he joined the exhibition staff from the Canadian Army in October, 1963, the Winnipeg-born colonel issued a directive that summed up his approach to the tough job of building and managing the world's fair.

"Henceforth we will not refer to prospective fair-goers as customers. We will refer to them as guests," he ordered amazed colleagues not yet accustomed to his military style.

"I still figured I was in the army," he chuckles reminiscently now.

The tone of orders has softened lately but aides have little doubt they will continue to receive commands barked over the personal radio-switchboard he keeps on his desk until Col. Churchill leaves for his new job, "possibly by early August."

Security guards and maintenance workers who fall down on the job will still hear the familiar, high-pitched voice announcing on their walkie-talkies that the colonel "wants action and wants it fast."

The 54-year old colonel spent 22 years with the army after he was commissioned in 1941, building airports and installations in Europe during the Second World War and then taking charge of the forces' principal construction works from coast to coast.

He carried off the difficult task of building Fort Churchill on unstable tundra and replaced the Alaska Highway bridges over the Peace River in record time after it collapsed in 1957.

Next came the famous "Diefenbunkers" — regional government bunker headquarters in Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and B.C. aimed at preserving government leaders in time of atomic war.

All this, he figures, was invaluable experience for tackling the job of keeping a gimlet eye on the $2,000,000,000 worth of expressways, bridges, minirails, administration buildings and pavilions that "make up the ready-floss world of Expo.

Col. Churchill was roped into his $30,000-a-year Expo job after work had already begun on the site and Robert Shaw—deputy commissioner-general of the fair and a fellow commissioner of Chinese food—started looking for a highly - qualified engineer to bring order to the building program.

When Mr. Shaw told the colonel he had been borrowed from the Canadian government, he got a less-than-delighted reply:

"Are you nuts? I don't want to end my career building a Coney Island. I'll never take that job."

A few hours later, Col. Churchill had accepted, convinced that "I couldn't make a bigger contribution to the Canadian scene."

The Man Who Loves a Fight

Col. Edward Churchill, 54, the former army engineer who built Expo 67 and now is helping to administer it, thinks he's been spoiled by Expo. He finds he doesn't want to "put one brick on top of another" any more but would like to build "things with meaning." (CP Photo)

U.S. Marines Under Heavy Fire in Vietnam

HIEP DUC VALLEY, South Vietnam (Reuters)—A big force of North Vietnamese regulars killed 34 U.S. marines and wounded more than 300 in a 16-hour pitched battle which ended early today, marine officers said.

The Americans reported finding 430 North Vietnamese bodies on the battlefield in the rolling hills and ricelands of northern Quang Tin province.

Fighting broke out in this valley, southwest of the major U.S. base at Da Nang, as a marine battalion came under heavy fire from the North Vietnamese, who pinned one company down with rockets and fire from machine - guns and recoilless cannons.

One marine described the fighting as a "knock down, drag 'em out, hand-to-hand battle."

One mile to the southeast, an American battalion moving up on foot to reinforce was locked in battle with another force of North Vietnamese.

As marine reinforcements flew into the area by helicopter, jets dived through streams of red tracers from machine-gun bullets to hit the North Vietnamese with rockets, bombs and napalm.

The planes kept up their assault throughout the night, dropping napalm within 100 yards of the marines.

One company of Americans advancing slowly on the ground across a small brush-covered hill was hit by 40 mortar shells. The marines, unable to dig shelter holes in the rock - hard ground, lost three dead and 22 wounded.

During the battle, a former Viet Cong cow working with the marines kicked away some rice mats floating on a paddy, revealing a group of North Vietnamese lying under the water breathing through reeds. The marines opened fire and killed 31 of the North Vietnamese. A medical evacuation helicopter carrying wounded out of the valley crashed and was wrecked after being hit by a recoilless rifle shell.

After the battle ended this morning, a U.S. pilot reported seeing North Vietnamese falling back from Hiep Duc carrying bodies with them.

A U.S. military spokesman said the battle was the second major engagement the marines have fought with North Vietnamese troops in their current search - and - destroy operation Union Two.

The other occurred May 28 when the Americans reported killing 372 North Vietnamese in the same area while losing 28 of their own.

The operation is aimed at trapping North Vietnam's 3rd Regiment and the 21st Viet Cong Regiment, both known to operate in the area.

About 1,200 U.S. marines made an amphibious landing 21 miles northeast of Hue today in a move to cut one of the infiltration routes of North Vietnamese troops.

The U.S. command said no significant contact had been yet made with the Communists.

South Vietnamese troops claimed victory Friday over the Viet Cong's 808th Mobile Battalion in an engagement south of the demilitarized zone.

A spokesman said 150 of the 500-man Viet Cong detachment were slain in an assault by South Vietnamese paratroops, infantry and armor. Government casualties were not announced.

In the air war over North Vietnam, U.S. aircraft Friday renewed their attack on the main rail link with China, northeast of Hanoi, the spokesman said.

Pilot Lands on North Pole As Own Centennial Project

John Cameron, a pilot with 25 years' experience and 15,000 hours in the air, planned a centennial flag at the North Pole May 14, then stayed in the North "busy with additional flying" before returning to Edmonton Thursday to tell the story.

To plant the flag, Mr. Cameron had to land a single-engine de Havilland Otter aircraft on an ice floe and drift across the Pole.

But in an interview Friday, he called the landing "almost routine."

Mr. Cameron is employed by Gateway Aviation Ltd. of Edmonton, specialists in arctic flying.

He was accompanied on the trip by a team of four scientists that managed to pick up "quite a large bag of scientific information, the people in Ottawa will have talk about for that."

The scientists were Dr. Hans Weber and Axel Geiger from the Dominion observatory in Ottawa, Leif Landgaard of Hamar, Norway and Bob Lillestrand of Minneapolis. All but Mr. Lillestrand are working on the polar continental shelf project, gleaning scientific information about the shelf.

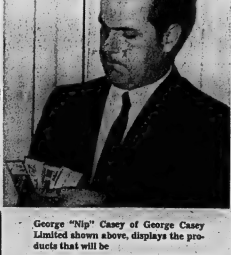
Mr. Lillestrand, attached to the Washington observatory, was an observer.

Navigation was by the stars, using a special theodolite to take shots during the constant daylight of the arctic spring. To take the shots the party had to wait up a fog bank lifted and rolled around them.

The party, in addition to planting the flag, dropped an electrical transformer to the ocean floor, 13,800 feet below, to mark the geographic Pole. It also made seismic, gravity and celestial observations, examined the ice and the water, "and even observed the odd satellite."

The trip was made from Alert, N.W.T., on the northern tip of Ellesmere Island, 530 miles from the Pole.

On the first leg, Mr. Cameron and another Gateway Aircraft piloted by Harold Morday, flew over the Pole to a camp 30 miles beyond where a team of scientists was working. From there, he hopped to within eight miles of the Pole, then took off again and landed just a mile from the pole.



"There was a lot of open water around," he said, "so we landed a mile away and just drifted over the Pole."

The ice floe on which he landed—after making six passes—was about 1,000 feet long—just long enough to permit a take-off.

From there, he hopped back to the 30-mile camp where the companion aircraft was waiting, refuelled from supplies dropped by another plane, then headed back to Alert.

The flying time each way from Alert was about six hours. The entire operation took just under 24 hours.

Carol made this dress for $13.65

$13.66 if you include the electricity

When Carol makes full use of electricity in her home dressmaking, she gets quite a bargain. Her electric sewing machine can make thousands of stitches for less than a cent's worth of electricity.

Sewing isn't the only bargain you get with electricity. Today, it has hundreds of uses that didn't exist a generation ago. Yet, surprisingly enough, the average unit cost is less now than it was then. As a matter of fact, you pay less for electricity in Ontario than you would almost anywhere else in the world. That's why electricity is the biggest bargain in your family budget.

The above example is based on the average cost to Ontario municipal residential customers of 1.13¢ net per kilowatt-hour.

Arabs and Jews Locked in Battle

TEL AVIV (CP) — Fighting broke out between Israel and its Arab neighbor today for the third time in 20 years.

Heavy fighting raged in Egypt's Sinai desert — the route the Israelis took to reach the Suez Canal in 1956. Air battles and bombing raids were reported by both sides. Forces of Egypt, Jordan and Syria were involved on the Arab side.

Kuwait, meanwhile, proclaimed a "defensive war," against Israel and the Algerian press service said troops of the well-trained Algerian army will leave Algeria tonight for the Middle East.

In Rabat, King Hassan II instructed units of the Moroccan armed forces to be sent to the Middle East, officials said.

Sana's radio reported that President Abdullah al-Sallal has declared the Yemen Republic at war with Israel and declared a state of emergency in the country.

The fighting began after a series of minor clashes over the last few months across the Syrian-Israeli border, followed by Egypt's command May 17 for the United Nations to withdraw the UN Emergency Force that had separated Israel and Egypt on the Sinai frontier and at the Gaza Strip.

The UN Security Council, which had met fruitlessly for two weeks in an effort to preserve the peace, was called into emergency session in New York.

In Washington, the U.S. government called on all parties to support the council, and said: "Tragic consequences might flow from this needless and destructive struggle if the fighting does not stop immediately."

Britain expressed grave concern and launched new discussions among the big four powers.

In Ottawa, a spokesman for Prime Minister Pearson said the Canadian leader was made aware of the fighting and a number of emergency meetings were likely to be held.

External Affairs Minister Martin said in an interview he has been in continuous touch with Canadian officials at the UN since early today. He declined to comment further.

The fighting first erupted on the Sinai desert front between Egyptian and Israeli troops and tanks, then spread to the Syrian and Jordanian fronts. Both sides accused the other of starting the war after weeks of crisis.

Egypt said Cairo and other Egyptian targets were bombed. Damascus radio reported that Syrian air force planes bombed the oil refinery in Haifa and left it in flames. The broadcast said airfields in northern Israel were heavily damaged. Ammas radio

U.S. Pins Peace Hopes Upon UN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government called upon "all parties" today to support the United Nations Security Council in bringing about an immediate cease-fire in the Middle East war.

Press secretary George Christian said in a statement that "tragic consequences will flow from this needless and destructive struggle if the fighting does not cease immediately."

Britain Aloof

LONDON (Reuters) — Foreign Secretary George Brown told Parliament today Britain is not taking sides in the Arab-Israeli conflict and had instructed British forces in the Middle East not to get involved.

Brown said a packed House of Commons that all British merchant ships due to pass through the Egyptian - controlled Suez Canal were being advised to delay their passage for 24 hours.

Tel Aviv Calm

TEL AVIV (CP) — Despite two air raid alerts here today the city remained calm as Prime Minister Levi Eshkol called on "the peace - loving countries and peoples" to help Israel in the conflict with the Arabs.

One man was seen swimming in the ocean and another was quietly sweeping a sidewalk as full - scale fighting broke out between Israel and the Arab countries.

Eshkol said that Egypt had compelled war upon Israel and added:

"I hope that peace - loving countries and peoples shall not stand aloof but will extend their hand to help.

"I hope they will understand Israel's right to live without having the sword of aggression hanging over her head."

The prime minister said Israel wants peace and that the city of Jerusalem is to remove threats of aggression from its borders.

In a broadcast to the nation, Eshkol said: "We proclaim that we shall not attack any country as long as she does not launch an attack on us."

Pearson Urges Ceasefire

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson declared today that every effort must be directed to a ceasefire in the fighting between Israel and her Arab neighbors.

"There is only one certain way to prevent the fighting from spreading and that is to end it," Mr. Pearson said in a statement.

He issued his statement after an hour-long briefing given him and External Affairs Minister Martin by external affairs and defence department officials.

Thant Cannot Say Who Started Fighting

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— United Nations Secretary-General U Thant said today in a report on the outbreak of Middle East hostilities that "serious military action is taking place on land and in the air at a number of points and is spreading."

He also said Jordanian troops have occupied Government House, headquarters of the armistice commission on the Jordanian-Israeli border, thus cutting its contact with UN headquarters in New York City.

He told the UN Security Council he called King Hussein of Jordan requesting immediate withdrawal of the Jordanian troops.

Thant said his information from UN sources in the Middle East was fragmentary and provided no means of ascertaining how hostilities were initiated."

He reported that a convoy of the UN Emergency Force was strafed by an Israeli plane, with three Indian soldiers killed and an unknown number wounded.

Chapleau, Sioux Lookout Citizens Flee Flames

By The Canadian Press

Hundreds of volunteer fire fighters, backed by armed forces and department of lands and forests personnel and equipment, were at their posts at dawn today in bids to save Northern Ontario communities from forest fires.

Sioux Lookout and Chapleau, widely-separated railroad communities long hardened to the threat of forest fires, were almost ghost towns for a time after Sunday's evacuation of all but the able-bodied men.

Thousands of women, children and invalids took to cars and trains as each community was threatened by raging fires covering more than 5,000 acres.

Sioux Lookout, with a population of 2,500, and Chapleau; that has a population of 3,500 — are separated by 450 miles of Ontario's bleak north country. They were being threatened by what lands and forests officials called the worst-ever forest fire situation in Ontario.

The department reported 71 new fires in a 24-hour period ending Sunday for a total of 106.

Hopes Are Increasing Of Saving Chapleau

CHAPLEAU, Ont. (CP) — Hopes rose today that this Northern Ontario community can be saved from a forest fire that has destroyed 3,400 acres of mixed growth only a few miles from the outskirts.

"We will know this afternoon if we can save the community," said James Keddie, district forester for the department of lands and forests.

"The fire - front travelled very little during the night, after its rapid progress Sunday. The wind this morning was light and from the north, which will change the direction of the fire."

More than 350 men, many of them with their families among the 2,800 residents who evacuated Chapleau Sunday, are striving to establish fire breaks —stripped and bulldozed areas —at critical points where the blaze still threatens to advance on the town. Two turbo-Beaver planes are water-bombing the front of the fire, and a Canso aircraft was being sent from Sudbury to help.

A helicopter from Canadian Forces Base, Trenton, is helping at the scene.

A second helicopter and a float-equipped Otter will be despatched to reinforce firefighters today, base officials said.

The huge Chapleau blaze was pushed to within two miles of the community Sunday by strong southwest wind.

Women and children packed the CPR station for emergency trains to Sudbury, some making the 170-mile journey in boxcars. Others drove to Timmins.

Palmer Rapids Fire Covers 400 Acres

TWEED — Firefighters this morning were battling a forest blaze gouging 400 acres of timber and bushland in Radcliffe township, at the northeast tip of Hastings County, Department of Lands and Forests officials reported.

It was the worst outbreak in a long, dry weekend that has placed all department staff here — even office personnel — on a 24-hour alert.

One veteran department officer said the hazard rating in Quinte-district forests was "getting mighty close to explosive," and was the worst in "a great many years."

The Radcliffe blaze, centred somewhere north of the Land Forest Road, ranger station at Palmer Rapids, was the most treacherous in a series of fires burning through the district's northern townships.

Fire patrols were rushed to 12 outbreaks in the timber-dry bushland during the weekend — 10 of them still burning today.

By Sunday, department statistics showed the total loss in Tweed district forests since April 1 was 428 acres — in 29 fires.

Four more outbreaks were spotted in the next 24 hours — including the Radcliffe blaze.

Human carelessness was blamed for most of the damage.

"Most of these fires have been rooted in recreation," said an official. "It's just plain carelessness by campers and smokers."

Only 250 Firefighters Left at Sioux Lookout

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont. (CP) Firefighters heartened by a drop in the wind were more than holding their own today against a forest fire that forced evacuation of this northwestern Ontario community.

The evacuation, a siren-signalled exodus by train, car and bus to points safely away from the hop-scotch blaze, left only the men on the fire-line and key personnel in what has become an instant ghost town.

The all-clear has not yet been sounded in a battle being fought by a force numbering more than 250 men and aided by six water-bomber planes.

The fire, in its first swift stab Saturday, engulfed 5,000 acres of spruce and jackpine country and jumped 1½ miles across Pelican Narrows to a beach head on the Pelican Lake peninsula on which the lookout is located.

"The wind predictions would have driven the fire into the town but this didn't materialize," Chief Mackenzie said. "The wind stayed in the west."

For today, the forecast was good: manageable winds of 15 miles an hour this morning dwindling to light later in the day. Sunday's winds gusts to 25 miles an hour.

The fire came within a mile of the town. A timber base nearby was ringed by fire after personnel had been evacuated to a safer, but the flames stopped at the cleared area housing the establishment's three leased buildings and 23 buses trailers.

School District Amalgamation Question to Be Reconsidered

The high school district amalgamation question, defeated only two weeks ago, will be up for reconsideration in city council this afternoon.

Mayor J. R. Ellis said this morning that two councillors who last week voted against the merger have decided they want to reconsider the matter and accordingly the issue has been placed on today's council agenda.

An official of the Ontario Department of Education is also expected to be on hand to add any further information on the matter which might be desired by council members.

The issue at hand is the amalgamation of the Stirling-Rawdon High School District and the Centre Hastings High School District with the Bay of Quinte District High School District. Hastings county council has already approved of the merger but approval by both Belleville and the county of Prince Edward is necessary before the merger can be consummated effective.

Also there will be a request from the city solicitor for council direction on whether or not another application is to be made to the Ontario Municipal Board for a zoning change on Dundas Street, East, to allow operation of the Williamson medical clinic.

A third Municipal Board hearing on the question was scheduled for May 25 but was adjourned when the city was not prepared to support the application with evidence.

At the time, board chairman, J. A. Kennedy said that unless another application for a hearing was made by the city, the matter would be dismissed. On two previous occasions the OMB ruled against the proposed zoning change.

Another important item on this afternoon's council agenda is the city auditor's annual report. The report was not ready at special budget meeting when the 1967 tax rate was struck.

Pre-deceased by his wife, the former Zoe Duyse, he is survived by four sons: Michael of Joseph, David and Edward, all of this city and six daughters, Mrs. Henry (Addie) Reynolds, Mrs. Frank (Lena) Daley, Mrs. James (Lillian) Hunter, Mrs. Leo (Helen) Foley, Mrs. Joseph (Lena) Golden and Mrs. Doris O'Correll, all of Belleville. There are 30 grandchildren and 29 great grandchildren.

Also surviving are three brothers, Leslie, Felix and Fred, all of Tweed and four sisters, Mrs. Julie Genereaux, Madoc, Mrs. Ann Ashmore, Toronto, Mrs. Matilda Bonsey, Tweed, and Mrs. Lena Sexsmith, of Hastings.

The funeral will be held Wednesday morning from the O'Brien and Kavanagh Funeral Residence to Holy Rosary Church, with interment in St. James' Cemetery.

FREDERICK G. W. McCRAE

The funeral for Frederick Grant Winston McCrae was held Saturday at 3 p.m. in the Little and Jones Funeral Home in Frankford. The bearers were Henry Scaife, Gordon Hutchinson, John Hall, Fred Kidd, Donald Kidd and James Kidd. The Rev. Christopher Hodgson officiated. Alex McCrae was buried in the Stockdale cemetery.

The late Mr. McCrae lived at 1 Heathcedale Rd. in Toronto. He was born in Tudor Township 56 years ago and died on June 1 in Cookstville after a short illness. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eldy McCrae of Frankford and by his sister Janet of Frankford and his brother Norman McCrae of Belleville.

COMMANDER DIES

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Lt.-Gen. R. Birchard, commander-in-chief of the Alaska command of the U.S. Air Force, died Saturday after a flood plane dropped on him as he was on remote lake on the Alaska Peninsula. Birchard, 53, had headed the Alaska command for less than a year.

Seven Cars in Pile-up

What happens when your brakes fail can be strictly a matter of luck.

That George Francis Frechette, 24 Albion Street, it was, like that — only his luck was of the worst kind.

To start with, say police, his brakes failed approaching one of the busiest traffic spots in Belleville — Front Street at Victoria Avenue.

Worse, he was heading west—which meant he was travelling downhill on Victoria.

To cap it the time was around 4.30 p.m. Saturday — during the peak of weekend shopping traffic.

His car struck the automobile owned by Wilhelmus Waldron, R.R. 5, Belleville, which in turn said officers, then bashed two parked cars.

Meantime, Frechette's car was striking that of Paul Twist, 19, of East College Street, which in turn caused a chain reaction involving two other automobiles ahead.

Several of the drivers reported slight neck injuries.

Robarts Tries To Shift Taxes Off Dwellings

BURLINGTON, Ont. (CP) — Premier John Robarts told 1,400 guests at a political picnic Saturday that the Ontario government is seeking in every way possible to shift the burden of taxes away from the home owner so that more would be able to afford houses.

The premier said at the picnic organized by the Halton West Progressive Conservative Association that as election is not his concern at the moment.

Taxes could not go down, he said, as long as the government was forced to spend as much as it does.

Youth Arrested After Shooting

A 22-year-old father today is still in fair condition, struggling to recover from a bullet wound suffered Saturday as he tried to wrest a loaded rifle from a man in a Belleville home.

Bruce Douglas, 101 North Park Street, is in Belleville General Hospital with a chest wound suffered during the incident.

In custody, charged with wounding is 20-year-old Paul Thomas Howard, arrested in his car near Madoc after friends of the wounded man called police from the home.

At least five persons apparently were in the house at the time.

George Fox, 27, said he, Douglas, a Douglas Reid and the accused man's landlady, Mrs. Mary McInroy, were downstairs when a shot rang out.

Fox said he and Douglas went upstairs where they saw a man with a rifle. As they were talking, Douglas was shot, and he helped him downstairs to a car.

Police said Howard was arrested after provincial police spotted a car answering the description of a district-alert at the main intersection in Madoc.

They stopped the vehicle on the northern outskirts of the village.

Douglas, said police, is married and the father of a young child.

Will Display 30 Paintings At Library

An exhibition from the Art Institute of Ontario entitled "Paintings of a Province" will be at the Belleville Public Library from June 6 to 16th.

Each of the thirty paintings by prominent Canadian artists represents a physical aspect of Ontario or expresses a feeling about a certain area of the Province.

'Fly-in' Breakfast Enjoyed

The result was a hearty outdoors breakfast had by all in ideal weather — and served by members of the Oak Hills Flying Club.

The big breakfast 'fly-in' drew private pilots from across Southern Ontario—and a couple from Quebec.

Furthest points were Petrolia and Montreal.

Local visitors helped swell the crowd and club members' wives served 150 breakfasts of bacon, eggs and toast — washed down generously with traditional air-borne' offering of coffee, tea or milk.

ANAF News

The French association "Ceux de la Somme" was started in 1856 to preserve the brotherhood among all Allied veterans who fought in the Sommes battles. Last year, H. W. Herridge, MP, who was wounded at Courcelette in 1916, while visiting the Somme battlefields as dean of the Parliamentary Committee on Veterans Affairs, was presented with the membership certificate and a registered number and the Somme Medal by an official of the association. Last week a member of the Duke of Edinburgh Unit received his registered certificate and the commemorative "Medaille de la Somme," believed to be the first presented in the Quinte district. The certificate and medal have been placed on view in the club's display window. Some overseas airmen are also invited to see this and if further information is needed on how to obtain the medal and membership contact Cde. Art Hobbs who will be glad to help with any details.

All veterans are invited to attend the memorial service to honor the comrades who have passed on, will be observing Zwick's Island on Sunday, June 11th. Parade will form up to the right of the entrance, near the tennis courts at approximately 1.30 p.m. This will be the first ceremony of Veterans' Week and a good turnout is expected.

On Monday, June 12th, No. 49 Ladies' Auxiliary, Duke of Edinburgh Unit, are putting on a Veterans' Centennial Dinner to commence at 6.30. Members here are asked to get their tickets beforehand as no tickets will be sold at the door. Give the little woman a break and come on down.

Next Thursday, June 8th, there will be the last general meeting until September. Amongst other things on the agenda is the Centennial events the Unit will take part in during Veteran's Week, the big summer picnic and the club's own Centennial project. A good turnout is hoped for so that all members may be conversant with everything that is happening. It is important that you attended.

Cde. Ray Fletcher reports the following comrades in the Belleville Hospital Bart Herrington, 247, Ross Jamieson, 248, R. Marsette, 1st 3, Hank Boyle, 250 and Ralph Craig with Cec Chapman at home bome but confined to his bed. All have been visited and looked after.

Remember the 'Blood for Peace' clinic at the clubrooms on Wednesday, June 14th. All who are able to give blood are strongly urged to make it a point to attend as the need is great at all times.

The Caring — Centennial Sports Day polices are on the notice board so if you wish to compete please put your name down under whatever sport you decide. The Sports chairman has in down up his schedules before-hand to ensure smooth operation. The darts will start at 1.00 p.m. Shuffleboard starts at 2.00 p.m. and also cribbage. Trophies, cups and cash prizes. Entrance fee: fifty cents.

Record Number of Lawbreakers

The silly season started for police in the Quinte district during the weekend as soaring temperatures seemingly spurred extreme reactions.

Dragsters, drunks and disorderly citizens in general saw police patrols mainly pacing a record number of peacebreakers.

In Belleville, veteran police officers reported it one of the busiest weekends they could recall.

Friday night the c e l block was filled, emptied then filled again. The performances were repeated Saturday.

Meantime, police were standing in safe-keeping cases of beer and bottles of whisky confiscated in various checkups through out the city.

Much of it came from teenagers.

Saturday night on Station St. one man was spotted walking the centre of the road, trying to coax a ride from passing motorists with a full bottle of booze.

Topple Status

TORONTO (CP) — A sculpture, insured for $2,500 and part of a major exhibition at city hall, was toppled from its base and destroyed Saturday. The destroyed artifact was Totemic Structure, Number 1, by Patricia Pulford, of Newmarket, Ont. Dorothy Cameron, organizer of the exhibition, claims another piece, called Windflower, was damaged by children during the Victoria Day weekend.

IRELAND'S SEE NEW G.E. LINE

Jack Ireland and his staff have recently returned from Toronto where they attended a showing of General Electric's new 1967-68 line of ranges and laundry equipment.

Besides glamourous new styling, many new features have been offered, such as: non-fogging picture windows in ranges with self-cleaning ovens; an automatic "Scrub" surface unit which turns ordinary pots and pans into automatic utensils; in-the-sink model which is portable; automatic, dial-controlled, electric "Frost-Less" refrigerator which signals automatically when coast is coaked exactly rare, medium or well-done; a "keep warm" vent saver maintains food at ready-to-serve temperatures; a self-basting automatic rotisserie . . . and many other broad new features.

General Electric automatic washers are now actually two washers in one with the "Mini-Basket" which is perfect for small loads or delicate or lovely fabrics. The Mini-wash saves all the time normally spent in hand washing. General Electric washers are so gentle with your fabrics and now offer a wider selection of wash and spin speeds and special cycles.

The new General Electric dryers offer all of the ingredients of perfect outdoor drying conditions, but without sun fading, shelter from rain or air-borne dirt. Practically all types of washables can now be dried perfectly with a special setting for the care of the new "Permanent Press" garments.

All of these ultra-modern features are nothing however, unless they work. . . in fact, General Electric says: "It's a Woman's World." To see just how true this slogan is, visit the Ireland's new showroom location, on Front Street, (just south of the lower bridge) and see for yourself.

Just Don't Give a Hoot

The spillover at Cannifton dam doesn't seem to concern this group of swimmers who cooled off in Moira waters on the weekend. Shown are Mrs. Mary LeBlanc, Carol Brant, Marline Brant and Dorothy Scea.

The Heat's Here

Parks and Water Spots Weekend Havens

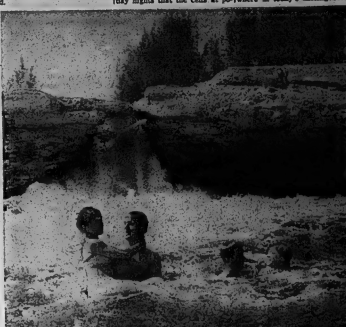
The year's first prolonged hot spell generated pressure on the public access in the Quinte district during the weekend.

Waterways, from provincial parks to local swimming holes, swarmed with those seeking to beat the 80-degree heat.

In district forests, firewatchers, nervous of tinder-dry conditions, sounded the alarm on 13 fires in the Quinte hunkland — many of them caused by campers and careless smokers.

There was a series of traffic accidents — one of them fatal.

In Belleville, the brakes failed on one automobile and the result was a multiple smash involving seven cars!



Some sought to get away from it all by rising above it.

Taking to the air, 45 flyers from as far away as Montreal touched down at Oak Hills Flying Club Sunday for a fly-in breakfast in the clear cool of the morning.

So many persons were run in for boozing, brawling and general nuisances Friday and Saturday nights that the cells at police headquarters were emptied four times!

For other details see elsewhere in today's Intelligencer.

Youth on Motorbike Killed in Collision

PICTON (Staff) — The second fatal motorcycle accident in two weeks near Outlet Provincial Park Sunday killed one youth and hospitalized two others.

Fatally injured when his machine collided head-on with an oncoming motorcycle on a curve two miles west of Cherry Valley was Graham Taylor, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Taylor, Kingston.

He was dead on arrival at Kingston General Hospital. A pillon passenger, Wesley Baker, 21, of R. R. 1, Cataraqui, was detained in Prince Edward County Memorial Hospital here with head injuries.

Two weeks ago a Belleville man was killed when his motorcycle crashed at the park entrance, a short distance from yesterday's mishap.

Fire Started In Woodshed Of Duplex

PICTON (Staff) — Firemen early Sunday morning quickly prevented what might have been a very serious fire in a two-family duplex on East Mary Street in Picton.

The fire started in a woodshed attached to the rear of the two-storey brick building. The building is an old one and had the fire really "got hold" it could have caused serious consequences. One side of the dwelling was occupied by Mary Kinney, a local photographer, the other by a town employee Bill Vidito. The shed was damaged badly, the house and the contents suffered mainly smoke and water damage. No comment has been made by fire officials here but circumstances surrounding the cause of the fire are suspicious.

New Industry

Eight Acres of Land Optioned

Belleville is to get a new light industry, it was quietly confirmed Saturday.

It is a new branch plant of International Cooperage Limited, manufacturer of specialty-processed, light-weight containers.

The operation is not expected to be a big employer, since it is highly-automated, but nonetheless has optioned eight acres of land in the northeast end of Belleville.

City council tonight will be asked to pass a bylaw authorizing Mayor Jack Ellis and the city clerk to formally sign the option.

However, the option's existence was sprung by the mayor Saturday to the official party inaugurating the Centennial Year program of Black Diamond Cheese.

At the end of a tour of the plant Mayor Ellis called the official visitors together and made the announcement.

International Cooperage products already are being used by Black Diamond in packing of large-size cheese, and the mayor used one of the containers drums to explain the new industry's background.

The company, with head office in Niagara Falls, Ont., is a U.S. subsidiary with plants elsewhere in Canada, including Montreal and Hamilton.

City services have been laid on for the site — east of Superior Electric, the city's last industrial acquisition — and a railway spur line is in the offing from nearby Canadian National, the mayor said.

Two Brothers In Hospital After Mishap

TWEED — Two brothers were taken to hospital yesterday after police said their car slammed into a tree on a county road east of here.

George Gerow, 26, of Tweed, suffered a fractured knee and ankle in the mishap. His brother Maurice was also taken to Belleville General Hospital for observation.

Their condition were described as satisfactory.

Picnic Tables In District Well Populated

With temperatures crowding the 90-degree mark, summer like weather arrived with a rush in the Bay of Quinte district over the weekend.

It was a perfect weekend for picnicking, for taking a Sunday afternoon drive, sailing on the bay — or getting in that last bit of vegetable garden.

With furnaces hardly yet cold, domestic air conditioners sprang to life as residents sought to beat the heat.

The city's Zwicki's Island Centennial Park had an almost full house on Sunday. The island's picnic tables were well populated by picnic parties and space on the parking lots was almost at a premium as cars jammed into the area.

And the summer weather is already being reflected at the city water filtration plant where for the past three days an average of six million gallons of water has been pumped.

Kiwanis Club Horse Show Is Success

PICTON (Staff) — Officials of the Picton Kiwanis Club are gratified with the success of their annual Spring Horse Show this year. Large crowds were in attendance for each of the three performances. The show began on Friday evening and ran through Saturday afternoon and evening, in spite of another horse show in the area there were many entries and the program included everything from comedy acts to some fine jumping. The jumping was held outside of the community centre at the fair grounds on Saturday afternoon rather than indoors. Although a good layer of dirt was spread on the arena floor no chances were taken in having the jumpers slip and possibly cause some injury to either horse or rider.

A highlight this year of the horse show was a centennial costume event where contestants dressed in 1867 costumes to ride in their horse drawn vehicles. Western classes were as usual very colorful as were the hackneys and tandem "set-up." The show is jointly sponsored by the Picton Kiwanis Club and the Agricultural Society.

The City Cooler

Plan Two Bridge Structures

A mid - June start on construction of two bridge structures over the Moira River to replace the present Fairfield's Bridge south of Foxboro, is planned by the Hastings county roads and bridges committee.

General contractors for the construction are Con-Bridge Ltd. of Toronto, the lowest of six bidders with a contract price of $131,879.50.

Wilson's Concrete of Belleville will supply the pre - stressed concrete girders under a separate contract at approximately $62,000. The overall cost of the work, including approaches is estimated at $267,000.

County Engineer Peter Anderson said the contract called for overall completion by October 15th with a requirement that the new structures be open for traffic by Labor Day for the convenience of school buses.

As at present there will be two bridge structures — one with a clear span 100 feet length and the other 200 feet with one pier in mid - stream.

The structures will be 30 foot in width with a pedestrian walk on the north side.

The cost of the two new bridge spans is eligible for an 80 per cent subsidy from the Ontario Department of Highways.

Education and Industry

Has our educational system and industry become such a vast, impersonal, juggernaut that in the case of each the right hand does not know what the other hand is doing? There is some evidence of such a breakdown in communication — a mix-up in education and industrialists, and perhaps even among the various elements of each.

At least, that is the conclusion afforded by last week's discussions in Belleville when communication — or the lack of it — was the theme. And while there was a tendency to reduce the whole subject to cliches it was evident there is an overriding need to bring educators and industrialists into closer touch. The suggestion from the meeting that a committee be formed for this purpose was a logical one.

Consider an example from industry. Belleville representatives who visited Waterloo, Ont. airport recently learned that such a facility greatly enhances business communications. Conversely, lack of a commercial airport here is one reason for the reluctance of firms to establish in the Quinte area.

Students were said to be inadequately informed of job opportunities in industry. To this it may be said that the task of the educational system — the government and community level — and in co-operation with industry, is to acquaint students with such opportunities, and with training programs if any, and to encourage them to embark on an industrial career if that is their desire.

But it must be remembered that young people are not just automatons, or economic units, to be shoved willy-nilly into the industrial grind as if that were all life in Canada has to offer. "Life is not just beer and bacon," as someone once put it. Education must cater to the whole man, and its advocates must recognize the fact they are dealing with human beings.

In these efforts to remedy industry's manpower shortage it is possible that the broader educational processes that young people should be embracing are being sacrificed exclusively in the interests of industry.

It is true industry is the principal fact of economic life in Canada. Industry is our bread and butter and we must have the people to keep the wheels turning. Yet as educators readily admit these days the learning process should be more a matter of teaching young people to think, to absorb knowledge and use it creatively, than a mere cramming of facts.

A fine balance in mental and psychological development should also reflect the beauty of this world as seen in nature and in art, literature and music. Even the United States, with all its establishment accomplishments, none has not neglected the humanities. Some of the greatest artistic achievements of creative man have originated in the United States. Canada should see to it that it does not neglect this side of life.

It is puzzling that this problem of supply and demand in relation to graduates for industry is being taken seriously only now. Being the organizational society it is, Canada should have gone to this problem long ago since. It may be asked, has the Government, as the central educational authority, no guidelines for the whole related field of industrial expansion, planning of personnel and the recruitment of skilled people concerned?

Moreover, it should not be necessary for delegates to come to a conference such as the one held in Belleville and hear it said, "We want industry to know what education is thinking and we want education to know what industry is thinking."

In other words, in Centennial Year we should not be groping around in this fashion, wondering what is going on. Education, industrialists and public at large need some of the spirit of Expo, with emphasis on knowing what goes on and getting things done.

Another thought, in conferences of this nature in future it would be an advantage to have student representation. The young people from the high schools and universities should be heard too.

Tempus Fugit

The life and times of a Hollywood star are as good a yardstick as any of the old adage, "It's later than you think."

The death of Claude Rains at the age of 77 recalls a film career spanning 25 years in which he played many varied roles, from lovers to villains, and sympathetic scoundrels to doting fathers.

In recent years the British-born actor with the soft cultured voice shunned city life, living on a farm in Pennsylvania and later in New Hampshire which with Vermont remains one of the last American outposts of the quiet solitary life.

We learn too that Spencer Tracy, now 67, has completed his last movie with his co-star of many years, Katherine Hepburn. Yes, time marches on!

Negroes Hurt Most by Sanctions Against Rhodesia

By CAROL KENNEDY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Despite periodic brave words from British ministers, there seems little indication that the backsliding Rhodesia problem will be solved from the corridors of Whitehall—where critical decisions concerning the British Empire were made for centuries.

After 18 months of punitive measures designed to force the downfall of Ian Smith's white-supremacist government, the hottest country appears to be economically limited in ability to bring her rebel colony into line.

Britain believes she has thrown a wall around the Rhodesian economy by severing all trade and financial links. For six months the United Nations Security Council mandatory sanctions on such key Rhodesian exports as copper and tobacco and such imports as oil and machinery.

But some other countries are not translating their disapproval of Rhodesia into the marketplace.

A Conservative backbencher quoted figures this week claiming that in the first two months of 1967 France—which abstained from the UN resolution—sold 222 per cent more to Rhodesia than in the comparable period of 1966. West Germany sold 62 per cent more and Italy 79 per cent more while Switzerland bought 107 per cent more Rhodesian goods.

Rhodesia is getting enough oil through South Africa and Portuguese Mozambique that she can subsidize.

Ian Smith still sits tall in the saddle in Salisbury, mocking Prime Minister Wilson's 15-month-old prediction that Rhodesia would crumble in "weeks rather than months."

Because Britain only wants to weaken the Rhodesian economy enough to cause political change, she only wants to cripple the economic screws further if to appeal to the UN to enforce further measures against a wider range of goods.

Rhodesia's economy has been severely hit in some areas—the sugar industry is paralyzed, auto assembly plants have shut down and an estimated $18-to-$20,000,000 worth of unsold tobacco lies stockpiled in warehouses and aircraft hangars.

Voluntary sanctions reduced Rhodesia's export trade to $240,000,000 in 1966 from $429,000,000 in 1965 and Whitehall experts calculate mandatory sanctions will slice a further $60,000,000 this year.

Yet reports from Rhodesia show that sanctions have hardly touched the average citizen's day life for the 230,000 prosperous whites, although by a bitter irony that figure represents only unemployment for the 4,000,000 Negroes—the people on whose behalf Britain is waging economic war.

In fact some Rhodesian businessmen never had it so good.

The challenge of producing substitutes for imported goods has caused a minor industrial revolution in the manufacturing industry.

Although Whitehall officials express confidence that Rhodesia can't live off its own fat for ever, there is almost grudging admission behind closed doors that sanctions are not working.

"We can't say when something will happen," said one Commonwealth office man.

"After all, these people are British, and if they want to stick it out, they'll stick it out."

"The washer's on the blink, the stove's actin' up, the kids are down with the chickenpox an' all you can yak about is that we're on the brink of a third world war ...."

Waiters in the Bay of Quinte in this district have reached unprecedented levels following heavy spring rains, city hall officials said today. Reaching a new high of nearly four feet above normal, water is sweeping over Victoria Park where the retaining wall is totally submerged.

The demand for living accommodation in Belleville is increasing daily. In spite of the fact that the air stations have provided married quarters for 75 or more personnel with families of two or more children, the stream of applicants at the Rooms Registry here continues according to Mrs. J. Mrs. Col. W. N. Ponton sent some young maple trees from this city to England a year ago. Recently he received some leaves from these trees which are now growing in a friend's garden in London. The trees are evidently becoming acclimatized with good results.

Poverty Among Riches in Canada

Richard Needham in
The Globe and Mail

If a student really wants to travel, there is nothing — including the lack of money — that can stop him. Still, I'm told by a great many students that lack of money is the chief or only reason they're homebound. Why, I wonder, is this? Can't students make money by full time or part-time work — baby-sitting, delivering papers, waiting on table and such? Don't students get weekly allowances from their parents? Aren't most parents, in our affluent society, able to fork over at least enough ($10) for the return bus trip from Toronto to Montreal? And if all else fails, what's wrong with hitchhiking?

This money thing puzzles me. I got a letter the other day from a girl here in Toronto asking me to pay her way to Vancouver and back (about $75 on bus or train). Checking up on her, I found that her father had a good job, and that she lives in a high-priced home on a high-priced street in a high-priced part of the city. Why doesn't she ask her old man for the $75?

Last winter, I was in a small Nova Scotia community which reeked of wealth — big houses, big cars, television, broadloom, the whole bit. Some students told me they'd never been to Halifax, never been to Montreal, never been anywhere, sob sob. They didn't have the money, so they said; but their parents sure have it.

Is it possible the young people are our real poverty problem here in Canada — especially the young with well-to-do parents? That's one impression I get. On the other hand, we have young people spending millions on records, clothes, cosmetics, tape-recorders and the rest. So they aren't that poor.

I think I'll stick in my point; that the young, while professing they would like to travel, won't make the effort involved — the effort of making money, the effort of saving the money, the effort of getting parental permission. It's easier to stay home and be bored.

Pearson's Idea

LBJ Cool to Peace Plan

Kingston Whig-Standard

Not unexpectedly, President Johnson was not visibly impressed by Vietnam peace-making suggestions made by Prime Minister Pearson. The President and the Prime Minister got together during the visit of the former to Mr. Pearson's Harrington Lake summer home and Mr. Pearson tried to put over the latest ideas he has garnered for a cessation of the Vietnam bombing.

Since Canada has never officially taken a strong stand against the Vietnam war as waged by the United States, reactions to anything the statesmen say on the subject are likely to be themselves lukewarm. Thus it proved with Mr. Johnson.

The plan put forward by Mr. Pearson called for a unilateral end to the Vietnam bombing by the U.S. The Americans would stop the bombing, with simultaneous notice to North Vietnam that the President would be available for peace talks in some neutral place such as Canada.

The idea of the President of the United States making himself available to enemies of the Republic is hardly one to appeal to Americans, and least of all to their President. The leader of the strongest country in the world can hardly be expected to take time off to go half across the world and sit anxiously awaiting acceptance of his peace overtures by an enemy which, according to the American belief, has never shown the slightest sign of wanting to negotiate.

This may not have been precisely the reasoning of the President, but it is the reasoning the rest of the world ascribes to him and he won't thank Mr. Pearson for putting him in this position.

U.S. Gift to Canada

Peterborough Examiner

One of the obvious exhibits to see at EXPO '67 from this week onwards will be the magnificent crystal on display in the American pavilion. An illustration of this gift to Canada appears alongside these columns; it is named The Great Ring of Canada and is fashioned out of Steuben crystal and steel, and is cut and engraved to bear the armorial bearings of the ten provinces and two territories, crowned with the Canadian coat of arms.

The Ring was designed by Donald Pollard and Alexander Seidel. A fine expert even with if President Johnson does not, is sentenced be honoured in some suitable form by the people of the United States. The Ring is a gift from great virtue which symbolizes a close, but not over-whelming, relationship between two peoples of similar heritage and aspirations. Canadians, as is unfairly said, are the least searching and constant critics of the United States, sometimes unfairly so, but always in the spirit of two peoples looking for and striving for identical ideals.

We have our differences with the United States, and we have our fears of its mighty human and capital resources. But there is no question that the two nations stand in a special relationship in the Western World. They occupy the same continent, and their territories are comparable in physical resources, and one day will be so in their populations. When this day arrives, it will be important that by peace and deed, a tradition of understanding and friendship has been forged into a lasting bond, in such a tradition is the Steuben crystal.

The Prince And the Temptress

Hamilton Spectator

The young ladies of St. Margaret's school, Aberdeen, Scotland, have been warned by their principal not to wear miniskirts or too much lipstick or they will be expelled. Prince Charles helped organize at his school, Gordonstoun, last week-end.

The Duke of Edinburgh would have got a big chuckle out of that ruling. He has always believed the heir to the throne should be treated just like any other boy — and so he should. When Charles eventually comes to the throne, he will find his position a lot easier if he is a sophisticated and nowledgeable man.

Cold War Again

How Far Will Russia Go In Middle East Crisis?

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — The Middle East crisis may be the turning point in American efforts to continue a hard-nosed military effort in Vietnam while pursuing better relations with the Soviet Union.

In short, back to the cold war or worse, barring some flexibility on either side.

It depends partly on how deeply committed the Soviet Union proves to be to the Arab challenge to Israel and how far Premier Kosygin is prepared to go in support of Egypt's President Nasser.

Democrat Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota said Thursday after a briefing from State Secretary Rusk the Soviet role remains unclear here.

The other side of the coin is just what the U.S. response would be to any Soviet pressure, exerted through the Middle East crisis, for scaling down its Vietnamese military effort or adopting a more flexible attitude to negotiations with North Vietnam.

The official U.S. line since the earnest in early 1965 has been that that war and efforts toward a thaw in the cold war are mutually exclusive.

Yet, expectations of a tougher Soviet attitude have developed since the last peace efforts foundered.

The U.S. has been anxious in recent weeks to discount such things as the bumping of Soviet and U.S. destroyers, tougher talk from Soviet leaders and the prolonged absence from the U.S. of the Soviet ambassador, lipped publicly about the Middle East as the Soviet Union likely, and cautions privately in attempting to analyze Soviet motives.

Canadian and other diplomats say the U.S. decision to entertain the possibility that Vietnam and the Middle East are directly linked.

Conservative columnist David Lawrence, a strong backer of the U.S. role in Vietnam, writes that the Soviet, Union has "stirred up a new crisis in the world in an effort either to bluff or to assert Communist supremacy in Europe by taking advantage of the disarray of the Western alliance."

Civil rights leader Martin Luther King, at the other end of the political spectrum and an equally strong critic of Vietnam, sees a simple cause and effect between that war and President Nasser's latest shocks.

An irony for President Johnson, who appears to have solid backing on his Israel against the Arabs, is the support he now has from domestic critics of the

The men who have supported him in Vietnam, including such influential senators as Richard Russell of Georgia and John Stennis of Mississippi, are more cautious. They want the U.S. to tie up allied support, which is lacking in Vietnam, but it gives somewhat in Vietnam if Soviet pressure develops for such a step?

One possibility appears to be

Arabs and Jews In Open Hostility

said Jordanian planes also took part in the raid.

The hardest ground fighting appeared to be centred in the Sinai desert front involving Egyptian and Israeli troops. An Israeli dispatch said the army there had made gains but this was denied in Cairo. Fighting also broke out along the Egyptian - administered Gaza Strip farther north.

Jordanian and Israeli artillery duelled along the border of divided Jerusalem. Damascus said the Syrian army had gone into action on its front with Israel.

Both sides claimed sweeping victories in the air battles, the biggest of which broke out over the Sinai desert.

Cairo radio claimed 70 Israeli planes had been shot down. An Israeli Arab-language broadcast claimed Israel had destroyed 150 Egyptian planes.

Radio Cairo said Egyptian forces captured 14 Israeli pilots in the Suez Canal area. It said Egypt is seeking the United Nations Security Council a television recording of an interrogation session with the first Israeli pilot, who the radio quoted as saying his unit was ordered to raid an Egyptian airfield early today.

All Arab broadcasts called on the armies to drive the Israelis into the sea.

"We are on the threshold of the final battle and we hope that God will grant us victory," King Hussein of Jordan said in a broadcast.

Gen. Moshe Dayan, Israel's victorious commander in the Sinai war with Egypt in 1956, declared in his army:

"Soldiers of Israel, we are not setting out for conquest. Our only aim is to frustrate the attempt of the Arab armies to conquer our country."

Dayan said the main task of "to sever and crush the right of blockades and aggression which have been created around us."

The first Israeli - Arab war came as the new state was proclaimed May 15, 1948. Israel was formed out of Palestine, long under British mandate rule. This war was ended in an armistic in 1949, broken in 1956 when Israel, backed by France and Britain, attacked Egypt. That fighting ceased under pressure from the United States and the Soviet Union.

Iraq has been moving troops into Syria and Egypt for more than a week, but there was no report they had gone into action. The Arab high command in Cairo said Iraqi planes had joined Syria and Jordan in raids on Israeli targets.

Cairo Radio said Israeli planes were bombing Cairo and government denied any Egyptian cities had been bombed. Heavy anti - aircraft fire was heard from the outskirts of Cairo but no planes were seen over the centre of the Egyptian capital.

The Israeli army reported heavy fighting in the Negev desert of southern Israel, opposite the Gaza Strip and Sinai desert where Egypt had massed 80,000 troops. The Israeli government radio's military correspondent reported Israeli forces were advancing and Egyptian guns had been silenced in an artillery battle.

A Jordanian government spokesman reported "a fierce battle" in Jerusalem. He said Jordanian artillery set off "huge fires on the Israeli side."

The fighting in the Negev included tank and air battles as well as the artillery duel, the Israeli army said.

Brig. Ezah Weizmann, operations officer of the Israeli general staff, declared general mobilization in midmorning. The Jewish nation had been partly mobilized for several weeks.

Black Diamond Cheese Co. Produces Its Biggest Spread

Black Diamond Cheese produced one of its best spreads Saturday — dishing out a big foretaste of its public Centennial program.

The event was a cheese carnival, marking the opening of the company's Centennial Year plant tours.

With the bright Black Diamond plant building northeast of Belleville as the centrepiece, the company staged a series of events around the property to keep hundreds of spectators on the move — and interested.

The whole carnival breezed along with the sounds of music, film scenes, free drinks and snappily-conducted guided tours all in ideal weather.

Ile pace was maintained as the official party of public officials followed the lead of company president Donald Joss and kept speech-making to the minimum.

Fastest moving exhibit was a British double-decker bus which kept the smaller-fry travelling the grounds through the day.

Meantime, the grown-ups could get the inside information on one of Canada's best-known international industries on tours conducted by pretty Black Diamond office girls.

To further underline the charm of the occasion, Ontario Dairy Princess Dolly Ann Edmunds officiated at the opening.

And to emphasize that one of the Quinte district's oldest industries also is probably the most-modern in its planning the tours ended with demonstrations by the company's own computer.

About 20,000 Canadians To Get Centennial Medal

OTTAWA (CP) — A special silver centennial medal has been approved by the Queen and will be awarded to about 20,000 Canadians, it was announced Wednesday.

A committee headed by Undersecretary of State Ernest Steele will recommend names of recipients to the government.

The Canadian Centennial Medal, 1967, as it is formally known, probably will be awarded in most recipients July 1.

The federal committee now is asking heads of governments and associations across Canada for recommendations.

The announcement came from Prime Minister Pearson's office.

Six weeks ago, Prime Minister Pearson announced establishment of The Order of Canada, a new system of honors and awards also expected to be initiated July 1.

While the Order of Canada will be continuing, the Centennial medal is strictly a 1967 affair.

It is similar to the special Coronation Medal issued when Queen Elizabeth was crowned.

It will follow in precedence all regular and commemorative medals previously granted—the Coronation Medal, the Victoria Cross and so on—but will come before long - service, good-conduct and efficiency medals.

A press release from the prime minister's office said the medal will go to "Canadians selected from all sections of Canadian society, including the federal, provincial and municipal public services, the military, national associations, industry, labor, education, science and the arts.

Hungerford Will Have Celebration

Hungerford township is going to have itself a Centennial celebration on Saturday, June 10.

The day will see the opening of the township's new $45,000 garage at Stoco, the official opening of the revamped township hall at Tweed and a monster parade which already has more than 55 entries lined up.

In the evening a big banquet is scheduled for the Tweed - Hungerford Arena. Speakers for the banquet will be two Hungerford native sons, Frank Kiely and George Varty, both occupying high offices in provincial department of education administration. Also attending the celebration will be Marjorie Schofield, (Miss Canada).

Township Reeve R. C. Graham general chairman for the event says the day will bring the biggest crowd in years to Tweed and to the township. Proceeds from the evening will go toward paying off the Tweed - Hungerford Arena debt.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY
TORONTO (CP) — Fighting in the Middle East sent stock prices tumbling in moderate early morning trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.
The industrial index dropped 2.86 to 162.34 in the first hour, believed by some traders to be the biggest drop in an hour in recent TSE history.
It was .27 greater than the index drop of Nov. 22, 1963, the day President Kennedy was assassinated.
Western oils were off 4.79 to 148.12. Base metals fell 1.67 to 83.85 and golds .21 to 171.47.
The drop was a mild version of New York where the Dow-Jones index fell 30.77 in the first hour.
CPR was off 1¼ to 68¼, Algoma 1½ to 21 and Massey-Ferguson ¼ to 22¼.
Among base metals, Rio Algom fell 1 to 31¾, Conisco ¾ to 31¼ and Inco 1⅞ to 96½.
Bank stocks also took a tumble, with Montreal down 2¼ to 61½ and Imperial - Commerce 2 to 32½.
Among western oils, Scurry-Rainbow lost 1¼ to 22 and Hudson Bay ½ to 31¼.
Spectacle-ore also took a drubbing, with Frobex off 30 cents to 4.85 and Quebec Metagami 12 cents to 1.25.

SOCIAL

Before her recent marriage, Mrs. Ralph W. Sero, the former Joyce Lorraine Sweetnam, was entertained by the staff of Belleville Utilities at a presentation dinner. Mrs. Roger Hefes, Belleville, at a miscellaneous shower and by Mrs. Fred Peters, Deseronto, at a shower.

Joyce Lorraine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Sweetnam, Belleville, and, Ralph Wallace Sero, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sero, Deseronto, were married by Rev. James MacKnight, May 27, 1967 at 2.30 p.m. at Calvary Temple, Belleville. Mrs. Doris Osborne was organist, and Mrs. Ira Leach was soloist.

The bride, given in marriage by Grant Sweetnam, wore a floor-length gown of white organza with straight skirt, scoop neckline, elbow-length sleeves and lace borders. The back of her gown was designed with a flowing train of white organza and she wore a shoulder-length veil caught to a floral headdress of petals and satin leaves. She carried a bouquet of deep pink roses and ivy.

Mrs. Roger Hales, matron of honor, wore a floor-length gown of rose and pink silk georgette with Empire waistline and carried a bouquet of rose and pink carnation and ivy. The bridesmaids were Miss Carol Sweetnam, who wore a gown of rose and pink and Mrs. Ted Crews, who wore a gown of moss and lime green. Miss Elizabeth Sweetnam, flower girl, wore a floor-length dress of moss and lime green silk georgette and carried a basket of rose and pink carnations.

Richard Brand attended the bridegroom and the ushers were Kenneth Sero and Jerry Waite.

At the reception held at the home of the bride's parents, 43 Hillside St., the bride's mother received the guests, wearing a two-piece dress of silk shantung in navy blue with pink accessories and a corsage of red and pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a light blue lace dress with beige accessories and a corsage of red and pink roses.

For her wedding trip to the United States the bride chose a two-piece green silk dress with black and gold accessories and a corsage of bronze colored roses. On their, the couple will live at 43 Hillside St., Belleville.

Nun's Robes May Pass Out of Style

HAMILTON (CP) — Sister Mary Dorcas, the lone Roman Catholic nun teaching at York University, predicted Saturday that conventional nun's robes will be out of style by 1977.

Speaking at the Hamilton diocese Catholic Women's League convention, Sister Mary Dorcas said she wears conservative suits and dresses at the university and reverts to her nun's habit on weekends.

The teaching nun said she decided that religious garb is out of place in an entirely secular university.

Agnes McMahon of Toronto said high-rise apartments will not solve the housing problem.

Mary Dobell, of Toronto, first vice-president of the provincial council, called for greater official recognition of women by the church.

Mrs. G. T. Schmidt of Kitchener said more than $15,000 was raised in 1967. Portions of the money went to various charities, including the Vanier Institute of the Family.

Phm., son of Mrs. Katharine Johnston, Madoc, and the late Charles R. Johnston, Phm.B. The marriage will take place June 24, 1967 at 4 p.m. in Bridge Street United Church, Belleville.

IODE, Governor-general Michener Share Birthday

OTTAWA (CP) — Governor-General Michener and the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire shared a birthday party Saturday night at the opening of the IODE annual meeting.

The Governor-General told about 800 delegates and their escorts at the black-tie opening reception he had a special interest in the group "because we both saw the light of day in 1900."

He remembered that while he was Canada's high commissioner in India, he had co-ordinated an IODE gift of $2,000 for famine relief in that country. The organization has raised $12,000,000 for its educational and charitable projects since it began.

A highlight of the program for Mrs. Michener was a performance by eight-year-old pianist Angela Hewitt.

Mrs. Michener, in a dark green silk evening suit, called the little girl over after she had played selections by Haydn and Bach and pinned her own corsage on Angela's yellow party dress.

The president of the 27,000-member national organization, Mrs. J. Neil Gordon of Toronto, said in her speech that women today were being granted greater power and authority than ever before.

She urged an attitude of responsibility towards the new role.

Canadian Collection of Books About Women Given College

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Council of Women opened its annual conference Sunday in Montreal with the culmination of their centennial project — a formal establishment of the Lady Aberdeen collection of books at the University of Waterloo library at, Waterloo, Ont.

This pioneer Canadian collection of books "by and about women" was officially presented to the library by council president Mrs. H. H. Steed, Vancouver's citizen of the year.

The collection is the result of 10 years' work, and this year council members decided to complete the collection and provide for its establishment at the University of Waterloo as their centennial project.

The collection is named after Lady Isabel Aberdeen who was founder of the National Council of Women and president between 1893 and 1896.

Her daughter, Lady Marjorie Pentland of England, who was unable to attend the presentation, donated a necklace and bracelet made of Canadian gold, and filled with stones from different parts of the country, to the NCW archives.

They had been given to her as a wedding present by the NCW when she married in 1904.

Miss Elizabeth Long, chairman of the, arts and letters committee, and a member of the Winnipeg council, presented a bud vase which had belonged to Winnipeg suffragette when Manitoba women became the first in Canada to win the franchise. It was engraved with the words: We Want Our Vote.

Two hundred delegates from across Canada, and from Haiti, Barbados, Tunisia, and the Dominican Republic are expected to participate in the week-long convention.

Cathedral Choir Sings In Madoc

MADOC — A festival evensong and recital of choral and organ music was held at St. John the Baptist Anglican Church Wednesday night, conducted by the Very Rev. Richard G. Fleming, Dean of St. George's Cathedral, Kingston and the Cathedral Choir under the direction of Dr. George Maybee. The service was held as an act of thanksgiving for Canada's centennial and for the restoration of the church pipe organ.

Dr. Maybee was born in Madoc and began his musical studies on the local church organ. The choir under his direction sang six anthems and Barry Lloyd, associate organist from Kingston, played two selections.

A reception was held in the parish hall following the service. All proceeds of the recital went towards the organ fund.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mrs. Smith: "I dread Thursdays, my grandchildren spend the whole day here! Mrs. Jones can have time to shop and do errands. I enjoyed them when they were babies, but now they're into everything, and they wear me out."

Some grandmothers relish the chance to babysit and have the children to themselves. Others, who may be just as loving, do not have the patience or the strength to cope with active youngsters for long periods.

Be sure that Grandmother is not only a willing, but an eager, babysitter before you ask her to take on the children as a regular chore. It's better to let her invite them for visits to which she sets the time limit.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Atlantic Clam Chowder Is Expo Specialty

By MARY MOORE

At the Atlantic Provinces Pavilion at Expo you can order a bowl of piping hot Atlantic Clam Chowder for ninety or ninety-five cents. Before Expo opened I was there twice as some of you will remember. The Atlantic Provinces Pavilion, of course, was not serving food in March or October, but Mr. Sam Andrews, the manager, has reduced his restaurant recipe to household size and I have that recipe.

You can make it at home now and when you go to Expo later on this summer taste the original in the Atlantic Provinces Pavilion and compare notes with theirs.

ATLANTIC CLAM CHOWDER (Serves 8)

(Note: The bracketed ingredients are mine and are included for those who, like me, are Islanders and cannot buy in their communities some of the ingredients in Mr. Andrews' chowder.)

1¼ pints shelled clams (or two 10-oz. cans baby clams)
¼ lb. salt pork (or ¼ lb. peamealed back bacon plus 3 tbsps. butter or ¼ lb. side bacon)
½ cup finely chopped onion
½ cup finely chopped celery
2 cups hot water
1 tsp. chicken base (or 1 chicken bouillon cube)
2 cups (¼" diced raw potatoes (1 very large potato)
¼ to ½ tsp. salt (amount depends on the saltiness of the pork or bacon)
½ tsp. accent
¼ tsp. white pepper
2 cups whole milk

Drain clams, reserving liquid. Add enough water to liquid to make 1½ cups. Set aside.

Cut pork into ¼" cubes. Fry in large saucepan, render chopped salt pork (or chopped bacon in butter or side bacon without butter). Use as fat melts add the celery and onion and gently saute 5 min. without browning.

Stir the chicken base or bouillon cube into the hot water, add to pan along with potatoes, salt, accent and pepper. Cover and simmer 10 to 12 min. or until potatoes are tender. Add the clams and simmer 10 min. Add milk and heat to just below boiling point and serve at once in preheated soup tureen or soup bowls.

Notes: 1) If you use the 2 cans of clams as I did, you can reduce their simmering time to 5 min. for they are cooked. You could use minced canned clams if you desire.

2) I was told by a greenhide Expo visitor that she did not have to queue up at the Atlantic Provinces Pavilion for her lunch in May, so be sure to make it one of your lunch breaks.

Successful Living

Empathy Disturbs Peace of Mind

DORIS CLARE

The laws of Canada are the best we have managed so far; and the courts are run by trained people of integrity; people far better qualified than you or I to decide such issues. Better straighten up before you lock yourself in a psychological prison of your own making.

Dear Doris: We were over 40 when we married, both for the first time, two years ago.

Our physical relations have not become adjusted and I am afraid the problem is clouding our whole lives. Am afraid it was a case of the blind leading the blind.

I am naturally an affectionate person but lovemaking is foreign to my husband. I bought a book on the subject and tried to get him to read it too. He just laughed and quoted what another farmer told him: "That stuff is just a waste of time." — Disappointed.

Dear Disappointed: What back-number farmer has been sounding off to your self-conscious husband. He only shows his ignorance.

People of good understanding and education find it important to improve self-expression in marriage by learning and practice. What your husband feels to realize is that unless a woman is led up to the marriage act gently, she may be completely unable to arrive at the high point of it all.

At its best, it is the highest expression of a deep and lasting love between two people who have committed themselves to each other for life. I'm sending you my list of recommended books on the subject; and would urge that you talk with a marriage counselor.

Dear Doris: Where can I get information about summer camps for boys? I would like to send my 14-year-old to a camp where he could get male companionship and guidance he badly needs. (His father, a hotel night manager, can't seem to find time for him.)

I am enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope for your reply; also a clipping from your column, a l g ned "Irene", that inspired me to make this decision.—Hopeful.

Dear Hopeful: A good camping experience can work a miracle in the life of a boy at 14. Irene, whose boy had no father at all, found this out; and she went into debt to manage it.

I'm sending you the address of the camping association for your province.

Ann Landers

Husband Is Other Extreme to Slob

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I suppose I should be happy my husband is not a slob, but I'm beginning to think the other extreme is just as bad. Here is a sample of what goes on in our house before we leave for an evening, and it is driving me crazy.

He says, "Do I look O.K.?" I say, "Yes. You look fine, dear." He says, "Is this tie right with this shirt?" I say, "Honey, your tie is perfect." He says, "Are you sure my pants aren't too long?" I say, "No, dear, your pants are just right." He says, "Did I get a good haircut this time or did the barber take too much off over the ears?" I say "Your haircut is beautiful, dear."

Just as we get out of the door he'll say, "Is this jacket right with these trousers or should I go back and put on my herringbone?" I say, "Your jacket is perfect, dear." When we get in the car he says, "Do you think I should have put on my brown shoes?" I say, "These shoes are fine, dear."

Then when I ask him, "How do you think I look tonight?" he answers, "Why must you always fish for compliments! I'm getting awfully tired building you up."

What can I do with a guy like this? — M I.

DEAR M.I.: Nothing, so don't try. A man who is so unsure of himself is not going to give his wife much bolstering. So just continue to prop him up and feed his vanity because he sure does need it, Lady.

* * *

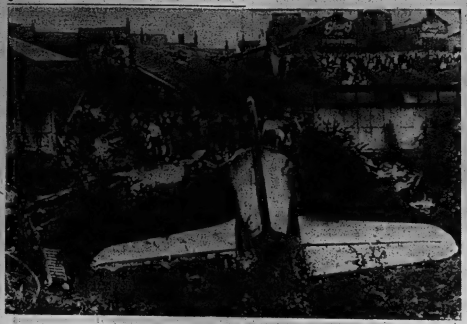
DEAR ANN LANDERS: If you do not accomplish another thing in your life, the way you have put the spotlight on mental illness deserves a medal.

I was deeply moved by the letter from the young woman whose mother-in-law accused her of using her "nerves" as an excuse to avoid responsibility. I'm an older woman who had to work to support myself. I am the victim of "nerves" or mental illness — or I am just plain nuts, whatever anybody wants to call it.

My children think I am faking and feeling sorry for myself. They are tired of me, but they are not half as tired as I am — of myself. At times I wish I could just die and get out of their way, but I keep hoping tomorrow will be better.

Mental illness is impossible to describe to a person who has good mental health. It's like trying to describe pain to the unreal. It's a million miles from nowhere. It has no beginning and no end.

Please tell your readers who can live reasonably normal lives, free of horrible depressions and agonizing fears, that they are truly blessed. — STILL FIGHTING.



DEAR FIGHTING: I have had dozens of letters today from people who share your problem. Your letter said it best, however. Chin up, and thank you for writing.

Tourist Airliner Crashes

Wreckage of a chartered British airliner is shown after the four-engine propeller-driven plane crashed into the centre of the industrial city of Stockport, England. Police said 72 aboard were killed. (AP Photo)

Press Calls for Re-examination Of Air Safety Regulations

LONDON (Reuters) — The British press united today in horror and anger to demand re-examination of air safety regulations as Britain counted a death toll of 180 killed during the weekend in two air crashes.

Filling their pages with pictures and blanket coverage of the two crashes—one at Perpignan, France, Saturday, which killed 88 persons and the second in central England Sunday which killed 72—the seven national dailies gave equal prominence on page one of their calls for an investigation into the type of aircraft used by vacation charter companies and the way they are flown.

At Perpignan, aeronautical experts continued sifting the wreckage of a Spanish - bound four-engined DC-4 which hit a Pyrenean mountainside killing all 83 passengers and five crew members aboard.

In Stockport, England, a team of doctors completed emergency operations on the 12 survivors of the second crash in which a four-engined Argonaut airliner hit a 30,000-volt electric power sub-station and fell into the centre of the industrial town.

The plane was on a charter flight returning vacationers from Palma in Majorca. It crashed in flames only four miles from nearby Manchester airport to which it was heading. Most papers pointed out that there were several factors common to both crashes: Both aircraft were propeller - driven; both were more than 12 years old; both were on charter to vacation companies.

LONDON (Reuters) — Prince Andrew, seven-year-old second son of the Queen and Prince Philip, developed measles during the weekend and was in bed at Buckingham Palace, a palace spokesman said Sunday.

Whooping Crane Eggs Are Placed In Incubators

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian and American naturalists used modern techniques and not-so-modern hot-water bottles last week to ease any immediate threat of extinction of the world's 43 surviving wild whooping cranes.

Darrell Eagles of the Canadian wildlife service, in a weekend statement, said a team of helicopter - borne biologists picked up six crane eggs from the birds' only-known nesting grounds in Wood Buffalo National Park, Northwest Territories.

The eggs were taken to Fort Smith, N.W.T., in portable incubators warmed by hot-water bottles. One of the eggs is expected to hatch this week.

In Fort Smith the eggs were transferred to an electric incubator fitted with a device that sounds an alarm at the slightest temperature fluctuation.

The eggs were flown to an experimental rearing station at Patuxent, Md., during the weekend. They will be hatched there in incubators.

Biologists plan to build up a captive, propagating flock and release offspring to bolster the wild population.

Before undertaking the delicate egg transference the biologists experimented with sandhill cranes to develop incubation and handling techniques. Survival of young whooping cranes has been poor in wet years and the International Migratory Bird Committee decided to salvage some of the eggs that would be lost anyway.

The biologists discovered a previously - unrecorded nest, bringing the total of plotted nests to eight.

The scientists reported their successful expedition to members of the International Migratory Bird Committee who, coincidentally, were holding a closed meeting here.

Mary Montgomery, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Montgomery, R.R. 1, Carrying Place, received an honors Bachelor of Arts degree in French and Spanish at convocation ceremonies at Queen's University, Kingston, June 2. She also received the medal for highest standing in Spanish and a book prize in French, given by the Ambassador from Switzerland. Miss Montgomery is a graduate of BCI and VS and is now employed at Expo.

SPORTS SLICES

By Geo. H. Carver
Sports Editor

Tomorrow is D-Day for the National Hockey League. It is "The Day of Extraction" — some of it painful, some of it painless.

Some 120 hockey players will head the Greeley advice to "Go west, young man, go west" —, but the big question today is "Who?"

The draft itself will rank as one of the biggest single news stories in NHL history and roughly 300 newsmen from across North America will be on hand.

A total of 84 players are subject to the draft with each of the current teams, Boston, Chicago, Toronto, Montreal, Detroit and New York being allowed to protect one goalkeeper and 11 other players prior to the start of the draft.

The protected list of the six current teams will be given to NHL president Clarence Campbell tonight and these will be announced by registry. The new clubs will receive the list 8 a.m. Tuesday.

The order of drafting by the six new clubs will be made by the drawing of the names from the Stanley Cup by Campbell. The order will determine the order of drafting for goalkeepers.

The current six teams, or Eastern Division clubs will protect one goalkeeper. Then the new team or Western Division club which has first "claim" will make a choice. The luck of the draw could determine the pick of the crews of the crop for some club.

The East team from which the West claim is made will then "fill" by taking a goalkeeper in its professional system and putting the name on the protected list. The goalie draft continues on the basis of heads until each of the East clubs have lost two goalies and the West teams received two.

There will be 18 rounds of claim-and-fill for the players other than goalies and the system works like this:

East Division club protects 11 players; West claims one player; East protects one player, West claims a player, East protects one player, West club claims three players then alternate claim and fill until West clubs have the maximum of 18 players or each East club has given up 18 players.

While there is a particular order of drafting among the West clubs, there is no set order for the drafting from the East division teams. That is, Montreal, for instance, could lose several players before another East club loses any. But once Montreal loses its 18 players, it withdraws.

Much has been written the past few weeks about aging hockey players rather than being subject to the draft are jumping the fence of the retirement pastures. Red Kelly of Leafs, also Terry Sawchuk, have announced retirement as has Boom-Boom Geoffrion of Rangers, unless he is given an executive job with the New York team.

But, Percy Campbell of the NHL has stated that if Boom-Boom is drafted and announces his retirement rather than report to the club that drafts him, he will be placed on the suspended list and that he won't be available to the Rangers in an executive capacity.

And that goes for "Chief" George Armstrong of the Maple Leafs who announced his retirement on Saturday. He gave no reason but hockey men believe he'll quit rather than be drafted. If he quits, it will be for good.

Speaking of the draft, Percy Campbell says: "I feel that because there appears to be mutual satisfaction among the clubs if augers well for the future of the NHL which is on the threshold of a new era."

So that as it may, but it note the six eastern moguls have protected the cream of their crops which leaves them with clubs much superior to those which will wear the uniforms of the six western outfits.

In the minds of a lot of hockey men, the "new era" shapes up as one which will see the drama leave the midgets until such time comes when there is some sort of equalization of power. And as Bob Wilson told me in Toronto recently "that may take five years."

Pan-Am Games

Morris On Lift Team

MONTREAL (CP) — Selection has been made of the weightlifting section of the Canadian team to represent the country at the Pan-American Games in Winnipeg next month.

Dhoni Hon Chan and Pierre St. Jean, both of Montreal, were selected to the Canadian team along with Aldo Roy of Ottawa and his brother Ralph of Sudbury, Ont., Robert Sankary of Sarnia, Paul Bjarson of Vancouver and Price Morris of Belleville, Ont.

Morris won the heavyweight division during Saturday's competition when he lifted a total of 995 pounds in the press, snatch and clean and jerk categories. George Dean of New Westminster, B.C., was second with 913 pounds and Fred Kotterer of Edmonton was third with a total of 783 pounds.

Sport Miniatures

QUEBEC CITY, Que. (CP) — Klaus Ross, of Laclize, Que., and Toronto's Paul Manson won the Ceux Railey des 1,000 Sunday after amassing a total of two penalty points in their sponsored Datsun 1-300.

Sudbury Italia moved into first place in the Ontario National Soccer League Sunday while Toronto Hellas pushed into a three-way tie for second by blanking Windsor Tuotonia 2-0.

Damascus Won Belmont

Reception Finished With Broken Leg!

NEW YORK (CP)—It's acknowledged the fast quarter-mile of the Belmont Stakes is where the breeding of a horse shows.

This being so, Damascus showed his breeding Saturday by moving from sixth place to take the $125,000 - added race and Cool Reception showed his just by getting to the wire.

The gallant Canadian-owned Cool Reception fractured a cannon bone in his right foreleg 90 yards from the end of the 1½ - mile event and finished a fast - fading second in a race that brought a sudden end to his racing career.

An operation was scheduled this morning in an attempt to pin the shattered ends of the bone together and save the life of the three-year-old son of Nesconset, owned by Mrs. Grace Reid of Toronto and Mrs. William Seitz of Montreal.

Dr. William Reed, owner of a horse hospital adjacent Aqueduct race track, ate of the Belmont, x-rayed the leg minutes after the race then said: "... the horse's chances of survival are reasonably good."

But trainer Lou Cavalaris Jr. said later in the barn that the racing career was over for Canada's top two-year-old in 1966.

Red - eyed and husky-voiced, he said:

"Best thing we can say is that he was a good horse.

"That's what makes racing. There's no such thing as a sure thing.

The tall, handsome chestnut with a startling white-blazed forehead had been pointed through his short racing life at the June 24 Queen's Plate at Toronto's Woodbine track, Canada's premier thoroughbred event.

Now they are fighting to save his life.

Jockey Johnny Sellers said after the race:

"It had to jump off him after the finish, He also was sore there was no way I could ride him back to the unsaddling area.

"I felt him falter at the 18th pole and he was really numb after the race.

"Boy, he ran that last 18th on guts."

The injury occurred after Cool Reception had beaten back a challenge by Kentucky Derby winner Proud Clarion and was accepting the challenge of Preakness champion, Damascus, which had driven from deep in the pack to second at the head of the stretch to win by 3½ lengths in two minutes, 28 4-5 seconds, about two-fifths ahead of Cool Reception.

"It wasn't the jockey's fault when he tried to respond to the that Cool Reception got hurt drive that Damascus put to him," Cavalaris said. "He tried the horse well. . . ."

Sellers took Cool Reception out of the seventh hole fast, chasing down early - leader Prinkipo at the first turn and controlling the race for the next mile until Damascus challenged.

He subsequently left his stable in the trust of his daughters—Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Seitz —and Cool Reception realized $153,478 for them, including the $25,000 he won Saturday.

But, should he survive, he still could produce a fortune in breeding fees, having proved his mettle Saturday.

Damascus returned $104,950 to his owner, Mrs. Edith Bancroft, for his victory while third-placed Gentleman James took home $12,500 and Proud Clarion $6,250 for finishing fourth.

Team Shocked

Barber Walks Out On Owls!

BALTIMORE (AP) — Pitcher Steve Barber quit Baltimore Orioles Sunday night and failed to accompany his team on its flight from Baltimore to anaheim, Calif., where the Orioles open a five-game series tonight against the Angels.

The 28-year-old left - hander was knocked out of the box during a five-run rally by the Washington Senators in the fifth inning Sunday. The Orioles eventually won in the 10th inning on a two-run homer by Andy Etchebarren.

According to a newspaper report, Barber walked away from world champions' jet moments before it took off from Baltimore's Friendship Airport for the West Coast.

Barber is reported to have told an airlines' official, who followed him into the terminal building, "Tell them to go on without me. I quit."

Manager Hank Bauer, his team - mates and Orioles' coaches were shocked by Barber's unexplained departure after he had accompanied them on the team bus from Memorial Stadium to the airport.

Reds Grab 14th One-Run Win

By DICK COUCH

Cincinnati Reds are going hitting today but manager Dave Bristol may have to make another trip to his corner barbershop.

If he does, you can bet he will not ask for a closer shave.

The National League-leading Reds ran up a 5-0 lead against Atlanta Sunday, then held off the Braves 5-4 for their fourth straight victory. It was the 14th one-run game for the Reds in their last 15.

"I had a haircut the other day and had all the grey hairs cut out," the Cincinnati pilot cracked after giving all the Reds a day off today.

Cincinnati's third one-run verdict over Atlanta in three days protected the Reds three-game lead over second-place St. Louis Cardinals, winners 4-3 over Chicago Cubs. Third - place San Francisco Giants swept a doubleheader from the fading New York Mets, 7-0 and 5-4.

Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed Los Angeles Dodgers 4-1 and Philadelphia Phillies overcame Houston Astros 6-4 in other Sunday games.

In Saturday's action, Cincinnati nipped Atlanta 8-7, LA dumped Pittsburgh 5-1, New York and San Francisco split a doubleheader with the Giants taking the opener 11-3 and the Mets the nightcap 2-1. Philadelphia doubled the score on Houston 4-2 and Chicago Downed St. Louis 7-5.

Two-Run Homer Did It

Orioles Snatch 19-Inning Win

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Andy Etchebarren, unable to bunt, summoned enough energy to launch the high - flying Baltimore Orioles into the air, taking along a couple of patient young baseball fans who must have been flying even higher.

Etchebarren, after failing to bunt twice, cracked a two-run homer in the 19th inning that lifted the Orioles over Washington Senators 7-5, Sunday, ending the longest game of the baseball season.

Besides bringing the Orioles their 14th triumph in 20 games, it sent them winging toward Friendship Airport, where two boys, about 5 years old, had waited through the marathon to fly with the players on a trip of a lifetime for a youngster.

Weekend Split

Leafs Gain On Wings

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

None of the International League's eight teams was able to make much headway Sunday, but on weekend action Toronto Maple Leafs gained a notch on league - leading Rochester Red Wings.

The baseball Leafs edged Columbus 3½-2 Saturday while Rochester suffered a 12-1 humiliation by seventh-place Richmond Braves. In other Saturday games, Buffalo Bisons nipped Toledo Mud Hens 4-3 and Jacksonville Suns bleaked Syracuse Chiefs 5-0.

In doubleheader play Sunday, all four programs were split. Columbus took Toronto 4-2 before bowing 7-5. Rochester edged Richmond 3-2 and lost 5-0. Buffalo took the opener 5-2 before dropping a 5-3 score to Toledo, and Syracuse dropped a 3-1 decision to Jacksonville before rebounding 3-1.

The results left Toronto four games behind Rochester with Toledo and Buffalo tied two games farther back.

Skeet Shoot

Family Shares Honors

ST. JANVIER, Que. (CP)—The Piscilelli family from North Haven, Conn., won several prizes and most of the attention at the Canadian and Quebec skeet championships which concluded Sunday.

Dominic, 60, won the high over-all title, missing only six targets in 500 shots. His wife, Arlene, took the women's title with a respectable 431 out of 500 for six days of shooting.

Their three - year - old son, Kevin, won only a soft drink for his efforts at the championships but he was clearly the most popular of all the shooters.

Standing a few inches shorter than this father's 13-gauge shotgun, Kevin calmly blasted a few shots at the end of the range, supervised and coached by his parents and dozens of fascinated spectators and officials.

His father, a sporting goods dealer, won only one gauge shoot, the .410, and was one of the few high-ranking shooters at the championships who never managed a perfect round, but is calm consistent marksmanship in a variety of weather conditions gave him the edge.

Runner-up to Piscilelli was Jack Pakyn, a member of the famed Detroit Wreckers squad that once shattered 300 birds in a row at St. Janvier. Pakyn blasted 433 of 500 birds and won the 20-gauge open earlier in the week.

Paul Laporte of Montreal, a relative newcomer to skeet shooting, hit one fewer than Pakyn and was awarded the high over-all crown in the Canadian closed section.

INTREPID WINS AGAIN

OYSTER BAY, N.Y. (AP)—Intrepid easily scored its second straight victory in the New York Yacht Club Regatta Sunday. Skipper Bus Mosbacher, who won the first of two races for 12-metre yachts by one minute Saturday, finished Sunday's race a full three minutes ahead of Constellation, skippered by Bob McCullough, in the 34-mile, triangular course.

NHL In Session

May Give More Power To Linesmen

MONTREAL (CP)—The biggest poker game in the National Hockey League's 50-year history doesn't start until 10 a.m. Thursday, but by 8 p.m. today six of the participants in the game will have decided the top 12 players they intend to stay with.

The game is the NHL's complicated expansion draft whereby each of the six old clubs—Chicago, Detroit, Montreal, Toronto, New York and Boston - deliver to Clarence Campbell, the league president, a list of 12 players they will protect.

Next season the league is expanding to a 12-team two-division circuit. The new entries—Pittsburgh Penguins, Philadelphia Flyers, Minnesota North Stars, St. Louis Blues, Los Angeles Kings and California Seals — will deliver players valued at $2,000,000 each to Campbell today for the 20 players they will receive with their franchise.

Before the draft gets under way several other items of business will take place. The governors of the six current club stair off the four-day annual convention meeting as a single body for the final time.

At the same time, the new division governors will be meeting in an adjacent salon of the hotel.

The NHL rules committee also has a morning meeting scheduled. Campbell said this committee will discuss a number of policy changes affecting league officials.

"We will discuss the sharing of responsibility by our referees and linesmen of the ice," Campbell said.

Referee - in - chief Scotty Morrison will examine and determine whether his officials are being deployed for the best results.

Campbell said this meeting will examine how officials are employed in other major sports such as baseball, football, basketball and soccer. In recent seasons the league has come under criticism for the manner in which its officials carry out their duties.

"One purpose of this meeting will be to see how we can relieve the referee of more of the mental chores so he can concentrate on calling fouls. We'll examine the possibility of leaving it to the discretion of the linesman to call minor penalties of a certain nature (bench minors for too many men on the ice).

As for the draft, Campbell said all the hazards rest with the claiming clubs. If a player is claimed by one of the new entries but does not wish to report it will be up to the claiming team to persuade him to make the move.

Will Seek To Heal Soccer Split

MUNICH (AP)—The unsanctioned National Professional Soccer League has agreed to meet with the U.S. Soccer Football Association in an attempt to resolve the soccer split in North America.

Sir Stanley Rous, president of the International Soccer Federation, said Saturday he had received a letter from Ken Macker, NPSL president, agreeing to the meeting with the U.S. soccer governing body.

"There are many problems to be solved, but we are sure that they will be settled and it will conclude with a happy ending for soccer" he said.

Outslug Kingston, Peterboro

Lombank Bats Blast Twin Wins

Perhaps the Belleville Senior baseball club should change the team name to "June" after playing a pair of BOBA weekend games on the road.

Floyd Goegan's Lombanks "busted out all over" to outslug Kingston Lakeview Indians 10-3 Saturday afternoon and Peterborough New while going through four Limestone hurlers, and Peterborough by a big 17-9 margin.

"The victors were behind only once during the weekend when the Petes took a 2-0 first-frame lead last night. Kingston came back to tie it in the second beat, added one in the third and a pair in the fifth and eighth to grab a commanding lead.

A five-run fourth inning in Kingston padded a 2-1 lead and the Lombanks coasted in from there, allowing the losers' final pair in the ninth to cut the 10-1 margin.

Pitching ace Bill Latchford scattered five hits over as many different innings to get the decision over Kingston. He experienced trouble in the ninth when he walked the first two Kingston batters and MacDonald hit safely to drive them home. Latchford struck out five, ruining his control problems at times to walk eight.

Second baseman Pat Asselstine handled the pitching chore for the short-staffed Lombanks Sunday night and survived a shaky start to win going away. He allowed nine hits in all, three in the first frame, struck out six and passed three.

Calder Lacey Merrty continued his hot batting streak for Belleville. Mavety clouted three singles to drive in four runs Saturday then slammed two doubles and a home run in his first three trips to the plate Sunday. The six hits gave him 11-for-22 and a .500 batting average in the club's first five games.

Against Kingston, Pat Asselstine scraped a double and two singles and Moe Hunter singled three times. John McKibbon added a triple and Bill Latchford a single.

In Peterborough everyone in the lineup except Carl Boonbower shared in the hit parade. Hunter again had three hits, including a double, while Asselstine and Latchford,

LARRY MAVETY

Grands 8-3 last night, sparked by Larry Mavety's heavy hickory in both games.

The twin victories boosted the Lombanks' record to three wins and two defeats. Their next start is at the Fairgrounds Wednesday evening with Kendall visiting. Game time is 8:00.

Belleville bats took command of both games in the early innings as the Lombanks outhit Kingston 11-3,

Biggs Wins Rich Stake

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—The $119,200 Californian was pictured as a two-horse battle between old Native Diver and Pretense, but the seven-year-old gelding Biggs got in first in the rich stakes Saturday at Hollywood Park.

As a crowd of about 30,000 brought Biggs up with a rush brought Biggs up with a rush in the stretch to win by three-quarters of a length over front-running Hake Money. Pretense was another 3¼ lengths back in third place.

Biggs paid $25.60, $10.40 and $5.60; Make Money $15.60 and $9.40, and the Llangollen Farm's Pretense, the second choice, $4.20.

The time for the 1 1-16 miles was 1:41 3-5 on a fast track. The victory was worth $74,200.

Trophy House Takes Parsons To Cleaners

Kingston Trophy House fielded a strong, young soccer club and gave Bellaire's Parsons' Cleaners a lesson in the game in Kingston and District League fixture last night.

Trophy House outscored Parsons 5-1 in a match played on the new field at Zwick's Island.

Parsons' next start will be against Trenton Travellers, in Bain Memorial Park, Wednesday night at 7:00.

In the first half, Kingston showed fine ability with short accurate passes which tore the Parsons' defence apart while taking a 3-1 lead. Birks scored twice and Craig once while Alan Brown notched the losers' loner.

Play was more even in the second half but the winners were never in danger of losing their comfortable lead — or control of the game, despite some good scoring bids by Bob Watson and Alan Brown.

MOE HUNTER

playing the outfield, hit a double and single each. Larry Soule, Bill Moxon and Wayne Woods contributed two hits each and McKibbon added one.

Peterborough hits went to starter and losing pitcher Dorey Stabler, with a double and single, Mike Henry, with two singles, Wayne Poley with a triple, Wayne Rowe, Murray Taylor and Ken Boyd, a single each.

For Kingston, who paraded Johnston, McIlroy, Leeman and Weese to the mound, Goodrich singled twice, Bob Gilmour, Bradley Weese and MacDonald once each.

Clay Stands Firm

CLEVELAND (AP)—A group of well-known Negro athletes today threw weight - from - the source lowdown on Cassius Clay's stand against army induction and they got it Sunday.

"After 2½ hours of friendly discussion we decided he is sincere in his religious belief," said Jim Brown, former Cleveland Browns' fullback and head of the Negro Industrial and Economic Union (NIEU), which invited Clay to the meeting.

While a crowd blocked the sidewalk outside the NIEU office, Clay explained to the professional athletes and Lew Alcindor of UCLA that he refused to be drafted because of religious beliefs, that he is a Muslim minister.

Shannonville Hurler Has No-Hitter

Shannonville's Larry Lewis found himself in the unusual position of having to come from behind to win a no-hitter in Shannonville Intermediate baseball League action, at Shannonville, Saturday night.

Lewis and his mates turned the trick quite handily, however, while whipping Canniffton Hare's 8-1 in the six-inning contest.

Canniffton jumped into a 1-0 lead in the top of the first inning on two walks and an error. Shannonville notched single runs in the second and third, made it 5-1 in the fourth and added two just before darkness halted action at the end of the sixth.

Lewis struck out eight batters in his abbreviated no-hitter while passing out six free tickets to first.

Coughlin started and gave way to O'Connor in the second inning for Plane's. They were combed for 9 hits, struck out seven and walked four.

Bill Barberstock sparked Shannonville's attack with a double and two other base hits. Bob Detior singled twice, Rod Lewis and Mike Brust adding doubles, Doug Dafoe, Wayne Sager and Larry Lewis a single each.

Read Defeats Latta 10-3

A new ball field and new uniforms failed to much for the South Hastings Baseball League's Latta team Saturday night.

The visiting Read squad whipped Latta 10-3 in a game baked by darkness after six innings.

The new diamond was built at Latta when the old one was over-run by the new highway there.

Read lost no time on the new one, scoring three times in the first frame and taking a 7-1 lead with four in the fourth.

H. Pascoe pitched four-hit ball to register the victory. He struck out half a dozen and walked three. Bob Smith was tagged for eleven hits in a losing effort. Smith donned cleats and passed five.

F. Abrams had a double and single. C. Pascoe and Fred Abrams two singles each and Carm Milligan one for Read.

Bantams Defeat Peterborough 3-1

Wayne Fell and Terry Meagher pitched three - hit ball for Belleville. They struck out 13 and walked six. Jed Gilmour handed six - hit ball for the losers with four strikeouts and two walks.

Winning pitching combination also led Belleville's hitters, Meagher and Fell getting two singles each, Sandy Burtt and Paul Hall had the others.

Derby Entry 'Hunch'

LONDON (CP)—The hunch bettors are placing money on a Canadian - owned horse in Wednesday's Epsom Derby, but at least two of his three owners aren't joining them.

Calgary publisher Max Bell said in an interview Sunday night that some British newspapers have been referring to his three-year-old colt Dominion Day as "my centennial project."

The hunch bettors see the connection between Dominion Day, his Canadian owner and Canada's centennial year as a natural for the 189th running of the classic, and the dark bay horse has been backed down to 4 to 1.

Bookmakers say a lot of money is coming in from Canada and Ireland, where the colt is trained by Paddy Prendergast.

Dominion Day has never won a race in his three previous starts and on the books looks like a risky pick behind 7-to-4 choice Royal Palace.

Bell says he likes the odds but will not place a bet.

Montreal Drivers Win At Mosport

MOSPORT, Ont. (CP)— Two Montreal drivers took a share of the lead in the national motor racing championship Saturday with victories at Mosport.

Rose de St. Croix in a McLaren Mare 2C won the 100-mile feature and Denis Eastbrook-Hiblit in a Ferrari Dino finished third and was best in the under-two-litre class.

Each gained 20 points and a tie for the lead in their respective classes in the 10-race national championship.

Ludwig Heimrath of Toronto and John Cordts of Barrie were knocked out of the lead by mechanical breakdowns in the British Empire Motor Club's annual sprint trophy races.

The Ontario drivers set the pace at the start of the 41-lap Dunlop Trophy Race. Heimrath spun out on the 15th lap and Cordts took the lead. De St. Croix took over on the 22nd lap.

Ideal racing weather, a track that is improving each night out and thrilling competition greeted some 700 paying patrons at the second seasonal meet of the Quinte Driving and Riding Club Saturday night.

There was not a dull moment at the new pari-mutuel building, bettors pushing $12,132.00 through the eighteen windows.

The daily double paid $23.70 and the two quinellas, $19.00 and $27.50.

Stewart's Gold driven by Clerk Newton paced the fastest heat of the night in the fifth event in 2:11. 4-5. The horse finished fourth in the ninth race.

The prices were fairly good, Hardcrone topping the payoffs with $11.30 in the seventh race. It finished out of the money in the third heat, won by Al Vance's Mac-Adam.

Irvin Ness drove his Magic Lady Lou to her first victory in the opening event in the record time of 2:14. 2-5.

Bruce Kemp took Combat Pick under the wire in the second and finished in second place in the sixth, nosing out the longshot Double Star.

Double Star reversed the picture in the sixth for its first win in two years pacing the mile in 2.16. 3-5. It was driver-owner Lloyd Kellet's first win for himself.

James Cochrane piloted Brian Wann to two victories, the second double win for the horse in two outings, turning back the bids of Cash Princess in the fourth and Mr. Spudjoy in the eighth event.

Club officials stated that a number of newcomer horses will race next Saturday, a lot of three trotters. If feasible a special trot event will be scheduled.

The first accident of the season occurred in the seventh race when Bruce Kemp driving Eskmal Herbie was thrown from the sulky.

The horse caught a foot to the wheel of another sulky and went down tossing the driver over his head.

Both reached their feet unhurt and walked to the barns. The horse suffered a few minor bruises.

Hill Wins Memphis

By BO EGLIBERT

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—His lead in the Memphis open golf tournament dwindling, Dave Hill remembered four years ago at the Hot Springs Open when he overheard someone in the gallery remark: "Hill's folding up."

He didn't fold then, and he shook off the butterflies Sunday to win the $100,000 Memphis open and the biggest check of his 10-year career—$20,000.

Through the first three rounds here, Hill increased his lead to five strokes but began to skid Sunday when Johnny Pott made a dramatic surge on the last 19 holes.

Pott narrowed the gap to three strokes by the time he reached the 18th tee.

Hill knew Pott was gaining, so he buckled down on 17 after suffering four holes of one-fiver par and one of two over. He drives the 17th green in one and got his par-3.

BLASTED TO GREEN

On the last hole, he put his second shot into a sand trap, blasted out and two putts gave him a par and the championship.

He finished at eight under par 272 and Pott at 274.

Behind second-place Pitt, who collected $12,000, were Harold Henning at 275, and Randy Glover and Don Sikes at 276.

Defending champion Bert Yancey shot a 278, and former champ Jack Nicklaus had a par 280.

IMPRESSIONISTS

Canvases by Manet, Monet, Cezanne, Renoir, Van Gogh, Utrillo and Modigliani are on view at Expo.

Burlington Gun Wins Trap Title

HAMILTON (CP)—Al Beckingham of Burlington blasted 293 targets of a possible 400 in three events to win the high all-round Ontario trap-shooting championship at a three-day meet here during the weekend.

He scored 95 out of 100 in Friday's doubles, 196 out of 200 in Saturday's singles and 92 out of 100 in Sunday's yardage handicap event.

Runner-up was Doug Norton of Cookeville, Ont., with 292. George Whiting Jr. of Sarnia, Mich., was non-resident high all-round champion with 270.

Marv Hunter of Niagara Falls, Ont., won the 100-bird championship in a 23-bird shoot-off with Max Vetman, also of Niagara Falls. Both had 96 birds after 100.

Clifford Radner of Elms, N.Y., took the non - resident handicap with a 97.

Ed Wladichuk of Ancaster, Ont., easily won the 200-bird 18 - yard single championship Saturday, missing only a single target.

ABSOLVED IN CASE

CLEVELAND (AP) — Jim Brown, former Cleveland Browns fullback, was absolved in a paternity suit Saturday by a Superior Court jury of six men and six women voted 11 to 1 to absolve Brown after 11½ hours of deliberation.

Track And Field

19-Year-Old Sets Record

TORONTO (CP) — A young giant from Dorchester High School near London, Ont., who has been throwing the hammer for less than two years, Saturday hurled it farther than any other Canadian.

David Leitch, 19, a Grade 13 student, established a Canadian native record of 174 feet, 3½ inches during the Ontario senior track and field championships.

The record-breaking performance highlighted the meet, which saw Jenny Wingerson-Meldrum win three competitions and place third in the fourth.

Mrs. Wingerson - Meldrum, bronze medallist in the 80-metre hurdles at the 1966 British Empire Games, won the women's long jump, the women's shotput and the 80-metre hurdles, while placing third in the 220-metre race behind Joan Fisher of Ottawa and Margaret Cheskin of Toronto.

The Don Mills Track Club of Toronto, with 68 entries, dominated the meet, picking up 138 points. Toronto Olympic Club was second with 91 points, Toronto's Scarborough Lions third with 73, Toronto Tigercrest and Toronto Striders tied with 71 and Uplands Track Club of Otawa gained 64 points.

Dave Sisen and Tony Powell, both of Toronto, were the only double winners in the men's events. Sisen put the shot 46 feet, one inch and threw the discus 157 feet. Powell won the men's 220-yard race in 21.9 seconds and the 440-yard race in 48.8 seconds.

More than 250 athletes competed.

Two More Nights of Rioting Swell Damage in Boston Region

BOSTON (AP)—Three nights of rock throwing, looting, arson, and scattered sniper fire in the predominantly Negro Roxbury section have left more than 70 persons injured, 120 arrested, and property damage estimated in the millions.

Three Massachusetts state representatives from Boston Negro sections asked Republican Governor John A. Volpe today to declare the riot-torn section a disaster area to make loans and federal aid available to businessmen there.

"The people in this community are appalled at the violence, wanton waste, deliberate destruction of property, the loss of jobs held by people in the community and the unnecessary escalation of the problems in financing insurance and achieving economic resurgence of these areas," a letter said.

It was signed by Democratic Representatives Royal Bolling, Michael E. Stevens and Frank Hu W. Holgate. Negro leaders who have been credited with helping to keep peace in the city's sprawling Negro districts in past years.

The fiscal point of violence Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights was Blue Hill Avenue, a major street leading from the city's shopping and business sections to the southeast residential areas and suburbs.

Fire fighters responding to a call at an intersection about 10 p.m. Sunday were pelted with rocks thrown from nearby rooftops.

Later at another intersection a sniper opened fire on police from a third-floor apartment. Police returned the fire and searched the building but did not find the sniper. No one was hit.

Another incident at an intersection led to the arrest of a man who was charged with unlawful discharge of a firearm and unlawful possession of a firearm. He was identified as John T. Jones, 28, of Roxbury, a Negro.

Arrests Sunday night, most of them for looting, brought the three-day total to more than 60.

The violence was touched off Friday after a group of mothers demonstrating for better treatment from welfare workers and slacker processing of claims were ejected by police from a city building in Roxbury.

Police said about 1,000 officers took on about 1,000 rioters during the night. Damage from that outbreak was estimated at $500,000.

Saturday night's outbreak left 13 persons injured, including a fireman shot in the wrist.

Pearson Greets Australian PM

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada and Australia have much in common and should work together more closely for world peace, both through the Commonwealth and the United Nations, Prime Minister Pearson said Sunday.

In a brief message of greeting to Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt at the official welcoming ceremonies for the Australian leader and Mrs. Holt on Parliament Hill, Mr. Pearson said the two senior dominions had an obligation to consult together on matters of mutual interest "and these matters are becoming more and more numerous."

In reply Mr. Holt paid tribute to Canada's contribution to the United Nations which he said had been disproportionate to the country's numerical size. He added a special word of praise for Mr. Pearson's personal dedication to the United Nations cause.

He suggested the two countries together could contribute more significantly to the peace progress and prosperity of the world."

"We have already talked of this in an informal way," he said, alluding to the fact that he had arrived in Ottawa 24 hours before the official ceremonial visit began and had spent the time with the Pearsons at the condo the opportunity to compromise Minister's Harrington Lake summer home.

Mr. Pearson said he welcomed the opportunity to consult with the Australian leader "on world crises."

Employment News

The local employment trend continued during this last week of May, to reflect a decreased labor demand than for May 1966. During the month the employment opportunities have been far more numerous for the men than for the women seeking work.

Local farmers have been taking full advantage of the recent fine spring weather to complete their planned crop seeding.

The tourist trade operators have been listing their labor requirements in anticipation of another busy season.

Although construction has been delayed there are present indications that the labor demand from construction and its allied fields will dominate the local labor market in the months ahead.

The Canada Manpower Centre has been a focal point recently for an ever increasing number of High School students registering for either temporary or permanent employment. If last year was any criterion, by the end of this June over 1,000 of these youngsters will be registered at this office.

The following employment opportunities are available at the Canada Manpower Centre:

In the female division locally, a number of cashier positions are open for part-time work in retail stores.

There are a number of vacancies for telephone operators with the requirements calling for a grade XII level of education. A certified hairdresser is required on either a full - time or part - time basis.

A position, on a part-time basis, is vacant for an experienced seamstress for clothing alterations. Still urgently required are registered nurses and registered nursing assistants.

There are two employment opportunities with a Southern Ontario city newspaper for an experienced news reporter and an advertising salesman.

Employers' attention is drawn to a young client now registered with the Canada Manpower Centre who is seeking work possessing the following qualifications: a grade XII academic education, presently taking grade XIII by correspondence, having already completed a one year business school typing and shorthand course.

This young woman is fluent in French, Italian and German. In addition, she will accept employment anywhere in Canada. Manpower counsellors of this office would be pleased to arrange an employment interview for her with any interested employer.

In the male division locally, there are a number of requirements for salesmen in the insurance, frozen food and merchandising field. Young men possessing a Grade XII or better education have the opportunity of entering the banking, retail and financial fields as manager trainees.

Still unfilled is the requirement for someone to manage and operate a grain and feed mills. This position calls for a complete knowledge of this type of business. A similar business requires an assistant manager.

A large international organization is offering employment opportunities in the sales field. Applicants should be experienced office clerk to commence work leading to a supervisory position. It is essential that the successful person be willing to move to other locations.

Other vacant jobs call for a qualified barber, experiences asphalt workers, a married couple for hotel janitorial work, bookkeepers, fourth class stationary engineers, an automobile body repairman, a plant maintenance man, a qualified machinist and a machine shop and foundry estimator.

An excellent position is open for a foreman, milk products manufacturing, to be general foreman, to supervise and train the staff. The successful person would have a background which included a dairy course or milk technology course at Guelph University or the Kemptville Agricultural College.

If you are interested in any of these positions, seeking other employment or thinking of reentering the labor market, contact the Canada Manpower Centre at 324 Church Street, Belleville, or telephone 962-9651.

Hees Wants Canada to Back Efforts to Reopen Aqaba

COBOURG, Ont. (CP) — George Hees, former trade minister and one of the contenders for the Progressive Conservative leadership, says Canada must support the United Nations, the U.S. and Britain in their efforts to reopen the Gulf of Aqaba to shipping of all nations.

The gulf, an arm of the Red Sea leading to Israel's only non-Mediterranean port, Elath, has been closed by Egypt for all vessels headed for Israel.

Mr. Hees, Conservative member of Parliament for Northumberland, said in a radio interview at his Cobourg farm Saturday that "if the blockade continues . . . Israel's economy would suffer such a severe blow that no country in a similar situation could be expected not to retaliate."

The interview was broadcast by Cobourg radio station CHUC.

Episcopalian Wants Pope Recognized as 'Chief Pastor'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Episcopal Bishop C. Kilmer Myers, is making an appeal to Anglicans and Protestants to reclaim the Roman Catholic Pope "the chief pastor of the Christian family."

The leader of the Episcopal Anglican Diocese of California urged Christians to set aside centuries - old differences to foster "the unity of the human family."

In a sermon Sunday, Bishop Myers urged that Pope Paul should "stretch out his arms in loving gesture to all men, whether Christian or not."

"If the Pope will undertake this Christian amplification of his own real image," the bishop said, "we Anglicans and Protestants would consider most prayerfully our relationship to him.

"We should, I for one believe, acknowledge him as the chief pastor of the Christian family and we should joyfully acclaim him as the holy father in God of the universal church."

Text of his sermon was released to the press before delivery.

Nixon Favors Province Paying More for Schools

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP) —Robert Nixon, Ontario Liberal leader, told a meeting Saturday of the Urban and Rural School Trustees Association the provincial government should meet 50 per cent of the total costs of elementary and secondary education in the province.

Mr. Nixon said the increased costs to the government would come from the increase of provincial tax revenues resulting from the growth of the province's economy.

"This matter of reform in paying for education must take priority over other programs," he said. "It is coupled with the growing need for efficiency and economy in education and other government responsibilities."

He also told the delegates there is a need to localize the administration of the education system. Educational needs vary from centre to centre.

He said it was unwise to try to govern the educational system through a highly centralized administrative system that bogs down in formulae.

Ships, Shore Battery Exchange Salutes

MONTREAL (CP)—A small Scandinavian armada invaded the world's fair Sunday under a scorching sun that gave fair-goers a preview of what is in store for them before the end of Montreal's short hot summer.

Cannon fire thundered across the St. Lawrence River as the three ships — a Swedish destroyer, a Finnish frigate and a Danish frigate—sailed under the Jacques Cartier Bridge.

Each of the three ships fired 21 — gun salutes as they approached Montreal harbor and the Expo 67 site and their salutes were returned by a Canadian shore battery at the tip of Cite du Havre where the warships tied up.

Arriving in Montreal as part of Expo's visiting ships program were the destroyer Halland, the frigate Matti Kurki—the first Finnish warship ever to visit Canada—and the Danish frigate Ingolf.

The arrival came in late afternoon after thousands of sun-burned visitors to the fair had spent the day in shady spots and in pavilions which were much less crowded than usual, apparently because of the hot weather.

The sudden outbreak of summer, after a record-cold May, was largely blamed for the collapse of 12 visitors at the fair Saturday and another 24 on Sunday. All were released after undergoing first aid emergency treatment at the Expo site.

A high temperature of 88 degrees was recorded and it will be mainly sunny with a chance of thundershowers late today. The temperature is expected to climb to 85.

The weekend crowd was somewhat lower than forecast because of a drop in the number of visitors Saturday when only 296,283 persons went through the turnstiles compared to the predicted figure of 303,450.

The decline made Expo officials change their prediction that the 10,000,000th visitor will visit the fair this morning. They said Sunday night that it will be sometime tonight before this visitor clicks the turnstiles.

Sunday's attendance until 12 midnight EDT was 301,273 and the total attendance since the official opening of the fair April 27 was 9,810,588.

The fair had a relaxed appearance for the first time since its opening and many visitors were pleasantly surprised that they did not have to face the regular long queues at Expo's pavilions, train, bus and mini-rail rides.

Rawdon

RAWDON — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tamlin, Woodville, spent several days with their daughter, Mrs. Robert H. Hoard, and Mr. Hoard, Mount Pleasant and attended ceremonies in connection with the Belleville General Hospital nurses' graduation. Their daughter, Miss Phyllis Tamlin was one of the graduates. Following the graduation Monday night, a reception in her honor was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hoard.

Frank Hutchinson spent a few days with relatives in London, Ont., attending the funeral of his brother-in-law, Roy Thomas, Thursday. Miss Bessie Hollinger, Fulton, stayed with her cousin, Mrs. Hutchinson at Anson.

And Why Not?

British bulldog appears to be drooling as two mini-skirted hostesses wave to onlookers outside the British pavilion at Expo.

Columnist Addresses Holy Name Society

MARMORA — Welcome was extended to visiting clergy, members of the Holy Name Society and boys of the parish by president Paul Brady at the annual Holy Name banquet in the Orced Heart Parish Hall Monday evening.

He outlined the year's activities of the Society which included weekly bingos and parish collections. Money raised by sale of the epistle at Sunday Masses has been undertaken by the executive, and new vestments were requested for this work. He pointed out the primary purpose of the Holy Name Society is fostering an increasing love for the Holy Name of Jesus through which all men example.

Guest speaker, Rev. T. J. Raby of the Canadian Register staff, Kingston, after relating a number of humorous anecdotes for which he is well known in his Register column, spoke of his relation to the Catholic press. He said that reporters get the news but can't spell; editors can spell but can't write, and columnists can do neither!

"The Catholic press," he said, "is considered very important in the Church — so important that it took up a good part of Vatican Council. In the document on communications, the importance of the Catholic press was stressed as well as the importance of having it read. It is for the purpose of informing people and moving them to action when needed. God uses this means to get His word around. The purpose of the Catholic press is to inform, to instruct and to inspire. It has been called the teaching arm of the Church, but unfortunately there are two obstacles — one has to buy it, and one has to read it. Christ may speak through the press but His message will never be heard by the majority of the people.

Father Raby continued, "The Church of Christ must call on another means of communication — the human press, or the living word, and this is the people. The Catholic men and women of a parish can do the work of the press in a far better way than the printed word itself. Anyone has to read the Catholic press to like it or not, but somebody has to read you. You give a message in your daily life by your example. You are a live counterpart of the written word and we hope and pray that you be good."

Father Raby was introduced by Rev. E. J. Keyes and thanked for his address by past president Douglas Lynch.

The dinner was served by members of the Catholic Women's League. Head table guests were Rev. Raby; F. J. O'Neill, Madoc; J. F. McGarvey, Stirling; E. J. Keyes, Marmora; Rt. Rev. F. J. Spence, pastor; past presidents Vincent Lynch, E. D. O'Connor, Eugene Brady, Charles Lajoie, president Paul Brady and secretary, Joe Maloney.

Bishop-elect Spence expressed appreciation to his neighboring pastors Rev. O'Neill and Rev. McGarvey for their help and kindness to his neighbors in Marmore. He also thanked the Holy Name Society for their good work in the past year.

Acquiescence to Pressure Groups Has Long Rankled Script Writers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A top television writer says that he and his fellow craftsmen "are being painted into a corner by self-censorship due to the cumulative effect of pressure groups."

The latest hatred, says Norman Lobsky, is the American-Italian Anti-Defamation League, for which Frank Sinatra recently became national chairman.

The networks' acquiescence to pressure groups has long rankled writers. They have said that they can't deal with reality because writers are not to offend any group. But nonsemen object when an executive is portrayed as a villain; the groups are of doctors, orientals, Indians, teachers.

"The function of the writer is to hold mirror up to nature. If he can't present the truth as he sees it, then he will be showing a distorted image."

Lobsky's speech was prompted by his experience with a two-part script he researched and wrote on the Cora Nostra for The FBI.

Entitled The Executioners, it was presented March 12 and 19 on ABC.

Lobsky said that after the second segment was shown, the sponsors — Ford — received a telegram from New York Civil Court Judge Rose J. Dilorenzo, president of the American Italian Anti-Defamation League.

He questioned the veracity of the script and added:

"If pure fabrication it would constitute outright defamation of many thousands of American-Italian college students—the villains was a collegiate who killed for the Mafia—and violation of FCC regulations.

"In the name of 22,000,000 American-Italians in the United States, we resent vehemently this type of program that slanders the decent, law-abiding citizens of an important ethnic group. We have been flooded with angry protests from many members."

In answer to Judge Dilorenzo's protest, Lobsey declared that The Executioners series was based on 15 different FBI cases, "with the names and incidents to protect the guilty."

The writer charged that a U.S. representative and senator joined the pressure campaign and as a result The Executioners was removed from the summer re-run schedule on ABC.

Don Knotts, Lucille Ball Win Television Emmies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Don Knotts won his fifth Emmy as a jittery deputy sheriff and Lucille Ball got her first Emmy in 12 years at the television academy's 19th annual awards.

An award for outstanding comedy series went Sunday night to The Monkees, four bestsellers musicians.

As televised ceremonies in Los Angeles and New York hotels, the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences chose also among winners for 1966-67:

Variety series: The Andy Williams Show.

Dramatic series: Mission: Impossible.

Single dramatic program: Drama: Death of a Salesman.

Musical program: Brigadoon. This show won the most awards—five—collecting also for technical and lighting direction, electronic cinematrua and variety direction.

Runner-up was Mission: Impossible with four statuettes.

Martin Landau of Mission: Impossible, lent to Bill Cosby of I Spy in the race among actors in dramatic series. Cosby, a Negro, repeated his victory of last year.

Don Knotts collected his fifth Emmy as Barney Fife on The Andy Griffith Show. Knotts won Emmies in 1961-62 as a regular of the series.

The show's Frances Bavier won a supporting - role Emmy after seven years of playing fussy, good-hearted Aunt Bea.

Writer-actor-director Carl Reiner won his 10th and 11th Emmies as performer and writer on the Sid Caesar Special.

CBS won the most Emmies—17. ABC, moving out of third spot for the first time, was next with 12. NBC, which usually sweeps in the lead with CBS, trailed with 10.

Other top awards included:

Outstanding children's program: Jack and the Beanstalk; Gene Kelly, producer.

Single performance by an actor in a dramatic role: Hal Linden, Barefoot in Athens, Hallmark Hall of Fame.

Actress in a dramatic lead: Geraldine Page, A Christmas Memory, ABC stage 67.

Actor in supporting role in a drama: Ed Wallach, The Poppy Is Also A Flower.

Actress in supporting role in a drama: Agnes Moorehead, Night of the Vicious Valentine, Wild Wild West.

BOY SCOUT ACTIVITIES

MOIRA VALLEY CUBOREE

MADOC — Moira Valley Scout Association's Cuboree was held on Wednesday in Vandemeer Park, Thomasburg, Saturday with 175 Cubs and 21 leaders in attendance.

Those in charge of the program were AKC Gordon and Marilyn Russel. Following flag break, prayers and Grand Howl, the boys competed in sports events. A badges were awarded to Marvers, Bonsrlaw and Venturers, Stirling and Lo' Lakes competed in the tug-of-war, with Tweed the victors.

MOIRA VALLEY CAMPOREE

Scouts from Marmora, Stirling, Bonsrlaw and Venturers from Tweed attended the Camporee May 26, 27 and 28 at the Little Big Horn Dude Ranch west of Marmora. Ernest H. Harris, district scoutmaster, was in attendance and camp chief was ASM Rich Moore, aided by SM Bruce Evens, SM Ron Woodbeck, AC Clarke Thompson, VC Jack Poole and Bob Parsnalk.

Points were awarded for all outdoor events and the trophy was won by the Marmora Eagle Patrol. Marmora Owls were second and the Bonsrlaw patrol a close third.

MINTO — Mrs. Stewart Brady is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Courtney of Ottawa were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Courtney.

The teachers, pupils and servat mothers of the Minto, Harden and 12th line schools enjoyed a bus trip to Upper Canada Village Friday.

Mrs. Marlene Holden entertained her graduating class of nurses at a hayride Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Anne Tanner of Bellville spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Phil Vance.

Miss Jane Clements has successfully completed her first year at the University of Guelph.

To Your Good Health

Weight Can Be Lost Without Exercise

Dear Dr. Molner: Can I lose weight without exercising? I have had four back operations and am recovering from my second back fusion.

Would it be possible to take off weight? I have gained about 30 pounds. I have to spend a good deal of my day in bed. — Mrs. F.

Yes; it is possible to lose weight while at bed rest, but there are several factors that must be sufficiently restricted.

You must also take care to get ample protein to repair your bone and tissues. This means lean meats, eggs boiled or poached (not fried, scrambled, or in omelets, since they add many non-protein calories); skim milk, cottage cheese, fish.

You must keep fats at a minimum because ounce for ounce fat exceeds even sugar in calories. But you must also be sparing of carbohydrates — that is, starches and sugars.

With such a restricted diet, you should have a multiple vitamin supplement. Such a limited diet should be prescribed by your physician and with his approval.

Gaining weight is not desirable after a fusion operation on the spine, and you are wise to curtail any increase.

I would suggest that, even while you are in bed, you keep yourself mentally active, reading, talking, doing handiwork — anything to remain alert. Even such limited movement as is permitted is better than being completely passive and perhaps drowsing. Every ounce helps, and if you can use up an extra fraction of an ounce a day in activity, that's to the good.

Dear Dr. Molner: I had a cold and when nose drops did not help my doctor sent me to a nose specialist who said I had polyps. He explained that it was a growth like a bunch of grapes. He wants to operate, but I also read that you should operate on the nose. Can anything clear he done?

I am so afraid. He said it must be done while I am awake. — R. R.

A good many years ago there was reluctance to operate on the nose because then we didn't know enough about how to do it. That time is long past.

Polyps are small growths on a mucous membrane, usually growing on a sort of stem, so clipping them off is quite simple with modern instruments.

It can be done under a local anest---ic. You won't feel any pain, and it will be over quickly and you'll get up and go home.

There is no other way of getting rid of polyps. They can interfere with breathing and, worse, cause sinus troubles if allowed to remain. Often, there is an allergic history in persons with nasal polyps. Remember, too, that a polyp may recur.

• •

Dear Dr. Molner: When both fallopian tubes are blocked, the doctor says an operation can be performed, the blocked portions removed and replaced with plastic tubing.

I know this does not guarantee pregnancy, but I would like to know about the after effects. Can it endanger health in later years? — Mrs. M. B. J

You are correct that there is no way of guaranteeing that the operation will succeed in making pregnancy possible. However, there is no reason to fear that health will be impaired even if the operation does not achieve its intended purpose.

Dear Dr. Molner: We use blanket coffee but have been told it is harmful. Please tell us about Ma. — P. C. H.

I can't — because I don't know any reason to consider it harmful.

• • •

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column when ever possible.

Strictly Personal

With Kennedy, Medium Was the Message

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

I have just got around to reading Gore Vidal's devastating article about the Kennedy family in a recent issue of Esquire magazine. The piece is full of overdrawn humor, written in Vidal's customary cool and surgical style.

Many readers may have resented it — not least of all, members and followers of the Kennedy clan. But it is worth remembering that if we hadn't elevated President Kennedy to such mythical dimensions, there would have been no point to cut him down to lifelike size.

There has long been a terrible shortage of heroes in American life. We, like all people, have a desperate and wistful desire for a leader of stature, charm, strength and vision.

Although, in my opinion, JFK's charm was greater than his stature, his strength or his vision, he did have a certain "style" that no one else in public life today can emulate. Much of this charm was contrived, like a movie screen, but no doubt some of it was indigenous to the man himself.

One of our newest savants, Prof. Marshall McLuhan, dividing modern communication into the "cool" and the "hot," Kennedy was the first emerging product of the "cool" age in American politics — just as Senator Dirksen is the last representative of the "hot" age.

One of McLuhan's dicta is that "the medium is the message." Without going into the qualified sense, that the way in which a person projects is become more important than what he projects. There is just enough truth in this observation to be disturbing.

With Kennedy, the medium was the message, in most cases. If his brief record is carefully examined, he was not a conspicuously successful or skilful President; and his talks were full of windy generalities designed to appeal more to sentiment than to reason.

In the famous TV debate with Richard Nixon, who projects as poorly as anyone in modern politics, Kennedy ran away with the ball game, not because he was better at it, but because his style was far more appealing. The debates were actually more show business than statesmanship.

And Bobby Kennedy is carrying on the "cool" style with the same high respect for the medium, and neglect of the message. He would like to be all things to all men, and trims his sails to whatever prevailing winds he finds most propitious at the time. It is hard to know what he really believes — except "get in, and stay in."

It is hardly an accident that a former screen actor became governor of California. We live in the Age of the Image, where shadow is often more "real" than substance. And certainly the bagdadery surrounding Kennedy's death has little to do with real man.

End Hiding After 14 Years

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—Two bedraggled, middle-aged Mau Mau fighters, clad in antelope-skin cloaks, monkey-skin muffs and caps, resisted in a Kenya police cell Sunday how they emerged from the wilds of Mount Kenya forest last week after living in hiding for about 14 years—unaware that Kenya had won independence.

Police are holding them in custody at Kerugoya, on the slopes of Mount Kenya, for interrogation.

The bewildered pair are "Captain" Kinotho Ngenya, who disclosed that he now is a grandfather, and "Officer" Kamau Guthuthwa.

They said they lost contact with the outside world years ago and survived by hunting and trapping wild animals, raiding beehives and making fires by rubbing sticks.

They said they finally surrendered to Kerugoya police after an old man who found them in the forest brought them newspapers to show that Jomo Kenyatta now is president of independent Kenya.

They were astonished to discover that the anti-white Mau Mau Mau campaign, which they joined in its early days in 1953, had been over more than a decade.

And they were amazed to learn that their first Mau Mau commander, "General China," now is Waruhiu Itote, deputy director of the Kenya National Youth Service.

They also asked about an old comrade, "General Kassam Njegu"—and heard he is a progressive farmer in one of the many settlement schemes launched for Negroes.

They said they lost contact with the outside world years ago and survived by hunting and trapping wild animals, raiding beehives and making fires by rubbing sticks.

"On the occasions we ventured to the edge of the forest we were impressed by the big improvements in housing and machines but assumed the British colonialists were still entrenched," said Ngenya, "so we decided to stay on in the forest and hide ourselves.

"The old man who brought us newspapers a little while ago was the first other human being we had seen in years."

The two men—their hunting knives, axes and spears surrendered to police—are appealing to the government to allow them to return to normal life.

But they have two more immediate problems: Bad stomach-aches—"We are not used to this kind of food after so long"—and no appearance before the local magistrate today.

The charges against them, if any, have not been made known.

Astrological Forecasts

By SYDNEY OMARR

For June 6

ARIES (Mar. 21 — Apr. 19): If you take time to be analytical . . . financial problem can be resolved. Some deception indicated. Be on the alert. Applies especially where money, valuables are concerned.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 — May 20): If you count on "secret" ally . . . you could be disappointed. Get cards on table face up. Insist on fact, not theory. Be specific. If frank and honest — you get your way.

GEMINI (May 21 — June 20): Cycle moving up. You are able to put ideas to practical use. Use materials at hand. Job may be organization which is only too willing to co-operate. Investigate.

CANCER (June 21 —July 22): Be selective . . . choose the best . . . emphasize quality. Ons you are attracted to may not possess all facts. If you do some personal checking, results could be profitable.

LEO (July 23 — Aug. 22): Time now to utilise sense of showmanship. What starts out as routine assignment could be showcase for talents. Know this — respond accordingly. Can be brilliant day!

VIRGO (Aug. 23 — Sept. 22): Day features change, travel, variety — and romance. Pressures increase because you make surprising showing. People are impressed. Be ready and willing. Obtain hint from Leo message.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 — Oct. 22): Communication from far could affect financial status. May be necessary to make adjustment at home. Listen to various points of view. Base decisions on practical consideration.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23—Nov. 21): All indications point to confrontation with opposition. Necessary to be ready to face current issues. Delaying tactics are interpreted as sign of weakness—or guilt. Act accordingly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 — Dec. 21): You may feel events proceed at a low key. Best to take things as they come. Don't force issues . . . examine and understand. If mature, you get what you need.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 — Jan. 19): You may get more action than you expect or want. Know this and take wise course! Applies especially in romance department. Some you deal with today are ultra-sophisticated. Keep guard up!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 — Feb. 18): Added authority comes your way. You have greater freedom to decide. When your judgment is tested . . . don't be pushed, pushed or cajoled. Utilize talents to best of ability.

PISCES (Feb. 19 — Mar. 20): Follow through on ideas, hunch. Tendency is to expect too much, too fast. Stick to planned course of action . . . then add extra element of intuition. This equals success.

* * *

If today is your birthday . . . you possess great integrity, you are loyal, and you protect loved ones. Sense of art and beauty are emphasized. Current cycle could provide opportunity for added income.

* * *

General Tendencies: Cycle high for Taurus, Gemini, Cancer. Special word to Sagittarius: Remember promises concerning work, health, recreation. Avoid extremes.

Trenton Briefs

The last meeting of a Trenton health board may take place June 28.

At their regular meeting this week, board members were told a town representative was to meet with Hastings, Prince Edward Health Unit officials June 8, presumably to discuss plans for Trenton's entry into the public health scheme.

Town council has enacted a by-law authorizing town participation in the unit, which is anticipated to be accomplished by July 1.

Trenton has the dubious distinction of being the site this year of a fire more costly than any occurring in the province during all 1966.

The Jan. 14 blaze which caused $786,000 to the Trenton Bata Shoe warehouse, exceeded by some $83,000 the loss incurred in last year's worst Ontario fire in Ottawa.

Gore Personals

THE GORE — A number from here attended the Bloomsom Festival church service at Albury on Sunday morning. Father Boyle of Belleville delivered the sermon. The Rev. Nash of Carrying Place Anglican parish read the lesson with the Rev. McLeod of the local church conducting the service. The choir members in ceremonial dress sang special numbers with Mrs. Reid, accompanist and Mr. Reid directing.

Mr. Howard Pulver of Guelph University spent the holiday weekend at his home here.

Mrs. R. Vandewater and Miss Martin of Toronto visited Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Redner over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brooks, River Valley and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Pulver were Modern Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Pulver and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Trounce attended the funeral of an aunt in Pennsylvania during the week.

Miss Beverly Trounce is holidaying at her home after attending a university in British Columbia during the year.

Misses Audra Brickman and Irma Booter visited Mrs. Ida Hubbs at Albury on Sunday. Mrs. Hubbs returned home on Thursday from her daughter's, Mrs. Gordon Waterhouse's where she had been convalescing following a long hospitalization with a broken hip.

Israeli Tanks in Jerusalem

Suez Closed — Oil Cut Off

Israel Attacking

From AP-Reuters

Egypt closed the Suez Canal today and Israel carried the Middle East war, by land or air, into four neighboring countries.

The Israelis struck deeper into Egypt's Sinai Desert — on the road to Suez that Israel followed in 1956—and invaded Jordan, attacked on the Syrian front and bombed an Iraqi airfield.

Israeli tanks and troops moved across the border in the Jordanian sector of divided Jerusalem with no serious opposition.

Iraq, Kuwait and Algeria cut off delivery of oil to Britain and the United States after Egypt's higher command asserted that British and American naval planes joined the war in support of Israel.

The charge was denied in Britain and the United States, which have declared nonbelligerence in the day-old conflict.

The Soviet Union backing the Arabs, charged that Israel started the war.

Israel, seemingly with air superiority over the fronts, claimed the destruction of at least 374 Arab planes. Israel admitted losing 19 planes, while the Arab commands claimed 183 were shot down.

An indication of Israel's air superiority came from a Jordanian communique in Amman. It said there was "a huge umbrella of Israeli aircraft over the whole Jordanian front."

As the war intensified, mobs attacked U.S. facilities in Damascus and Baghdad and the consulate in Egypt's Alexandria.

In addition to striking deep into the northern Sinai Desert, the Israeli army announced the virtual occupation of the Gaza Strip on the Mediterranean with the capture of the city of Gaza, Egyptian administrative headquarters.

The strip had been bypassed by Israeli forces striking south and west and Radio Israel called on the strip's residents to surrender. Most of the strip's residents are Arab refugees from the Israeli-Arab war of 1948.

More than 30 miles west of the strip, the Israeli army fanned out from the captured key coastal town of El Arish in the Sinai Peninsula and seized Bir Lachpan to the southeast, an army announcement in Tel Aviv said.

The Israel column at El Arish was in a position to strike due west for Port Said, at the Mediterranean entrance to the Suez Canal.

This is one of the major routes followed by Israeli army in overrunning the Sinai Desert in 1956.

The Arabs counered Israel's victory statements with claims of an Egyptian thrust into Israel's Negev desert, the downing of more than 100 Israeli planes on all fronts, a Jordanian claim that Israeli penetration of Jordan had been repulsed, and a Syrian claim, to have occupied an Israeli settlement which the Israelis said they recaptured.

Israelis Move Into Old Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Israeli troops and armor moved into the Jordanian sector of divided Jerusalem early today.

The Israelis met no serious opposition when they crossed the border in the city at 8 a.m. (4 a.m. EDT).

But small-arms and machine-gun fire could still be heard at 3 p.m. north of the city, where the Jordanians appeared to be putting up a stiff resistance.

The area where the fighting was still going on came under heavy and continuous Israeli aerial and artillery bombardment during the night.

Swarm of MiGs Greets Raids North of Hanoi

SAIGON (AP) — American jets probed deep into the fortified heartland of North Vietnam Monday, bombing rail lines into Hanoi and drawing out a swarm, et Communist MiG interceptors. Three of the MiGs were reported shot down.

Although little ground fighting was reported, the airwars carried the war to the Communists with 113 strike missions over the North and five raids by B-52 bombers against targets in South Vietnam.

U.S. command announced that ground gunners shot down a Navy Crusader jet over the North, the 572nd U.S. combat plane lost above the 17th parallel. The pilot is missing.

During the raids on the rail line, leading north from Hanoi to the industrial complex of Thai Nguyen, American Phantom jet pilots brought three MiG-17s down. A spokesman said that flights of the Communist fighters were burning all over the sky and it was impossible to determine how many were in the air.

In coastal Binh Dinh Province, a fire raged 8½ hours at an army support airfield, damaging a number of helicopters and light planes and destroyed a vast amount of stores before it was brought under control. One American serviceman was killed.

The cause of the fire was not known. One possibility being investigated was that a flare dropped from a circling plane—a routine occurrence over most U.S. airfields each night—might have still been burning when it hit the supply area.

South of the demilitarized zone, Communist troops made several probes against U.S. marine positions but no significant fighting was reported.

Senator's Estate $2,262,190

TORONTO (CP)—An estate of $2,262,190 was left by Senator W. Rupert Davies, who died March 11 at 87.

Most of the estate gone to his widow, his sons, Arthur L. Davies and Robertson Davies, and their children.

Senator Davies, who, owned the Kingston Whig-Standard and had interests in radio television stations in Kingston and Peterborough, left $25,000 to Kingston General Hospital.

Other bequests include $10,000 each to the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children and Bloorview Children's Hospital.

Kuwait and Iraq Won't Sell Oil

BEIRUT, Lebanon (CP)—Two major Arab oil countries, Kuwait and Iraq, today cut off the sale of oil to the West after the Egyptian high command charged that planes from U.S. and British aircraft carriers were fighting in support of Israel.

The U.S. and British governments both denied the charge.

Baghdad radio reported that Iraqi President Abdel Rahman Arif had cut off delivery of his country's oil to the West because of "the position of America and Britain."

Cairo radio announced the Kuwaiti cabinet in an emergency session decided to stop oil exports to the United States and Britain "because of their support to Israel."

There was speculation that Saudi Arabia and perhaps Libya would join in the ban. Iran, which is not an Arab nation, probably won't, and Algeria will probably continue to deliver its oil to France since the French have not been charged with aiding Israel.

Chapleau

Residents Stream Back

CHAPLEAU, Ont. (CP)—Residents began streaming back to their homes here today after 30 minutes of pelting rain Monday afternoon relieved fears the town might be cremated by a menacing forest fire.

About 3,800 persons were evacuated Sunday when the 5,800-acre fire, fanned by winds gusting up to 50 miles an hour, moved to within 1½ miles of this town, 170 miles northwest of Sudbury.

The more than 380 firefighters were first encouraged Monday morning when the wind levelled off and changed direction, stopping the fire's progress.

About 3 p.m. rain began falling and the department of lands and forests reported the blaze under control.

Scattered showers or thundershowers were forecast for today with light, southerly winds. The temperature is not expected to exceed 70.

Conrad Schmidt, a 53-year-old Chapleau insurance agent who organized Sunday's mass evacuation, said Monday that about 1,200 townspeople would return overnight and this morning by private cars and bus from Timmins, about 120 miles northwest of here.

Another 135 persons, including 13 hospital patients, are expected to return today by train from Sudbury.

East Coast Peril Rises

Ontario Fire Hazard Cut

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Forest fire conditions, already critical in many parts of Canada, worsened Monday and relatively unthreatened provinces reviewed firefighting resources in response to appeals for help from other areas.

However an encouraging note was sounded in Ontario—hardest hit of the provinces. Heavy rain averted the immediate peril at Chapleau, one of two Northern Ontario communities faced with the threat of destruction by fire since Sunday, and evacuated residents began returning to their homes.

The evacuation order remained in effect at Sioux Lookout where the situation was still hazardous as a mammoth blaze which has burned out 7,000 acres of spruce and jack pine continued to threaten the near-deserted community.

In Labrador, women and children were evacuated from the tiny, 25-family community of Paradise Bay as a forest fire bore down on the settlement along a six-mile front.

Fire danger ratings continued from high to extreme from the East Coast to Manitoba. Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia reported moderate to high ratings.

Record - high temperatures during the last few days have resulted in extreme danger ratings in Newfoundland. Although most blazes there have been kept under control, Newfoundland was unable to part with any personnel or equipment to help beleaguered Ontario.

New Brunswick's four major fires were all under control but a spokesman for the provincial forest fire protection service said temperatures were expected to soar and "anything can happen."

Nova Scotia had a 150-acre blaze and a small fire under control. Prince Edward Island had no major fires.

Quebec, with about 50 fires burning across the province, has considered banning highway traffic through dry forest areas.

A 40-room hotel and several summer cottages were destroyed in a blaze near Murray Bay, 90 miles northeast of Quebec City, which forced the evacuation of the 60 residents of the community of Pointe au Pic.

Sioux Lookout

Town's Fate Hanging in Wind

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont. (CP) Forest fire quarantine is still in effect at Sioux Lookout.

When will it all end, this fire and forest-isolation? It could be today. It depends on the wind.

If the wind kicks up its heels and once more barrels the 7,000-acre fire toward the western approaches to this Northwestern Ontario town, crisis times will return to Sioux Lookout.

If temperatures stay moderate, there is a good chance water bombers and the foot-slogging firefighters can tame the fire.

"If we don't have any troubles with the wind we will be in pretty good shape," district forester Allan Baxter, of the Ontario lands and forest department, said Monday night.

But, he said the forecast was that the wind might gust today to 25 miles an hour, keeping the situation touch-and-go.

Crisis time for Sioux Lookout hit Sunday when stiff winds sent the fire roaring to within a mile of the town, a disaster-potential that prompted a wholesale evacuation.

More than 1,000 people, out of a total population of about 2,700, made a hasty 65-mile trip to Dryden. Sioux Lookout's sawmill and paper neighbor.

Ontario Provincial Police are maintaining roadblocks on the Dryden-Sioux Lookout road and only supply vehicles and people on urgent business are being allowed to pass.

Isolation is being felt in other ways although Sioux Lookout is a divisional point on the CNR mainline. Westbound rail traffic is bypassing here because of a burned out bridge to the west.

For the people who are here, but not on the firelines, the crisis is getting to be a drag as well as a drain on the storekeepers' and tourist outfitters' pocketbooks.

School examinations have been interrupted. Banks are closed, as are the main stores and the movie theatre. About the only entertainment in town is a little dog who dances on his hind legs for treats in the local beer parlor. Most hotels and motels are staying open but they haven't had to change linen or clean rooms.

Property damage in the area has been light and although the fire chewed through an assortment of spruce, lodgepole pine and poplar, much of it was rated non-commercial cutover timber.

Chuckle

Sign on church lawn: "Keep Off This Means You!"

Sioux Lookout Menaced by Fire

Smoke, from an advancing forest fire is visible at the top of this aerial photograph taken Sunday over the Northwestern Ontario community of Sioux Lookout. Most of the town's 2,700 residents were evacuated in the face of the fire.

Woman's Body Found in River

TRENTON — Trenton police are still trying to identify a women's partly naked body found floating face down in the mouth of the river this morning.

Local fisherman Jack Twigg made the discovery at 7.30 a.m. The body was found at the inlet to the proposed centennial park yacht basin on the east side.

Called to the scene by police, coroner Dr. J. V. Byrne ordered the body removed to the morgue at the Trenton Memorial Hospital for autopsy examination. Firemen and police helped ambulance operator Dodgee Rushnell and his assistant make the recovery from the water.

Police said they were puzzled because they had no report of local persons missing while all bodies missing in the river earlier had been recovered.

A cursory examination at the scene revealed the body was uncled from the hips down. There was a shoe on the left foot while the right one was bare. A sweater and lingerie covered the top part of the body.

There was a delicate gold chain with a pendulum shaped red stone around the woman's neck. She appeared middle-aged.

Town employee Glen Miller said he was fishing in the same location on Saturday and saw nothing unusual. Condition of the body indicated it had not been in the water long.

Second Stage of Sewage Treatment Recommended

TRENTON — The Ontario Water Resources Commission has recommended the town install second stage sewage treatment by 1969 as agreed earlier. A report of the OWRC's recent inspection of the local primary facilities urged the addition to the existing plant as a way to improve the process determining because of ceasing obnoxious overloading of the system.

In other council business last night town fathers decided to amend a bylaw governing the sale of fireworks inside the corporation to permit celebrations planned for July 1 this year.

Following the Centennial theme council accepted an invitation to send a representative to Hungerford township Centennial day ceremonies June 10 and the official opening of the new municipal office in Sidney township on June 17. The responsibility of deciding whether the new fireball is heated by electricity, oil or natural gas was left with a report on investigation and submission by town engineer Eric Aldersey. The committee proposed to decide the matter felt technical knowledge was necessary at this time.

Council showed interest in the Hastings County Health Unit and in time to attend the unit's meeting in Belleville today appointed councillor Douglas Kinney as the town's representative on the board for the year.

A suggestion to ascertain the cost of installing washrooms in the Fraser Park and government dock area received council's approval. Industrial and economic development chairman, Paul Tripp, asked for the services to be made available in time for the visit of a 200-boat flotilla of pleasure craft stopping at Trenton July 1 en route to Expo.

Third and final reading was given a bylaw authorizing $40,000 be made available to the Trenton Library Board for the purpose of building a new public library on the east side of town. The submission requiring approval of the Ontario Municipal Board calls for financing the proposed expenditure by debenture issue to be retired in 15 years.

A report by the town's representatives on the municipal airport committee from Tweed and Vic Auger made particular reference to comments and suggestions by Belleville's representative Alderman Dr. Russell Scott. Council made its own local committee members' report on a subsequent visit to airports at Kingston and Waterloo as part of their continuing fact finding endeavors.

Council Reverses Decision

Approves Amalgamation of School Areas

Amalgamation of the Stirling-Rawdon High School District and the Centre Hastings High School District with the Bay of Quinte High School area is a step closer today as the result of a complete reversal of thinking by Belleville city council.

Yesterday in a 9-3 vote, council members reversed their action of two weeks' ago and approved the amalgamation of the two Hastings boards with the Bay of Quinte High School District.

The amalgamation of the school districts new has to be approved by Prince Edward county council before it can become effective. This approval must come before June 30 for the amalgamation to become effective in January.

Hastings county has already approved of the merger.

At the same time council voted to recommend to the enlarged school board that school trustees be elected to the board instead of being named by appointment and also that there be more equal representation on the basis of population.

Alderman J.R. Scott said there would be new legislation covering the election of school trustees. "Under the legislation election of trustees would be allowable, but not compulsory," he said.

Aldermen Thomas Carruthers and Kenneth Sodos, who at the last council meeting moved for the matter to be laid on the table to allow councillors the opportunity of obtaining more information on the merger, yesterday brought in the recommendation for reconsideration. Two weeks ago they had opposed the high school merger.

Aldermen Jack Allis and Donald Jones were the only two councillors who yesterday still held out against the amalgamation.

F. McLeod, district high schools inspector with the department of education at Kingston, outlined the system of grants which would apply following amalgamation.

He said that as a result of the special grants no municipality involved in the merger should suffer financially because of the merger. Special grants would be paid for three years to make up any difference.

"No municipality will lose money because of the amalgamation," he said.

But Alderman Dr. J. R. Scott wanted to know what would happen after the term for the special grants ran out.

Mr. McLeod said the minister of education favored larger school areas and felt this would afford plenty of protection against financial loss by the municipalities.

In a question from Alderman Jack Allis Mr. McLeod went on to explain the foundation grants which helped to even out costs in municipalities where there was an assessment differential.

Alderman Donald Joss wondered why the townships of Sidney, Thurlow, Tyendinaga and the village of Frankford were so strongly opposed to the merger, and asked if all aspects of the proposed merger had been explained to these municipalities.

Mr. McLeod assured the latter had been fully explained to the dissenting municipalities. He didn't know the reason for the continued opposition.

Mr. McLeod went on to list the educational advantages which would accrue as a result of the merger.

These included master teaching, psychological service, separate vocational schools and audio-visual resources centre, and educational TV.

Mr. McLeod said the Quinte area might not save any money through the merger but it would get a whole lot for the money it spent.

The Stirling - Rawdon and Centre Hastings areas would gain more educational advantages than would the Quinte area, but would not gain financially because they would be helping to assume debts in the Quinte areas.

Mayor J. R. Ellis apologized to city council for his failure to fully explain the proposed amalgamation to council two weeks ago.

He urged approval of the bylaw. He said the amalgamation was a good financial bargain for the city of Belleville, while students in the entire area would benefit through better educational facilities.

Committee of One Named to Try For Settlement of Clinic Dispute

A lone member of city council is Alderman Arthur Keegan — has been named a committee of one to accomplish something which months of discussion and three hearings by the Ontario Municipal Board have failed to do.

That "something" is an amicable settlement of the clinic controversy which for the past three years has flared over the Dr. Harold Williamson clinic, proposed on Dundas Street, East, opposite the hospital.

Yesterday council took no action with respect to making further application to the OMB for approval of the clinic project which would allow operation of the clinic.

Instead it named Alderman Keegan to act as an intermediary in an attempt to come up with a solution to the problem satisfactory to all parties.

On May 25, there was to be an OMB review of the city's application for rezoning but the hearing was adjourned when council was not prepared to support the application with evidence.

Twice previously the OMB had ruled against the re-zoning application, and on May 25, the board chairman, K. Kennedy said unless the city was prepared to ask for a new hearing and support its application the matter would be dismissed.

Yesterday there was a letter from Dr. Williamson and special counsel Bernard Hurly asking direction.

Then at yesterday's meeting there was a delegation of Differing Avenue residents continuing their objections to the proposed zoning change.

Les Shore, whose property abuts the back yard of Dr. Williamson property claimed the flooding of his yard and garage resulted from a change in the watercourse resulting from fill placed on a rear yard parking lot by Dr. Williamson's contractor. He said the trouble had been remedied.

He said he objected to the Williamson parking lot under any circumstances.

He said that on several occasions he had sought to talk with Dr. Williamson in an effort to iron out the problem but had never gotten past the doctor's secretary.

Georgy Wishart, another Differing Avenue resident opposing the zoning change, said the watercourse effected only Mr. S. Hore.

He said residents were not opposed to Dr. Williamson's clinic, but that the parking lot would debase residential values in the area and everyone was opposed.

Dr. J. N. Hartt, who made the original request for a zoning change some years ago and later sold the property to Dr. Williamson, asked the city to have the courage of its convictions and support its re-zoning application.

Mrs. (Dr.) Williamson said the flooding problem referred to by Mr. Shore was the responsibility of the contractor. She said she would be willing to pay any additional dollars but had received legal advice not to do so.

To a question from Alderman Jack Allis Mrs. Williamson said their contractor had later told them the normal practice in Shore's lot had been interfered with by the placement of fill.

Mrs. Williamson denied that at any time had she or her husband refused to talk with Mr. Shore. Rather, she said, the refusal had been on the part of Mr. Shore.

Finally councillors asked whether an amicable settlement to the problem could not be worked out between the parties concerned with possibly a suitable fence to screen the parking lot.

Mrs. Williamson said they had no objection to a private settlement but said this would leave the re-zoning question still unresolved.

"We have no objection to discussions with the other party but this would allow council out of its obligation," she said.

Mrs. Williamson said her husband was no longer living on the premises and had his office there. "As a result it is perfectly legal for anyone playing there or cars on the parking lot," she said. "Then there is no problem," exhumed Alderman Douglas Boyle.

But Mrs. Williamson said there was still the matter of rezoning.

"I'll do not our wish to have to fight to practice medicine," she said.

Alderman Dr. J. R. Scott said it was regrettable that the Williamson matter had developed into a personal vendetta.

He said that city council by a 5-3 vote had passed the bylaw approving the re-zoning and should have the courage of its convictions and support the application for its approval by the Ontario Municipal Board.

As matters stood the Williamson property could not be used for anything purposes it was intended. This was disputed by Mayor Ellis who claimed there was no reason the property could not be used as a medical office. "Indeed it is being used as such," he said.

But Dr. Scott went on to say that the clinic needed as an ancillary service to the hospital.

"We can't stand in the way of progress," he said. "Three doctors have recently moved into Belleville and one is still looking for an office from which to practice," he said.

"There must be a zoning change, the question is when do we do it?"

Alderman Arthur Keegan felt the whole matter could be solved by the appointment of a special committee to act as intermediary.

But Mayor Ellis doubted if a committee would have any hope of success with a possible OMB hearing hanging over its head.

In the end council tabled the report from their solicitor asking direction regarding application for another OMB hearing and no further action will be taken until Alderman Keegan is able to report a settlement of the problem suitable to all parties.

Remand Teener On Disturbing Peace Charge

Magistrate T. V. Wills today intimated it deserve to hear as quickly as possible a charge of disturbing the peace against a 17-year-old Belleville dance club for teenagers.

The magistrate made the remark after Crown Attorney Paul Russell sought a remand for several weeks for the teenager facing that charge in provincial court.

"Is this Inore Tiki Club, Mr. Russell?" queried the magistrate.

"I'm afraid it is Your Worship," said counsel.

"It's getting to be a nuisance in this place and I think it should be dealt with as promptly as possible," remarked Magistrate Wills.

He agreed, however, to adjourn a hearing until July 4.

Foreign-made Compact Burns

TRENTON — A Downsview man may never realize his dream of seeing Expo 67 as the result of a disfortunate accident on the six highway north of Brighton yesterday.

Milan Ussalec of 211 Wilson Avenue, Downsview, was on his way late yesterday afternoon making the trip on the money he'd been saving for months.

Disaster intervened, however, while he was driving his 12-year-old foreign made compact east at Stockdale underpass. The engine in the rear caught fire forcing him to abandon the burning car by the roadside in haste.

Alone Ussalec escaped the flames which spread and reduced his conveyance to a burned out wreck. He stood by watching until Brighton based OPP reached the scene with hand extinguishers.

Discouraged Ussalec returned to Downsview later feeling his chances of viewing the great exhibition in Centennial year had been lost forever.

IN MEMORIAM

CARTER — In memory of our dear Mother who was taken from us June 4, 1961.
Sweet memories linger always,
Tears will never cease to flow,
Memories keeps him near.
Remembrances keeps him dear.
Sadly missed by daughter Jessie and family.

FEE — In loving memory of my dear mother, who passed away June 4, 1963.
Sadly the leaves of memory fall,
Gently on the heart of sorrow,
Softly the leaves of memory fall,
Tenderly on the heart of sorrow.
Unseen, unheard, always near,
Still loved, still missed and very dear.
Lovingly remembered by daughter, sister Bessie and family.

MARACLE — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Cornelius Marshall, who passed away June 5, 1964.
Called unexpected he is sleeping,
Wearied rest that relieves pain.
Peaceful be thy silent slumber,
But trust in God to meet again.
—Never forgotten by wife and children.

MARACLE — In loving memory of a dear father, Cornelius Marshall, who passed away June 5, 1964.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent the voice we used to hear,
You far away for sight or speech,
But dear Dad, not out of reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was dear,
And who, though absent, is just as near.
—Always remembered by daughter, Lorraine and husband Ken Howard and grandchildren.

Council Agrees to Seek Removal of Foster Ward Rail Tracks

Belleville city council yesterday voted to initiate talks designed to result in the removal of railway tracks running across the south part of the city. According to one alderman, the tracks have "destroyed the development of Foster Ward for many decades."

The discussion arose through a letter from the board of transport commissioners requesting that protection be installed at the Church Street crossing of the CP and CN railways.

The letter also recommended that the crossings on John Street be closed.

In a report to council, City Manager J. R. Reynolds said he had conferred with the city engineer and their recommendation was that the matter be left in abeyance pending completion of the redevelopment study presently being carried out in the Foster Ward area.

But Alderman Arthur Keegan said any move to close John and George streets would only further divide Foster Ward from the rest of the city.

"Instead," he said, "the railways should be asked to remove the tracks at their own expense."

He said the railways had cut off development in both the east and west ends and had destroyed the development of Foster Ward for decades.

Council went along with Alderman Keegan's thinking and approved his amendment calling for talks with the railways on the possibility of track removal.

The alderman's suggestion is that CP mainline tracks be removed leaving only a spur line from the CN in the north part of the city to serve industry in Foster Ward.

Last night's meeting of city council was one of the longest on record with adjournment not coming until after 10 o'clock. Prior to the general session at 4 p.m., council held a caucus session.

But despite the lengthy session not all business on the agenda was completed.

The annual report of the city auditor was laid over for two weeks.

Council took action aimed at clearing up condemned buildings in the city which because of their bad state of repair might be a fire menace. A special bylaw was passed giving the city authority to order structural repairs, removal of buildings or any conditions which could constitute a fire menace.

Council authorized that legal action be taken to collect a welfare charge - back account with the village of Barry's Bay in the amount of $1,385.36 and also approved the write-off for similar account with the township of Tyendinaga. The amount of the account is $1,371.12.

A committee of Aldermen Jack Deacon, Enos David and Mayor Ellis was named to act with city officials in the sale of $1,417,572 in city debentures.

City Manager J. R. Reynolds noted that a small portion of the debenture issue was a carry-over from 1965.

He explained that final costs for the projects concerned were not completed in time for the debenture issue in April of last year and a separate debenture issue for the comparatively small amount was not considered advisable last year.

In addition to the $1,417,572 debenture issued to be sold this month there is an additional $953,491 in works approved but not yet debentured. This amount is made up of projects approved last year but not yet completed.

The appointment of new members on the Bay of Quinte District High School Board, the Belleville and Suburban Planning Board and the committee of adjustment to fill vacancies left by the resignation of Dr. J. S. Barlow, was tabled for another two weeks. It will be necessary for council to fill the vacancies for the remainder of Dr. Barlow's unexpired terms.

Council took no action with respect to proclaiming Friday, June 30 as a public and civic holiday.

Under the terms of labor contracts, municipal offices will be closed on June 30 and Mayor Ellis said it was not necessary for council to proclaim the day as a public holiday.

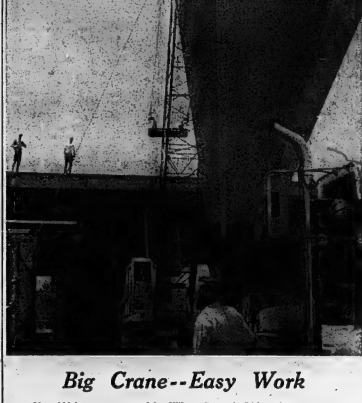
Some plants, and federal offices, will close on July 3 instead of June 30.

Youth Charged In Shooting Is Remanded

A 20-year-old youth will remain in custody at least a week while police watch the condition of the victim of a weekend shooting incident in Belleville.

Paul Thomas Howard made his first court appearance before Magistrate T. Y. Wills this morning charged with intent to wound in the rifle-shooting of Bruce Douglas, 22, in a Bettes Street boarding house Saturday night.

Douglas has been in fair condition since his hospitalization with a chest bullet wound.



Duty counsel Paul Russell said this morning that Howard was applying for legal aid.

"Unfortunately, he's unemployed and it may be difficult to have anyone put up money or property for him," said the lawyer.

"The charge is not yet resolved", warned assistant Crown Attorney Ralph Graham, as I'm sure the court is aware."

"If the injured man took a turn for the worse, the result would be a much more serious case", he added.

"I've read the newspapers so I'm not entirely unaware of what this is all about", said Magistrate Wills as he remanded the youth a week.

Treasure Van Will Again Visit City

The World University Service Treasure Van will be in Belleville on September 27, 28, 30, at the Belleville Family Y.M.C.A. and a meeting was held last week by the World Service Committee of the "Y" to organize this event.

Many who attended this exciting and exotic sale and display last fall will be pleased to know it is returning with its articles from over 30 countries. The proceeds of this sale are used by World University Services for their seal - help university program overseas and for international seminars. The percentage retained by the Belleville "Y's" World Service Committee is used to support "Y" overseas programs in 83 underdeveloped countries through 12,000 "Y" centres around the world . . . as they strive to make advances in human understanding and brotherhood. The Committee is to be convened again this year by Mrs. Ruth Barrow, with the assistance of Mrs. Phyllis Hayman as co - convenor. Chairman in charge of sales is Mrs. Neil Lorkey and Chairman of Publicity is Mrs. Jean Smith.

Rotary Club Makes Donation

Belleville Public Library soon will have greater Canadiana content among the works on its shelves, thanks to a donation of $300 from the Rotary Club.

A cheque for this amount was handed over yesterday to Miss Olive Delaney, chief librarian, by Rotary president Dr. J. F. McCorquodale.

GENERAL MEETING
BRANCH 99 — CANADIAN LEGION
TUESDAY – JUNE 6th 8.30 P.M.

Area Ambulances Discussed

The question of an area ambulance service taking in the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward is being discussed by the Quinte Area executive committee.

This was revealed yesterday by Mayor J. R. Ellis in a report of the activities of the executive committee made to Belleville city council.

The Quinte area executive committee is composed of members from Belleville and Trenton and the counties of Hastings and Prince Edward.

Mayor Ellis in his report to council said the committee is requesting that any ambulance agreements in the area comprising committee membership be for 1967 only and that the Hastings and Prince Edward County Health Unit be asked to study the whole question of ambulance service and on the feasibility of an area ambulance service being set up by January 1, 1968.

Alderman Dr. J. R. Scott, chairman of a special city council committee which some weeks ago brought in a report leading to the city entering an agreement with local ambulance operators, warned that a regional ambulance service would be very costly.

He noted that there were no mileage charges involved in city calls, but said calls to rural areas could result in mileage charges of up to $10.00.

Under the present city agreement city ambulances meeting provincial standards, are to be paid a subsidy amounting to about 50 cents per capita.

Mayor Ellis said provincial authorities would shortly be in the city to inspect local ambulances and on the basis of their report subsidy would be paid to ambulance services from May 1.

The mayor's report noted that committee members had now decided there should be no further recommendations from the Quinte area to the Federal government with the view of having the area become a designated district. Statistics show the area does not come close to justification as a designated area and unless a serious setback was suffered the matter should be left in abeyance.

More Recreation Facilities Needed Says Commission

The Belleville Recreation Commission feels the city is in need of more facilities for minor softball and baseball and is recommending that something be done about it.

The recommendation is that a capital expenditure from $5,000 to $10,000 be made each year for the next five years to develop adequate play areas.

This program, it feels, should be carried out in co-operation with the schools, the YMCA and others, or as a separate city project. The idea is to provide playing fields with washrooms but with no frills such as lights.

The feeling is that the lights could come later as part of second five year plan.

A report from the city recreation commission to Alderman Donald Williams as chairman of the parks and recreation commission shows the commission is attempting to satisfy four softball leagues made up of 47 teams (36 of them minor) and two baseball leagues with 19 teams (18 of them minor.)

This involves 226 minor baseball players and 414 minor softball players. And in addition to the minor baseball and softball there has been a revival this year of ladies softball with four teams and 70 players and coaches involved.

To accommodate all these players the recreation commission, with the co-operation of the parks department is attempting to maintain five softball diamonds, three baseball diamonds and 18 school diamonds involving nine different schools.

Use of school diamonds is with the co-operation of the school board but the use of diamonds is by precedence which provides no permanency, selection of future development.

The commission feels that more consideration should be given by the school board and other organizations in the development of sports lands for outside usage.

The report notes that schools in the city are built with little outside land usage and with no consideration for the recreation committee's involvement.

A case in point was the recreation department's request for co-development of the Haig Road school site for minor baseball. The school board agreed to development by the commission but with the proviso that when the school was built there would be no more baseball.

As it is registration of softball and baseball players is rapidly outstripping available playground facilities.

And adding to the congestion on the diamonds is the fact that minor sports coaches and leaders want to put their practice and league games in between Monday and Friday. As the leaders are all volunteers there is nothing much the recreation commission can do but to play along.

5 REASONS WHY A "ROLLINS COTTAGE" IS YOUR BEST BUY!

1. ANNUALLY INCREASING VALUE ON COTTAGE PROPERTY
This aspect is true of all new cottages, however, to a considerably greater degree with Rollins Cottages. Buying a Rollins Cottage today is similar to putting money in the bank. Development of lakeshore areas is accelerating each year. It is not uncommon for shoreline land to increase by as much as 200% in 3 years.

2. VOLUME SELLING
Rollins Lumber is equipped to build more cottages than any other builder in our area. The result — volume buying — lower material costs. This material saving is eventually passed on to the cottage purchaser.

3. PROTECTED AREAS
This is a very important consideration for every new cottage buyer. Rollins Lumber guarantees that on our own selected sites no lakeshore lot will be less than 100' frontage and that no cottage will be erected that has a lower than $5,000.00 retail value.

4. QUALITY CONTROL
In a Rollins Lumber cottage only famous brand names well known to everyone, tried and tested, are used. Our exclusive 1 year written guarantee assures you of complete satisfaction.

5. SERVICE
All of the people connected with the building of a Rollins Lumber Cottage are experts in their field — and have been trained to provide you with excellent advice and assistance regardless of your cottage requirements.

Arab Versus Jew

While the UN Security Council meets in emergency session, Arabs and Israelis are locked in the initial stages of what could be a destructive war in the Middle East.

Just what the Security Council can achieve is a moot point. The withdrawal of the United Nations peacekeeping force was the first big error on the part of the world organization. From that onward it was only a matter of time before fighting broke out in this region of ill-defined frontiers and racial strife.

At the heart of the dispute is not only traditional Arab-Jewish rivalry but such strategic considerations as the Arab blocade of the Gulf of Aqaba which has cut off the strategic Israeli port of Elath, at the head of the gulf, and the country's southern trade route for oil and other commodities through the Red Sea.

What role the big powers intend playing in this situation remains to be seen, but if the United States and Russia become involved in supporting Israel on the one hand and the Arab states on the other there is no knowing what may happen.

Left alone the two sides might simply fight each other to a standstill, as in the case of India and Pakistan not so long ago. And while it is disturbing to observe this eruption in the Middle East, it would be heartening if for a change the big powers kept their noses out of it.

If they fail to do so it is not difficult to imagine that fingers will be kept very close to the buttons that could touch off what all fear could stem from such a confrontation — an east-west nuclear war.

And what irony there would be in that — Armageddon resulting from the petty disputes of the inhabitants of the region where Christ walked long ago and is known to this day as the Holy Land.

Air Travel

Charter flying between Canada and Britain accounts for a considerable number of the air movements across the Atlantic.

This is reflected by the fact that the recent loss of a single aircraft — in a crash near Ottawa during a training flight — has forced Air Canada to re-examine its current summer schedule.

According to The Globe and Mail, the airline already is short of aircraft to meet present demand because of late deliveries from the manufacturers. The newspaper says the loss of the DC-9 plane will mean a cutback that some of Air Canada's scheduled services, but hardest hit will be the 70 charter flights it was scheduled to fly to Britain and Europe this summer.

Another problem of airlines in general these days is maintaining an adequate supply of trained pilots.

In Britain recently the Hamble Air Training College graduated one of its youngest pilots. He is Stephen Radcliff, who at 19 has begun training on VC-10 aircraft, the big jet known to air travellers on transatlantic flights.

Radcliff is one of 300 pilots to have graduated from Hamble since 1960. By next January he will be flying on regular services. The modern jet is a complicated piece of machinery for such an aircraft demands both youth and experience, and this is achieved by the teamwork of at least two and sometimes three pilots in the big machines that transport thousands of people to the ends of the earth every day of the year.

Quality of Initiative

Who says young people are lacking in initiative? Certainly not the four Torontonians who caught the travel bug, enlisted the co-operation of the Centennial Commission and the External Affairs Department and are now off to Europe on what might be termed a "working holiday."

They are Ken Swaisland, 22, an advertising copywriter, Ray Smith, 25, a newspaperman, Jimmy Glass, 21, and Heather Cooper 22, commercial artists. Equipped with pamphlets, slides and projectors the quartet will tour Europe in a tractor-trailer (supplied at a small charge by Canadian firms) and boost Canada among the people over there.

The essence of any big initiative such as this is simplicity. Swaisland had the idea in the first place, then he suggested it to Smith, and when the girls heard them discuss it the expedition became a foursome.

But that is not all — because hear this: there remained the problem of transporting the vehicle and its crew to Europe, and who should come to the aid but the owners of the Soviet liner Alexander Pushkin.

The Russians offered the travellers free return passage aboard the liner. So they are off to Europe, these four young Canadians, and there will doubtless be much to be proud of upon themselves and upon their country.

Now if only the Russians would show similar co-operation in matters of world affairs.

Lyndon Johnson Is Master of Presidential Power Play

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — You don't get the full, fine flavor of the mighty American power and glory until you've seen the President fly in.

In these past 22 post - war years four have come to call, Harry Truman, Dwight Eisenhower, John Kennedy and Lyndon Johnson.

Franklin Roosevelt came, too but that was different. Those were war years, and the Ottawa stags and scenery for such presidential dramas have changed.

It is always a spectacular production in wide screen, stereophonic sound, living color, the works, but never so super-colossally impressive as when Lyndon Johnson stars.

Then it is so overwhelming that even Prime Minister Pearson, long attuned to global poop and circumstance, seems awed enough to joke, just a bit defensively, about it.

But Prime Ministers always seem to be upstaged when they greet with Presidents.

Barry Broadfoot took the spotlight away from Mackenzie King by dancing. That is right, dancing, the waltz.

There they were, of a bright blue Ottawa spring morning, slim in arm stepping quite sedately through the Main Gate of Parliament Hill and falling into statesmanlike pace into the Centre Walk to the Peace Tower.

And all of a star - spangled sudden, the Carillonneur in the Tower has his 72 bells pealing out the strains of Harry Truman's favorite, "M I soorn Waltz."

Then you know what? He disengaged his arm from Mackenzie King, and like the Yankee Doodle Dandy he was, went gracefully into one-two-three stepping it, solo.

Eisenhower did it with a fund of stories kidding the presidency that no Prime Minister possibly could match.

There he was, the Joked, the Supreme Commander of all the U.S. Armies, able to say "do it," and see nothing done.

Kennedy did it with the near-magic of his name and the golden aura of "the young president" — and again it was something neither Prime Minister Diefenbaker nor Prime Minister Pearson could match.

But to see the really big presidential production, you've got to watch Lyndon Johnson.

The Prime Minister had arrived early at his summer home on Harrington Lake, 20 miles deep in the pine-scented Gatineau Hills north of the Capital, to see that everything was primped and polished for the Presidential guest flying in from Washington.

Out on the lake two power boats growled in monotonous tight circles, automatic weapons in their bows.

"Naval security, I suppose," grinned the PM with an amiable shrug.

Overhead a helicopter circled endlessly.

"The eye in the sky," he cracked.

Posted along the sides of the meadow where the presidential chopper would land, and in the trees up the side of the mountain back of Harrington Lake, were a couple of score of RCMP officers, silt-eyed Secret Service gunslingers and about a squad of Gatineau Park Rangers.

Back along the dusty parkway at roadblocks, security agents checked credentials, even the Prime Minister's chauffeur had to stop and report.

"Will the old place ever be the same, again," wondered the PM with a wistful smile casting his eye fondly over the lodge. (He should hope not. — It needs painting, but badly.)

Then in swept the three presidential helicopters, graceful as ballet dancers, to set down in modern, Old Glory in brilliant color emblazoned on their shining olive fuselages over the white block-letter message: The United States of America.

Out popped the guards. Alert, crouched, to the ready. Magnificent LBJ, sleek blue silk suit, bags of muscle, flat of belly, mackerel tan of skin and sandy wavy, leader of the most powerful people on earth, and looking every inch the master of it.

America the might, and all who were there to see, knew it, not excluding Lester Pearson, who, like every other Prime Minister before him, seemed suddenly smaller and perhaps even a bit humble in this powerful Presence.

Man, what showmanship!

Youthful Ferment

Ottawa Journal

The complexity of modern society, we are told again and again, accounts for the alienation of large numbers of youths from traditional patterns of behavior and thought.

The existence of this is dramatized in Ottawa by the graduation within a week of more than 1,000 students from the local universities. These graduates are probably as sensitive to the pressures and complexities of the modern world as any.

What is why the remarks of Dr. Hugh MacLennan warrant particular attention. Like many scholars and intellectuals of his generation, Dr. MacLennan has felt compelled to remind young people that their brands of idealism, cynicism or anger are by no means unique. Every generation experiences similar frustrations.

Young people, therefore, must recognize the relationship they have to their society and to the historical processes which have shaped it. If properly understood, Dr. MacLennan said, there will be less of a tendency by youth to be self-righteous in their zeal to

Keeping the Flag Clean

Windsor Star

During the battle which preceded the adoption of Canada's maple leaf flag, some of the least pessimistic predictions about its future were that its red and white colors would fade and tarnish.

That was two years ago and more, and the prediction is about the only one of the pessimistic forebodings that has come even partly true. The flag is accepted proudly as a symbol of Canada, flown proudly and with respect. It has quickly become part of Canada.

In the first few months there was a few troubles with the red parts of the flag paling to the coloring materials have eliminated these. Now only one trouble remains, and it is a trouble of all flags, not only the Canadian flag.

In this Centennial year, when Canada should be on show, some Canadian flags are being flown in dirty and bedraggled condition. This is an insult to the Centennial.

Admittedly the polluted air of most of our cities and towns is responsible for dirtying flags quickly. But it is no great problem, or expense, to have a flag cleaned. Even the replacement of a tattered flag is not greatly expensive. It is an expense that should be gladly borne in the

The Church And Life

I think one of the ways many of the churches have failed is that it has all been rules, it has all been fear, it has all been threat, it has all been leaning too little to the opposite — which is to feel, to grow in love, to grow in creativity. — British author Barbara Ward.

Heart Disease
Is Breakfast the Culprit?

Schering Science Bulletin

The traditional hearty breakfast is out. All that remains as a reminder of past glory is fruit and the morning paper habitually glanced at between bites and sips, according to an editorial in a recent issue of The Journal of the American Medical Association.

Gone are the groaned with cream-drenched cereal, buttered toast, eggs, bacon or ham and coffee. The picture has undergone drastic changes. These began more than a decade ago when medical evidence pointed to an association between fat consumption and mortality from heart disease. The changes continued with each new "discovery" and various components of the abundant breakfast disappeared one by one.

First to go was the egg, its color betraying the offending cholesterol. Next went the fatty bacon and liquid-laden milk products, leaving behind the dryness of dry toast and black coffee. Sugar then followed suit when studies suggested that dietary sugar is a major causative factor in the rise of blood lipid level and the increased incidence of coronary heart disease.

Now sugarless and dreamless coffee appears to be on the way out. A positive association between coffee intake and the incidence of heart disease has been reported. Even the customary after-meal cigarette is said to be a coronary suspect.

Will the paper be next to go? Emotional stress is high on the list of coronary culprits, so front page news and daily market reports should be kept out of sight if the newspaper is still to be read with impunity.

Canadian Policies "Ill-defined"

Kingston Whig-Standard

Professor Thomas Hockin, of the Department of Political Science at York University, recently delivered what some of the Canadian shortcomings in foreign affairs. For instance while we do not lack the goodwill of the Americans, we are likely to put them off by our concern for meetings and new machinery of consultation. These are often unnecessarily futile in themselves, but according to Professor Hockin, we are inclined to overlook the need for independent new proposals, well worked out and provided with specific practicable features which will appeal to pragmatists like the Americans.

Canada speaks ambiguously too often, and places too much importance on an ill-defined peace-keeping role which — Hockin upon reflection possibly unpopular proposals. In the case of the United States, Professor Hockin thinks we could and should be much more frank than we are.

We have no power to wield but the power of reason and a bodily expressed sense of right and moral duty. Should use this way of power more often than we do.

Same the World Over!

Ottawa Journal

Chivalry, or decent reticence, is not quite dead. Ernest Zoerdel, an immigrant from Germany, recently appeared before the Joint Parliamentary Committee on Immigration to tell of his experiences on coming to Canada and his difficulties with the language:

"I must say that in Toronto the immigration service was of great help to me and also to my brother who I later on brought out here. In finding work. My trade is a rare one — I am a photo retoucher — and he (an immigration official) did not quite understand what that meant. Of course, I could not explain it to him, so one morning I found myself at the extreme end of Eglinton Avenue in the middle of a food processing plant. Food processing and my job have absolutely nothing in common. The girl there, a jewelry secretary, gave me a questionnaire and asked me to fill it out. This I understood. So I started and I came to the question about sex and I did not know what sex meant. So I asked her "pardon me, but I do not understand this". She blushed (because I knew what it meant."

5,258 Died In Traffic Last Year

Bad as the American record is, on a per capita basis it is better than ours. In 1966 last year, with a mere fraction of the American population, there were 5,258 traffic deaths—250 more than the Americans had for a full 12 months of the Vietnam escalation and the effect on our complacency has not been noticeable by any marked degree.

The automobile has become the prime killer and killer of our time. It has all the characteristics—potential and actual—of a deadly weapon. Yet almost anyone may get a driver's licence and many drivers with a long series of traffic offences against them are still on the roads. In some cases it is little

Coffee Tops In States

Unique Status

Alberta Oil Revenue Bonanza Again Pays Off

EDMONTON (CP) — Government reports show Alberta's oil revenue is running ahead of last year, when the government collected $227,606,228 from the sale of leases and exploration permits and royalties for petroleum products.

The last year's figures, representing $155 per capita, brought accumulated income to more than $2,000,000,000 since Alberta began marketing petroleum rights in the 1930s.

As in previous years, the money was used to keep down provincial taxes and pay for services which the government describes as a pay with house of more populous provinces.

The flow of oil returns makes possible Alberta's unique status as a province without a sales tax and permits a mileage of surfaced highways second only to Ontario, although the province ranks fourth in population.

The bonanza appears to be in no danger of running out. Experts figure the province's crude oil reserves are sufficient to meet domestic needs and present export commitments for another 150 to 200 years.

Estimates of available reserves continue to be scaled upward.

Currently, the figure is 6,760,000,000 more than the estimate 900,000 barrels, almost 1,000,000 a year ago.

Still to come into production are the Athabasca oil sands, containing some 300,000,000,000 barrels of available crude oil—one of the largest known deposits in the world.

Until recently, no known method could extract the oil from the sands. A Canadian-developed process will go into operation this year. Recently a new process was announced that promoters describe as more efficient.

The province's natural gas reserves are estimated at 26,100,000,000,000 cubic feet and officials are confident the figure is conservative.

Even if no additional reserves were found, they say, Alberta has enough to meet its own needs and all existing export commitments in natural gas for at least half a century.

Town Salaries Are Approved By Council

PICTON (STAFF) — Mrs. George Elson of Picton, at last night's council meeting in Picton, tendered her resignation as council's representative to the Retarded Children Education Authority. Mrs. Elson leaves with her husband this summer for a posting in Algoma, where Mr. Elson has accepted a position. Replacing Mr. Elson on the Public Library Board is Mrs. Benjamin Ackerman.

Council approved the salaries of town employees last night — salaries to be effective June 1, 1957. The clerk-treasurer will get $6,000; Fire Chief $6,000; town foreman and plumbing inspector $7,000 annually.

The question arose regarding the ditch at Queen Elizabeth School grounds. Councillor Jarvis, chairman of streets and property committee, said that the public school board had requested some action be taken regarding the ditch to ensure the safety of school children who played near by. Councillor Andrew Jarvis told council that his committee had spent between $1,200 and $1,300 for corrigated iron pipe to enclose this ditch. Some of it has been laid but how with additions to the school coming up he did not know of the grading requirements that may now be needed and the work has come to a halt.

"Now", he said, "we do not know when it will be done, if ever. It is difficult enough" he said "to find money for realistic problems without having to find solutions and funds for imaginary problems."

Council also discussed councillor Bird's suggestion for an additional sidewalk on Princess street. "There is a danger here" he said, "for we owe it to the children to provide a sidewalk here to protect them."

Councillor Bird also congratulated the Community Centre's Board for doing such a wonderful job of renovating the Benson Park House. "This is a grand old residence" he said, "and I'm glad to see it being maintained to such a high standard." Benson Park House is occupied by Parks and Recreation for the town of Picton and is the headquarters for recreational activities.

On the Fire Chief's report Barney Hyslburn stated that "we have tried to go along with the wishes of the surrounding municipalities with regard to fire protection. We have given them a chance to 'come-in' with us for a small rental fee. The township of Hallowell have said no. Rural Hydro and Co-Op located just on the western boundary of the town have not gone along with it. The township of Sophiasburgh and Lake Ontario Cement Co. is in this township, they are trying to negotiate. Outside of this, as of this date we will not go out of town to answer fire calls except to the old folks home and the cement plant. Mutual aid calls we will accept as well. We have been trying to get the townships in on this for four or five months."

Human Carelessness Is Cause Of Many Forest Fires Says Official of Lands and Forests

The most destructive of the elements is the human one — and this year it could have a picnic outdoors.

And this week in the Quinte district where most fire has lost some of its capacity for wreaking havoc, even in the wilderness.

In the past four days there have been at least a dozen fires spotted around the vast tracts of bushland in the Trenton forestry district.

Nearly all — if not all — of them have been started by human carelessness, officials agree.

"Some people believe lots of these fires are started by lightning," said one veteran official of the Department of Lands and Forests. "We haven't had a single storm in that period. It's all the cause of human carelessness."

Specifically to blame is carelessness with cigarettes and campfires.

Statistics kept by Bert Dunne, department fire control officer at Tweed, show the size and list of fires known to the department.

For instance in 1923-31, where fire control was being organized by the provincial government, there was an annual average of 113 fires covering 94 acres each.

In the next decade there were 112 fires with the average loss down to 14 acres.

Significantly, during the war years, with recession in the economy out to a minimum, there was a great decline.

For instance in 1943 there were only 13 fires; in 1940, the total was 15.

In 1946 it rocketted to 111. The war was over and man was back in the bush again.

However, the statistics also reveal another side of the story: The fight being successfully waged to reduce the threat.

For instance in the 30's the fire loss was 84 acres per fire. Now, while the number of fires is way up, the average loss today has been pared to four acres.

"This shows", says Mr. Dunne, "that we've been making progress. But fire prevention is the big thing to concentrate on."

However, such success springs from sophisticated organization.

There are $4,400 square miles in the administrative district whose protection services are centred in Tweed.

The vital links of the service however are provided by one of man's oldest safeguards against danger — the watchtower.

From 21 such towers spotted across the district and linked by radio, a round-the-clock watch is kept by observers, who can guess at a glance the distance of any blaze.

Supplementing the system when necessary is the departmental aircraft based at Sioco lake — a float-equipped Beaver which will pinpoint an outbreak from the lowers.

In times of emergency two 45-gallon tanks can be hitched on the floats, transforming the patrol plane into a waterbomber.

The radio link is maintained from a station, just north of Tweed, that listens in locally and also can pull in messages from around the province.

Radio operator Gordon Fraser and his assistants also are responsible for maintaining a running record of weather conditions — also the crucial contributing factor in any emergency.

This allows other departmental officials at Tweed headquarters to keep track of conditions in the forest and forecast the hazard rating.

Right now it's extremely probably the worst for decades — and the biggest cause is a long, dry spell of weather. Add a dash of human carelessness and you get forest fires that annually run up an average loss of $12,500.

However, that shocking tally will be drastically revised for this year, officials fear.

The carelessness can become expensive.

"Some of them get charged," reveals Bert Dunne.

"Some of them have been already. Beside the fine, those convicted can be assessed the cost of fire suppression — which could amount to a fair sum.

"We're allowed to collect costs in court up to $200. After that it's a matter of civil law action."

However ,man doesn't measure carlessness in terms of cost — until he gets his fingers burned.

That's another reason why forest fire officials right now are keeping crossed-fingers as the hazard mounts in the forests and the alarm sounds daily.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — Western oils leaped ahead in light trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today as the Canadian Mines index continued its record climb.

The price rises follow Monday's threats by Arab countries to disrupt Middle East oil supplies unless they support of Canadian oil filling the gap.

Dome Petroleum rose 2¾ to $15.40, Hudson Bay Oil 1¾ to 34½, Imperial Oil 1¾ to 65½ and B-A 1¼ to 36½.

Home Industrials, ITL Indus. rose 1¼ to 34¼, Alcan 1 to 32 and CPR ¾ to 69¾.

Algom ahead ¾ to 22⅜, Denison ¼ to 69 and Steacrok 10 to 1.90.

In golds, Dome slid 1¼ to 50 and Kerr - Addison gained 1¼ to 23½.

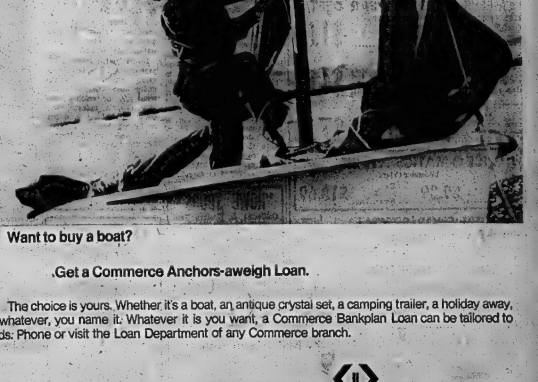
On index, industrials rose 1.29 to 163.36, golds .85 to 174.19, base metals .37 to 56.54 and western oils 7.46 to 159.15. Volume at 11 a.m. was 571,187 shares compared with 687,000 traded at the same time Monday.

Canadian bank stocks were down sharply at the close Monday. Imperial - Commerce and Royal Bank fell 1¼ to 65¼ and 1¼ respectively. Bank of Montreal was off 1 at 62¾.

Canadian bank stocks were down sharply at the end of the day. Imperial - Commerce and Royal Bank both fell 1¼, to 65¼ and 1¼ respectively. Bank of Montreal was off 1 at 62¾.

Among interlisted stocks Alcan declined ½ to 31, CPR ¾ to 63¾ and Steloo ½ to 22½. Massey-Ferguson bit a low for the year of 10¾.

Base metals were mixed, with Rio Algom down 1 to 21¾ and Denison ¼ to 68¾. Noranda gained 1⅛ to 101⅛ after losing 1⅛ earlier, and Falconbridge was up ¼ to 84½.



Dome Petroleum slipped 1¼ to 15¼, pacing the western oil decline. Scurry Rainbow was off 1¼ to 22¼ and Central Del Rio off ¼ to 11¼. Hudson Bay Oil and Gas gained ¼ to 32¾.

A wave of selling hit Quebec Metallurgical Monday at the market opening, delaying all trade 12 minutes. It lost 8 cents in the day's trade, closing at 1.25. Other speculatives also faltered, with Probex down 25 cents at 4.50, New Imperial 15 cents at 2.00 and PCE Explorations 4 cents at 73 cents.

Trader, golds rose 1.86 to 173.44, base metals fell .35 to 94.97 and western oils 1.13 to 151.78.

Trading was light, with 2,983,600 shares traded compared with 3,207,000 Friday.

Many Marriages Foundering On Boredom Says Ann Landers

MONTREAL (CP) — Newspaper columnist Ann Landers told 1,400 women Monday that Niagara Falls is the second biggest disappointment in the life of a North American bride.

In a lecture on the problems of women given as part of International Women's Day at Expo 67, she said many marriages foundered on boredom.

"People today are suffering from spiritual leukemia. I had to get into that field a hundred to find out that millions of women drink alone, that millions of women don't get through the day without tranquilizers and that thousands more don't even bother with an Academy Award for even getting out of bed in the morning." The Ann Landers' column is said to appear in 688 newspapers around the world.

A murmur ran through the audience when Miss Landers said half the mail she receives comes from men.

"You want me to say that kids today are like the kids were 30 years ago?" she asked. "I'm sorry but I can't say that."

The world has "a whole new set of tensions," that affected teen-agers and adult alike.

"Today people have no have nerves of steel just to be neurotic."

She turned to what she called the question of integrity in the U.S.A.

One of her friends, the administrator of a Roman Catholic hospital in Chicago, had told her one of his biggest headaches was "the patients who steal the crucifixes from the walls."

"People just don't associate honesty and integrity with a code of ethics," she said.

"Reliable research has shown that one-fourth of the American people will not steal no matter what happens—one-fourth will take anything that isn't nailed down and the other half varies according to the degree of temptation and the chance of getting away with it."

"The biggest international disease was boredom. Three divorces are caused by people failing asleep than by any other single act."

Miss Landers said teen-agers should not drink or smoke or speed hours in parked cars.

"That's part of the trouble with our North American society. There are too many teenagers living too many cars with no place to go."

Most Women Still Shorten Hemlines

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian women don't have to worry about hemlines taking a sudden dip even if Paris fashion houses decree it, says Vivian Mallard, fashion editor of Style and Chatelaine magazines.

"It takes a while for women to get accustomed to changes in hems, and most women here are still shortening theirs," she told the Garment Salesmen Ontario Market Inc. Monday.

"This is the year of the leg," said Miss Mallard, "and skirts are all in style, she said. Even lingerie comes in three lengths this year.

Sweaters also are stylish short or long, from a lengthy turtleneck to a mini that barely meets the waistband of its matched dirndl skirt.

Fashions should match the landscape for colors by fall, she said. Browns can be expected to "pick up momentum," brick, russett and gold will be popular, there will be a lot of greys and green will combine with purple.

Expect something different in fur-trimmed coats, Miss Wilcox said. Instead of fur - trimmed sleeve, there will be coats with the entire arm made from lynx. Other coats will have such items as striped mink collars.

IODE Will Have to Cut Down Awards

OTTAWA (CP) — The Independent Order Daughters of the Empire will have to cut down its awards of post - graduate scholarships, one annual meeting was told Monday.

The 37,000 - member order operated two memorial funds offering $2,300 awards for overseas study and $2,000 for work in Canada.

The first war memorial fund set up in 1920 will have to reduce the number of its awards because of decreasing income from capital, a report said. Five scholarships were awarded this year.

The second scholarship fund set up in 1952, showed an increase through members' contributions to the capital, but scholarships only awarded from the fund last year.

The report recommended that future assistance from the IODE be given to new junior colleges and institutions for training adults and former school dropouts.

Last year, help to schools for handicapped, mentally retarded and emotionally disturbed children was increased.

Scholarships of $300 each were given to one student at each of the National Theatre School and the National Ballet School.

About 800 delegates are attending the three-day meeting which ends Wednesday.

Estranged Wives Get New Home

NEW DELHI (AP) — Indian husbands in New Delhi have to be extra careful these days to avoid an argument with their wives.

All the married women in the capital now have a standing invitation to move into a newly-opened rest home any time they become estranged from their spouses.

"Any woman between 15 and 50 years old will be welcomed," says Mrs. Shrimati H. Jahvala, 70, president of the sponsoring All-India Women's Conference.

"Once there they can't bring their children with them.

"Their presence would complicate the work of the home which the house has been built, namely to provide any psychiatric help that will enable the women to go back to their husbands," Mrs. Jahvala explains.

The house, built at a cost of $14,700, can accommodate 25 women. In the first week it was open, only one estranged wife applied for admission.

Residents have all their expenses paid although they have to help prepare the meals and share in cleaning duties.

They will be given any free legal aid they need in case reconciliation is possible.

When couples separate in India it is the wife who generally has to find a place to live.

Nigeria's Bachelors Urge Halt to Price of Brides

ENUGU, Nigeria (AP) — In Nigeria's defiant eastern region bachelors are urging the military regime to halt the rising price of brides.

"An edict should be promulgated," declared bachelor J. N. Okeke, "to enable the youths to marry before picking up arms — duty now does not permit."

Okeke, in a letter to the Nigerian Outlook, added: "The decree should also provision for bride price — free marriages. The advantage will be that our youth will be provided the opportunity of recreating before going into battle."

Since the eastern region has threatened to secede from Nigeria, talk of fighting in the area has been common.

The Forestry Technical Workers Union has suggested the military dismiss all bachelor and spinster civil servants and halt the bride price as well. The bridegroom gives the money to his future in-laws before the wedding.

Inflation has overtaken a 1966 law that pegged the price at £28.

"A kind of mine paid £400," said a bachelor in the civil service. "And the girl didn't even pass her school certificate exam."

That meant she had not successfully completed high school.

Education is one factor behind the rising bride price. More girls are attending high school and university. In a region still about 80 per cent illiterate, educated men prize such girls as wives.

The 1956 law was passed when Nnamdi Azikiwe, later to become Nigeria's first president, was the eastern region's most powerful politician.

When an outraged prospective bridegroom cites the legal limit the white bargaining with his prospect's parents, they may say: "That's Azikiwe's bride price. Pay it to him and marry his daughter."

Bride price is an old custom among the Ibos, who predominate in the eastern area of Nigeria. It compensates a girl's family for the time spent in preparing her for marriage and for the loss of her services. At divorce, the price is returned.

Not all men oppose the bride price. Felix O. Ogbonna wrote: "The cost is not to be taken seriously as anyone who wishes to marry can even go it the traditional way."

A number of younger men are following the example of a bachelor economist who was educated at U.S. universities.

"I'm waiting until someone pays me to get married," he said.

GIRL GUIDE, BROWNIE NEWS

CO. 1 BANQUET

Belleville Company 1 Girl Guides held a mother and daughter banquet June 1 at St. Columba Church.

The event opened with the Introduction of the head table guests. They were: District Commissioner, Mrs. T. Colden; District Commissioner, Mrs. M. Chartrand; District Badge Convenor, Mrs. W. Munroe; Captain, Mrs. A. Bond; and Past Captain, Mrs. R. Sprague.

Judy Chaplin proposed a toast to the mothers which was accepted on their behalf by Mrs. A. Chaplin.

After dinner Commissioner Colden addressed the party on the uses of Guide donations. She was followed by Commissioner Chartrand talking on camp. Mrs. T. Colden presented Pamela Thornton and Cathy MacDonald with All Round Cord Pins.

Service stars were receiving by Linda Bond, Judy Chaplin, Pamela Thornton, Cathy Macdonald, Jean Simpson, Arty-Lee Hall, Laura Hooeyman, Beth Watkins, Elizabeth Reston, Anne Johnson and Sharon Mercer. Badges were presented to Linda Bond for Home Nursing an dto Pamela Thornton for Life Saving.

Mrs. Hagerman and Commissioner Colden presented gifts, as they have left their positions in Guiding.

Entertainment followed the presentations. The Lily-of-the-valley and Fanny patrols under Judy Chaplin sang songs and presented a skit. The Poppy's received the Gold Laws. Skits were put on by the Scarlet Tanager Patrol under Pamela Thornton. The Poppy's and Scarlet Tanager put on the two last skits.

The night was completed by Captain Bond's slides of Germany, Austria, Britain and Holland.

Women's Institutes

MELROSE WI

The origin of the Mary Stewart Collect and the Women's Institute Ode was explained by the new president, Mrs. Donald McLaren, when she conducted her first meeting in May.

The design of the Centennial quilt was on display and arrangements were made for the completion of this project. The committee in charge of purchasing card tables reported on their findings and several members volunteered to take a turn for a future banquet.

The historical research convener, Mrs. Joseph Dumont, brought back a report from the Guelph Conference. The roll call was something back to and encouraging, there being increasing the membership and organization. She mentioned that in olden days, women sat by their windows looking out on the muddy roads. Now they don't look out at the winding roads, they're on them.

The program convener, Mrs. Raymond Clarke, presented the theme "Live a live wire and you'll never get stepped on." Women of today seem to be stretched in all directions but happiness can only be absorbed in the world around us. Mrs. Clarke and Mrs. Buckley described the thriving industrial area between Oshawa and Niagara, which is known as the Golden Horseshoe.

The topic, Canada Unlimited, set forward Canadians of not showing sufficient pride in their country. This pioneer nation withstood the test of depression because its vast natural resources, oil, hydro, and minerals made it rich.

Mrs. Roy McLaren read amusing offices rules of the WMW. Mrs. Grace McLaren was the winner of a contest.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "How can you leave the kitchen in such a mess after you fix your bedtime snacks? You're all old enough to know better than to leave things for me to clean up."

Consideration of others should be a habit children have learned by the time they're "old enough to know better."

Start when children are young and teach them the rooms the family shares must be left in order. If someone gets out food, he should put it away, wipe up spills, rack dishes and leave everything reasonably tidy.

Chocolate Cookies Are Children's Favorite

By MARY MOORE

ever bought them. We both drew a blank.

Undaunted I went to work in her kitchen in Englmath, BC and reproduced what was, to me, a reasonable facsimile, and to the children a scrabbling success. I had to hold two of them to have ok' hand to look at and taste a day or two later.

SNAPPY CRACKLE TOP CHOCOLATE COOKIES (48)

½ cup shortening, (room temperature)
1¼ cups dark brown sugar
1 egg
2½ squares (2½ oz.) unsweetened chocolate
2 cups sifted cake flour
2 tsps. baking soda
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
Granulated sugar (for dipping tops)

Melt chocolate in heavy cup standing in shallow pan of boiling water.

Into beater bowl measure the shortening and dark brown sugar and beat until creamy and light. Add egg and melted chocolate and beat again until well blended.

Sift together the sifted flour, baking soda and salt, and beat in with the vanilla. Batter is stiff and does not need to be chilled.

With buttered palms break off small amounts of dough and shape into 1¼" balls. Have ready in a small shallow bowl some granulated sugar. Dip balls in sugar, turn over, and place, sugared side up, on buttered baking sheet 2" apart. Press down a little with the side of your palm. (Note: If you want flatter cookies, with less of a crackle-top effect press down a little more.)

Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. 15 to 17 min. You will need 2 cookie sheets and should switch pans about, and for end, and to different levels during baking to have every cookie uniform. Be sure to watch these for if they are baked too long they will burn easily.

These are professional-looking and keep well in covered box (that is if your children do not know where the box is).

Dip balls in sugar, turn over, and place, sugared side up, on buttered baking sheet 2" apart. Press down a little with the side of your palm. (Note: If you want flatter cookies, with less of a crackle-top effect press down a little more.)

Bake at 375 deg. Fahr. 15 to 17 min. You will need 2 cookie sheets and should switch pans about, and for end, and to different levels during baking to have every cookie uniform. Be sure to watch these for if they are baked too long they will burn easily.

These are professional-looking and keep well in covered box (that is if your children do not know where the box is).

Woman Petrified That Husband Will Learn All About Her Past

DORIS CLARE

Dear Doris: A few years ago I had a lovely baby daughter who was placed for adoption. Later on I met and married my husband, but I didn't tell him anything about my past. Whenever we return to my home town, though, I am just petrified in case someone says something.

Now I have a daughter and a son. I love them both, but find myself spending more time and attention and even money on my little girl. I think I am trying to make up to her the loss of the other one. If I even slightly slap her for anything I end up bawling with her. If my husband hits her, I end up not speaking to him.

I see all my mistakes and find myself I've got to change, but it doesn't happen. I can't tell my husband everything now, for I'm afraid he would walk out the door, never to return. I really don't deserve his love. I have lied so many times to cover up, but I'm afraid one of these times a lie won't work any more. — Mother of Lost Daughter.

Dear Mother: You wrong two people: your little girl and your husband. You even wrong those adoptive parents who no doubt are enjoying and loving the one you surrendered before.

I can't see anything for it but a confession and re-thinking of the whole affair; and this is one you'd need more outside help for than a letter from me.

If you really mean to raise a daughter who will be a credit to you and a pal to her brother, you'll need re-balancing. Your child care consultant is as close to you as your telephone. In Belleville, the help comes from the Children's Aid Society of Belleville and Hastings County, 62 Moira Street West.

Dear Doris: Re letter of R. J. W. referring to carving soapers. He is wrong, for extensive antler carving is being done at the present in the Coppermine region. The DNA handicrafts at Coppermine handle these antlers which the Eskimo gets. Mr. Charlie Klengenberg is their most renowned carver and I believe some of his work will be displayed at Expo '67.

Cariboo antlers are mainly used and for any information about this work I suggest you contact the handicrafts supervisor, Mr. Robert Ulkman, at Coppermine, North West Territories.

Soapstone or serpentine is also being carved. — D. W., NWT.

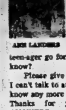
Dear D.W.: Glad there is someone right on the spot to clue us in. Would we find these works of art in the Canadian pavilion at Expo? I'm told there are Eskimo artists working there.

Dear Doris: Every time my husband and I go out to a dance or dinner, we disagree about coming home. When he wants to, I don't, and when I want to, he doesn't. Then we have a fight which spoils the evening.

Last Saturday it was the same. When I got tired of his procrastinating (I had refused his suggestion of going home earlier in the evening) I suggested I take a taxi home and that he could come home when then stayed out all night himself. He didn't like this and said it would serve me right if he let me come home in a taxi self to worry me. What can we do to solve this problem? — On Edge.

Dear On Edge: Settle it before you leave home. You might agree to take turns being the one to make the first move. One Saturday night it's your move to break it up; next one, his.

But don't suggest that taxi bit again. When a married woman puts on a show of being independent — like that — any husband sees red.



Don't just muddle along. Do something about what's troubling you. A letter to Doris can put you on the way to more Successful Living.

Ann Landers

Possible to Get VD From Sore on Lips

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Let me begin by saying I am a 14-year-old girl and I don't know anything about the subject I am writing about. I mean venereal disease. I only know what I have read in magazines, and that's not much.

ANN LANDERS

Can a person get V.D. from kissing someone who has a sore on his lip? Can a person get V.D. from the member of the same sex or does it have to be from a member of the opposite sex. For example, could I get V.D. from kissing my aunt?

How can a person tell if he has V.D. without going to a doctor? Where would a teen-ager go for treatment if he didn't want his parents to know?

Please give me some information. I feel very ignorant and I can't talk to any adult about this. The kids in my crowd don't know any more than I do and they'd like some information too. Thanks for your help. — CURIOUS AND NEEDING ANSWERS.

DEAR CURIOUS: First, it is possible to get V.D. from a person (male or female) who has a sore on the lip, but most people do not get it that way. The sore that spreads V.D. is an ulcer-sore, which means the person with the sore has V.D. It is never a good idea to kiss anyone who has an eruption of any kind. Even if it isn't V.D. you don't need it, whatever it is.

It is risky business to try to diagnose your own illness so I will not describe V.D. symptoms. If there is any question in your mind, go to your family doctor. He will in all probability treat you and not tell your parents. Or go to the City or Country Health Department where they will be happy to serve you free of charge and not ask if you ask them not to. (This is the way it is in Chicago and in most other cities.)

And while we are on the subject I would like to urge all teen-agers to co-operate fully with the health officials when they ask you to name your friends. This is not rat-finking. It is your duty to tell the health officer where you have been and with whom. The only way to eradicate V.D. is to track down the source of infection and everyone who can, should help.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am the mother of two small children. We recently moved to a new home which I love, but staying home seven days and seven nights a week, 24 hours a day is driving me batty.

On weekends when my husband is home and my children are napping I have asked him for permission to go next door for a cup of coffee with my neighbors. He says it is not necessary — that a woman should not be gadding about. Her her place is in the home.

My husband leaves at 8:00 a.m. and returns at 6:00 p.m. He bowls two night a week. I feel it is only fair that I get out once in a while. If I am wrong please tell me. If he is wrong, please tell him. — TIED DOWN.

DEAR TIED: He didn't write, so I am not going to tell him anything. But I am going to tell you to find a sitter and go with him on one of the bowling nights, even if just to sit and observe. Or join a sewing circle, or a church group or a book review club — something that will provide intellectual stimulation and a change of scenery. And don't say you can't afford a sitter. It's cheaper than a psychiatrist.

Sluggish Kidneys May Bring Restless Nights

If you "think the pillow" now and turn all through the nights and don't really know why — perhaps here's news that may help you. Many times nerves and backache are blamed on sluggish kidney action. Urinary irritation and inflammation may also suffer. The result can be backache and nervousness. Don't take drastic drugs. Use Doan's Pills, the kidney medicine. Doan's stimulate kidney action, helps relieve the irritated condition that causes the backache. Take Doan's, and see how well you feel. Doan's Pills are used successfully by millions for over 70 years. Now large size saves money.

Headland Limits to Provide Coastal Fishing Preserves

By TOM MITCHELL

OTTAWA (CP)—If Commons debates were televised, Monday's viewer would have seen few of the flashes of parliamentary greatness TV advocates cite in their arguments.

The day began with a dramatic appearance by Liberal Hazen Pearson, reported on the outbreak of Middle East war, calling for a ceasefire and Big Four talks.

But it quickly slipped into a quiet, solid example of how an individual MP looks out for the interest of his constituents.

Topic of the day was the $47,441,000 spending estimates of the fisheries department for 1967-68. MPs from both coasts and the fishing areas in between chimed in with beefs and suggestions from their local areas before approving them.

The latest pitch for broadcast coverage of the Commons came from Max Saltsman (NDP—Waterloo South), who sought approval for a motion asking that a Commons committee make a special study of how it could be set up.

The motion was talked out without action.

Fisheries Minister Robichaud opened the estimates debate with a promise that Canada will make an announcement within two weeks on establishment of coastal fishing preserves through a headland-to-headland territorial limit.

Canada has been working for international acceptance of a 12-mile territorial limit based on lines drawn from headland to headland.

This system could seal off many waters where foreign fleets have fished for centuries. Negotiations have been under way for years to determine what waters would be preserved for Canadian fishermen under the new system.

After his first statement, Mr. Robichaud was praised for his handling of the annual Gulf of St. Lawrence seal hunt.

J. Angus MacLean (PC—Queens), former fisheries minister, said Mr. Robichaud had run the hunt, a storm centre of controversy about alleged brutal killing methods, about as humanely as possible.

On qualifications for federal subsidies for vessels 35 to 45 feet long, Mr. Robichaud said it was made clear when the program was started that payments would be made only for conservancy and not for profit. Some boards in each province had agreed to this and were aware of the qualifications.

The minister also answered complaints of East Coast MPs about damages to inshore fishermen's gear by draggers. Regulations would be introduced to reserve special areas for inshore fishermen where dragging would be prohibited.

To suggestions of special aid for Eastern lobster fishermen whose traps were battered by storms and ice this year, Mr. Robichaud was only partly sympathetic.

Insurance against damage to boats and traps was available at "extremely low" rates and more fishermen should avail themselves of this protection, he said.

Great Lakes area MPs raised questions about the fight against the lamprey eel which kills off prime food fish. Mr. Robichaud said the anti-lamprey program in Lake Superior has cut the population by 85 per cent. The program was being extended to Lake Huron and a similar success was expected.

Spilled Gas Ignites, Destroys Trucking Firm

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Careless use of gasoline in filling a lift truck has been blamed for a fire Monday that destroyed Western Freight Lines Ltd. here.

Inspector Robert Kaufman of the Ontario fire marshal's office said Monday night the fire started after gasoline, spilled on the vehicle, was ignited by a spark from the truck's starter motor.

Moments before the blaze the vehicle had been filled by a workman, he said.

Flames, fed by mixed freight including chemicals, paint and paint thinners, roared out of control for more than two hours while 43 firemen battled the blaze.

Two members of the trucking firm, Peter Meyers, 29, a truck driver, and Leonard Peltier, 37, night foreman, suffered minor burns after a motor on the lift truck exploded in their faces.

"I just touched the starter button when it blew up," Mr. Peltier said. "I looked for Pete and saw him jumping off the truck. . . . His shirt was full of flames."

Mr. Peltier said he helped Meyers rip off his shirt, then ran for a fire extinguisher.

The fire had spread through the warehouse before he returned.

Elmer Lets, branch manager of the trucking firm, said he was unable to estimate damage accurately but the loss could run as high as $1,000,000. The Ontario fire marshal's office is investigating.

100 Take Part in Bike Roadeo

NAPANEE — One hundred boys and girls from six to 15 years of age gave the Napanee and District Jaycees and all their helpers a busy day at the arena Saturday in the Bicycle Road-eo.

Competitors were divided into three classes this year, with three prizes in each class. First prize was a new bicycle, second prize a light and generator set, and third prize a horn-light set.

Six-year-old Margaret Wilson took home the bicycle in the class from six to eight years. Michael Walters, 8, was next with 135 points and Lynn Matia was third with 128.

In the second class, nine to 11, Peter Stevens, 11, and Mike Thompson, 10, tied for first place with a total of 180 points. Peter Stevens was the winner of the bicycle, winning the slow bicycle race with which the tie was broken. Mike Thompson was awarded second prize, and Mary Ann Dean, with 149 points only one point less than the winner won the third prize.

Steven McLaughlin, 14, with 180 points won first prize in the third class, boys and girls from 12 to 15. Janean Gerow, 12, won second prize with 155 points, and Oliver Probert, 13, placed third with 153.

Of the 100 boys and girls who registered, 88 passed the three-point test. Passing scores was from 115 to 170. Each contestant wrote a test on his traffic knowledge, had his bicycle checked by a police officer, and demonstrated his skill in bicycle riding.

Assisting the Jaycees were Provincial Constable Ed. Ford, and members of the Napanee Police Department in turn, who checked the bicycles. Assisting with the judging of the riding skill were representatives of the Napanee Fire Department, the Junior Farmers, and the County Farm Safety League. Overall chairman of the Jaycee committee was Phil Waters.

At the close of the contest, the prizes were presented by Jaycee William "Cookoushot," president-elect and Jaycee Phil Waters, project chairman.

The Jaycee plaque for the top contestant was presented to Steve McLaughlin, who will hold it until next year's Bicycle Road-eo It will be inscribed with his name, and will hang in the Prince Charles School, which he attends.

Brownies Enjoy Annual Revel

NAPANEE — For their annual Revel in this Centennial year, the district Brownies appropriately chose the grounds of historic Macpherson House rather than the fair grounds, as in other years. About 90 Brownies from the one pack from Newburgh and the three from Napanee had a morning's fun together.

Games and songs, and a skit by the Newburgh pack, were followed by a picnic lunch. Unsatisfy there are races, but these were not held Saturday because of the heat. During the morning Mrs. Harold Retford received her warrant as Snowy Owl of the First Napanee pack. Brown Owl is Mrs. Werk Poole.

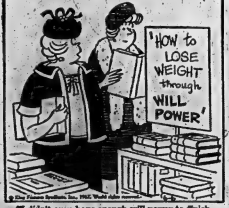
At the close all 90 Brownies formed a fairy ring and gave the grand howl for Mrs. J. Belair, who is retiring as district commissioner, and for Mrs. Harold Retford for receiving her warrant.

Mrs. Allan Cockburn and Miss L. J. Rombough are Brown Owl and Tawny Owl respectively of the Second Napanee pack; Mrs. R. Wager and Miss Heather Belair of the Third Napanee pack, and Mrs. Butler and Mrs. Marshall of the Newburgh pack.

Centennial Hospital Week Is Started

NAPANEE — Centennial Hospital Week started off at full speed in Napanee Monday morning. Administrator James Hepburn in perfect clothing, was almost ready to leave for the hospital, when Bruce Allore arrived appeared a bit ahead of time to announce, "Your car is at the door, sir", an 1918 Chevrolet. A visit to the Post Office and a quick tour of the business section preceded the short drive to the hospital.

Here Mr. Hepburn found the other members of the administrative staff, and supervisors and heads of departments in and near the office to welcome him, and to show off their own Centennial costumes.



Everyone connected with the hospital who can acquire an appropriate costume by any means whatever is wearing one. Some of the head nurses are in the uniforms they wore as probationers.

In the afternoon flowers of grandmother's day began to appear on desks, in the hallways, in the patients' rooms and in the gift shop. Tulips, lilacs, and lily-of-the-valley predominated.

On Saturday at Prince Charles School there will be a tea and bake sale in the afternoon, and a variety program in the evening. Throughout both afternoon and evening, there will be a display of antique household articles, surgical instruments, and hospital supplies.

All proceeds will be turned over to the Lennox and Addington County Centennial Committee. It is the hospital's way of saying "Thank you", to the community.

Doesn't the consumer ultimately have to pay the costs of advertising?

ADVERTISING HELPS KEEP COSTS DOWN

Well, yes and no. But mostly no. Advertising, to be sure, is one of the costs of selling merchandise just as raw materials, labor, machinery and equipment, packaging, and shipping are costs that show up in the finished product.

But suppose a man can manufacture and sell a million candy bars. His total cost would be spread across those million candy bars and the advertising cost per bar would be negligible.

On the other hand, if he didn't advertise his candy bars, he wouldn't likely sell so many and his costs per candy bar would increase.

First thing you know you'd find you might be paying 15 to 20 cents for a bar that should only cost a dime.

Advertising, you see, is a way of spreading news about products and services. It tends to hold down the price of goods by promoting volume sales for mass production.

Advertising is the best—and cheapest—method yet devised for keeping people informed about the goods and services available today to help make our life a little easier and a lot more fun.

Countdown to World War III Considered Next 100 Hours

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Israel appears to be relying on a lightning thrust to gain a military advantage on the field that could back up her strength at the bargaining table.

Virtually the entire Arab world now has declared war on the little state. One expert estimates that if there is no ceasefire and the battle conditions, the decisive stage could come within 100 hours of the outbreak.

A prolonged war could find the big powers involved perhaps to the extent that the Middle East could become the battleground of a massive world struggle.

One question is whether the Soviet Union would be willing to see the United Arab Republic and all her associates thrown back. And there certainly is a great deal of doubt whether the United States would allow Israel to go completely under.

The Israeli government has in fact emphasized this point. It does not expect that her many friends will simply stand by and let her suffer.

A ceasefire coming at a time when Israeli forces have moved forward on the field would be a strategic diplomatic advantage.

But diplomats suggest a ceasefire by itself would not end the struggle. The war would leave such scars on both sides that borders would have to be inspected and patrolled for many years to come. The need for a United Nations peacekeeping force would be greater than ever.

Permanent peace is likely to be made more secure by a final settlement of the Palestinian Arab refugees. It appears likely that Israel will have to take some of them back, though this may be repugnant to some Israeli leaders who fear this may merely add another enclave of hostility within their own borders.

Israel Claims 'Unprecedented Feat' Of Destroying Arab Air Power

TEL AVIV (CP) — Israel claimed today to have smashed the air forces of Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Iraq and a leading Israeli military man dismissed Egyptian charges of Anglo - American air support for Israel as "fiction."

Gen. Chaim Herzog, former chief of Israeli army intelligence, hailed Israel's destruction of Arab air power as an "unprecedented feat."

Radio Cairo's charge that U.S. and British planes had provided air cover Monday for Israeli operations was "fiction," he said, adding: "this time we shall finish the job all by ourselves."

He said the battle on Israel's southern front in the desert of the Sinai Peninsula now was in the armor phase on the second day of the war and that Israeli armor and infantry, counter-attacking, had pierced a 50-mile gap from Khan Younes to Kusaima.

The Israelis: dvanced in a two-pronged thrust along northern and central routes while other Israeli forces were making their way from the El Kuntilla region—a road junction leading south to the head of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Gen. Herzog said: "Only the test of armor battle remains now."

He said the crushing of the Egyptian, Syrian, Jordanian and Iraqi Air Forces in a single day was even more remarkable since they had outnumbered the Israeli Air Force and their planes were of a quality "not inferior" to that of Israeli aircraft.

The Israeli army claimed the capture of three points in Jordan today and the repulse of the first Syrian ground attack of the new Arab-Israeli war.

The army said its forces had occupied the Jordanian town of Jenin, a few miles from the border and about 30 miles southeast of Haifa; Nebi Samuel, a Jordanian village near Jerusalem, and Latrun, 18 miles east of Tel Aviv in the western-most part of Jordan jutting into Israel.

Canadian Press correspondent Dave McIntosh in Tel Aviv reported Israeli forces captured Rafah and El Arish from which the Canadian contingent of the United Nations Emergency Force was evacuated only last week.

El Arish is 40 miles inside the Egyptian border on the road to the Suez Canal and was used until last week by RCAF Caribou transport planes on UN service.

El Arish also is an Egyptian MiG base.

The Israeli army said Syrian ground forces moved into the war for the first time with a heavy attack on the frontier settlement of Sharr Yashuv in Galilee.

Damascus radio claimed that Syrian forces had occupied Sharr Yashuv.

Army chief of staff Maj.-Gen. Yitshak Rabin said Israeli troops advancing into Sinai inflicted heavy casualties on the Egyptians, and described Israeli losses as light.

Rabin said his troops, after taking El Arish, on the northern coast of Sinai, pushed on toward the important junction of Abu Ogeila 30 miles to the south.

He said the Israelis seized the key Gaza Strip communications centre of Khan Younes, sealing off Gaza Strip, and fought their way into the outskirts of the city.

Bitter fighting raged in the holy city of Jerusalem, which is divided between Jordan and Israel. The Israelis claimed the capture of Beit Iza and Nebi Samuel, Jordanian villages in the Jerusalem area.

The war apparently was growing with heaved damage to the holy city.

The Associated Press reported that in the Israeli sector of Jerusalem, Jordanian gunners hit the Church of Dormition, one of Christendom's most revered edifices. The entire roof was destroyed but the extent of the damage to the interior was not known.

The Roman Catholic church, built in Romanesque style at the beginning of this century, suffered considerable damage during the 1948 Israeli-Arab war.

The Israelis admitted that Syrian batteries had also shelled Galilee settlements, including Gadot near the Boot Yascov Bridge.

The bridge, about eight miles north of the Sea of Galilee, was the meeting place earlier this year of the Syrian-Israeli Mixed Armistice Commission which attempted to settle the border disputes. The meetings never got off the ground.

In other areas of Israel, air raid sirens sounded in Tel Aviv shortly before dawn and moments later the Israeli Army said that the Egyptians had bombed the Netanya - Hadera central coastal area.

Tel Aviv had five air raid alerts by 9 a.m., but many residents already in shelters for the night simply remained there.

The Israelis boasted of their claim that they had won air superiority over the entire battle area. The Israeli Air Force officially placed the Arab plane losses at 374 Monday alone, while admitting the loss of 19.

Spotlight on Crisis—Britain

British Give Israel Edge

LONDON (CP) — Responsible British informants said today evidence of relatively thin Egyptian air activity over Israel combined with Arabian charges of undercover Anglo - American intervention may indicate that Israel has struck a powerful air blow against Egypt in the first round of the Middle East war.

First-day claims of the number of planes shot down, tanks destroyed and troops taken prisoner are likely to have been exaggerated by both sides in the rush to build up morale, discourage the enemy and disguise the nature and thrust of field operations.

Much of the reporting from the war area is based on official press statements from the government involved. There has been relatively few eyewitness accounts of actual field operations by objective reporters.

A responsible British view, however, is that Israel achieved that element of surprise so essential to military operations and that she may have crushed a large portion of Egyptian air power.

Immediately after this British opinion was provided in London, Israel announced from Tel Aviv that she had smashed the air forces not only of Egypt, but Syria, Jordan and Iraq. The estimated combined air power of these countries amounted to some 750 planes. Israel's combat aircraft have been estimated at 250 by the British institute for strategic studies.

British suspicion that Egyptian forces may have been hit badly followed the charge by the Egyptian armed forces supreme command that American and British planes provided air cover for Israeli raids during the initial Israel attack against Egypt.

Both the U.S. and Britain have denied this charge. They denied would carry "less weight if the Egyptians could actually produce captured American or British military pilots.

One British official suggested the fact that the Egyptians had to resort to such a charge indicated a suspicion that the Egyptians had suffered an embarrassing blow and now were trying to find a suitable reason or excuse.

Charges of Anglo - American intervention also could become a suitable reason for asking for intervention by the Russians on the side of the Egyptians.

Canadian Jews Offer Money and Their Lives

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Within hours of the news that Israel and the United Arab Republic were at war, Jews across Canada began an all-out campaign to raise funds for and to get volunteers to Israel.

Arabs in Canada offered to return to the Middle East to fight against Israel.

Jewish officials in Toronto, Winnipeg, Montreal and Calgary estimated that more than $5,500,000 had been pledged and donated by Monday night.

More than 400 applications from volunteers to fill civilian jobs in Israel were being processed and 12 men and women are en route, Jewish spokesmen said.

A mass meeting in Montreal Monday saw more than $2,000,000 donated with another $2,100,000 collected in Toronto, where donations ranged from a few hundred dollars to $115,000.

Samuel Bronfman, president of Distillers Corp., Seagrams Ltd., Montreal, and his son Charles, president of the House of Seagram, Ltd., a subsidiary, combined to pledge several thousand dollars.

Cairo Radio Reports Suez Canal Closed Claiming Intervention by U. S., Britain

CAIRO (CP) — Egypt closed the Suez Canal today, charged U.S. and British Navy planes with joining the war on Israel's side and reported to clashes with Israeli forces along the Sinai desert front.

Cairo Radio said the government had closed the Suez waterway because Israeli attacks on shipping in it raised the possibility ships might be hit and block the canal "for a long time."

Egypt charged Monday that Israeli planes had fired on a French tanker in the canal, although apparently it was not hit. The broadcast today indicated more ships had been attacked.

The Egyptian high command said it had been proved "beyond doubt" that carrier-based American and British planes were engaged on Israel's side on a large scale. The U.S. and British governments immediately denied the charge.

Cairo radio reported that Egyptian President Nasser had sent messages to seven Arab leaders informing them of "Anglo - American military and air intervention in support of Israeli aggression."

Less than two hours after the high command's communique was broadcast over Cairo radio, the Arab Labor Federation made public an appeal to "workers all over the Arab world" to destroy oil oilfields, pipe and other installations to halt the flow of oil to the United States and Britain.

A spokesman for the high command, commenting on Britain's declaration of neutrality in the war, said:

"Of course, lying is their motto. The Arab world is able to face the aggression."

About 150 Egyptian demonstrators attempted to stage a march on the U.S. Embassy in Cairo, but were driven back by a strongly - reinforced police, including mounted units.

The police ahead the demonstrators with long riot sticks to disperse them.

No new total count was published thus far of the planes claimed to have been downed by the Egyptians, who Monday claimed downing 88 Israeli planes. The Israelis admitted losing 19 Monday.

Spotlight on Crisis—Canada

Commons Asks for Action

OTTAWA (CP) — All parties united in the Commons Monday in calling for an immediate ceasefire in the Middle East war under United Nations guidance.

Prime Minister Pearson met agreement from all sides as he called for a Big Four meeting "on a high political level" to supersede Israeli and Arab forces.

His suggestion echoed an earlier call for Big Four action by French President de Gaulle, but the Canadian leader held to his view that the four should meet "as members of the UN Security Council."

The main responsibility for intervening to end the war rests with the UN Security Council, he said, and particularly with the Big Four—the U.S., Russia, France and Britain.

"This is the time for very deep concern. It is no time for despair, but for a great effort for peace in that area."

Britain Denies Carrier Planes Provided Cover for Air Raids

LONDON (CP) — Britain joined the United States today and strongly denied reports from Cairo that British carrier-based fighter planes provided air cover for Israel during raids on the United Arab Republic Monday.

"This is quite untrue," a British foreign office spokesman said. No British aircraft have been involved.

The Egyptian high command claimed in a broadcast carried by Cairo radio that planes of both Britain and the United States attacked Arab forces in Jordan as well and provided an air umbrella over Israel.

Cairo radio called on Arabs everywhere to sabotage and destroy British and American interests.

Earlier U.S. statement that its planes had stayed with their carriers several hundred miles away and said: "That still stands."

The British foreign office spokesman referred to a speech in the House of Common Monday by Foreign Secretary George Brown, who said British forces in the area had been ordered to take no part in the fighting.

The Associated Press reported from Beirut, Lebanon, that the Egyptian claim opened the door to violent Arab reactions against British and U.S. interests in the Arab world and provided the "excuse" of active Soviet involvement.

The Cairo broadcast said King Hussein of Jordan had telephoned Egyptian President Nasser to say that Jordanian radar detected the American and British activity.

It did not say how the planes were identified on radar.

Arab oil - producing countries meeting in Baghdad Monday decided to stop selling oil to any foreign country that aids Israel in the war. Arab nationalists also have threatened violence against interests of any governments Monday proclaimed their neutrality in the Middle East war.

The command's announcement said some British and American aircraft carriers were undertaking widespread activity to help Israel.

A U.S. 6th Fleet force has been stationed in the eastern Mediterranean during the Mideast crisis. It is no time for despair, but for a great effort somewhere in the Red Sea.

"O Arabs, destroy America's installations and sabotage its interests," Cairo radio urged.

Recalling the Suez campaign, the radio said Arabs now should do much more than they did then.

"Destroy their interests now the ugly face of America has been made public to the entire (News Item: — Oshawa Generals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior "A" series have announced the signing of Tim Hildebrand as coach and Matt Leyden as general manager for the 1967-68 season).

If the Generals when looking over the field to fill the vacancies of general manager and coach of the club were searching for experience, they came up with a double-barrelled dose of it.

In Matt Leyden, who recently completed a two-years term as president of the Ontario Hockey Association, they have one of the best hockey men in Canada.

He did an excellent job piloting the OHA over the rough seas of administration and his name is so much a household word appreciative to hockey circles as it is in his native Oshawa.

Experience-wise the Generals could not have acquired a better man than Tim Hildebrand. He has run the gamut of coaching from minor hockey and senior lacrosse in his native New Westminster to the realization of the dream of many an amateur Canadian coach, the winning of the world amateur hockey championship.

The Leyden-Hildebrand combo is not a new one. Twenty-three years ago Ike came from BC with a champion lacrosse team. He was the youngest player ever to win the Mike Kelly Memorial for the outstanding player of a Minto Cup series.

Leyden, then general manager of the Oshawa Generals, spotted Ike and asked him if he played hockey on the coast. Hildebrand admitted he had and the result was he stayed in the east and played two outstanding seasons with the Generals before going to Cleveland and later the Western Leagues.

I do not know how Reg Goldstin and other previous Generals coaches handled the club, but I do know that in Hildebrand they will have a coach who will brook no interference from player, management or club official.

As some of the McFarlands discovered on those 1953-59 junkets to Kelowna and Europe, there was only one coach of the club — and they knew who he was.

The may have been a hard taskmaster at times, but he usually got what he wanted and in the gutting earned the respect of those under his coaching jurisdiction, as well as others.

Ike's coaching experience extends to junior hockey players. A couple of years ago he was named coach of the London Nationals and took them to a Junior "B" title at Belleville. It was primarily the Junior "A" coaching job the next year but discovered there is many a slip twixt the coach and the "lip." He did not get the post.

With the right player material and Matt Leyden behind him, Ike should do well with the Generals.

And should he perchance, win the Memorial Cup he will set a coaching record which I think will be unparalleled in the archives of Canadian amateur hockey.

My memory may be at fault but — again that big "if" — with the Memorial Cup scalp on his belt, Hildebrand will be the first coach to win the "Triple Crown" of coaching, the Allan Cup, the World Cup and the Memorial Cup.

Wren Blair, Punch Imlach and other coaches have won the Allan and world championships but I cannot think of one who has captured the "Triple Crown."

Hildebrand was a member of the hard school of professional hockey players back in the days when it wasn't a matter of hanging on until you were 35 or 40 years of age then sit back and wait for an executive job with a professional club.

He did not want — so to speak — to become a hockey bum and he tossed out on his ear when his playing days were finished with nothing to go to jobwise.

— When some of the boys were "doing the town" as all or most athletes do occasionally, Hildebrand stayed in hotel rooms and studied a mail course in structural draughting.

It paid off. When the day of parting with pro hockey came, He had a neat piece of parchment that assured him a well-paying future.

But the hockey roots are deep in the Hildebrand physical and mental structure. With his appointment as coach of the Generals, he enters yet another phase of the sport he loves so much.

Ike and his atractive wife Helen made many friends during his sojourn here with the McFarlands and I'm sure all of them go along with the wish that he makes good in the new venture and next spring will add a replica of the Memorial Cup to a well-stocked trophy room.

With The Trotters

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Star-ton Boy won Monday, driving Beechy Bee, owned and trained by Murray Maguire here, captured the featured $1,200-purchase invitation pace at Western Fair Raceway Monday night.

Wearing his third race in 13 starts this season, Beechy was clocked in 2:05 4-5, fastest trip of the night, to return $6.20.

A daily double of $220 was posted after the second race when Rocky Supreme C. won the first at $130 and Chip Yates the second at $29.

HAMBURG, N.Y. (CP) — Molly's Champ, owned and driven by Mervin Hirkman of Weyburn, Sask., won the third race at Buffalo Raceway Monday night for a purse of $23.60.

Brown's Adios, owned by the ABC and G Stable of St. Lambert, Que., and driven by Eldon Turcotte, won the fifth for a $5.40 payoff.

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — Kopas now has three wins in 12 tries at the raceway here. Beechy Bomber combined with runner-up Miss Star Magic for a $38.30 exactor.

Central Pro Loop Expanded

NHL Linesmen Given Thumb Power!

MONTREAL (CP)—While today is the day of the expansion draft, Monday was the day of the selected draft subjects.

Scores of hockey men here for the National Hockey League's biggest convention in its 49-year history managed to touch on a myriad of subjects during Monday's sessions.

The Central Professional League emerged with a new structure.

The six new NHL clubs—Pittsburgh Penguins, Philadelphia Flyers, St. Louis Blues, Minnesota North Stars, California Seals and Los Angeles Kings —were accepted as full partners on presentation of their individual cheques of $2,000,000 to NHL president Clarence Campbell.

The NHL rules committee hammered out some changes, and rejected other proposals.

It took the new West Division NHL teams two years to reach their objective and one club almost blew it at the final moment through no fault of its own.

Payment by Philadelphia president Bill Putnam was delayed when a power failure in Pennsylvania and parts of New Jersey slowed telegraph transmission of a certified money transfer to a shortcut bank.

Putnam, whose club recently purchase a controlling interest in Quebec Aces of the American Hockey League, admitted afterwards the experience had left him shaken.

The CPHL moved on an expansion program of its own, making the league alignment for next season eight teams instead of six.

Oklahoma City, Omaha, Houston and Tulsa remain, while the Memphis franchise has a new affiliation with Minnesota North Stars of the NHL instead of Detroit Red Wings.

The new clubs are Kansas City, Dallas and Fort Worth.

The American League Buffalo Bisons signed a working agreement with New York Rangers, whose previous affiliation with Baltimore Clippers was cancelled. Baltimore will work loosely with Pittsburgh under the new setup.

Jack Kent Cooke, owner of Los Angeles Kings, purchased the contracts of 29 players on the roster of Eddie Shore's Springfield Indians. Cooke's AHL farm team will also be known as the Kings.

After acceptance by Campbell of six new teams, the league president said he expects them to reach a parity with the old teams in playing ability in 1970.

"Up until last season there were only about 20 new jobs a year available for players trying to break into the NHL," Campbell said. "Now with the new teams, 120 more players will find work in the league and this will be an added incentive for youngsters both in Canada and the United States—to look to hockey as a career."

The coming season will open Oct. 11 and close March 31, with the final draft of the schedule still awaiting approval.

The rules committee decided to restrict player passers to two netminders and 16 others for the coming season. In other years it had been 13 skaters and two goalies until Dec. 1. For the playoffs the figures will be 18 and two instead of 17 and two goalies as in past years.

Linesmen will be given more authority. They will be allowed to call penalties for certain infractions and will conduct face-offs other than the first of each period and after a goal is scored.

Some means of controlling the curvature of the blades on players' sticks is being sought.

The rules committee will attempt to get the league governors to approve a uniform code on curved blades by August.

An alteration concerning goaltenders will allow for a two-minute warmup during a substitution—whether the goalie is injured or whether a coach decides a replacement is necessary because of faulty play.

The warmup period will be automatic the first time it occurs and the referee is authorized to check the practice time allowed the sub.

Cooke said he expects to name a general manager and a coach for his Los Angeles team within the next "couple of days." He is also searching for a duo to run his Springfield entry.

He said he would like to have Leonard (Red) Kelly, retired Toronto Maple Leaf centreman, to coach the west coast entry "but he hasn't been approached yet."

Protests Use Of Turbocars

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—John Mecom Jr. of Houston, Tex., pulled his three cars out of United States Auto Club racing Monday, partly because of the controversy over the STP Paxt and Whitney turbine car.

Gordon Van Liew, another Houston race car owner, said he will continue his fight against admission of turbine or piston engine races at a USAC rules committee meeting in Indianapolis Wednesday.

The turbine, driven by Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., ran away from the field in the Memorial Day 500 until it burned out a gear box bearing with 194 miles to go.

Destroyed After 2nd Fracture

Breaks Cost Reception His Life

NEW YORK (CP) — A few quiet words, a gentle needle, and a thoroughbred racing saga became legend Monday as Cool Reception was destroyed after breaking the cannon bone is his right foreleg for the second time in three days.

The tall, handsome chestnut first broke the leg Saturday about 70 yards from the finish of the $125,000 - added Belmont Stakes at Aqueduct race track here in attempting to meet the challenge of Damascus, eventual winner of the 1½-mile event.

The second break occurred Monday following a two-hour operation at a horse hospital owned by Dr. William Reed adjacent to Aqueduct.

Dr. Reed at first termed the operation, in which the bone was joined by two pins, a success. But when the Canadian two-year-old of 1966 shrieks the leg in coming out of the operation anaesthetic, Dr. Reed said:

"There was nothing else we could do. We had to put him to sleep." He said that after the operation, with the injured leg in a cast "everything appeared to be okay."

Then, later, he started to get up and broke the leg again over the original fracture. The bone was completely shattered."

The cannon bone compares roughly to the human shin bone.

Dr. Reed Saturday expressed optimism that the colt, owned jointly by Mrs. William Seitz of Montreal and Mrs. Vince Reid of Toronto, could be saved for breeding purposes. His tempered this Monday when he said that further x-rays, with a cast put on Saturday removed, showed "a tremendously greater separation Monday than Saturday."

He said he noticed a swelling above the cast Monday and was forced to remove it, only to find indications of new weakness in the leg above the original break—that the bone was completely shattered."

Dr. Neal Mendelson, regular veterinarian for trainer Lou Cavalarris Jr., flew in from Monday to assist in the operation, ironically similar to one which he performed two years ago on another horse—Northern Mixx — which returned to win the Canadian Oaks.

In Toronto Mrs. Reid said she heard of the horse's destruction on a television broadcast and that it was "very much of a shock" to her.

She said she had been told Monday morning the colt, purchased two years ago by her father Toronto Industrialist Jim Maloney, for $40,000 from Windfields Farm was in good condition.

In his two racing years, including recuperation last winter after chipping the sesamoid bone in his left ankle, Cool Reception earned the sisters $153,478, including the $25,000 he won Saturday for his second - place Belmont finish.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP) — Bye and Near, ridden by Hugo Dittfach, won the featured Acadia Purse Monday in the seventh race at Woodbine, edging out Canadel in a tight finish.

The victory was Dittfach's second of the afternoon and Bye and Near paid $7.00, $2.10 and $2.10.

Dittfach scored his first win with Gay Pageant in the second. The daily double of Gay Pageant and Wiscuba was worth $15.70.

The exactor of Lykke Til and Cretaceous in the fifth paid $6.70 and the exactor of Bye and Near and Canadel in the seventh was $8.80.

Has 'Visioned' Three Winners

Derby 'Dreamer' Picks Dark Horse

LONDON (CP)—The demon Derby dreamer has thrown a quick into gambling on the Epsom classic, adding panic to confusion for those of small or betters trying to pick a winner.

Ernest Gutteridge, a Peterborough racehorse worker who is claimed to have dreamed the winners of three major horse races, has emerged from inspirational sleep this time with an appropriately dark horse named El Mighty.

Reports of Gutteridge's dream horse inspired a burst of small bets that forced the odds against El Mighty down to 33 to 1 Monday on major books from the wild outsider's price of 200 to 1 before the weekend.

Bookmakers William Hill, Joe Coral and Ladbroke's report big money flowed in thousands of small bets in units of a few shillings each.

The small - stake bettors—many of whom make the Derby and the Grand National occasions for their only horse bets of the year—have little choice but to back dreams.

The experts say there are only three horses in Wednesday's big race — Jim Joel's Royal Palace, Gen. H. K. Mellon's Royal Sword and Dominion Day, owned jointly by Calgary publisher Max Bell, Vancouver oil man Frank Mahon and Bing Crosby of Hollywood.

The odds offered for the big three are so thin that the twice-a-year gambler would reap not much more than the price of a package of cigarettes even if he did put his small stake on the right one.

At a formal callover of odds Monday, the price on favorite Royal Palace shortened to 7 to 4 from 2 to 1; Dominion Day edged out to 9 to 2 from 4 to 1, and Royal Sword moved narrowly to 13 to 2 from 8 to 1. The small-stakes gambler that is casting around for a likely outsider in the field of 22.

In the expert view, El Mighty is almost as good a gamble as any other outside the big three. Outsiders given slightly more than a ghost of a chance include Michael Sobell's Dart Board, at 12 to 1, and Lawrence Gold's Great Host at 16 to 1. A colt trained in Ireland by Paddy Prendergrast, who coaches Dominion Day.

Bisons Now Ranger Farm Team

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League have become affiliated with New York Rangers of the National Hockey League, a Bison official said Monday.

Ruby Pazzer, co-owner of the Bisons with his brothers, Al and Sam, said he intended formally to close the deal in Montreal, the site of the NHL draft meetings, today.

Earlier in the day, Baltimore Clippers of the AHL announced they had terminated their working agreement with the Rangers.

Buffalo terminated its 14-year affiliation with the NHL Chicago Black Hawks last year.

Thad Tillotson, who was picked up by New York Yankees with a bundle of cash from Los Angeles Dodgers for Dick Littlefield last September, cashed in another premium Monday night.

Tillotson pitched the Yankees to a 4-2 victory over Washington Senators, his third triumph without a loss in his first major league season.

At the same time, Detroit's Dennis McLain pitched the Tigers past Kansas City Athletics 5-2 in 11 innings.

In the other American League games, Gene Tovar scored on a wild pitch with two out in the last of the ninth inning for Minneapolis Twins 5-4 victory over Cleveland Indians and reliever Bill Kelso's five shutout innings helped California Angels past Baltimore Orioles 3-2.

Chicago and Boston were not scheduled.

Mike Epstein Debuts

Mickey Mantle made Tillotson's victory possible with his 12th homer in the eighth inning that broke a 2-2 tie. A second run scored in the inning on a sacrifice fly.

Tom Tresh homered earlier with a man on for the deadlock after Mike Epstein made his debut for the Senators with a fluke inside-the-park homer.

McLain allowed only seven hits in his effort and one of the runs off him was unearned. Jim Northrup singled and scored on Norm Cash's double for the winning run.

Steve Bailey's control was not as good for Cleveland. He made the wild pitch that put Tovar home after the reliever walked Tovar, who reached third on Rod Carew's single.

Bob Allison homered earlier for the Twins and Tony Oliva added three hits in a 4-for-5 day. Kelso struck out five Whitfield and Max Alvis hit solo shots for the Indians.

Kelso, 3-1, took over in the fifth inning for Nick Willhite, who left with a pulled muscle after giving up both Baltimore runs, one on a homer by Paul Blair.

Gotay says I'm just up for two weeks," Gotay said Monday night, "but I don't want to go back down again.

Return Marred

Tony Cloninger started for Atlanta for the first time since April 26 when he was sidelined with an eye ailment. He was knocked for all four Los Angeles runs, the big blow being a two-run homer by Len Gabrielsen in the second.

Manager Fred Haney wasn't around to enjoy his Cubs' romp. Umpire Augie Donatelli thumbed Durocher in the third inning for arguing a strike call.

Billy Williams hit a solo homer with two out in the fifth to break a 1-1 tie and spark a four-run Chicago surge.

Chicago came right back with four in the sixth. The scoring was capped by Ted Savage's pinch hit three-run homer.

Mexicans Tie Vienna At Expo

MONTREAL (CP)—The Leon Sports Club of Mexico staged a brilliant rally in the second half to tie the First Vienna Club of Austria 3-3 in an Expo 67 international soccer tournament game Monday night.

It appeared as though the Mexicans would go down to their second defeat in the tournament as they fell behind 2-0 after the first 45 minutes of play.

After a somewhat ragged start Carlos Barajas and Sergio struck for a goal three minutes apart midway through the second half to wipe out a 2-0 Austrian lead, built up on a pair of goals by Josef Bruck.

The Mexicans had 2-1 to England in the opening game of the tournament Saturday.

Buffalo G. Manager Resigns

Richmond Braves and Syracuse Chiefs ended up victorious in the only scheduled International Baseball League games Monday night and the Bisons of Buffalo Bisons suffered the biggest loss.

Richmond scored four times in the first inning and went on to blank league-leading Rochester 5-0. Jim Coates (6-2) outpronounced Jacksonville Suns 12-2.

Buffalo, however, lost general manager Bill Cohen who resigned because of the team's financial difficulties. Bison president Joe W. G. Crosbie said the club cannot afford to hire another general manager.

"We would not have accepted Clay's resignation except for the financial plight of the club," he said. "Because he is highly capable, I think he's tops in his field and will be sorely missed."

Rack Up Four Wins

Hotel, Cheesemen Unbeaten

For a club that almost failed to answer the starting gun for the Connecticut Softball League schedule a few weeks back, City Hotel is off to a good start indeed.

The Hotelmen chalked up their fourth win in as many starts by whipping Union Construction 7-4 last night.

But the victory failed to mask a first place deadlock with Black Diamond Cheese. The Cheesemen also notched victory number four by whipping winless Brant's Mountain View 9-3.

City Hotel had difficulty getting a club organized earlier and just three days before the schedule opened, were said to be folding.

They used a three - run outburst in the top of the seventh inning to top Stinson's at Amelianburg last night. A walk, fielder's choice, Lloyd's single and Brooker triple chased two home and Murray's safety ended the scoring.

Ray Paquette banged the win, allowing nine hits, striking out three and passing two. Bob Boyle took the loss, allowing City's nine hits, banging six and walking four, before Larry Holt finished up in the seventh.

Doug Murray spearheaded the City attack with a double and two singles, each of the hits figuring in the scoring. Tom Mosher and Donaldson hit two - run homers. Brian Smith two singles, Bob Brooks his triple and Bob Lloyd a single. For Stinson's Bob Boyle doubled twice and Ken Genereaux once. Fred Stinson and Jack Whiting had two singles each, Larry Potter and D. Flindall one.

Black Diamond jumped on Brant's for four first-frame runs and coasted to the decision behind Sonny Holoway's six - hit hurling. He struck out 13 batters and walked five. Grant Costello gave up eight

Shuffleboard Title Goes To Waterloo

Belleville's Crystal Hotel squad ran into tough opposition in the 1956-57 Ontario shuffleboard championships at Kitchener on the weekend.

Two teams took part in round-robin play with Belleville club finishing in last place with a record of three wins and 13 defeats.

Kingston Canadian Legion finished first in the meeting in the championship with Waterloo winning two-of-three games to take the title and Dow Award.

Other teams and their round-robin records were: Toronto 213, 10-5; Kitchener ANAF 241, 8-7; Oakville Country Club, 8-7; Oakville, 7-8; Toronto 256, 6-9; Milton, 6-9; Acton 5-10.

INDIANS MAKE TRADE

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland Indians announced Monday

hits in a losing cause and was hurt by eight Mountain View safeties. He fanned three and walked one.

B. Fraser reached the Cheesemen at bat with one double and a brace of singles. Ross Empey doubled twice and Ted Hughes and Ken Hughes, G. Francis, Peg Kellar and Ahrens also hit safely.

A. Colden and G. Coulette slammed home runs and B. Cannon singled three times to lead Brant's attack. S. Scrimshaw had a single.

Battles Riders In Court

Dillard Fights Salary Cut

OTTAWA (CP)—Fullback Jim Dillard opened his financial battle with Ottawa Rough Riders in the Ontario Supreme Court Monday but indicated he still might be willing to play for the Eastern Football Conference team if the price is right.

Dillard signed a three-year contract with the Riders after coming from Calgary Stampeders of the Western Conference in a 1955 trade. He went to court in an effort to regain a salary deduction of $2,640 last year and have his contract for this season declared void.

In his testimony before Mr. Justice Ferguson Monday, Dillard said he might be willing to play this season for Ottawa for a salary higher than the $23,740 —before the deduction—he received last year.

The salary deduction has its roots in a contract he signed in 1955 with Oakland Raiders of the American Football League just before he was traded to Ottawa.

Dillard said he received a $5,000 cash bonus when he signed and was promised another $7,000 when he returned to the U.S. team in January, 1958.

When Oakland learned Dillard later signed with Ottawa, it wanted the $5,000 bonus returned.

Dillard testified he told Red O'Quinn, Ottawa coach and manager, about the bonus when he signed the Ottawa contract and said O'Quinn told him the Ottawa team would "take care of all your obligations."

Dillard said the trouble came up again just before the opening game last season when O'Quinn told him he would have to reimburse the Oakland team with half the bonus money being deducted from his 1960 contract and the rest in 1967.

He said he refused to sign a pay assignment for the money still was deducted from his salary.

Dillard said he reminded O'Quinn about his promise to take care of all obligations but O'Quinn told him the American league commissioner had been in touch with his Canadian Football League counterpart, then Sydney Hanker of Winnipeg—and that Hatter issued a "pay up" directive.

Dillard said he told O'Quinn he would take his case to a lawyer but O'Quinn told him he would "get the money one way or another, even if I have to take it out in fines."

Minor Softball

It was another busy night for the Belleville Minor Softball Association's tyke division last night.

On the East Hill, Pirates clobbered IGA Red Sox 20-3, Bowl-O-Drome topped Canadiens 13-7 and Kinsmen Hawks downed A. and W. Reds 15-6.

On the West Hill, Rangers nipped the Kinsmen Bobcats 9-7 in the night's tightest game while Leafs outlasted Wings 23-18 and Tigers copped a 23-20 decision over the Bears.

Letter to the Sports Editor

In reply to the letter to the sports editor from the Belleville Minor Baseball Association written by its secretary, A. T. Legg, I find that this letter has many misgivings in several statements that were made with regard to the Parks Board and Recreation Commission.

The first statement was that they requested assistance from the Parks Board and Recreation Committee and advice from the city solicitor regarding matters in their association. Since I have been chairman of these boards, as far as I know, this has never been brought to our attention.

The difficulty that minor sports is having with some of the residents around the Parkdale Centre was not brought to my attention or to the Board's attention until last week, and at that time I informed Mr. Lupenette that this matter would be taken up at the next Parks Board and Recreation Committee meeting, which is this Thursday night.

The part that bothers me most as chairman is that the Minor Baseball Association is saying that they are not receiving any help from the Recreation Commission. We have gone all out in providing softball and baseball diamonds for the youth of our city and have placed lights the Minor Baseball Association does not seem to appreciate, what we have done.

As far as any mutual agreement is concerned between the Parks Board and the Recreation Committee and any other group of people who are using the facilities we have always tried to work out some mutual agreement with them for the benefit of all concerned.

I do not think we deserve the criticism that was given us we have tried our utmost to give assistance to all people, who are interested in sports in fact, $4,500 was given this year for minor sports in the city.

Don Williams,
Parks Board Chairman.

Many Surprises In NHL Big Six Protected Lists

MONTREAL (CP) — There were several surprises today as the National Hockey League's six established teams filed their protected lists.

Notably absent from the New York list was Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion, 36 - year - old right winger who the Rangers signed last year to a three-year contract. Geoffrion had returned to player ranks after a two-year retirement.

Goaltender John Bower and aging defencemen Tim Horton and Marcel Pronovost, His front line stresses youth with the exception of veterans Bob Pulford and Dave Keon.

Veteran Red Kelly, who announced his retirement along with team captain George Armstrong, both were left unprotected by the Leafs. Defencemen Bobby Baun, 30, also was missing.

Detroit left veteran Andy Bathgate, 34, off the list. Leo Boivin, a veteran of 13 years in the league with Boston and Detroit, was left off the Wings' list in a surprise move by coach Sid Abel who chose to go with the youth of Bob McCord.

Chicago Black Hawks, last season's league champions, discarded Eric Nesterenko and defencemen Ed Van Impe and Matt Ravlich in favor of Pierre Pilote, Pat Stapleton and the youth of Doug Jarvelt.

Canadiens, who lost in the Stanley Cup final to Toronto, did not protect goaltender Charlie Hodge, 23 who spent the early part of his 14-year pro career backing up Jacques Plante at Montreal.

Veteran left winger Dick Duff was also among the missing from Canadiens' list as was Claude Larose, another right winger.

Boston Bruins, perennial last-place finishers in the old NHL setup, surprisingly went with goalie Gerry Cheevers over veteran Ed Johnston.

They retained the three players they picked up from Chicago in a recent trade—Phil Esposito, Fred Stanfield and right winger Ken Hodge. The Bruins also protected Eddie Shack, picked up from Toronto Maple Leafs for Murray Oliver. Oliver

West Selects Goalies

MONTREAL (CP) — The six new teams of the National Hockey League today began drafting players to stock their teams for the 1967-68 season.

The new clubs — Pittsburgh Penguins, Philadelphia Flyers, St. Louis Blues, Minnesota North Stars, California Seals and Los Angeles Kings — were formally accepted into the league Monday at an opening session of the NHL's week-long annual meeting.

The players being drafted were owned by the six existing teams — Toronto, Montreal, Chicago, Boston, New York, and Detroit.

The order of the draw on the first round for goalies was: Los Angeles, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Minnesota, Pittsburgh, California.

Los Angeles picked Terry Sawchuck from Toronto Maple Leafs and Philadelphia took Bernie Parent from Boston Bruins on the first two choices.

St. Louis picked Glenn Hall of Chicago Black Hawks. Minnesota North Stars picked Cesare Maniago from New York Rangers, Pittsburgh took Joe Daley, a goaltender from Memphis in the Central Professional League, and San Francisco took Charlie Hodge from Montreal to complete the first section of six first rounds.

In the second round, Los Angeles got Wayne Rutledge from New York; Minnesota got Gary Bauman from Montreal; Philadelphia drafted Doug Favell from Chicago; Pittsburgh took Roy Edwards from Chicago; San Francisco took Gary Smith from Toronto and St. Louis took Don Caley from Detroit.

Los Angeles took Labossiere, formerly of Quebec Aces; Minnesota took Balon and St. Louis took Roberts.

Philadelphia took Ed Van Impe from Chicago, Pittsburgh took Earl Ingarfield from New York and California took Bob Dunn from Toronto.

For their fill-ins on the protected list Montreal protected Claude Larose and Claude Provost and made no fill on the loss of their third player.

Chicago put Eric Nesterenko on its protected list, New York reserved Reg Fleming and Toronto protected Murray Oliver.

The second-round choices were: Bob Wall by Los Angeles from Detroit; Ray Cullen by Minnesota from Detroit; Joe Watson by Philadelphia from Boston; Al MacNeil by Pittsburgh from New York; Kent Douglas by California from Toronto, and Noel Picard by St. Louis from Montreal.

Fifteen of the 20 protected kits were Dallas Smith by Boston, Bill Speer by Detroit, Gord Berenson by New York and Al-an Stanley by Toronto.

The third round choices were: Ted Joyal by Los Angeles from Toronto, Bob Woytowich by Minnesota from Boston, Britt Selling from Montreal, Philadelphia from Toronto, Larry Jeffrey by Pittsburgh from Toronto, Bill Hicke by California from New York and Al Arbour by St. Louis from Toronto.

Fifth Round

Paul Popeil by Los Angeles from Boston, Wayne Connelly by Minnesota from Boston, Leon Hochstrat by Philadelphia from Montreal, Les Boivin by Pittsburgh from Detroit, Larry Cahan by California from New York and Ron Schock by St. Louis from Boston.

Exempt from the draft are players who were eligible because of their age to play junior hockey in 1966-67 but who played professional hockey last season. Among players falling into this class was Boston star Bobby Orr.

Majors Eye College Crop

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP)—If the 1967 baseball free agent draft today and Wednesday turns up the likes of Reggie Smith, Rick Reichardt, Tom Seaver, Gary Nolan, Rick Nye and Bill Dillman, the major leagues will be satisfied.

Among the 800 or more scholastic and collegiate who will be selected by the 20 big league teams and their farm club affiliates, the pros hope to find outstanding prospects to match the calibre of previous years.

New York Yankees, with first pick in the two-day session are eyeing shortstop Perry Hughes of Spartanburg, S.C.,

Monday, the regular season director for Hughes' club said he was hit on the face by a pitched ball Saturday, was the No. 1 pick in the very first free agent draft in June, 1965. After two years in the minors, and a brief trial last year with the Athletics, Monday came up to stay this season.

Ken Holtzman, the 6ist pick in the 1965 draft, was grabbed by the Chicago Cubs organization and came along so fast that he beat Sandy Koufax in a memorable duel last season and was 14 this year when called into service.

The draft is divided into two phases — junior and senior. The regular phase covers amateur players not previously drafted.

In compliance with the new college rule, no player in a four-year college can be selected in this phase until he is a senior or has reached the age of 21. In the secondary phase, players selected previously but not signed, are eligible.

In the regular phase the clubs draft in inverse order of their 1966 finish with the American first and then the National League alternating. The Yanks are followed by the Cubs and so on down to the 20th and final pick by Los Angeles Dodgers.

A Non-Winner

Derby Eyes On 'Dominion Day'!

LONDON (CP)—At least one knowing horseman from the East Anglian thoroughbred country shows no surprise that Dominion Day, a horse without a victory to his name, is a strongly-backed bet to win the Epsom Derby Wednesday.

Dominion Day, patriotically christened by Calgary publisher Max Bell, has been a gambling puzzle.

Defeated twice this spring by one of his Derby rivals, Dominion Day nevertheless has been bet down to odds of about 4 to 1 from an outsider's 33 to 1 when the books opened in April.

"I'm not surprised," says Frank Pettiti. "He's a well-made colt with the breeding to do it at Epsom."

A stud groom at Jim Philips Derialey stud farm near New-market, Pettiti first knew the horse as a "very pretty" bay foal named Virginia Blues, the son of illustrous parents.

Appropriately for the change of name in honor of Canada's Centennial Year, Dominion Day is a friend of French and English. Charlottetwile, his French sire, also sired Charlotown, last year's Derby winner.

Running Blue, his Derialey farm dam, is a daughter of Blue Peter, winner of the 1939 Derby. Further back in the ancestry is Hyperion, winner of the Epsom classic in 1933.

The operation aiming Dominion Day toward the Epsom womens circle is Canadian in title, cosmopolitan in fact. The colt was bred in England of a French sire, trained in Ireland, and owned jointly by Bell, Vancouver oilman Frank McMahon and singer-actor Bing Crosby of Hollywood.

At the Newmarket yearling sales two years ago, trainer Paddy Prendergast paid £11,500 ($34,000) for him and took him to his stables at The Curragh in Ireland's County Kildare.

U.S. Open Qualifying

Five Former Champions Eliminated

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The signs were all there. The casualties, including Ed Furgol, were as prominent as the qualifiers in Monday's sectional qualifications for the U.S. Open golf championship.

But Sam Snead doesn't believe in signs.

"I don't think there's anything to this hex stuff, this business of signs," the old West Virginia mountaineer snorted today as he sought to make his way into his 26th U.S. Open tournament. He failed to make it last year.

Snead, who has won all of golf's major tournaments—except the Open—is among the field of 68 who will shoot for 24 spots in the sectional qualifications at Detroit today.

Other sectional qualifications in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington, Atlanta, Pittsburgh and Dallas will complete the field of 150 for the finals at Baltusrol in Springfield, N.J., June 15-18.

Former PGA champs eliminated were Lionel (1957) and Jay (1961) Hebert, Jack Burke (1956), Doug Ford (1955) and Dow Finsterwald (1958) Burke and Ford also won Masters championships.

Announce New Healing Substance... Shrinks Piles, Checks Itch
Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids... and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissues.

One hemorrhoidal case history after another reported "very striking improvement." Pain was promptly and gently relieved . . . actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

Among these case histories were a variety of hemorrhoidal conditions. Relief was experienced in case of long standing, and most immediate in cases of recent origin. And thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue. Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H.

Preparation H is actually shrinking hemorrhoids, Preparation H lubricates and makes elimination less painful. It helps prevent infection which is a principal cause of hemorrhoids.

Just ask your druggist for Preparation H Hemorrhoidal Ointment or Preparation H Ointment (with a special applicator).

Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Ten Millionth Expo Visitor Gets Four-day Flying Holiday

MONTREAL (CP) — The world's fair welcomes Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia today after ticking its 10,000,000th visitor through the turnstiles Monday night.

The prime minister arrived in Montreal from Ottawa Monday night to be on hand for flag-raising ceremonies at Place des Nations today to mark Australia's national day at the world's fair.

Roger Beaudet of suburban Laval became the 10,000,000th person to pass through Expo gates at 7:28 p.m. Monday and his luck was rewarded with a four-day trip to any Canadian city on flying routes serviced by Air Canada.

Crowds continued to pour into the Expo site and by midnight Monday night 200,834 persons had passed through the turnstiles for a grand total of 10,016,213 since the opening.

Robert Shaw, deputy commissioner-General of Expo, was on hand to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Beaudet and their 12-year-old daughter, Helene, when the family entered the fair grounds through the main entrance, Place d'Accueil.

Mr. Shaw pinned a 10,000,000 button on the chest of Mr. Beaudet, a pharmacy employee, and presented him with a special scroll and a selection of Expo souvenirs.

Taken by surprise at the turnstiles, Mr. Beaudet said at first that he'd like to go to Haiti for his four-day trip at the expense of Air Canada.

When told the trip would have to be a Canadian city, he replied:

"... well, I don't know, I'll have to think about it ... perhaps Vancouver."

Monday was International Women's Day at Expo. During the flag-raising ceremonies at ceremonies at Place des Nations, more than 1,000 women heard addresses by Mrs. Robert Winters, wife of the federal trade and commerce minister, that he'd like to go to Haiti for his four-day trip at the expense of Mrs. Daniel Johnson, wife of the Quebec premier, and Mrs. Jean Drapeau, wife of the mayor of Montreal.

There were no serious incidents Monday although two minor fires were reported—one in a steak and chicken restaurant and the other in a small rubbish dump. Both were quickly extinguished.

Nickel Will Replace Silver In Canadian Dimes, Quarters

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has ordered the replacement of silver with nickel in dimes and quarters in the second of two steps to conserve Canadian silver supplies.

Finance Minister Sharp disclosed the coinage move in the Commons Monday, explaining it was triggered by the May 15 U.S. export ban on silver.

The U.S., long a supplier of silver to Western countries, acted to halt an accelerating drain on its own supplies. As a result, world prices shot high above the U.S. pegged price of $1.29 an ounce in American funds because the withdrawal ended the power of the peg to set the international price standard.

Fearing a drain on Canadian stocks, the government Friday placed sharp restrictions on silver export, then followed with orders to the mint to start producing 10-cent pieces and 25-cent pieces out of nickel.

The government announced Wed. Dec. 23 that dimes, quarters and 50-cent pieces would go to nickel under a planned change in the Currency, Mint and Exchange Fund Act. It was thought at that time that silver was becoming too scarce to be used for coins.

However, part of the move affecting the two smaller denominations was ordered in advance to be put into circulation. He gave an cabinet authority because of the abnormal world market. The conversion was originally tense to circulate with the silver set for 1968.

Mr. Sharp said Canada has enough silver on hand to meet coinage and medallion requirements for months. Dimes and 50-cent quarters will still be manufactured until the nickel coins can chines.

Nickel Will Replace Silver In Canadian Dimes, Quarters

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has ordered the replacement of silver with nickel in dimes and quarters in the second of two steps to conserve Canadian silver supplies.

Finance Minister Sharp disclosed the coinage move in the Commons Monday, explaining it was triggered by the May 15 U.S. export ban on silver.

The U.S., long a supplier of silver to Western countries, acted to halt an accelerating drain on its own supplies. As a result, world prices shot high above the U.S. pegged price of $1.29 an ounce in American funds because the withdrawal ended the power of the peg to set the international price standard.

Fearing a drain on Canadian stocks, the government Friday placed sharp restrictions on silver exports, then followed with orders to the mint to start producing 10-cent pieces and 25-cent pieces out of nickel.

The government announced last Dec. 23 that dimes, quarters and 50-cent pieces would go to nickel under a planned change in the Currency, Mint and Exchange Fund Act. It was thought at that time that silver was becoming too scarce to be used for coins.

However, part of the move affecting the two smaller denominations was ordered in advance to be put into circulation. He gave no target date.

on cabinet authority because of the abnormal world market. The conversion was originally set for 1968.

New nickel coinage will contain the silver for years, making it necessary to modify vending machines.

Mr. Sharp said Canada has enough silver on hand to meet coinage and medallion requirements for months. Dimes and to coincide with new coin-selector devices on vending machines.

Ten Millionth Expo Visitor Gets Four-day Flying Holiday

MONTREAL (CP) — The world's fair welcomes Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia today after ticking its 10,000,000th visitor through the turnstiles Monday night.

The prime minister arrived in Montreal from Ottawa Monday night to be on hand for Dag-raising ceremonies at Place des Nations today to mark Australia's national day at the world's fair.

Roger Beaudet of suburban Laval became the 10,000,000th person to pass through Expo gates at 7:28 p.m. Monday and his luck was rewarded with a free four-day trip to any Canadian city on flying routes serviced by Air Canada.

Crowds continued to pour into the Expo site and by midnight Monday night 200,834 persons had passed through the turnstiles for a grand total of 10,016,213 since the opening.

Robert Shaw, deputy commissioner-General of Expo, was on hand to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Beaudet and their 12-year-old daughter, Helene, when the family entered the fair grounds through the main entrance, Place d'Accueuil.

Mr. Shaw pinned a 10,000,00[illegible] on Mr. Beaudet, a pharmacy employee, and presented him with a special scroll and a selection of Expo souvenirs.

Taken by surprise at the turnstiles, Mr. Beaudet said at first that he'd like to go to Haiti for his four-day trip at the expense of Air Canada.

When told the trip would have to be a Canadian city, he replied:

"... well, I don't know, I'll have to think about it . . . perhaps Vancouver."

Monday was International Women's Day at Expo. During the flag-raising ceremonies at ceremonies at Place des Nations, more than 1,000 women heard addresses by Mrs. Robert Winters, wife of the federal trade and commerce minister, that he'd like to go to Haiti for Mrs. Daniel Johnson, wife of the Quebec premier, and Mrs. Jean Drapeau, wife of the mayor of Montreal.

There were no serious incidents Monday although two minor fires were reported—one in a steak and chicken restaurant and the other in a small rubbish dump. Both were quickly extinguished.

It announces welcome relief for the misery, pain and embarrassment of piles

Years of laboratory and clinical work by Dr. Bloomfield and associates have led to the development of a new kind of salve, special medications, tested and proved to work fast—quickly, have been combined in the Bloomfield Preparation. Science now has proven highly effective in each of these five ways:

1. Fast relief of pain and itching
2. Positive shrinking of swollen tissue
3. Fights infection, promotes healing
4. Lubricates for easier elimination
5. Helps prevent new piles

Called M.P.O. (Medicated Pile Ointment), the new relief formula is now at all drug counters. Not greasy. Won't stain. Get M.P.O. Ointment or Suppositories today.

With summer nearly upon us, perhaps it's time to augment and reissue my Short Dictionary of Ruralisms for the City Tourist:

"Down the road a piece," means either a quarter-mile or six miles, depending on how the person who is giving you directions feels at the moment.

"I don't care" is a laconic affirmative, and means that your offer of a coke or a beer will be gladly accepted if you ask a couple of times more.

"I'll be around to fix the screens tomorrow," means that you can expect to hear from him in about two weeks if his crops don't spoil, the chickens don't sicken, his car doesn't break down, or his own screens don't need repairing.

"They're hard to get this time of year," means that some excuse, however, lame, the price of produce for the hay to be found for doubling summer visitors, who have more money than they know how to spend.

"So-and-so's a good place to eat," means that the recommender is a first cousin to the man who owns the restaurant.

"The bus is usually a little late," means that the arrival or departure of the bus bears only a coincidental relationship to the times indicated on the schedule.

"He's a gentle horse," means that the riding-stable owner has given you a nag that is too old to run and too tired to care.

"They've got dancing there," means a juke box filled with polkas, or (on Saturday nights) an accordion, a drum, and a musical saw, played by the owner's soo-in-law and two of his unemployed cousins.

"Unusual weather for this time of year," means practically nothing — for the area hasn't had "usual" weather since the polar cap receded.

"You can't miar it," means that you're going to miss it, unless you ignore the verbal instructions and use aerial reconnaissance.

"A quiet homelike atmosphere," means that the hotel has no guests who are ambitious and under 85, and all the food is mushy enough to be gummed rather than chewed.

"One thing for sure — you sleep well at night here," means there is absolutely nothing else to do at night here.

"I'm not from hereabouts," means that the speaker was born in a hamlet eight miles up the road, and doesn't know much about this foreign locale with its exotic inhabitants.

To Your Good Health

Angina May Not Register on E.K.G.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you have angina pectoris and still have a normal electrocardiogram? Does angina show on an E.K.G.? — V. A.

To both questions: Sometimes.

The E.K.G. (or E.C.G., as some prefer to call it) reveals many, but not all the significant aspects of heart action. It shows disorders of rhythm and of conduction of heart impulses. It also reveals changes in the heart muscle. It does not show everything concerning the heart. Thus we rely on X-ray, the stethoscope, symptoms, and certain more sophisticated tests for other purposes.

Angina pectoris is pain originating in the heart. All angina patients, however, do not have the same kind of defects. Indeed, there are cases in which it is most difficult to find any defect at all, yet the pain occurs.

A very common cause, however, is insufficient oxygen supply to the heart muscle. This can occur after exercise or after a heavy meal, both of these putting extra strain on the heart. When there is not enough oxygen to meet the demands at these times of stress, the pain comes.

It is possible for such a situation to occur even though circulation has not been impaired to the point of causing damage or change in the heart muscle, or altering heart rhythm.

In such an instance, the electrocardiogram will appear normal.

In other cases, if the cardiogram is taken after certain specified exercises, it may show changes which would not be detectable otherwise.

If, however, the angina follows a coronary thrombosis (heart attack) a cardiogram definitely would show the changes resulting from the heart injury. However, having had an attack does not necessarily mean that you will have angina pectoris. It depends on the nature and extent of the trouble.

Then you see why "sometimes" is the only answer to your question. The above explanation may be clearer to you and others interested in the problem if you read my booklet, "How to Take Care of Your Heart," which delineates the basic manner in which the heart operates. If you understand the heart's mechanics, you understand what types of damage can occur, what can be done to protect the heart, and how damage can be healed or corrected. For a copy of the booklet, send 25 cents in coin and a self-addressed stamped envelope, plus 5 cents for postage to Dr. Molner, in care of the Chicago Sun-Times Syndicate, P. O. Box 158, Dundee, Ill.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Can anything be done if the vaginal canal has become too large for satisfactory sexual relations? — D. R.

Yes, the condition can result from repeated childbirth or birth of an exceptionally large baby. Reconstructive surgery can be performed to restore more normal dimensions.

Surgery of this sort is performed by a gynecologist, usually along with it, repairs are made for cystocele and rectocele which produce symptoms in the urinary tract and in the bowel action.

* * *

Dear Dr. Molner: Where was I 25 years ago? I read polio. It left the calf of one leg about ¾ of an inch smaller than the other. Would physical therapy be of any help in developing it at this late date? — B. C.

Physiotherapy and exercise are always worthwhile, but the best results are obtained within the first two years of involvement. Only a physiatrist or orthopedist could give you a dependable answer in a specific case.

Shortage Of Nickel Is Denied

OTTAWA (CP) — Nickel users in Canada are assured of a supply this year at least as great as last year, Trade Minister Winters said in the Commons Monday night.

He replied in an adjournment debate to Max Saltzman (NDP —Waterloo South), who said there was a shortage and a finding nickel in short supply.

Mr. Saltzman said there is a world shortage of nickel, but there is enough nickel to meet Canada's requirements for stockpiling.

Nickel producers had been aware of the shortage and had been consulted throughout the world. Those they found tended to be low-grade.

As a result, Canada had agreed to a higher price for nickel to allow producers to bring low-grade deposits into production.

Mr. Winters said the federal government was aware of domestic need to the nickel industry, which has co - operated in helping manufacturers.

OIL BALANCES BUDGET

Iran's 600,000,000 barrels of crude oil produced in 1966 accounted for half the country's revenue.

CITY OF BELLEVILLE — LOCAL IMPROVEMENT NOTICE

TAKE NOTICE THAT:

1. The Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville intends to construct as local improvements the following sanitary sewers, with private sewice connections to the street line where required by individual owners; and intends to specially assess a part of the cost upon the land abutting the work and the balance against the Corporation at large as follows:

Street	From	To	Estimated Cost	Corporation's Share	Owner's Share	Estimated Annual Cost Per Foot Frontage	Estimated Annual Cost Per Foot Frontage	Estimated Rate Per Service Connection	Estimated Annual Payment Per Service Connection
North Park St.	Approx. 60' south	Approx. 580' north of Bongard Cres. of Bell Blvd.	$87,500.00	$9,081.67	$78,718.33	$7.42	$0.79	$213.95	$22.75
Bell Blvd.	North Park St.	Approx. 380' westerly
North Park Gardens	North Park St.	Orchard Park Drive
Bongard Cres.	North Park St.	Approx. 675' easterly, plus Lots 1 and 2 of Reg. Plan 1006

50' x $7.42 — $371.00

If paid over a period of 15 years at 5½% per annum, the cost would be:
50' x $0.79 — $39.50.

2. The special assessment is to be paid in fifteen equal annual instalments.
3. Application will be made by the Corporation to the Ontario Municipal Board for its approval of the undertaking of the said work, and any owner may within twenty-one (21) days after the first publication of this Notice file with the Clerk of the Municipality his objection to the said work being undertaken.
4. The said Board may approve the said work being undertaken, but before doing so may appoint a time and place when any objection to the said work will be considered.

Experts Tell of Weaknesses In Hospital's Fire Resistance

TORONTO (CP)—Several expert witnesses told a coroners jury Monday that a Workmen's Compensation Board Hospital had several fire weaknesses. A fire at the hospital March 31 caused the death of Francesco Gualtieri, 36.

Arthur Chapple, consulting engineer, described fire dampers in the hospital's air system were of poor construction and were installed in the wrong places.

Consultant Vladan Milic said that ceiling tile in the building was combustible, partitions between rooms were not fire resistant, curtains in the television lounge, where the fire broke out, were of cotton material and chairs in the lounge were not fire-proof.

Mr. Milic was also critical of the hospital's fire alarm system. He said it was difficult to locate the alarm boxes in a smoke-filled room because they were too high from the floor.

Mr. Chapple said hospital fire hoses should be replaced every six years regardless of their condition. Hoses at the hospital were nearly 15 years old.

Derek Buck, a partner in the architectural firm of Page and Steele, builders of the hospital, said the firm conformed to North York's building bylaw in 1963, the year the hospital was built.

He said the hospital won a Massey Medal for achievement in general architectural design.

Carl Stockman, engineering consultant in the building of the hospital, said fire dampers in the hospital had done their job.

David Grossman, investigator of the fire alarm system, said neither the pre-alarm nor the main alarm was loud enough in parts of the hospital.

Ontario Plans Post-secondary Education Study

TORONTO (CP)— Education Minister William Davis told the legislature Monday a commission will be set up to study post-secondary education in Ontario and plot a chart of development to 1980.

Mr. Davis said the study "should help to develop a complete understanding of the kinds of effective relationships that will exist among the various types of institutions and clarify, I hope, once and for all that no able student in this province will ever be denied the opportunity to proceed with further education if he has the desire and ability to do so."

In other developments:

—Mr. Davis turned down recommendations of the special committee on graduate studies to form a University of Ontario to co-ordinate operation of the province's public universities.

—Mr. Davis said church - related universities and colleges will be given provincial grants to help defray operating cost. He said the denominational colleges will be given amounts equal to federal grants discontinued this year or to 50 per cent of the grants, to public universities on a per-capita basis, whichever is greater. The grants will apply only to schools receiving federal funds.

—Mr. Davis said a proposed $1,500,000 grant to the Royal Ontario Museum may be enlarged in the government's 1967-68 fiscal year. He said the grant is under review following complaints by Museum Director Peter Swann.

—Attorney - General Arthur Wishart said a committee is studying the possibility of using computer - compiled crime information to provide coverage for the use of all Ontario police forces. In answer to Eddie Sargent (L—Grey North) he said all criminal convictions would be fed into the computer and be available to any police force.

—The 75th anniversary of the death of Sir John A. Macdonald will be marked today by a short ceremony by members of the legislature before a statue of the first prime minister on the Queen's Park grounds.

Mr. Davis, also minister for university affairs, announced the plans for education is introducing spending estimates for the department of university affairs of $379,052,000 for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1968.

Liberal Leader Robert Nixon suggested the commission include representatives of the advisory committee on university affairs, the committee of university presidents and leading university experts.

He said it should lead to the formation of a university grants commission to replace the department of university affairs.

NDP Fails To Get TV In House

OTTAWA (CP)— New Democrat Max Saltsman spoke that people got a first-hand look or listen at Parliament in action ended in inaction Monday.

His motion that a Commons committee be delegated to look into live television and radio broadcasts of the House was failed out in the hour allotted for private member's motions. It now falls to the end of a long list of such measures and may not come up again during the current session.

Obscenity Appeal Underway

OTTAWA (CP)—Where is the line between obscenity and artistic value in art drawings?

Seven judges of the Supreme Court of Canada will be asked to decide that if an appeal case that began Monday gets over a preliminary legal hurdle.

Dorothy Cameron of Toronto is seeking to quash a 1961 conviction on seven charges of exposing obscene pictures to public view. The seven drawings, depicting sexual acts, were seized by morality squad officers from an exhibit called Eros 65 at her Yonge Street art gallery.

Opening argument centred on the contention of the Ontario attorney - general's department that the supreme court does not have jurisdiction to hear the case.

E. Gordon Hutchison of Toronto, Ontario counsel, said that there is no point of law involved in the Cameron appeal. The supreme court normally hears only cases in which a clear point of law is argued.

W. B. Williston, counsel for Miss Cameron, argued that several points of law were raised in the dissenting judgment filed in the lower appeal court by Mr. Justice Bora Laskin. He was the only one of five judges there to dissent.

Jordan Seeks Truce, Egyptians Retreat

From AP - Reuters

Israeli troops captured Old Jerusalem, from the Jordanians today and a few hours later the government of Jordan announced its readiness to negotiate a ceasefire. Far to the south two Israeli armoured columns plunged deep into Egypt and one was reported less than 30 miles from the Suez Canal.

The BBC in London said it had unconfirmed reports that Israeli troops had reached the canal and captured Sharm el Sheikh at the Gulf of Aqaba.

Jordan's government in Amman reported the decision to seek a ceasefire with Israel was made after consultation with the Arab joint command, which Egypt heads, Syria and Egypt maintained they would continue the fight.

Tuesday night the UN Security Council unanimously requested that all parties cease fire. It made no stipulations on disposition of territory that has changed hands this week. Israel told the council that General Abdel Nasser's threat to annihilate Israel "now lies in ruins," and that Israel had passed "from serious danger to successful resistance."

Cairo admitted today that its troops had fallen back before the Israeli drive toward the Suez Canal, but there was no indication of the extent of the withdrawal.

The command said only that the Egyptians had withdrawn from some of their first lines and were engaged in severe fighting on their second line of defence.

Israel's radio said two tank columns were racing toward the canal along two paved highways —the main road through the Sinai Desert and Egypt's coastal road further north.

Dave McIntosh, Canadian Press correspondent, reported from Tel Aviv this morning that it was believed that an Israeli tank column was less than 20 miles from the canal.

McIntosh said the column was believed preparing to strike south to envelope the Egyptians in the Sinai.

He said it was also believed that Israelis were striking deep into Jordan with the object of capturing the whole west side of the Jordan River.

McIntosh said Israeli air power was so devastating that a helicopter was able to rescue a downed flyer in the Suez Canal Zone, then veil behind Egyptian lines.

He said reports in Tel Aviv said Egypt had only 70 planes left and Jordan only four.

One estimate in Tel Aviv was that the war would be over in a few days unless Russia intervenes.

The Israelis in their three-pronged drive on the Suez Canal threatened the key Egyptian cities of Qantara in the north, Ismailia in the centre and Port Tewfiq, near Suez, in the south.

The Israeli command announced the capture of Romana, only 25 miles from Qantara, which is south of Port Said and a more accessible target.

The entire system of Egyptian bases in northwestern Sinai appeared to be in Israeli hands.

Gen. Chaim Herzog, Israeli radio military commentator, announced that the bulk of Israeli armies

Calls for Optimism

Napanee Mayor Raps Manpower Centre Report

NAPANEE — A bleak report on employment prospects in this area issued by the Manpower Centre here has been criticized by Mayor Lorne Smart.

The report noted that May this year saw 30 per cent fewer men and 37 per cent fewer women employed than the same time last year.

Mayor Smart said, however, the situation was little different from that in many other areas of Ontario.

"It's happening all over," he retorted to the report. "I thought it was a little ridiculous coming out with that report. They're here to promote jobs. I think they should be a little more optimistic."

Asked if there was any thought of seeking to have the town made a designated area for federal assistance, the mayor replied: "No. There's no thought of that at the present time.

T. W. Cox, Manpower Centre manager, said today there appeared to be a general slackening off of job opportunities in many areas.

The situation, however, hits first at those areas with fewer industries and little major construction work, he said.

Napanee has both these drawbacks and the bulk of its unemployed force is made up of unskilled workers.

Mr. Cox said highly-skilled workers are still in very great demand."

In Belleville, city Manpower Centre official agreed that generally there had not been an expected increase in job opportunities.

The situation appeared due not so much to cutbacks by industry as a failure in new orders.

In Napanee the unemployment picture becomes complicated with the graduation of at least 100 young people from local high schools. Even those who expect to take higher education will probably seek part-time summer employment.

Add to this university graduates and the situation looks bleak — with many people willing and able to work and no jobs available, the Manpower Centre report states.

Few local people have been absorbed by the construction of the secondary school addition.

Much of the work is pulling by brick walls, and this activity has no brick layers. They have been brought in from outside. There was also the new Federal building would go up this year, but nothing has yet been done. Also, construction of the Regional Detention Centre seems to be still in the planning stage. The majority of unemployed males in this area are unskilled or semi-skilled and most of them wish to remain here. Construction work would absorb many of them. Many found employment when highways were being built near here. Now there are no major road building projects.

Business and industry are much feeling the pinch. No new employees are being taken on, and, while no permanent employees have been dismissed, there is a possibility that this will happen when the present stock piling has reached its limit. Sales are down, but employers are keeping their men busy in the expectation that the tide will turn. Part time employees are finding that they are now called in for one or two hours a week instead of eight or ten.

T. W. Cox, manager of the local Manpower Centre, feels that the local situation stems largely from the lack of building. This includes homes. When there are no new homes there is no demand for the furniture and appliances to furnish those homes. It is a vicious circle. Eventually it reaches the manufacturers, who resort to stock-piling as long as they can.

"Unless something happens to better conditions this summer, we are in for a bleak winter in this area as far as employment is concerned," Mr. Cox stated Friday.

Upper Bridge Traffic Flow Two Weeks From Change

Reverting to the former system of traffic at the Upper Bridge is still at least two weeks away but the traffic lights at the corner of North Front and Harriet Streets are expected to be removed within the next day or so.

Removal of the lights was approved Monday by city council on the recommendation of City Engineer Wilbur Purcell and the firm of Dumsa and Smith, consulting engineers, retained to provide a program of co-ordination of traffic signal network in the area.

The return to the former pattern of traffic in the Upper Bridge area was directed by council following the opening of the new College Street bridge. However, before the traffic pattern can be changed, studies will be necessary in the city's traffic bylaw.

Dumsa and Smith have advised that because the new College Street bridge and the proposed installation of railway crossing gates on Canniston Road may change the traffic pattern new traffic counts will be necessary before a satisfactory adjustment of signal lights in the Upper Bridge area can be done.

However, the firm has advised that the traffic lights at North Front and Harriet streets will no longer be required.

City Engineer Purcell says components from the lights at Harriet street will go to the College Street bridge. However, before the traffic pattern can be changed studies will be necessary in the city's traffic bylaw.

Dumsa and Smith have advised that because the new College Street bridge and the proposed installation of railway crossing gates on Can-

One Million Learn Life Saving Technique

Artificial respiration, fifty years old?

One hundred years old?

Would you believe 1,000 years old?

If you guessed any of these, you're wrong on all counts.

In fact, artificial respiration, or the restoration of breathing by artificial means, was practised long before the birth of Christ.

Though the methods used were primitive and sometimes brutal in comparison to those used today, they did work; and it was probably for this reason that man continued to experiment, modify, and improve upon this valuable method of saving lives.

One ancient method, certain to bring a gasp even from those of us who breathe well, consisted of throwing hot pitch on the victim's chest or abdomen. The shock was supposed to cause a convulsion and thereby restore breathing. If this method did indeed work, it undoubtedly produced instant, screaming, case studies for the practise of treating severe burns as well.

Today, St. John Ambulance, the Canadian First Aid authority, recommends the mouth to mouth method of artificial respiration as being the most efficient means of reviving a victim of asphyxia.

"It is the simplest, most direct, and most effective method known to modern men," says W. E. Goddard, Chief Training Officer with St. John.

Through its "Save a Life" Program — free two hour classes in artificial respiration — St. John Ambulance has graduated more than one million Canadians in the mouth-to-mouth technique.

"The time to learn is now," says Mr. Goddard. "Accidents are not predictable. They happen anytime."

Ford Sales Hit Record

OAKVILLE (CP) — Ford of Canada sold a record 28,533 cars and trucks in May, the company announced Tuesday.

This was 43 per cent more than the 18,727 sold last May and 16 per cent more than the previous record of 23,121 in March, 1967.

Total Ford of Canada sales for the first five months of 1967 were 100,889 vehicles compared with 86,363 for a similar period last year.

CN Pensioners Join in Frolic

Expo '67 yesterday may have passed as an expected blur through its turnstiles — and each there away imaginably footsore and weary after a long day of treading asphalt under a blazing sun. No doubt it was a satisfying experience for most. But the 275 Canadian National Railways pensioners and their escorts who gathered at the Canada Club room yesterday for their annual June convocation of fun and frolic there was a real enjoyment, without hardship, of a well - planned program of events extending from noon until the reluctant departure of those from outside points at 8 p.m. at their train arrival was announced.

This annual trek to Belleville at this time of year is under the auspices of the Toronto Club of the CN pensioners and with the co-operation of the Belleville Pensioners' Club and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canara Club has always been awaited with interest by the participants. The attendance is drawn from all points of the compass in Ontario, Toronto in particular being well represented.

The program as arranged by the host Toronto Club was noon dinner at the Canara Club at 12.15, followed by the usual introductions from the head table of visiting and local officials of the various clubs and an address from Mr. H. J. Fast, Manager of the Rideau Area of the railway. Following the dinner and a short recess some 60 bowlers of both sexes were moved to the Belleville Bowl for a bowling festival, while in their absence cards were enjoyed by the less athletically inclined.

With the return of the bowlers there followed an hour or two of intermingling and renewal of old friendships, then the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canara Club provided a sumptuous buffet supper. Refreshments at the bar were available and appreciated.

Mr. Fast, introduced from the head table by Mr. Harry Ward, president of the Toronto Pensioners Club and master of ceremonies at the noon dinner, spoke extemporaneously, gave an interesting talk on past methods of transportation and the developing process which resulted in the networks of distance-annihilating communications of the present day. He described the early military road building of the Romans in their conquests of the then known world and the following through the centuries of other nations efforts in transportation facilities. "These roads," said Mr. Fast, "were built primarily as military efforts to defend a country, or to achieve conquest, and were built with a view that commerce was of secondary importance." He cited the Rideau Canal connecting Ottawa with Kingston as an example of the thinking of the period.

"It was not until 1852," said the speaker, "that civil engineering as opposed to military engineering, came into the picture and commenced building lines of communications designed to further commercial interests rather than almost completely military motivation of the past centuries. In Canada The Canadian Pacific reached toward the Pacific to open our country to commerce and other railways, notably the Canadian Northern, followed to assist in making available our thousands of square miles of wheat land. Railways and roads continue to be built on our present day and are one of our nation's greatest assets.

Mr. Fast was thanked for taking time out from his demanding schedule to be present at the gathering of pensioners and for the provision of extra coaches for the comfort of those coming from a distance. The women of the Canada Club were also very heartily thanked for their hourly efforts in seeing everyone happily supplied with good and plentiful food.

Weighing Weather

Fire control officer Bert Dunne checks instruments at Tweed weather station. Knowing weather patterns is crucial to forest protection.

RADIO IS vital link in forest-fire prevention. Mrs. Lenore Moffatt is one of three operators maintaining contact with spotters, patrols and the Tweed base station.

Fire Fighters Get Breather As Blazes Under Control

TWEED — The forest-fire threat may have eased but it doesn't necessitarily follow the men who fight them can take it easy.

Nature, in the form of some rain, some higher humidity, has helped reduce the threat.

But, for the firewatchers of the department of lands and forests, Tweed division, the vigil must be a relentless one.

"We're just sitting here waiting to see what's going to happen", said Bert Dunne, fire control officer for the division today.

Today is the first day in more than two weeks his patrolmen can draw easier breath.

It is the first break in a deadly game with nature compounded by human carelessness, where danger has been the norm, and vast areas of Quinte-district forests the stakes.

Some-fires still are burning, but all are now under control.

In all there have been 28 eruptions since the fire season opened April 1 and a total of 654 acres have been seared from forest and bushland.

Human carelessness — the incurious camper and cottager, the sloppy cigarette smoker — has been to blame for much of the loss.

Contributing to the hazard's easement has been accretion taken last week by department officials. Burning permits, issued to persons who wish to set disposal fires and such in the bush were cancelled.

This removed part of the potential hazard to timberlands, dried up a cracking stiffness by an unbroken hot spell.

Now it's a matter of waiting and watching — constantly surveying the 84,000 square miles of lands under the administration of the department's Tweed division.

The firefighting teams press a variety of oc-the-spot eyes into service to maintain the vigil.

Fire wardens, appointed by township councils and trained by the, department, are integral part of the network.

But, the biggest responsibility is vested in a band of young men scattered throughout the district, keeping constant surveillance from watchtowers up to 100 feet high.

Trained observers, they can guess at a glance the exact distance of the give-away smoke spirals from landmarks painstakingly detailed on departmental maps.

Linked by radio, with each other and the base station at Tweed, they pinpoint each eruption for the fast-moving ground patrols sent in to investigate.

Meantime, the untiring routine of weather-watching goes on at the divisional offices, where significant statistics and forecasts are continually scanned for any new threats.

In its way, this is the most basic of all fire-prevention planning.

Nature is still the biggest imponderable in any attempt to control environment.

Waiting--and Watching

Constant vigil on district forests is maintained by young firewatchers like Jim Woodcock, in 100-foot tower near Tweed. There are 21 such spotters on guard, linked by radio, rea dy to zero-in on suspect blaze.

Trust Company Prepares Picton Armory Plans

PICTON (STAFF) — Plans for the new Trust Company branch office have been drawn up and will be released to the public within a week, Mayor McFarland announced the news at this week's council meeting and said he was pleased to see that the company did not take the same attitude as some other firms might have done as a result of some reports and comments in the press and by individuals. As an example he gave the scrapping of the proposed mdol - million dollar Eaton development in downtown Toronto. "Such things, he added, are often a result from councillors not seeing eye to eye." What is being planned here means just as much to us, in our small way, as the Eaton development meant to Toronto.

Branching out, his worship continued, saying, "We need so many things in this town - parking facilities for instance. I would like to see suitable parking arrangements made, for the people who shop in this town and the taxpayers. We should all work closely together, particularly for the benefit of our industries.

In closing the Mayor paid special tribute to town foreman Angus Lelieup and his staff. "These men have gone without proper credit" he said. He specified the work done to improve the grounds and the appearance of the new town garage on Church Street. As a result he said he would pave the entrance way to the garage, from Church Street in, and, he said, "I won't send a bill", to approbiate what they have done to the property.

Forage Day Program Set For June 14

The annual forage day sponsored by the Quinte Soil and Crop Improvement Association is being held June 14 at the Albert and Don Martin farm, R.R. 2 Tweed, and all farmers in the area are invited.

The program gets underway at 10.00 a.m. with weeping tiles of plots and demonstration. In the afternoon there will be a discussion on hay crops by Dr. W. S. Young, crop science department, O.A.C. Guelph, followed by a machinery demonstration.

Also information on new alfalfa varieties, fertilizers, fence row removal, farm drainage and capital grants for improvements, will be available.

Cairo Says Arabs To Fight on

CAIRO (AP) — Cairo radio declared today that the Arab countries are determined to carry on the war against Israel despite the ceasefire call from the UN Security Council.

"Teach the Israelis a lesson —drive them out of the Holy Land," the Egyptian government radio said in a new call for all-out war.

The Egyptian capital had another brief air raid alert today, its 22th of the war. But Cairo's streets were quiet in the bright sun, in contrast to anti - American mob scenes Tuesday in Cairo, Port Said and Alexandria.

PUC Given Award for Safety Work

PICTON (Staff) — Once again awards have been presented to Picton Public Utilities personnel. On this occasion Ev. Cole of Smiths Falls, field supervisor for the Electrical Utilities Safety Association recently presented PUC Chairman, Jack Weed, with a certificate marking the eighth consecutive year of operations without a fatal accident.

Mr. Cole commented that few utilities in the Province can boast such a record. The award is presented annually. Commenting on the presentation Mr. Weed praised Mr. Blakely and his staff for their efforts which helped win the award.

Also supporting the PUC's safety record is the fact that Peter Mitchell ,line foreman, has completed 25 years service without a compensable injury. This month he will complete 10 years without one day loss for sickness.

He was the winner in the 36 class with a time of one hour, 40 minutes, 54 seconds. Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pudlow of Picton. A brother Kenneth, now living in Southwestern Ontario, is also a favored Canadian driver in these events. In last weekend's race a total of 80 drivers started in the five classes.

Paved Streets Are Said in Good Shape

PICTON (Staff) — The report of the streets and property committee disclosed to council at the regular meeting this week that permanent paved streets in Picton are in good condition and, with few exceptions, will require little or no maintenance this year. Some streets are paved later in the report, will require oil and chips.

Although there is a significant improvement in the sidewalks from over the years, there is still much to be done.

A comparison of concrete sidewalks and those made of asphalt, that have been constructed within the past three years indicates better results with the asphalt.

Town Briefs

Administration costs for the town of Trenton are on the increase again.

Members of the town's administrative staff belonging to the Canadian Union of Public Employees received a salary raise amounting to $400 this year and $300 in 1968 in each case. Council considered non-union employees deserved equal financial recognition for their services and approved raises in all instances.

Receiving wage increase at the municipal office are 13 union members and seven non - union employees in administration.

The Red Cross blood clinic here this week collected slightly over 200 donations some 50 pints short of the auxiliary's quota for the period. An auxiliary spokesman said that while the clinic was disappointing at the time of year when the demand for blood is still greatest the extreme heat of Monday could be blamed for the smaller turnout than usual. She said she expected local donors would rally for the next clinic and make up the badly needed extra amount.

When the 32nd annual convention of Kiwanis International convenes at Houston, Texas, the end of June this year local club members will be represented by businessmen M. F. James, Mr. James is Lieut. Governor of Division 11 for the Ontario, Quebec and Maritimes Kiwanis clubs. The convention is expected to attract some 16,000 Kiwanians and their families from all over the world.

R. G. Wayne Gilroy, B.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gilroy, Craig St., Belleville received his Bachelor of Physical and Health Education degree on June 2 at Queen's University, Kingston. Wayne attended Quinte Secondary School, Belleville and has accepted a position with the Thomas A. Stuart High School in Peterborough. He is married to the former Joan McMullin, Reg. N. and works with the Old Fort Henry Guards during the summer months.

SUBWAY OFFENCES

MONTREAL (CP) — There were 233 arrests for infringements of subway regulations here in the first three months of the year. Of these, 130 were juveniles, and most arrests were for disturbing the peace in a public place.

Joseph Demeza Will Be Given Hon. Degree

Joseph G. Demeza, Superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf, will receive an Honorary Doctor of Letters Degree from Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C. Mr. Demeza will be the principal speaker at the 103rd Commencement of the only college for the deaf in the world. The exercises are being held on June 12.

Mr. Demeza, a native of North Bay, Ontario, began teaching in 1933. He holds a First Class Teaching Certificate from North Bay Teachers' College, a bachelor's degree from Queen's University and a Bachelor of Pedagogy from the University of Toronto. He is also very active in a number of civic and professional organizations.

In recognition of Mr. Demeza's accomplishments, he was honored at the O.S.D. Teachers' Association annual banquet held last week. Presentations were made to teachers leaving the school and plans to place portraits of Mr. Demeza and his wife in the school were also announced.

Commonwealth Ties

Canada and Australia are Britain's senior Commonwealth partners and it is appropriate at this time of discord in the world at large that Prime Minister Pearson should have had an opportunity of welcoming to Ottawa Australia's Prime Minister Harold Holt.

Both countries are large in physical size if not in population. Canada's 20 million and Australia's 12 million preclude any threatening attitude toward other nations. Indeed, it must not be forgotten that both countries, our own and the sunny land "down under," rely heavily on United States military might for protection.

Yet Canada and Australia are working for peace in their different ways. Australia, which geographically and strategically now regards itself as part of Asia, has 4,500 men fighting alongside the United States in Vietnam. Australia shares the American viewpoint that communist expansion must be halted in Vietnam before it engulfs all of Southeast Asia and leaves both Australia and New Zealand exposed to ultimate conquest. For this reason New Zealand also has a small fighting force in Vietnam.

Canada is also working for peace, concentrating its efforts on peacekeeping missions in the trouble spots of the world. Recently its efforts in this direction received a setback with the withdrawal of Canadian and other United Nations troops from the Gaza Strip in Egypt.

It is now clear that this move hastened the outbreak of hostilities between the Arab States and Israel. That is not to say however that Canada should not continue to work for peace through diplomatic channels. And if it can do so in still greater concert with fellow Commonwealth countries like Australia so much the better.

Canada and Australia already have close ties of blood and kinship. With Prime Minister Holt visiting Canada the opportunity should be taken of cementing these ties in more tangible fashion. Defence and world problems are obvious matters of concern to both countries, but it would be a valuable contribution to Commonwealth solidarity if for instance the two leaders could discuss the whole field of contacts between Canada and Australia.

Race Relations

Canada's Bill of Rights in theory makes available the benefits of democratic society to all Canadians whatever their color, race or creed.

Unfortunately, the idealism of this enactment and its working out are often at odds. One observes also in the attitude of the Government and society at large to the Indians, and nowhere more blatantly than in the attempts to integrate Indians in the general educational system.

What it is like to be an Indian in a school where the students are predominantly white has been described poignantly by a northwestern Ontario girl. Simply and intelligently, but without bitterness, the girl goes to the core of the prejudice that gripe many whites in their relationships with people of other origins.

Here is what she said in a school essay: "I am an Indian. Since birth I have remained an Indian. I cannot say that I am living in Red Frances harder than a white person does. I can say, though, because I am an Indian, that I think prejudiced people are cruel and should be punished. Being what some boys nastily term a 'squaw' is of course subjected to hurt and embarrassment. I am not saying that I am ashamed of my nationality, but I always thought that there were no barriers to friendship — not even color."

The essay was by Harvey McCue, an Ojibway from the Georgina Island Reserve in Lake Simcoe, in an article in The Peterborough Examiner. The first Indian to attend Trent University, the writer says the words of the Indian (in her third year at high school) illustrate "a sad result of off-reserve schooling."

"The educational level of the children," he says, "is advancing without a similar advancement in culture. That is to say, children are now growing up, receiving proper schooling, but are slowly losing contact with their traditions. . ."

At the same time as they are being deprived of their own traditions and way of life, young Indians are being subjected to personal abuse of the kind the high school girl mentions and which makes a mockery of the principles enshrined in the Bill of Rights.

But then, this sort of situation may have to do more with human relationships than with any enactment of the law. School is a place where "hurt and embarrassment" come to most young people at some time or other, and in some form or other. Nevertheless there is no excuse for the kind of boorishness described by the Fort Frances girl. Behavior of this nature is indefensible.

'Giant Orange Wave'

Forest Fire Recalls Tragic 1916 Outbreak In Ontario

TORONTO (CP) — Sunday's forest fire which forced evacuation of 2,500 persons from Sioux Lookout, Ont., brought back memories of the July 29, 1916, blaze in Northern Ontario which destroyed six towns and killed 223 people.

The fire, described as a "giant orange wave" by those who survived, leveled the towns of Kelso, Nushka, Ramore, Porquis Junction, Iroquois Falls and Matheson and damaged the hamlets of Homer and Monteith.

About 1,000 square miles of homesteaders' farmlands and bushland was also destroyed. Loss was estimated at $2,000,000.

Tales of heroism, suffering and death by those in the fire's path took newspaper headlines away from the First World War.

Entire families and towns were burned to death or suffocated. When it was over, loads of pine coffins were shipped in by railway box-cars to bury the dead.

Some survivors managed to escape death because they were close to large bodies of water. Others escaped by train to Kirkland Lake, 45 miles southeast of Matheson.

Firefighting efforts were useless and it was not until early August that rain finally removed the danger of the fire breaking out again.

At Nushka, 20 miles north of Matheson, 32 persons were killed. Thirty-four suffocated in a clay ditch beside railway tracks after Rev. Wilfred Gagon led them there where he thought they would be safe. He returned to town and died there with 28 others when the fire swept in.

A survivor of Nushka was Simon Aumont, 40, who picked up his baby and told his wife and other children to run to the railway. He collapsed after running a short way. When he regained consciousness and went back to the ruins of his home, he found his wife and the children dead.

Percy Alderson and his wife were surrounded by the fire near their home, five miles away from Matheson, and were sprayed with flaming cinders as they huddled on the ground. The next morning, Mrs. Alderson led her husband, blinded by the cinders, out of the area on a stray horse.

To encourage settlers to remain in the area after the fire, the Ontario government voted $150 for the loss of a barn and $350 for a house.

The Matheson fire is not the only one that has caused tragedy in Ontario. The Porquis fire of 1911 cremated 73 persons, inflicted $3,000,000 in damages on property and timber, and left 6,000 settlers homeless in Timiskaming district. Cochrane, Kapuskasing, Thornloe and Hendrie also touched Englehart and New Liskeard.

"... and do you promise to keep her in sickness and soaring health insurance costs ... ?"

A pleasant event took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gunn, Bayside, Trent Rd., on June 5, when they celebrated the golden anniversary of their wedding. All members of the family were present. Those from a distance were: Mrs. D. M. Sinclair, Edmonton; Mrs. N. Armstrong and Mrs. J. Lewis Tims, both of New York City, and Miss Jean Gunn of Toronto. An address was read by Mrs. (Dr.) Martin and Mrs. Gilbert presented Mrs. Gunn with a life membership in the Woman's Missionary Society.

Smokes, Liquor—And Tax

Cornwall Standard-Freeholder

Drinkers and smokers have long been considered as the most exploited persons in Canada from a taxation standpoint.

Figures recently released reveal that the Ottawa and Ontario governments during the fiscal year 1965-66 the federal government got $162.6 million and the province $126.6 million in revenue from the sale of liquor.

The municipalities in Ontario derive property taxes from the private liquor outlets within their boundaries. However, they don't enjoy the profits the other government levels obtain through liquor sales.

Statistics show that the Liquor Control Board of Ontario operated 362 stores in 1965-66. Also, it paid out $624,274 in realty and business taxes and realized only $1,501,427 of the fees it received from the licencees. Total sale of spirits, wine and beer from LCBO outlets, breweries and wineries came to $327 million, an increase of $76,000,000 over the previous year.

Unfortunately, the municipalities have to bear the brunt of drinking's adverse effects. During 1965-66, some 82,228 convictions were recorded under the Liquor Control Act. The municipalities receive a rebate of a proportion of the court fines. But these amounts are other revenues from liquor sales are mere peanuts compared with the share the governments take.

The same situation applies roughly to sale of tobacco, cigarettes, etc., only in this case the revenue splits are between the provinces and the federal government. Tobacco and liquor sales form a substantial part — and then some — of government revenues that are returned in the form of services of various kinds.

Youthful Adventures

Bruce West in
The Globe and Mail

I noticed a story in the newspapers the other day about some our children in a small town and villages can vouch for the fact that there was never any trouble setting up such a retreat in those days. Sometimes it actually was a cave beside a river but sometimes it was a shack. Our gang had a shack. At first it was quite a humble affair, a few logs and evergreen boughs laced into roof and walls and secured on a framework of poles cut from the woods. Eventually we branched out with much more sumptuous quarters after we'd discovered some scrap lumber which could be had for the asking in a town where three sawmills running night and day.

Today in History

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

June 7, 1967 . . .

Allied armies, many of them Canadian, won their greatest victory of the First World War 50 years ago today—in 1917—at the battle of Messines. The German front line on a ridge overlooking Ypres were blown up from underground and the whole ridge was captured in three hours by the infantry. The battle was a preliminary to the third battle of Ypres which ended in the Canadian capture of, Passchendaele Nov. 6, after enormous slaughter.

No New Thing Under the Sun

St. Catharines Standard

"Youth is disintegrating. The young people of the land have disrespect for their elders and contempt for authority in every form. Vandalism is rife, and crime of all kinds is rampant among youth. The nation is in peril."

These alarming words are not new. They were written by an Egyptian priest about 4,000 years ago.

Seemingly, 1,700 years later, is also said to have lamented that youths no longer obeyed their parents or respected their teachers. And similar complaints have been expressed in every century of history to the 20th — 2000 years between Socrates and the present — in fact, in every generation.

So far, of course, all such pessimistic pronouncements about the imminent collapse of civilization have proved to be exaggerated. Nations and empires have risen and fallen, to be sure, and whole societies have disappeared down the dusty corridors of time. But mankind itself is still around, and the virtues and ideals which the Egyptian priest and the Athenian philosopher feared would die, outlast them are still very much in operation.

The "generation gap" about which we hear so much today is nothing new. Parents have always regarded their children with as much suspicion as pride, forgetting that their own parents were equally dubious about transferring the safekeeping of pots and pans to their inept hands. Today's young people in revolt will in turn be tomorrow's solid guardians of the status quo.

BBC English Is Popular Abroad

BBC London Letter

Australia, Italy, Portugal and Tahiti are the latest countries to acquire the BBC's English by Television "Walter add Comic" courses. The story of a young married couple played by Anne Lawson and Brian MacDermott on screen, at various levels, are designed to combine entertainment with a program of teaching English on the television screens of the world. They are being shown in 50 countries in all five continents, and since they began in 1962, have been seen in all West European countries with television services (with the exception of Austria.)

A new BBC English by Television course, "The Scientist Speaks", has now been produced in collaboration with the British Council and is already scheduled for showing on television under British Council auspices in countries outside Europe, as well as in Germany. The thirteen programs are designed for students with an advanced knowledge of English and concentrate on the use of the language in a modern industrial and technological context.

BBC English by Radio courses continue to be heard throughout the world, both on direct broadcasts from Britain and through relays and rebroadcasts by radio stations in ninety countries. Many of them are also available for home study in the form of records with accompanying text books.

A new development is the commissioning of courses for specific linguistic or geographic areas abroad as well as the general series for world-wide use as before. Courses have already been produced for broadcasting in the Indian sub-continent and in French-speaking Africa. Another series is being written for Swahili-speaking learners, and it is hoped to start similar projects for the Arab world and for Spanish-speaking South and Central America.

Another new target is the young learner. "English by Radio" has always been aimed at the adult learner, though often re-broadcast in schools programmes abroad. Now for children in the 10-to-14 year age-group there is a new course "Peter and Molly" which is already being broadcast by the Bavarian radio to local schools. The series which features a brother and sister, teaches by means of entertaining dialogues, songs and rhymes, and is being issued on records as a teaching aid. A version for French schools appeared in 1966, and German, Italian and Spanish editions are in preparation.

Seeking Meaning In Life

A lot of the young people, particularly the livelier ones, who once went to church with their minds, desperately want their lives to make sense. They feel that life makes no sense unless it has some sort of meaning.

And one of the meanings that is within a person's own grasp is to make a better version of one's own life.

Every single ancient wisdom and religion will tell you the same thing, and that is: Don't live entirely for yourself, live for other people. Think what it means in concrete terms. Don't get stuck inside your own ego because it will become a prison. — British author Barbara Ward in McCall's Magazine.

Arab Blockade

Free Access To Red Sea Trade Route Vital To Israel

By REUTERS

Israeli - Arab clashes have been going on since a series of 1949 armistices between the two sides.

Apart from the 1956 Suez war when Israeli forces overran the Gaza Strip and marched almost to the Suez Canal, there have been reports of scores of border clashes — mostly of a minor nature.

And the pace of fighting increased this year when Syria said it wiped out three Israeli border posts Jan. 3.

Main turning point in the current crisis came when Egypt imposed its blockade on the Gulf of Aqaba — Israel's vital southern sea link May 23.

Four days earlier UN Secretary - general U Thant had withdrawn at Egypt's request—the UN expeditionary force which had been policing the Gaza Strip since 1956.

Free access to the Red Sea trade routes is vital to the economic survival of Israel's major port of Elath; at the head of the gulf. A cornerstone of Israel's foreign policy was that any attempt to blockade the gulf would be regarded as an aggressive act.

Egyptian President General Abdel Nasser, imposing the blockade, said any ships flying the Israeli flag would be denied passage through the gulf. Vessels carrying strategic goods to Israel would also be stopped.

Britain, the United States and Canada all declared they regarded the Straits of Tiran and the Gulf of Aqaba as international waters.

Diplomacy moves to de - fuse the growing crisis were climaxed by British Prime Minister Wilson's visits to Ottawa and Washington last week.

He had talks lasting several hours with Prime Minister Pearson and later with President Johnson.

United Nations efforts to resolve the crisis hinged on a series of Security Council sessions which broke up Saturday with delegates apparently still - nowhere near to a solution.

Russia wanted an appeal to Israel and the Arab states to refrain from force. But Israel delegate Michael Comay said his country would accept nothing less than complete freedom of the Gulf of Aqaba.

Union Leader Frank Hall Retires With Plea for Solidarity

MONTREAL (CP)—"Fighting Frank" Hall, once Canada's most powerful labor leader, retired from all his union jobs Tuesday night with a plea for worker solidarity.

Speaking at a chicken-and-prime testimonial dinner attended by about 150 labor leaders from Canada and the U.S. the 74-year-old union chief said Many of today's workers lack a sense of responsibility and unity with their fellows.

"And if we are to continue to progress we must stand united," Mr. Hall said as he took what he called the "tragic step" of retiring as associate chairman of the negotiating committee for 120,000 railway workers he had served for half a century.

"I don't know if I can have a happy retirement," he said quietly. "To be active and to work for the union movement has been my life."

Mr. Hall also stepped down from his job as Canadian executive assistant to the international president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamships Clerks which he joined in 1918 as a CPR freight checker.

Speakers at the ceremonies hailed the former Canadian Labor Congress vice-president as "one of our greatest militant but responsible leaders" and a "clear thinker and master strategist."

Charlie Smith, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, said Mr. Hall had been the first man able to persuade Canada's disparate railway unions to bargain as a unit "and without him I am fearful we will not know that harmony again."

Born in Norwich, England, the son of a stonemason, the soft-spoken leader became a full-time union official in 1920 when he became a Canadian general chairman of the clerks.

By 1947 he was chairman of the negotiating committee of 18 powerful railway unions he persuaded to work together. He maintained that position until 1963.

As chief of the biggest construction of labor power in Canada, Mr. Hall led his railway workers into a bitter nation-paralyzing strike in 1950.

Last summer he again served as a senior adviser as the railway workers went into their second countrywide walkout.

"He's not the top official here any more," one union leader said at that time, "But what Frank says is what we'll do."

Mr. Hall is accustomed to getting his way.

Expelled in 1948 from the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress for his opposition to Communist-infiltrated member unions, he came back the next year to lead the center of those unions from the congress.

Later he was instrumental in bringing the Seafarers' International Union into Canada to oust the Communist-led Canadian Seamen's Union from the Great Lakes.

Bogmobile Purchased For Vancouver Airport

VANCOUVER (CP)—A $15,000 bogmobile—a cousin of the snowmobile — has been purchased for rescue work in the swampy mud flats adjacent to Vancouver International Airport.

The department of transport bought the amphibious vehicle after two plane crashes in the marshy area took five lives within six months.

Rescue teams found it nearly impossible to penetrate the five-square-mile bog west of the airport in machines built either for land or water use.

The bogmobile, designed and built by Alpine Distributors of Vernon, B.C., was chosen over a Jeeter, Terex - built swamp buggy that was recommended by the British Columbia Aviation Council.

Council members considered the Texas buggy, which runs on balloon tires instead of tracks as do the bogmobile and snowmobile, was better suited for rescue work in the mud flats.

Alpine Distributors say their vehicle, which resembles a snowmobile on skis, will reach speeds of up to 25 miles an hour on land and seven knots on water.

The bogmobile is fitted with airtight flotation chambers and a waterjet through the rear of the vehicle. It can be steered by twin screws. It carries a block-and-tackle winch capable of raising a submerged light aircraft, the manufacturers say.

It also has a flat deck capable of accommodating 10 stretchers and will carry a full complement of rescue and firefighting equipment.

Funerals

JOHN H. JONES
(Trenton)

Funeral service for John H. Jones, Carrying Place Road, Trenton, who died June 2 in Trenton Memorial Hospital, was held Monday from the Weaver Funeral Home.

His death, in his 80th year, ended a long series of illnesses. Born in Shrewsbury, England, he had lived in the Trenton area 50 years.

A one - time town councillor, Mr. Jones was a lifetime member of the Sons of England, the Loyal Order of the Moose, the IOOF and Trent Lodge AF and AM, No. 38.

He is immediately survived by his wife, the former Ethel Jones, three sons and four daughters: Clarence, of Trenton, Kitchener and Jack, of Montreal; Mrs. George (Mabl) Amest, of Trenton; Mrs. Robert (Margaret) Mills, Consecon; Mrs. J. (Frances) Cameron, Chrysostome, Quebec, and Mrs. E. (Helen) Tripp, Ottawa.

He also leaves, a sister, Mrs. May Pickles, of London, Ont., 16 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

The service was conducted by Rev. Canon K. F. B. Blackford and interment was in St. George's Church.

Bearers were V. F. Carswell, Walker Richards, Orvelle Newton, R. D. Topping, Merton Brinkle, Robert Galloway. Honorary bearers were Jack Robinson, Harry Mawson and Frank Followell.

Flood Damage to Paintings Repaired

A worker at Florence, Italy, carefully brushes at a painting to remove mud deposited in a November, 1966, flood. The muddy water damaged or destroyed $160,000,000 worth of art in Florence and 800 paintings are still in the process of drying out in a former greenhouse where temperatures and humidity are carefully controlled.

Queen's Park Rejects Centralized Buying

TORONTO (CP)— Provincial Treasurer Charles MacNaughton said Tuesday night an interdepartmental committee has recommended creation of an authority to guide purchasing policies of government departments.

However, he said the committee recommended against placing all purchasing of the government under the new authority, as proposed last year by the legislature's public accounts committee.

Mr. MacNaughton told the legislature the report suggested the authority be "primarily a vehicle of functional guidance."

"It is specifically recommended that the government reject the idea of fully centralized buying."

He was replying to Opposition Leader Robert Nixon, who pointed out that British Columbia, Manitoba and the Maritime provinces all have central purchasing agencies.

Mr. Nixon quoted from articles suggesting the major roadblock to central purchasing in Ontario is the patronage system.

The treasurer said the committee's report was based on a year-long study of purchasing policies in several state and provincial governments and some large companies.

He said the report points out that two-thirds of the government's buying is already through three "buying stations," the highways and public works departments and the office of the Queen's Printer.

"Therefore it is not true to imply without qualification, as some have, that Ontario ignores the concept of central purchasing and is behind the times."

Farm Costs 5.2 Higher

OTTAWA (CP)— Cost facing Canadian farmers in January were 5.2 per cent higher than 12 months earlier, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Tuesday.

Main influences were rapid jumps during the first half of 1966 in bills for materials and equipment, and in wage rates and costs of farm family living.

The DBS price index of commodities and services used by farmers, based on 1935-39 prices equalling 100, increased to 211.9 in January, 1.67, from 206.6 in January, 1966. The level in August, 1964, was 200.9.

In percentage terms the January-to-January increase was 5.2 per cent, the August-to-January increase six-tenths of one per cent.

Farm wage rates rose 11.8 per cent during the year, but nearly the entire increase occurred in the first half.

Tin Prices Take Jump

LONDON (AP)—The price of tin for three - month delivery rose on the London Metal Market Tuesday as the Egyptians announced the closing of the Suez Canal.

A leading dealer said the immediate effect of the closing of the canal would be to push prices higher.

Approximately half of the world's tin supplies normally move through the Suez Canal from Malaya and the Far East to Britain, Western Europe and the United States.

Closure of the canal means that shipments have to be diverted around the Cape of Good Hope, adding 10 to 14 days to the voyage, said a spokesman for the International Tin Council.

TORONTO STOCKS TODAY

TORONTO (CP) — Oils advanced and stocks declined today in light trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Analysts said a rise in oil issues resulted from short - term speculators gambling the United States would be forced to buy more Canadian oil if Arab countries stop sales to Europe and America.

Texaco rose 1 to 28½, Dome Petroleum ⅛ to 35¼, Shell ⅛ to 27¾ and Husky ⅛ to 16.

Among steels, Slater Steel lost ⅛ to 9¼ following the announcement of lower six-month earnings. Dofasco slipped ⅛ to 23¼ and Stelco lost ⅛ to 23½.

Base metals made good gains with Inco up 1 to 104 and Roman Corp. and Rio Algom ⅛ each to 19¼ and 32½.

On index, industrials rose .93 to 185.45, golds 1.11 to 174.20, base metals .73 to 96.80 and western oils 3.43 to 184.07, Volume at 11 a.m. was 798,000 shares compared with 577,000 at the same time Tuesday.

Oil issues moved ahead following Monday's threat by Arab countries to disrupt oil supplies to nations supporting Israel in the Middle East war. Iraq and Kuwait announced Tuesday they had stopped sales of oil to Britain and the United States.

Dome Petroleum advanced 3¾ to 35, Hudson's Bay 2¾ to 25½, Imperial Oil 2¾ to 61¾, Home B 1¾ to 21½ and B-A 1¼ to 30¼.

Uranium issues made fractional gains with Denison up ¼ to 31, Rio Algom ⅛ to 32½ and Roman Corp. ⅛ to 19.

Among industrials, CPR rose 1⅛ to 35½, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce 1⅛ to 46⅛ and ITL Industries 1¼ to 34¼.

Magnetic Tape Laundered

TORONTO (CP)—Here's an off-beat byproduct of the computer age — a magnetic tape laundry.

Set up by Precision Data Cards Ltd., it is designed to remove impurities from the magnetic tapes used in computers.

Donald Owen, president of the firm, says the tapes are coated with magnetic substances only 2-1,000th of an inch thick. Continued use coats the tape with dust from particles of oxide caused by wear or from other sources.

Mr. Owen says dirty tapes can mean much lost time and this is expensive considering that a company may be renting a computer for up to $600 an hour.

Until the service was started,

Star Profit Takes Jump

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Star Ltd. showed a profit of $626,000 in the six months ended March 31, 1967, Ireland Hendrie, president and publisher, reported Tuesday.

This was a 58 - per - cent increase from the $430,000 of the corresponding period of 1966.

Mr. Hendrick told shareholders the improved profit reflects an increases in Star advertising revenue and growing advertiser acceptance of circulation fo The Canadian and Canadian Homes.

The Canadian is owned by Southstar Publishers Ltd., in which Toronto Star and Southam Press Ltd. have equal shares.

Weekend Visitors Impose on Country Cousins

Dear Doris: Every summer weekend relatives visit us in the country. Armed with paper sacks, they utter that familiar phrase, "We'd have bought our vegetables at the store but we thought we'd let you have the money." What I receive isn't even a quarter of what they cost in the store! I work hard all summer long tending to the garden. I have never yet heard them offering to help me. After all, the vegetables they receive are fresh.

Couldn't they pay me the same amount they would have to pay at a store? They seem to think they are doing me a favor. Am I being taken advantage of? — Fed Up

Dear Fed Up: Right! But how are they to know how you feel? If you are willing to have them come, you can keep things happy by being business-like.

When they next arrive and make their little speech, have them sit down and discuss these little visits, explaining that the work and expense piles up. Assign chores, including a little help in the garden.

Have a list of the going prices for fresh vegetables, "as a guide". Show you have confidence that they want to do the right thing. And write and tell all of us how it worked.

Dear Doris: In August we will be celebrating the 40th wedding anniversary of my parents.

Included in the guest list are family members and friends. Among those are the best man and maid of honor.

Since I am to be master of ceremonies I would like to know:

(a) Who should be toasted at the reception?

SONNY CLARK

(b) Who should be asked to speak — groom of 40 years? Best Man?

(c) What is the theme for a 40th anniversary? — Al Emsee

Dear Al: (a) The couple who have weathered the storms of 40 years. Then the maid of honor who obviously stayed with the ship. Anybody else you think deserves to be toasted.

(b) By all means give the groom the floor, as responder to that first toast, and the best man in response to the second.

(c) Rubies and garnets. Or reasonable facsimiles in the way of ruby-red roses, candles, glassware.

Dear Doris: If I ask if I can go for a ride with my boy friends and his friends my mother practically takes a fit. I don't know what to do, Doris, for I never cared for a boy so much.

He is polite and would give me the shirt off his back. He is not dirty minded and never tried to do anything. He is 18; I am 15.

I have written before to you as Messy Writer. I find my penmanship has improved. I wish there were more people like you in the world. A kiss to you! — Desperate

Dear Desperate: You can depend on it: your wonderful boy prizes and respects you more because your mother trusts and protects you. And three years is too big a gap, at 15. If you want to keep him, don't go overboard. Avoid the car rides. Arrange things to do with other teens. Solo dating will come later.

Your writing is better, and that's for sure. Do you mean I'm to get a kiss for that?

Don't just muddle along, Doris knows human behavior and can help. Write to her and enclose a stamped, self - addressed envelope for private reply.

Strawberries are in, on and around this June dessert — Ring-Around-A-Rosy. It is Mary Moore tested, tasted and approved and now the recipe is yours.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Strawberry Dessert

By MARY MOORE

A festive strawberry dessert that will serve 8 to 8 was a delight to make. It was shaped in my 9¼" ring mould, the width of the outer circle being 2" and total capacity 8 1-2 cups brimful. It is a gelatine dessert and turned out perfectly.

RING - AROUND - A - ROSY STRAWBERRIES (serves 6-8)

1 qt. fresh strawberries
4 tsps. plain gelatine
¼ cup cold water
½ cup sugar
1-3 cup water (second amount)
One 15-oz. can ready-made rice pudding
½ tsp. red food coloring
½ pt. whipping (32 percent) cream

Soak the gelatine in ¼ cup water 5 min. Wash and stem berries. In flat-bottomed pan crush enough berries with potato masher to make 1 cup. Drain and reserve all remaining berries for last step (but at this stage sprinkle with 3 tbsps. sugar). Add the sugar and 1-3 cup water and bring to boil, stirring. Stir in soaked gelatine, remove from heat and stir until gelatine is dissolved. Add rice pudding and red food coloring and chill in refrigerator or freezer until partially thickened. When it is partially set whip 1 cup of the cream until stiff (reserving ¼ cup for later). Fold whipped cream thoroughly into partially set strawberry mixture. Turn into ring mould (see above) and chill until set. (My mould was filled to the brim and just enough left over for the photographer to taste when he delivered some prints.)

WEDNESDAY

Dinner Menu

Lamb Stew with Vegetables; Curry Dumplings; Tossed Green Salad; Canned Peaches; Crackle-Top Chocolate Cookies (see Tuesday); Tea.

At serving time loosen sides of ring with pointed paring knife, then lower mould into hot water and count to 10 steadily. Invert large serving dish, at least 10½" in diameter over mould and gripping both firmly turn over. Remove mould and fill centre with all remaining strawberries. Whip remaining ¼ cup cream, perch ¾ on berries and top it with perfect berry.

Remarks Every Housewife Gets Tired of Hearing

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that every housewife gets tired of hearing:

"What would you like for our wedding anniversary, Jane? Something useful—like a new can opener?"

"You may think money grows on trees, but it doesn't."

"Hey, Mom, where's my blue sport shirt? It has to be somewhere."

"Yeah, it tastes okay. But, of course, nobody can cook that dish quite like my mother could."

"What do you do with yourself all day, just sit around and watch soap operas on television?"

"I hope I promised to take you out some night this week. But can't we make it some night next week instead?"

"Hey, Mom, have you seen my plaid skirt? It has to be somewhere."

"I'll admit that dress would look nice on Jolie Andrews, but I don't dig that kind of your style, Jane."

"My great grandmother traveled west in a covered wagon without an electric dishwasher. My grandmother raised 10 children on a farm without an electric dishwasher. My mother never asked my father for an electric dishwasher. So why should you mind getting a few soapsuds on your hands?"

"Don't tell me we're having chicken terrazzini for dinner! Why, that's exactly what I had for lunch."

"The trouble with you, Mom, is that you're too old-fashioned."

"While you're up, honey, would you mind going to the refrigerator and get me a can of beer? And while you're at it, how about making me a sandwich? Be sure and butter both pieces of the bread. Yeah, and don't forget the mustard."

"Well, one way we could cut down on expenses is for you to start doing my shirts at home. They say ironing is a good way for a housewife to calm her nerves."

"Hey, Mom, where's my pink blouse? It has to be somewhere."

"Gee, I wonder what it would be like to be single again. I've been married so long I don't even remember."

"Take you dancing? You must be kidding."

"Yeah, of course I love you. Why do you think I married you—do win a bet?"

"Don't tell me we're having Odessa mishmash hash for dinner, Jane. That's exactly what I had for lunch."

"Hey, Mom . . . m!"

"Hey, Mom . . ."

Ann Landers
This Male Philosophy Is Not for Happiness

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been going with a man for five months. We plan to marry next year. Now he has told me that he wants to play around with other women and I'd better get used to the idea. According to him, all men do this and anyone who believes otherwise is stupid, naive or both.

He says the male philosophy works this way: A man loves only one woman but he must be free to entertain himself with as many women as he pleases, regardless of whether he is married or not.

I told him to hit the road. Now I am sorry, I cry a lot and can't eat. Please tell me if I should accept his philosophy and make the best of it. — TEARS IN THE PILLOW.

ANN LANDERS

DEAR TEARS: If you marry this man, prepare to cry yourself a river that will make the Amazon look like a muddy creek.

Life is rough enough for the woman who marries in good faith and discovers that she has drawn a guy with alley-cat tendencies. The woman who would agree in advance to tolerate such antics is clearly out of her mind.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently you told some teenagers whose foreign-born parents insist that they speak a foreign language at home, "By all means do it. It's a great advantage to be fluent in a second language. Practice. You'll be glad you did."

You should have advised those teen-agers to urge their parents to speak English. Chances are the children are already fluent in a second language, and their parents could use the practice.

As a school teacher in the New York public school system I can tell you it is impossible to repair the damage done by parents who insist that their children speak the mother tongue at home. I am now struggling with a student who says "Even Victoria." He also says "wheet chipp" and can't to eat and "we is we." Another boy in the same class calls me be playthe "sexaphone."

In the past you have been big enough to admit it when you are wrong. I hope you will do so again. — MISS L.

* * *

DEAR MISS: I am and I do. Your point is excellent and I appreciate being hauled up short. Thank you for writing.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My husband and I moved to this rather small city last year. We have no religious affiliation and we don't want any. Both my husband and I have known so many pious hypocrites that we are completely sour on the whole religious bit.

Last week my husband's elderly father who has made his home with us passed away. He was a steady churchgoer before he became an invalid and he asked to be buried from his church.

We asked a young pastor whom we know socially to conduct the funeral services. We are not close friends but we have entertained the pastor and his wife in our home along with other guests.

The pastor gave a beautiful sermon and arranged for the burial. His reality took a great burden off our hands and we want to show our appreciation. My husband says we should not insult him by offering cash.

What do you say? — UNDECIDED.

DEAR UNDECIDED: If your husband feels that cash is indelicate, tell him to send a cheque. The pastor won't be insulted. People sometimes forget that those who do

Mrs. Audrey Davies, Belleville and Mrs. A. M. Pedersen, R.R. 1, Carrying Place, attended the 1967 Provincial Leadership Development Program at York University, May 28 to June 3.

Mrs. Davies, an instructor in ceramics and design and Mrs. Pedersen, a program convener and graduate of courses in art and batik, joined other students from Whitby to Kenora for instruction and experience in group dynamics, student motivation and communication. The students divided into small groups to discuss the goals of adult education, human behavior and adult teaching.

The Community Programs Division of the Ontario Dept. of Education was established in 1945 to guide and stimulated the growth of community recreation and informal adult education in the province.

Mrs. Davies has been an instructor at night school and at the Recreation Centre for about ten years and Mrs. Pedersen hopes to instruct at the Recreation Centre in

Five Nuns Run Animal Shelter

MILL BAY, B.C. (CP)—On a sheltered eastern slope of Vancouver Island above the misty-blue Strait of Georgia live five Roman Catholic nuns and 250 assorted animals.

Under the direction of 78-year-old Mother Mary Cecilia they operate the Good Shepherd Animal Shelter, an institution that has been the focus of church controversy for years ago when it was located in the Victoria suburb of Saanich.

"We never bear anything about it any more so I imagine it's settled," says Mother Cecilia of the dispute which came to a head when she flatly refused to obey a church order to give up her operation of the shelter and return to the convent.

Today the shelter is located on a 50-acre site 25 miles north of Victoria. Access to the nuns and their charges moved in March, 1966.

The animals are housed in the shelter's aircraft truck. "We moved buildings, too."

A modern animal house, one of three cottages, on the new property, was turned into a home for cats and each dog has its own blanket which is washed daily.

"We have found the ideal spot," says Mother Cecilia.

She explains that some of the trouble with church authorities came about because the nuns of the shelter were the first to become engaged in animal care work.

"They say I should be looking after children and old people. For 40 years I was mother general of St. Mary's Priory. I've educated 1,000 girls and looked after 400 old people.

A spokesman for the Victoria diocese says Mother Cecilia's move to a new site has eased any tension since the work at Mill Bay "doesn't interfere with the rights of other people."

"She hasn't returned to the normal life of a sister. We're hoping she will one day."

Since the day in 1931 when Mother Cecilia used a legacy left by her father to buy a 21-acre site in Saanich for a small hostel to house a few unwanted dogs, she and her small band of followers have faced one crisis after another.

In February, 1953, the Saanich zoning board refused permission to expand the kennels. A month later biscuits believed to contain poison were found near the shelter. And then the nuns began receiving abusive telephone calls along with threats about the noise of barking dogs.

A year later newspapers discovered that the nuns had been ignoring a church directive to close the shelter and the story was reported around the world.

Twenty-three families in the neighborhood had sent a petition to Pope Pius XII complaining of the noise and of deterioration of property values.

Bishop Remy de Roo of Victoria said the nuns should return to their priory to help in reorganization of the Sisters of the Love of God. But Mother Cecilia replied: "This is God's work, a work of mercy, and under no circumstances will I close the shelter."

The order is one founded more than 40 years ago by Mother Cecilia. It was 1925 when she left her sisters, into Catholicism. Her late husband, who died in the grave to 40 members and built and ran a 200-bed convalescent home.

She remained superior until eight years ago when she started the animal shelter with $60,000 she inherited. Her first tenants were nine stray dogs. When she was forced to close the shelter it housed 120 dogs, 50 cats, 12 goats, 200 guinea pigs and a horse.

At the time, Mother Cecilia said the church merely wanted to get control of the shelter's assets, a charge denied by church authorities.

She dispatched Mary Agnes to Rome to present the nuns' side of the story but the counter returned with the message that the nuns at the shelter would be forced to become lay persons unless they gave up their work with animals.

In September, 1965, the nuns threatened to join the Old Roman Catholic Church, a deconsolidation founded in Holland in 1640 as a breakaway from traditional Roman Catholicism. But the threat was never carried out, and today an apparent state of truce exists.

The nuns live in relative comfort with few problems more serious than the muddy drinking water caused by a "nice old black bear" taking a bath in a nearby creek.

Mother Cecilia sees nothing remarkable about the fact that a large mountain has lived for months in the forest through her motherly solicitude for stray dogs or trying to get at the 107 free-running cats kept by the shelter.

"I think he knew he had to behave if he wanted to stay," she says.

Twenty-three francs in the neighborhood had sent a petition to Pope Paul complaining of the noise and of deterioration of property values.

Daily Fashion Shows Being Given at Expo

MONTREAL (CP)—Fashions of Canada and many other countries are on display at Expo 67, forming an irresistible lure to most women.

Every Thursday, the Great Canadian Fashion Caper introduces personal fashions at the outdoor amphitheatre in front of the Canadian pavilion. It's a big splashy revue-type production of some 150 garments and 40 models. Summer clothes will be featured until the end of July. Then fall and winter clothes will be on display until Expo closes late in October.

From the beginning of June, Ontario is highlighting its own fashion industry in the Ontario pavilion. Depending on weather and traffic, the daily shows will be produced either in the out-door restaurant or in some other area. The information office in the building will give you the time and place. The 50 garments will be changed on a monthly seasonal basis.

Some of the countries represented at Expo are producing daily fashion shows too.

Czechoslovakian fashion will be almost continuous. They were selected from Czechoslovakia's largest fashion enterprise, called Houses of Fashion, which includes six haute couture houses, a ready-to-wear manufacturer and two department stores specializing in fashion.

This is the first time Czechoslovakian haute couture has been shown on this continent. There are 100 garments on show on six Czech models, on the second floor of the Czechoslovakian pavilion.

Russia is producing a fashion show twice daily, in the 600-seat theatre on the main floor of its pavilion. Some 100 costumes and seven Russian models are on hand. The fashions are a combination of traditional Russian and Paris-inspired styling. There are even some miniskirts.

In addition there is a group of Russian sable costumes, designed and made by a New York firm. Skins run from $100 to $500 and it takes some 65 skins for a coat.

Another fabulous fur collection was the first fashion show on view after the official opening of Expo in April. It featured furs from the four Scandinavian mink-skirted dresses and a full-length white mink evening gown, as well as costumes in Norwegian fox and Danish baby seal.

The collection, designed and made by Grosvenor of Montreal, is on display in the Scandinavian restaurant. You can find out at the pavilion when it can be seen.

France is presenting its fashion show do a revolving stage surrounded by water. It is just inside the main entrance of the pavilion but can also be seen from the balconies of the other floors.

Besides the live fashions, there is a permanent display in boutique style of haute couture costumes from each fashion dream as Dior and St. Laurent, as well as displays of jewelry.

You will also be interested in seeing the most unusual fur show in the British pavilion. Intact has reserved space on the first floor for a display of jewelry and fashions. Yugoslavia is highlighting its leather handbags and suede coats.

Magnificent displays of gems are to be found in most of the pavilions of the Far East countries. India, of course, also includes its wonderful brocades and Thailand its silks. Even tiny Monaco is in the fashion mood, with perfumes, jewelry and haute couture.

Council Will Study New Legislation

MONTREAL (CP) — Mrs. F. E. Underhill, chairman of the laws study committee of the National Council of Women, Tuesday told delegates to the council's annual convention that a Senate bill dealing with hate literature will be made part of the group's study program for the coming year.

The member organizations would discuss the contents of the bill with their local members of Parliament and then submit their findings to a joint parliamentary committee soon to be appointed to study the projected law.

The council, currently faced with a problem of trying to interest younger women in the activities of member organizations, gave reports to the delegates on a "self examination" project they have undertaken in an effort to remedy the situation.

The project included leadership and citizenship programs from coast to coast in Canada and an extensive study of the NCW's administration from the municipal to the national level.

Earlier Tuesday, Mrs. P. Polote, a Canadian Indian from Nanaimo, B.C., asked the council to adopt a resolution which would recommend that the federal government treat Indian land claims in the same manner as federal elections.

Women on her reserve, said Mrs. Polote, had the opportunity to mingle with women of the white community through membership in the Nanaimo council, something she said is still a rarity in Canada.

The Indian land elections resolution was adopted by the delegates along with another recommending that the federal government include faculty planning in its external aid program.

Miss Phyllis D. Durnford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Durnford, Belleville, was graduated from Kingston General Hospital School of Nursing at graduation exercises June 5, 1967. Miss Durnford attended Moira Secondary School.

Retarded Children Need Home Says Head of Centre

TORONTO (CP)—The director of the Mental Retardation Centre in Toronto says there are hundreds of children in Ontario hospital schools for the retarded "who could be returned to the community if one could appropriate homes for them and more adequate services such as community residences and day care centres."

Dr. John Fotheringham said: "Many of these kids just need a home."

— If they were living at home they would be considered too intelligent to send to community schools for the retarded. All are in the educable class with IQs ranging mostly from 50 to 85. Some even have normal IQs of 100.

Until a few months ago little thought was given to the possibilities of children being placed in the hospital schools. All that was necessary to get a child on the waiting list was the word of two physicians that the child was retarded.

Provincial officials now say that many of the children were dumped there by parents concerned political pressure through members of the legislature.

Health Minister Matthew Dymond described the old system in the legislature in 1965.

"In this field I have always believed my heart to rule my head," he said. "That is, I receive tragic letters, pleas and calls from parents of retarded children asking admission for them, telling me of the unbearable strain in the home and the frustration existing in the family and so the lives of the normal members, I say to you sincerely it cannot in conscience turn them down."

Dr. Fotheringham said: "Since we introduced a proper rating scale for admissions about six months ago I haven't seen any evidence that political pressure is jumping names up the waiting list. Before that it was different."

Dr. Fotheringham's centre now screens children for admission to the Orillia hospital school.

The list has been reassessed on a more scientific basis, resulting in elimination of two-thirds of the names. In the remaining one-third a high percentage of urgent cases is turned up.

"The rating system has brought them more closely into focus," said Dr. Fotheringham.

In Orillia, children who turned out to have normal intelligence have been placed in foster homes in an attempt to get them back into the community.

At the Lakehead, some of them are attending vocational school, although they still live in a hospital school.

The Ontario department of education is trying to provide the level and variety of education offered the children as well as that needed for less intelligent children.

Ontario's program for the retarded, under the direction of Dr. Donald Zorfas, has taken over an old air force base at Edgar, Ont., to establish a stepping-stone community for the few who are able to make the step back to a normal life.

Dr. Fotheringham, however, says he feels the greatest tragedy is that years of life spent in an institution condition the youngsters to the point where it is almost impossible for them to make it on their own outside.

The Experts Say
Eye Strain Is Most Common Eye Complaint

OTTAWA (CP)—Your eyes were originally intended for spotting food and watching out for enemies. The basic plan for eyesight didn't include day, night, studying sessions, or day-long close work in poor light.

That's why lots of people, especially students, develop eye strain. They just don't realize there are limits to what their eyes can do, says a pamphlet from the Dominion control section of the national health department.

Eye strain is the most common eye complaint. It is caused by prolonged reading or close work under poor lighting conditions.

Symptoms, such as headaches, sore eyes or temporary dimness of vision are close to the condition.

The symptoms indicate the muscles in the eyes not to work properly. And, they're also control the amount of light that enters the pupil, the focus of the lens, and the co-ordination of the two eyes to produce single vision.

Reading in bed or while lying down is a bad visual habit, the pamphlet says, because the head and eyes are not in the best position for efficient reading, and top often available light is poor.

Light should be no problem in the daytime. Even on a dull day, the light from an average-sized window is adequate, provided it is not far from the window a lamp may be needed.

Especially when working at home at night, don't depend only on a ceiling light.

The pamphlet says a table or reading lamp fitted with one 100-watt or two 60-watt bulbs provides the best substitute for daylight. The bulbs should be frosted and four feet away from the working surface.

Shading lights should be turned on in the room to prevent sharp contrasts.

The book or page should be at least 15 or 20 inches from the eye. If you usually read in bed, the pamphlet says, you've got a bad visual habit or you need to visit an eye specialist and see about glasses.

If you still have eye-strain symptoms after you've rectified the light source, the pamphlet says a visit to an eye doctor is in order. Your problem is probably due to defective vision, usually partial failure in the muscle adjustments in eye muscle balance.

The commonest eye disorders, easily corrected with glasses, are long or short sight.

Cross-eyes usually appear before school age and should be corrected before the condition is noticed. If they are left alone, the vision in the turning eye may start to get worse because it isn't used.

If your eyes have glasses, wear them as advised by your eye doctor, the pamphlet says. Children need their glasses, likely to be playing active sports, should have shatter-proof lenses.

Parents often worry about too much TV viewing damaging their eyes, the book says. Normally it won't injure the eyes, but it can cause eye trouble if set is too close or if the picture is blurred or jumpy.

The pamphlet recommends a viewing distance of six to eight feet for a 17-inch screen, and even farther away from a large screen. There should be a light in the room to cut down on contrast if lighted dark which irritate the eye.

JUNIOR HORTICULTURISTS

The Junior Horticultural Society planted annual flowers at the Branch Library Friday to replace the centennial tulips whose blooming period is now over. The summer beds consist of red, white and blue pelargias edged with white sweet alyssum.

On Saturday the members took a field trip to Vandewater Park under the direction of Murray Gayfit, field officer for the Moira River Conservation Authority. They toured the nature trail, observing the wild flowers in bloom. Following the field trip the Juniors were treated to a wiener roast by the Scout Society.

The junior members are now engaged in making bottle gardens which will be judged at the Senior meeting June 14. The winning entries will be taken to the competitive Convention at Guelph for the Ontario competitions. The juniors are also competing in the growing of Indian corn and ornamental gourds.

ALOUETTE CLUB

The French Alouette Club of Belleville and region held the second of a series of special centennial year meetings Saturday. A short night was held to permit members and friends to become better acquainted with the club and its activities.

Among the games played were euchre, darts, checkers, sorry, whist, and others.

Armand Bedard welcomed the guests and directed the plays with the assistance of their executive and the entertainment committee.

The program consisted of a talk (in French) by Lucien Briand and J. A. C. Berube and French songs sung by Mrs. A. Menard, Mrs. T. Perand, Paul Paquin, Andre Mercier and J. A. C. Berube. A duet play was presented by B. Gagnier and J. A. C. Berube.

Donat Clement, chairman of the entertainment committee, thanked those who had made the evening possible. He invited all the guests and their friends to attend the activity June 24, the yearly celebration of St. Jean Baptiste Day and the club picnic.

Mrs. Jeanne Briand announced there will be a draw in the fall for hand-made bedspreads made by Mrs. Adele Berube and Mrs. Azelie Berube, wife and mother respectively of the club president. The spread, given to the club by these women was displayed. Tickets will be available in the fall.

Games night prizes went to the following: Mrs. Jeanne Briand, Ross Walters, Richard Bisconcin and Edmond Hall.

"Preservation of Life" Chief Aim of Doctors in Abortions

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Therapeutic abortions were performed at Victoria Hospital in 1966.

How many would be considered legally justified in a Canadian court of law is open to speculation.

Under Article 209 of the Criminal Code an abortionist is liable to imprisonment for life unless he has acted "in good faith" to "preserve the life of the mother."

But the Canadian Medical Association has once again been brought before Canadian courts to define "preservation of life."

One London obstetrician admitted "all the abortions we do may be illegal" but added: "We don't care. We're not worried about the law."

In Canadian government has announced plans to amend sections of the Criminal Code dealing with abortion and sale of contraceptives.

In the meantime Canadian doctors will probably continue to rely on a British decision on a similar law which interpreted "preservation of life" to include safeguarding both the physical and mental health of the mother.

Using this interpretation on the assumption Canadian courts would make the same ruling, doctors feel free to perform abortions when they believe carrying the baby would endanger the mother's mental health.

Many lawyers interpret the phrase differently. Neil Miller, University of Western Ontario law school, said in a public debate on abortion reform the only justifiable reason for abortion is risk of pregnancy shortening the mother's life.

An abortion performed to sustain the quality of the mother's life or because there is a high risk the child would be deformed would not be legally acceptable, he maintained.

He also said an abortion performed because the woman had been a victim of rape or incest would not be considered legal under present laws.

Yet London doctors are doing therapeutic abortions in cases of rape or high risk of fetal abnormality.

They say community opinion, which is always ahead of legislation, is demanding more liberal attitudes, and they look to the weight of this public opinion and the safety of group decisions for protection from the law.

No one doctor ever makes the decision to perform a therapeutic abortion. The Public Hospitals Act requires consultation with at least one other physician and, in many of the larger hospitals, final rulings on requests for therapeutic abortions are made by a committee.

The therapeutic abortion situation has changed since a committee was organized at Victoria 10 years ago. In the last five years the number of abortions has doubled to 12 or 13 from six or seven.

Cases of rape, incest and fetal abnormality are generally classed as psychiatric grounds. As one London obstetrician said:

"If there's a high risk of fetal abnormality, there's a high risk of psychiatric effects."

Similar reasoning covers cases of rape or incest.

No obstetrician likes to perform an abortion. In the first place it is not, as many believe, an easy operation.

There is a much higher risk, and probably more, in doing a therapeutic abortion as to delivering a baby," one obstetrician said.

At one time physicians distrusted psychiatrists' recommendations for abortion on the grounds that the psychiatrists, who didn't have to perform the operation, were too liberal in their views.

Now physicians are placing more trust in psychiatric opinion. "I'm beginning to feel psychiatrists are fairly sober about this," said one.

Psychiatrists themselves are concerned.

"There are very few psychiatrists recommending abortion," said Dr. W. E. Kall, head of the psychiatry department at Victoria. "Fifty per cent of the psychiatrists are Roman Catholic and that wipes them out.

"Half of the ones who are left are not in private practice. It is the Protestant private practising liberal-minded psychiatrist who is having to make the decisions."

Fight Between Fishermen's Unions Pinches Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) A bitter jurisdictional battle between two fishermen's unions that erupted almost three months ago is pinching the economy of this north coast fishing port.

However, there is no sign of settlement and no visible abatement of the heated feelings generated among the 18,000 residents.

The halibut industry, worth about $7,000,000 in landed fish, has been sharply cut. Businesses and civic officials report slumping store sales and rising unemployment and welfare payments.

Businessmen now are worried about the approaching salmon season, the most valuable of the three fish processed here—herring, halibut and salmon.

Frank Howard, New Democratic Party MP for Skeena, says the dispute involves the entire community and pits friend against friend and neighbor against neighbor.

The disputants are the United Fishermen and Allied Workers Union, a militant group accused of Communist leadership, and the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union, a Canadian Labor Congress affiliate whose militancy has proved equal despite the disparity in membership numbers.

The UFAWU, with some 10,000 members in British Columbia the dominant fishermen's union on the West Coast, represents about 600 Prince Rupert fishermen and shoreworkers. The Deep Sea union has about 125 members, all in this area.

The UFAWU could not reach a catch-sharing agreement with the Prince Rupert Fishing Vessel Owners' Association, branded the association's 28-boat fleet unfair and set up picket lines at five fish-processing plants. The Deep Sea union reached agreement with the vessel owners.

With both UFAWU and Deep Sea members involved in loading, unloading and manning the boats, the tangled dispute erupted. UFAWU workers at th five plants refused to handle vessel owners' boats, which sat in the harbor while the halibut run began.

But two weeks ago some UFAWU members crossed their own picket lines in front of Union Secretary Homer Stevens of Vancouver and loaded boats for sailing from two plants.

Despite attempts by Mayor F. J. Lester, the Chamber of Commerce and a group of militant housewives, the dispute has dragged on.

The mayor said in a telegram to Attorney-General Robert Bonner that laws were being ridiculed while fishing employees are being coerced, bullied and threatened."

In the Commons on Monday, Mr. Howard pleaded for an end to government aloofness" in the dispute. While neither Ottawa nor Victoria took action, 500,000 pounds of fish rotted in the holds of fishing boats, he said.

About 80 per cent of the city's economy depends on the fishing industry.

A&P

What every new bride should know!

Let's see!
His shirts...starch or no starch?
His eggs...sunnyside up or over lightly?
His coffee...a bit on the strong side?
His steak...medium-rare or rare-rare?
His favourite pie...apple or cherry?

Knowing these things is important.
Knowing this is important, too: A&P is a store you can trust.
Brides have been doing it for over 40 years.

We think it's important for brides,
new or old, to find a store they can trust, to know that everything they buy is totally guaranteed.

That's A&P Policy.
No matter who makes it, if A&P sells it, A&P guarantees it.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

United Church Membership Cut Is Called Judgment on Church

TORONTO (CP)—Declines in membership in the United Church of Canada and in the number of candidates for the clergy is a "judgment on the church," says Rev. J. R. Hord in the 42nd annual report of the church's board of evangelism and social service.

The report, 245 pages titled Canada and Its Future, is what the board calls a "centennial look at the church."

The declines are a "judgment on the training of our people," says Mr. Hord, the board's secretary.

"We have not prepared our members for the great scientific, technological and sociological changes of our times."

He said the church's lack of involvement in mankind's social and political dilemmas is also partly responsible for the decline in membership.

"The church of the future will emphasize quality of life and service," he said. "Christians will know what they believe and why. . . Large church gatherings will gradually be replaced by small, meaningful group meetings in which there will be a rich sharing of mind and heart. . . .

". . . The church will get involved in major social and political issues, not on a partisan basis but on humanitarian grounds, in such questions as Indian affairs, the race question, the war on poverty, civil rights, subsidized housing, peace and war. . . ."

Dr. Hord also forecast that the church of the future will be more ecumenically-minded and will develop in many forms.

Anglican Bishop Warns Against Experimentation

TORONTO (CP)—Rt. Rev. G. B. Snell, Anglican Bishop of Toronto, warned Tuesday that "uncontrolled experimentation" by churches might result in chaos.

Urging more use of the Bible in preaching, Bishop Snell told the 115th Toronto diocese synod: "Somehow, we have thought that we must be logical and up to date if we are to touch people. The truth is that the Bible speaks to every generation. . . ."

He said a belief that religion is peripheral in life is "one of the real threats to Christianity."

"We cannot think about the growth of persons without being involved in questions about the nature and destiny of mankind with which religion is concerned."

As he spoke, Rev. Donald Hoop, 41, of St. Mark's Parkdale Church, patrolled outside protesting against lack of Christian concern for Vietnam. He charged the Anglican Church of Canada with, "sitting on the fence" in the crisis.

Bishop Snell announced at the meeting the election of Canon Ed Marshall as St. Stephens Church as Anglican suffragan bishop for the diocese of Trinidad. Canon Marshall is in hospital recovering from an operation to remove a kidney stone.

Church Statement Expected

MONTREAL (CP)—The head of the World Council of Churches said Tuesday he hopes for "constructive" cooperation in international affairs" between the predominantly Protestant council and the Roman Catholic Church.

Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, chairman of the executive committee of the council and president of the Lutheran Church in America, said in an interview he is expecting a telephone conference with European church leaders soon to draft a statement on the Middle East situation.

Asked whether he thought statements by church leaders could have any effect on war, he said that while combined statements would be the most effective, separate statements have in the past had "an appreciable effect."

Dr. Fry is in Montreal to address the Eastern Canada synod of the Lutheran Church, which opened a three - day meeting Tuesday.

Three new congregations and one merger were approved at Tuesday's session, under the chairmanship of Dr. Albert W. Lotz of Kitchener, Ont.

About 300 Lutheran pastors and lay delegates from Newfoundland to northwestern Ontario are attending the meeting.

Joan E. Kirkham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William G. Kirkham, Belleville, received a Bachelor of Arts degree (French and German), from Queen's University at convocation June 3. Miss Kirkham, a graduate of Quinte Secondary School, will return to Queen's for further studies.

Fished To Death

VITORIA, Spain (AP) — A 63-year-old fisherman, Rafael Lezamiz, fought a trout to the death—his own. While other anglers watched, he landed two trout and then hooked a bigger one. While playing it he suddenly collapsed and was pronounced dead of a heart attack.

Church Should Engage In Social Action, Plea

KINGSTON (CP) — The church should engage in social action in the community, delegates to the 1967 congress of the Presbyterian Church in Canada were told Tuesday.

Dr. Harold Englund of Bexley, Calif., advised delegates to become experts on their home towns, and conditions in them, then seek to improve the welfare of the neglected.

He suggested that the churches develop new patterns of mission, such as senior citizens' clubs, or do a simple study of the community.

Two or more congregations could be linked as a team and experiment together on week-days in some activity outside the church walls, Dr. Englund said.

More than 70 of the delegates are elders and minister who will attend the 83rd general assembly of the church in Ottawa tonight.

8th Tyendinaga

STH TYENDINAGA — Mrs. R. Manthorpe, British Columbia, was a guest of Mrs. R. Cross and Mrs. J. Cross and showed slides Tuesday night at Fuller Church.

Mrs. Sam Cross is spending a few days in Kingston where she is attending the congress of the Presbyterian Church.

Fire destroyed a shed and contents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clare Cockins Thursday evening.

Dropping in for a Drink

Sgt. Brian Clark-Sutton pours while Sgt. Tony Charlton holds the glass as the two members of The Falcons, the RAF parachute team, drop at 120 m.p.h. in a free-fall over England. There's just time to pour the pint of beer in the 60-second, 10,000 foot drop before their chutes open at 2,000 feet. They didn't say what happened to the beer. The photo was taken by an automatic camera fastened to the helmet of another team member.

She is spending the summer in France and plans to attend Althouse College of Education, London, Ontario, in the fall. Miss Portt is a graduate of Moira Secondary School.

Whitton's Seat In Balance

OTTAWA (CP) — Alderman Charlotte Whitton will hold on to her seat in city council for at least three more weeks while legal counsel in the court case over her status submit written arguments.

Senior County Court Judge Peter Macdonald ordered the lawyers do prepare written argument Tuesday in the action launched by Ottawa businessman Sam McLean to unseat the former Ottawa mayor because she is taking legal action against the city.

Miss Whitton is trying to have declared void the lease for Lansdowne Park recently given by city council to the Central Canada Exhibition Association.

Mr. McLean contends Miss Whitton's legal action while a council member is a breach of the Ontario Municipal Act and she should be removed from council.

Retired Teachers May Aid

TORONTO (CP)—A Toronto board of education member said Tuesday the board may hire retired teachers if 1,137 striking secondary school teachers do not return to work when classes reopen in September.

The spokesman, who refused to be named, said team teaching (bigger classes with two teachers each) visual aids and hiring teachers from outside Ontario might also be tried.

The teachers handed in their resignations effective Aug. 31 after refusing to back down on salary demands.

The board member said the proposed steps do not indicate less confidence that a sanction will be found before schools open.

Negotiators for the board of education and the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation, representing the teachers, will meet today for the first time since teachers handed their resignations May 31.

Special Service Held in Arena

NAPANEE — The Napanee and District Boy Scout and Girl Guide service held in the Arena last Sunday was attended by several hundred district people. Cleaa was 500 Scouts, Cubs, Rangers, Guides and Brownies joined in the parade from the marshalling square and participated in the service.

The Kingston Citadel Salvation Army Band led the parade.

The presentation of awards was the highlight of the service. Scout Daryl Kirkham of the First Napanee troop was presented with the Queen's Scout pin by Judge Gerald F. Smith. Kathy Allenbrook of the Third Napanee Guide company, received the Guide gold cord pin from the hands of her former Guide captain, Mrs. E. F. MacArthur, now living in Kingston. An award which came as a complete surprise to the recipient was that of a special medallion for ten years of service as leader of the First Tyendinaga Boy Scout troop, presented to Arnold Brant.

Nine Girl Guides received their Religion and Life emblems from the Rev. Irvine Johnston, who was the speaker for the service. The girls were Susan Fletcher, Joanne Rountree, Patricia McFall, Betty Allenbrack, Nora Poole, Carol Sinclair, Angela Rose, Karen Rose and Joanne Lambert.

Rev. Johnston, minister of Trinity United Church is himself a Boy Scout and a King's Scout. He was introduced by Norma Meldrum, a director of the district council.

In his address Mr. Johnston used symbols of the ten laws of scouting, each on a triangular card, which formed the Centennial crest when put together. The wem was a cross, symbolizing the importance of the religious part of their training. Mr. Johnston pointed out the importance of following closely the Scout and Guide laws, especially during this Centennial year.

William G. Ramsay, president of Napanee Valley District Council, conducted the program and introduced a representative of each group.

Raise Funds For Hospital Surgical Unit

NAPANEE — The combined rummage and bake sale held by the Hospital Auxiliary Friday and Saturday, was a decided success. They will have at least $215 more to add to the $125 which they realized from their dessert-bridge-whist party in May. The immediate objective is $1,000 for the purchase of a much-needed electric surgical sink. A similar unit is now being borrowed from hospitals in either Belleville or Kingston, when one is available. The need is urgent, and the Hospital Auxiliary is much gratified at public response to these two fund-raising endeavors.

So many people co-operated in the project that even the members of the committee in charge feel that their names should not be used in this report. Friday afternoon was the sale, with a wealth of inviting foods brought in, some of it volunteered, and everything disappearing in short order.

The committee members were surprised, also by the quality and the amount of articles contributed to the rummage sale. Some of the winsie clothing moved slowly, and this has been packed in mothballs and stored in the home of a member as the nucleus for a similar sale in the fall.

Spring garden flowers, a last-minute thought, brightened the sale and sold readily. Lily-of-the-valley was in special demand.

John David Hobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hobson, Bellerville, received his LL.B. degree at the annual spring convocation from the Faculty of Law, University of Western Ontario, London. Mr. Hobson was named to the dean's honors list. David attended Quinte Secondary School, Belleville. He has accepted a position with Mathson and Nowack Barristers and Solicitors, Kitchener, Ontario.

Hold Tree-planting Project

NAPANEE — There is a great deal of activity in and around the Macpherson House in preparation for its opening in the near future. Saturday saw the grounds used by about 30 Brownies for their annual "revel." At the same time a tree-planting project was carried out.

Rev. Guy Case gave the invocation, speaking of the restoration of the historic house as "the preservation and enhancement of our heritage." Judge G. F. Smith officially opened the project.

Harry Vine selected and planted the first tree, purchased by the town, and Dr. Allan Hanley, Reeve of Bath, represented the County.

More trees are available and the Lennox and Addington County Historical Society expects to sell them from time to time.

Assisting with the actual work were Harry Vine and his workmen, Earl Craig, Lynn Crossman, David Smith, and David Hutchison. Mrs. Norman Hutchison was in charge of arrangements.

The project is being supervised by E. F. Edson of the Department of Lands and Forests.

Deseronto Man Acquitted

Jas Mowbray was acquitted yesterday after he went on trial on a charge of arson. The jury, after deliberating for an hour and twenty minutes returned a verdict of not guilty. The case was heard in the General Sessions of the Peace for Hastings County. Judge G. F. Smith of Napanee presided.

Mowbury, a farmer from Deseronto, had been charged in connection with the fire that began behind the residence of Rudolph Pfaffaty at 234 Dundas St. in Deseronto. The prosecution's case was based entirely upon circumstantial evidence.

Miss Roseanne McAvoy, daughter of Mrr. Philip McAvoy, Ivanhoe, and the late Philip McAvoy, received a Bachelor of Arts degree from St. Michael's College, University of Toronto, at convocation June 1. She is a former student of Centre Hastings Secondary School, Madoc. Miss McAvoy has accepted a position as a member of the staff of Quinte Secondary School, Belleville.

Master Keys Stolen

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police today sought a thief who made off with 10 keys that unlock every parking meter in Los Angeles County. Floyd W. Gaer, 29, a county parking meter collector, told sheriff's deputies that his truck was stolen after he left it briefly at an intersection Tuesday. The unlocked panel truck also contained $400 in change.

Questions and Answers On Highway Travel

Ontario Motor League
Eastern Ontario Club

Tips to save time, trouble and discomfort at Expo:

Dress warmly: Through June and most of the wind over the St. Lawrence keeps the temperature about 15 degrees colder than in midtown Montreal.

Take along sunglasses: On a bright day the reflections from the many bodies of water are hard on the eyes. So is coming indoors from a darkened pavilion, particularly after a movie.

Because of the big crowds at snack bars, it is wise to take along something for children to nibble, plus a thermos bottle of drinks. Some hotels and restaurants in the city are packing box lunches for Expo-goers.

Read the official guide book cover to cover before you arrive at the site so that you can plan to see what interests you most in the time available. The official guide may be bought at the Ontario Motor League for $1 and a free Expo map is given to members only.

There are 500 telephone booths on the grounds.

Wheelchairs may be rented at the main entrance for paraplegic or infirm persons.

Restaurants: It is better to have lunch or dinner early as they tend to be crowded as well as sold out of everything later.

Medical service: A 24-hour emergency treatment is provided, which includes nursing service and pharmacy. This service is free.

Children's Facilities for child care, including baby-sitting service, are available. Strollers may be rented at the main entrance.

Pets: No pets are allowed on the grounds. Kennels are available in the city.

Reaching Expo: Expo site is about 10 minutes drive from the heart of Montreal. Motorists from the city can follow special direction signs to the Victoria parking area, where you can get a bus to the main gate on Macky Pier.

Expo's supervised parking areas accommodate more than 20,000 cars. There is a flat rate of $2 for parking. The Montreal subway goes directly to Expo from Longueil on the south shore. Fare one-way, 30 cents. It also operates north and south and across the city to Expo, the line linking with the east-west line. Buses travel to all parts of the city.

QUESTION: What dates are the Pan-American games in Winnipeg, and how many countries are competing? Please give mileage via Trans-Canada Highway and U.S. No. 2 route.

ANSWER: The Pan-American Games, are one of the biggest sporting events Canada will ever see, with 3,500 athletes from about 30 countries participating in 19 events in the two - week period July 23 to Aug. 6.

The Pan-American swimming pool will cost $2,700,000 and is calculated to take your breath away. The finest swimming and diving facilities in Canada will be the big legacy left behind by the games.

Cultural activities will be at the new civic arts centre and will feature folk dancing, art, architectural displays and opera.

The Canadian route via Trans-Canada is about 1,435 miles, the American route is about 1,375 miles.

NDP Presents Five-point Emergency Municipal Aid Plan

TORONTO (CP) — A five-point "emergency" program of provincial relief for the municipal taxpayer was proposed in the legislature Tuesday night by NDP tax critic Kenneth Bryden (Toronto Woodbine).

Declaring that Ontario municipalities are on the point of becoming indigents, Mr. Bryden said relief for them should not have to await the report of the Smith committee on taxation, which he predicted will not be released until August.

The NDP policy statement he outlined listed five steps which Mr. Bryden said the government should take immediately:

—Assumption from the municipalities of the entire cost of administering justice, welfare and health programs.

—A progressive increase in the provincial share of education costs, with an immediate boost of at least $50,000,000.

—An increase in unconditional grants to municipalities.

—Creation of a municipal loan corporation to make money available to the municipalities at low interest rates.

—An increase in grants in lieu of municipal taxes paid on provincial buildings and provincially-owned land.

He spoke as the house debated spending estimates of the treasury department.

Elmer Sopha (L — Sudbury) said that if the report of the Smith committee is not released until after the current legislature session ends, the legislature should be called back to debate its recommendations.

Provincial treasurer Mac-Naughton told the house Tuesday that he expects the report "in a matter of weeks."

Mr. MacNaughton said in reply to Mr. Bryden declared that as soon as the Smith report is received, the government would move to deal with the problems.

Committee on Youth Criticized 'for Failure to Gain Rapport'

TORONTO (CP) — A new mental health act which would allow admissions to mental institutions to be made solely on medical judgment was approved by a committee of the Ontario legislature without amendment Tuesday.

The proposed act, praised by Dr. John D. Griffin, general director of the Canadian Mental Health Association, also guarantees periodic reviews of a patient's condition, and increased freedom for mental patients both awaiting examination and in mental institutions.

In other developments:

—Stephen Lewis (NDP—Scarborough) called the recommendations of the legislature's select committee on youth "mostly superficial," and Murray Gaunt (L—Huron-Bruce) said the committee's program represented the views of older people with definite ideas on youth rather than of youth.

Both were members of the committee formed May 9, 1964, that presented a 406-page report containing 274 recommendations to the legislature during the current session.

Mr. Gaunt told the house the committee's meetings were attended mostly by older people who had "very definite" ideas on how youths should be treated.

Mr. Gaunt said the committee showed a lack of confidence in youth when it failed to reach unanimous agreement on a reduction of the voting age.

Mr. Lewis said George Best (L — Toronto Brancondale) both opposed the report's major recommendation — the formation of a provincial department of youth.

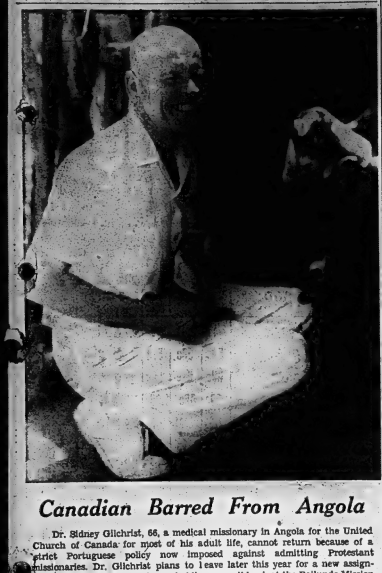
— Provincial Treasurer Charles MacNaughton told the legislature Tuesday the new format for spending estimates of the Ontario government will for the first time include comparative figures on expenditures for each function in at least one previous fiscal year facilitating comparison.

—Education Minister William Davis said he would not call an enquiry into allegations of a power struggle in the political science department at McMaster University in Hamilton. He said it was a matter for the university to resolve on its own.

—Highways Minister George Gomme said $6,812,000 had been spent on construction of Highway 144 connecting Sudbury and Timmins.

—Resources Minister John Simonett said two tons-apart electrocuted on an Ontario Hydro tower had to climb eight feet to reach the first crossbar of the 60-foot tower which carried 27,600 - volt power lines, but said even high fences would scarcely damp the "spirit of adventure" in teen-agers.

—Resources Minister John Simonett suggested residents of the Thornbury area of Ontario appeal to the government for aid for property damage in floods this spring.



—Resources Minister John Simonett said the Ontario Water Resources Commission would provide water and sewer services to Ontario municipalities without adding to their debt. The extra costs would be met through water and sewer rates.

— Provincial Treasurer Charles MacNaughton said a central authority may be set up to guide purchasing policies of government departments.

—NDP tax - critic Kenneth Bryden (Toronto Woodbine) proposed a five-point "recovery" program of provincial relief for the municipal taxpayer. The plan would relieve the municipalities of many financial burdens, and make grants and loans available to the municipalities for projects.

—Elmer Sopha (L — Sudbury) said the legislature should be called back to debate recommendations of the Smith committee examining provincial and municipal taxation in Ontario, if the committee does not report until after the current session.

Provincial treasurer Charles MacNaughton said the report is expected "in a matter of weeks."

Health Committee Endorses New Mental Health Act

TORONTO (CP)—A committee of the Ontario legislature approved without amendment Tuesday a new Mental Health Act that Dr. John D. Griffin, general director of the Canadian Mental Health Association, called "the most progressive legislation in North America."

Dr. Griffin did not specify which features of the act were unique.

However, Health Minister Matthew Dymond said earlier that Ontario is the first province to provide periodic statutory reviews of the cases of suspected criminals committed to a mental institution after they have been found unit to stand trial or were found not guilty of criminal offences on ground of insanity.

At present, the cases of such persons incarcerated by the cabinet are only reviewed at the discretion of the government.

The proposed legislation requires that any commitment to a mental institution can be done only on medical judgment. At present, magistrates and in some instances police officers can commit persons on the basis of their own judgment.

In approving it, the standing committee on health turned down a suggestion by L. A. Tufts of the Christian Science Committee on Publication for Ontario that:

"The provisions of this act shall not be construed so as to deny treatment by spiritual means through prayer in accordance with the tenets and practice of a recognized church or denomination by a duly accredited practitioner thereof for any mentally disordered person."

Health Minister Matthew Dymond said he believes in "total and absolute" religious freedom but the government would not allow "a person to be deprived of medical treatment."

Dr. Dymond said he has had occasion to turn away clergymen because their visit would endanger the health of the patient.

Dr. Griffin suggested that one section of the act pertaining to the examination of a patient could be tightened so that police would not be able to lock up persons with suspected mental disorders.

The section says the person who shall be taken "whenever practicable" to a psychiatric facility.

The act also guarantees periodic reviews of a patient's condition by three- or five-member boards composed of at least two psychiatrists and at least one barrister or solicitor.

Mail will not be censored except "under very unusual circumstances," Dr. Dymond said, and patients will be free to communicate with anyone they wish.

Spotlight on Crisis - - UN

Slow Response Expected to Security Council Ceasefire Bid

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Diplomats feared today there would be a slow response to the UN Security Council's call for a general ceasefire in the Middle East.

One council member said that "what we may get is a series of local ceasefires," beginning on the front between Jordan and Israel. Jordan has agreed to negotiate for ceasefire.

The Security Council appealed unanimously Tuesday night for a ceasefire between Israel and its Arab neighbors, but Foreign Minister Abba Eban of Israel told the council his country will accept it only if the Arab countries accept it.

Three Arab speakers — Foreign Minister Adnan Pachachi of Iraq, Ambassador George Tomeh of Syria and Foreign Minister Ahmed Taibi Baklina of Morocco—charged that the ceasefire resolution ignored Israeli "aggression."

They were backed by Soviet Ambassador Nikolai Fedorenko, who accused Israel of "unleashing aggression" against Egypt and other Arab countries. He said the council "must condemn the actions of Israel and take the restoration of peace in the Middle East."

Diplomatic sources said, however, that it was a sudden shift in the Soviet position Tuesday that made it possible for the 15 countries on the Security Council to unite behind a ceasefire resolution after they had spent many hours in fruitless argument since Monday morning.

Eban told the council that Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser had called for total war and the destruction of Israel before hostilities broke out. In the face of Nasser's "deliberate policy of politicide, the murder of a state," Israel showed unusual patience, the foreign minister said.

Then, with Egypt blockading the Gulf of Aqaba and drawing the Arab states together into an alliance for the purpose of wiping Israel out "we knew that our limit of safety had been reached and perhaps passed."

Israel began to exercise its right of self-defence under Article 51 of the UN Charter and "never in history has armed force been used in a more righteous and compelling cause."

The council resolution, presented by Ambassador Hans Tabor of Denmark, called upon the countries engaged in hostilities "as a first step, to take forth with all measures for an immediate ceasefire and for a cessation of all military activities in the area."

Canadian Ambassador George Ignatieff described the resolution as "only a first step" and urged the council to seize the opportunity "to deal effectively and in an equitable manner with the fundamental problems which underlie the maintenance of peace and security in the area."

Alluding to the span of time between the current war and the Suez crisis of 1956, he said: "We cannot and we must not wait for another 10 years, with another crisis which will result again in fighting and blood-letting and bring us all once more to the edge of catastrophe."

The central point, Eban said, is that Israel's neighbors "must accept intellectually the depth and authenticity of Israel's roots in the Middle East."

The Suez

Closure of Canal Means Higher Prices

LONDON (AP) — European government and business leaders expect Egypt's closure of the Suez Canal to bring soaring prices and hardship to Western countries.

British officials believe British will be hardest hit of all.

Many West European countries, profiting from the bitter experience of 11 years ago, have found alternative supplies of oil and laid in stocks of the vital fuel.

Only Britain and the United States are affected directly by the Iraqi-Kuwait-Algerian ban on the sale of oil.

Britain and most other major West European countries are believed to have oil stocks for about three months. Some countries may have to start gas rationing if the Arab - Israeli war lasts that long.

Britain—A spokesman for the ministry of power said Britain gets 52 per cent of her oil from the Middle East and 16 per cent from Algeria and Libya.

British shipping leads the world in transits through Suez: 3,501. British transits were made last year. Liberia was second with 2,714.

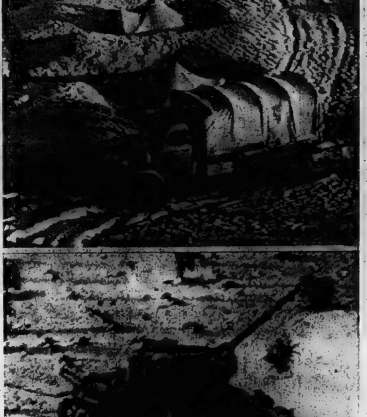
About two - thirds of all westward crossings are oil shipments from the Persian Gulf.

The Cape of Good Hope route will double shipping time from Indian, Persian Gulf and Southeast Asian ports and substantially increase those from Australia and New Zealand. This will mean big increases in freight charges.

Forty - one per cent of Britain's butter and cheese consumption comes from New Zealand. Much of its wool comes from Australia and New Zealand.

France—The French are not too concerned by the cut-off of Middle East oil. In 1956, France received nearly 95 per cent of her oil supplies from the Middle East, but now only 41 per cent comes from there.

The rest is from Algeria 30 per cent, Libya 11 per cent, and Nigeria, the Soviet Union and Venezuela.



An extended interruption of Suez traffic, however, would certainly be felt in a number of commodities such as rubber from Malaysia, Cambodia and Vietnam, wool from Australia and New Zealand and jute from India and Pakistan which will have to come around the Cape of Good Hope.

West Germany—A spokesman for West German shipping firms said they anticipate increased freight charges and a possible increase in oil prices. The Cape of Good Hope route means an extra 3,000 sea miles for shipping from Indonesia and 1,300 more on the Australian run.

Italy — Like France, Italy's imports of crude oil through Suez have declined steadily since 1956. A government spokesman said there was no immediate prospect of increased gasoline prices as happened in 1956.

Denmark—Danish commerce and consumers stand to suffer heavily because of big price increases expected from the long sea routes from imports from the Far East.

Sweden—Just before the Suez closure, Premier Tage Erlander expressed confidence Swedish oil reserves would last several months.

Egyptian Equipment Abandoned

Israeli troops advancing through the Gaza Strip came across these abandoned vehicles, left behind as Egyptian troops retreated. Top photo shows a truck, equipment and trenches near Rafah. Below is an Egyptian T34 tank of Russian make, which was knocked out of action, also near Rafah.

The U.S.

Diplomatic Leverage With Arabs Sinking

WASHINGTON (AP)—Led by a public appeal from President Johnson, U.S. diplomats sought quick Israeli acceptance today of the Middle East ceasefire proposed by the UN Security Council.

Johnson hoped for Arab agreement, too, and there were unconfirmed diplomatic reports that Jordan had put out discreet feelers asking the United States to arrange with Israel for a ceasefire.

Johnson's diplomatic leverage with Arab states was sinking fast, however, as one after another lined up to follow Egypt in formally breaking relations with the U.S.

This left it up to the Russians and others still in good standing in the Arab camp while Washington struggled to evacuate thousands of Americans from the Middle East.

Immediately after the Security Council ceasefire call, Johnson went on radio and television Tuesday night to support this "hopeful path away from danger in the Middle East."

"We believe a ceasefire is the necessary first step . . . toward . . . a new time of settled peace. . . ."

A number of other Arab states followed Egypt in snapping diplomatic ties with Washington amid charges — denied by the United States—that U.S. planes had joined Israeli forces in the war.

With little choice left under protocol's hit-for-hit procedures, the state department called in Egyptian and Algerian ambassadors here to announce reciprocal relations-breaking by the United States.

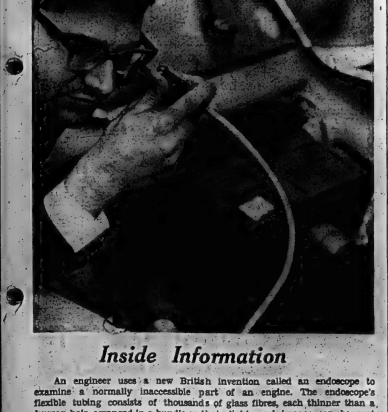
Of immediate U.S. concern was the safety of some 40,000 American residents still left in the troubled 14-nation zone including Israel and her 13 hostile neighbors stretching from the Near East through North Africa.

Egypt ordered out all American nationals there.

Twenty U.S. military transport planes were flying from Europe to Wheelus Air Base in Libya to help airlift out Americans, the Pentagon said. An estimated 9,000 U.S. citizens are in Libya.

Chartered commercial planes figured in evacuation plans for Americans in Lebanon and Syria.

Arab Doctors in Canada Respond to War Call



OTTAWA (CP) — Arab communities in Canada rallied Tuesday to support Arab forces in the Middle East.

The president of the Arab Community of Canada, a loosely-knit group that counts 3,000 to 4,000 members in Canada, but is active in Ottawa, Toronto and Montreal, said the group is sending "only doctors for the present."

Dr. George Haggar said 30 Canadian doctors have volunteered to leave for the Middle East anytime.

Two Jordanian doctors, in the Ottawa area, both trained in Canada, will leave as individuals in the next few days, he said.

Dr. Heggar said the group had received 100 inquiries from Canadians, mostly from Eastern Canada.

'Flame of Our Future' Is Title Of Best Ten-line Centennial Poem

HALIFAX (CP) —Margaret Rempel of suburban Fairview has won a $1,000 award for the best 10-line poem celebrating Canada's Centennial of Confederation.

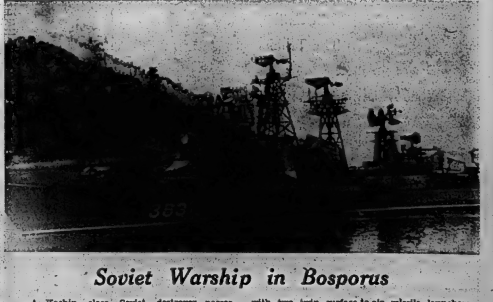
Centennial Commissioner John Fisher is to present the award to Mrs. Rempel today.

Mrs. Rempel was one of thousands from across Canada who entered the contest sponsored by the Atlantic Advocate, an Atlantic region monthly published in Fredericton. One contest rule was that entries had to be in both French and English.

Advocate Publisher Michael Wardell said the 10-line form was chosen to be representative of the Canadian provinces.

Mrs. Rempel, mother of five children, has been writing poems for many years. Her husband, Gordon Robert Rempel, has served 18 years with the Royal Canadian Navy and is an officer in the medical administration at the Canadian Forces Hospital here.

Competition officials said copyright on the poem has been waived until the end of the year and the poem is free for use during Centennial Year.



The winning poem—Flame Of Our Future—was written in both French and English.

The poem:

From clay to kiln, by pioneers, this land
Was shaped, reshaped and moulded to time's wheel;
Tempered in heat of conquest, through blood alloy,
With calcined bones of martyrs, till refined,
A hundred years of quality and faith,
Polished in progress, prove the mindful mes
Who gathered in the name of nationhood:
Confederation's Fathers, born to blend
The provinces of Canada—and breathe
Light into fre . . . flame of our future's forge.

How much will it cost to visit Expo? Since my one-day junket to the "Greatest Show on Earth" well-meaning friends have inquired as to how much to the average man whose wallet is somewhat one many call a gold mine.

Expo is something akin to New York and Florida in this respect. If you want to blow yourself on rich food, richer drinks, expensive souvenirs and whatnot you can spend easily up to $100 a day if you're feeling the bill for a family party.

You can go as high as $20 to $25 for two for dinner in the more expensive restaurants. This will include a couple of drinks.

Or, as a recently released brochure by Expo Press Service has it, you can get by with as little as five dollars per day per person. The release is called "Expo On a Family Budget." If you're going to Expo get yourself a copy.

If you're hungry and in downtown Montreal and want to lunch before going to Expo you can get an excellent meal for reasonable prices.

For instance the CN's Milan Dorachs, mine host for the day, and I went to the Auspices Delices, a seafood restaurant at the corner of Drummond and St. Catharine. I had speckled trout and Milan an omelette that covered the plate. The entire meal cost $4.32.

There's humor in even a meal. The French-Canadian waitress got a bit confused and instead of trout brought my friend a dish of hot turnips.

However the press release says: — Astronomical expenses aren't necessary for a leisurely and fun-filled look at the exhibition. All it takes is a little careful planning and a little ingenuity."

It recommends you take a bus to the site. "Food expenses could be your biggest worry but they needn't be, if you pack a lunch and take advantage of the park benches scattered all over the site."

It suggests you try "Sur le Pouce" the Belgian Waffle and various restaurants on the ground for those who want to buy their meals.

"If you are trying to keep to a $5.00-a-day budget you will probably choose to bring a picnic lunch and buy your second meal for $2.50. And for a $2.50 dinner the release suggests "La Refectoire de l'Abbe" in Le Village and the restaurant at Safari both on La Ronde."

All pavilions are free and the Canadian and the Trinidad Tobago and Grenada pavilions have free musical entertainment.

"There is so much free entertainment in the pavilion areas in fact, that it should be easy for you to hang on to that extra $2.50 until you visit La Ronde."

Expo officials also suggest three more rules for those on a strict budget.

"Use maps to plot your route."

"Take advantage of the booths located all over the site to find out dates and times of free entertainment."

"Be informed about free Expo services which could save you time and money such as Logexpo for accommodations, Expoprint for information; the Baby Care Services where mothers can look after their small children in privacy and the Social Welfare Service for emergencies."

At La Ronde most rides are 25 or 35 cents. The most elaborate such as the Gyrotron, the Flume Ride, the Sky Ride and La Spirale (don't miss this) are 75 cents and $1.00.

"You can spend $100 a day at Expo if you have it, but if you haven't, don't stay at home," the release says."

May Swim Channel In the Nude

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) — Australian swimmer Linda McGill said Tuesday she may swim the English Channel naked—except for cap, goggles and a thin film of oil.

The 21-year-old blonde with a 38-26-36 figure was replying to the Channel Swimming Association's statement two days ago about her previous plan to swim the 22 - miles between France and England in only the bottom half of her bikini.

Association Chairman Roy Scott was quoted as saying: "As far as we are concerned she can swim the channel stark naked."

Linda replied as she sat dripping beside an indoor swimming pool: "I might do just that."

On her last Channel swim in 1965, she missed the record by only 11 minutes. But she said she was only 25 per cent fit then.

With The Trotters

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Alan Waddell, 23, drove two winners at Garden City Raceway Tuesday night to bring his winnings this year to $34,811.

Waddell won with Pointer Hal for a $47.10 payoff in the second race, combining with Bernie's Lucky Boy in the first for a $227 daily double. He also won in the seventh with Santa Raider, who paid $13.40.

The Tracks

TORONTO (CP)—Sweet Intent, ridden by Jimmy Kelly, 18, won the featured seventh race at Woodbine race track Tuesday, giving trainer Andy Smithers his 12th winner of the season.

Smithers also saddled Whirling Rich, winner of the second race. Smithers now has sent out 12 winners in 19 days of racing to his try for season's honors with Lou Cavalaris Jr., North America's leading trainer last year. Cavalaris saddled one winner Tuesday, his 13th of the season.

Both of Smithers' winners were ridden by Kelly, second-leading apprentice rider in Ontario with 13 winners.

Sweet Intent outran Heaty Rich by a length and paid $5.40, $2.80 and $2.50. The daily double combination of Whirling Rich and Johnny Gurtha was worth $281. The exactor paid $13.10.

Falcons Stop Chicago 4-1

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto Falcons scored their third win in succession before 2,084 spectators Tuesday night, defeating Chicago Spurs 4-1 in National Professional Soccer League game.

One A Grandslam

Birds' Blefary Hammers 3 Homers

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Curt Blefary, whose home run hitting collapsed in May, hammered three home runs, including his second grand slam of the season, and drove in seven runs in Baltimore's 18-4 first game victory over California in a twi-night doubleheader Tuesday.

He also singled home two runs and hit a sacrifice fly for another in the 11-1 second-game triumph.

"I borrowed a 30-ounce bat from Vic Roznovsky," Blefary explained after hitting his first homers since May 19. "I had been using a 36-ounce, but with the lighter bat I was able to whip through a lot better."

Everyone joined in Detroit's 21-hit barrage at Kansas City where the league-leading Tigers crushed the Athletics 11-1 and 7-1 in a twi-night doubleheader.

Harmon Killebrew also unloaded, slamming a home run in each game as Minnesota Twins split another twi-nighter, losing the first 6-4 to Cleveland Indians to 19 innings before winning 7-1.

In other American League games, New York Yankees bombarded Washington Senators 7-1 and Chicago White Sox stopped Boston Red Sox 5-3.

The Orioles clobbered seven Angel pitchers for 18 hits, making rookie Bill Dillman's third victory without a loss an easy matter.

Tom Phoebus, 5-1, who had his scoreless streak snapped at 31 innings by his own throwing error, chipped in with a run-scoring single and a home run as he breezed in the second game. Brooks Robinson also homered.

CURT BLEFARY

The Tigers, increasing their lead over the White Sox to two games, did some of their swinging with fists in a free-for-all that emptied both benches in the seventh inning of the second game.

It started when one of John (Blue Moon) Odom's pitches sailed over the head of Detroit's Dick McAuliffe and the two closed in on each other. Both benches rushed in and Orole Chavarria of KC and Hank Aguirre of the Tigers exchanged blows. It took eight minutes to restore order.

At bat, first - game winner Earl Wilson, 5-4, joined in a 14-hit attack with a homer. Norm Cash, who also homered, Bill Heath and Jim Northrup each knocked in three runs.

Joe Sparma, 6-0, was the recipient of the Tigers' second game six-run eruption in the fourth inning as Don Wert and Mickey Stanley each drove in two runs.

Killebrew's first homer in the ninth inning of the Twins' opener preceded a two-run blow by Bob Allison to tie the game. But Fred Whitfield connected off reliever Twins' Jim Perry with one on in the first extra inning for the winner.

Killebrew's 16th homer of the season came in the third inning of the nightcap and his two-run single in the fifth ignited a five-run burst.

Steve Whitaker stroked a three-run shot in the first inning that started the Yankees and Mel Stottlemyre to victory.

Imlach Picks Kelly; Cooke Explodes

MONTREAL (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs Hockey League moved serenely through 18 long rounds of its expansion draft Tuesday and then unexpectedly took a great uproar over veteran Red Kelly of Toronto Maple Leafs.

Liberal past - Leaf coach and a lighter touch to the anticlimax.

The mammoth draft itself, for the benefit of the six new clubs coming into the league, provided few surprises. The new clubs gravbled the best of the unprotected veterans, a few not quite so proven players and wound up scraping the bottom of the barrel for unheralded farm hands.

The new clubs claimed 30 players each, including two goalies, in return for their $2,000,000 franchises.

The Red Kelly uproar became a casual coolerie immediately the draft ended. Coach Punch Kent Cooke of Los Angeles Kings reached the explosive stage and Kelly himself had joined in the arguments to president Clarence Campbell of the NHL.

The old clubs were allowed to protect 11 players and one goalie, for a player was drafted, they could name a fill-in to all intents and purposes a protected man.

The Los Angeles club went 14 rounds without doing anything about Kelly, who was left unprotected by the Leafs from the start. The veteran redhead has long been predicted as a coach over the new Los Angeles entry.

When St. Louis Blues took Darryl Sittenard, a Rochester rookie, from the Leafs, general manager Punch Imlach quietly announced Kelly as his fill-in. Cooke was furious. He said the matters ride until the draft had ended. Then he stormed to Campbell in protest. There was no claims that, under an agreement with other new clubs, Los Angeles could claim Kelly at any time in the draft.

Campbell called for a written protest. He said he knew nothing of any agreement and would not be a party to it in any event; that Kelly had been left open and it was Los Angeles' privilege, or anyone's, to pick him.

The rumpus simmered down and Harold Ballard, executive vice - president of the Leafs, commented: "If Cooke thinks he can come into the league and run it he is mistaken."

Kelly, a former member of Parliament, said he would "go to the prime minister, if necessary" in order to get to Los Angeles.

"As far as I'm concerned, I'm going to be coach at Los Angeles," Kelly said. "I have an agreement with the Leafs after the 1967-68 season that I would play in the season just completed and they would not interfere with me to go anywhere I wanted to after this season."

Stafford Smythe, Leafs president, said Kelly could not have had such an agreement as he just completed a two-year contract with us . . . he didn't negotiate last year."

Meanwhile, there wasn't even a nibble at veteran Bernard (Boom Boom) Geoffrion of New York Rangers. He was left unprotected and, for all the confusion playing or step up into an executive capacity with the Rangers.

Three regular or part - time NHL players figured in the post-draft deals.

The Rangers latched on to

RED KELLY

Larry Jeffrey, drafted from Toronto by the new Pittsburgh entry, for three minor leagues.

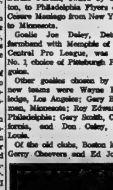
Minnesota North Stars traded to Montreal Canadiens Bryan Watson, whom they had taken from Detroit for two young fill-ins — Leo Thiffault and Bill Plager.

New North Stars also took from Canadiens, for cash and other considerations, three Montreal farmhands.

In still another deal, the North Stars purchased from Toronto the professional rights to six members of Canada's national team with an option on a seventh.

The six are goalie Ken Broderick, Terry O'Malley, Gary Begg, Paul Andrea, Brian Condon and Gerry Dineen. The North Stars said there is no reason to believe all will turn pro but inducements will be offered.

New York Rangers lost and regained Rod Seiling in a four-for-one deal with St. Louis in a post - draft swap, trading away two minor leaguers and two to be named.



Montreal was the first players dealt with in the draft and on the first choice of the day Los Angeles took Terry Sawchuk from Toronto and Glenn Hall of Chicago Black Hawks was grabbed by St. Louis.

Charlie Hodge went from Montreal to California Seals, Bernie Parent, owned by Boston, to Philadelphia Flyers and Cesare Maniago from New York to Minnesota.

Goalie Joe Daley, Detroit farmhand with Memphis of the Central Pro League, was the No. 1 choice of Pittsburgh Penguins.

Other goalies chosen by the new teams were Wayne Rutledge, Los Angeles; Gary Bauman, Minnesota; Andre Gill, Philadelphia; Gary Smith, Calif. Kerrin, and Don Oxley, St. Louis.

Of the old clubs, Boston kept Gerry Cheevers and Ed Johnston; Chicago Denis DeJordy and Dave Dryden; Detroit Roger Crozier and George Gardner; Montreal Gump Worsley and Rogatien Vachon; New York, Ed Giacomin and Gilles Villemure, and Toronto the aging Johnny Bower and young Al Smith.

Among their 18 choices, Minnesota took such established players with Rochester last season - Guy Talbot from Montreal and Wayne Connelly from Boston.

The St. Louis club likewise picked up some veterans in Al Arbour from Toronto, who played withRochester last season; Jim Roberts from Montreal and Bill Hay, who came out of retirement with Chicago last season.

Los Angeles reached out largely for younger players, including Gord Labossiere, leading scorer in the AHL last season, claimed from Montreal; Bob Wall, with Pittsburgh's AHL scory last year, from Detroit, and Ed Joyal, Toronto's Rochester farmhand.

Early choices of Pittsburgh were Earl Ingarfield and Al MacNeil from New York and veteran defenceman Leo Boivin and Ab McDonald from Detroit. The Penguins also picked up Ken Schinkel from New York, Bob Dillabough from Boston and Val Fonteyne from Detroit.

PUNCH IMLACH

Andy Bathgage, veteran with Detroit last season, was left unprotected also by Pittsburgh on the 17th call.

California Seals opened with claims on two defencemen, Bob Baun and Kent Douglas from Toronto. Others were Bill Hicke from New York and Billy Harris from Detroit's Pittsburgh farm.

The old clubs were forced to take a chance on hot protecting several of their established players.

Canadiens filled in with Claude Provost and Dick Duff and Detroit hung on to Howie Young, the comeback man, and Floyd Smith.

Toronto Leafs retained veterans Allan Stanley and George Armstrong and the Rangers managed to keep Reg Fleming and Gordon Red Berenson.

Today's program calls for the scoutcer draft, the Hockey Hall of Fame selections, a meeting of the owner-player council and meetings of governors of all 12 teams.

Mets Shake Slump; Nip Pirates Twice

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Face R—Pittsburgh Pirates did—New York Mets are not pitching when it comes to extra-inning games.

The lowly Mets took the field for 4 doubleheader in Pittsburgh Tuesday night without having scored a run in 18 innings.

They ran this string to 27 before winning the first game 1-0 in 10 innings and then came right back to take the nightcap 3-2, also in 10- innings, giving them a 4-0 record in extra inning games this season.

The loser both times—Elroy Face.

Houston Astros beat St. Louis Cardinals, Cincinnati Reds edged San Francisco Giants and Atlanta Braves took Los Angeles Dodgers—all by a 3-2 score, and Philadelphia Phillies beat Chicago Cubs 8-6 and 3-2 in other National League action.

Face started the night with a 4-0 record. The veteran relief ace took over in each game after the starting pitcher had been lifted for a pinch hitter in the ninth inning.

Mets' rookie right - hander Tom Seaver was hit by a pitch to his right elbow in the seventh inning of the opener. X-rays proved negative.

A two-run homer by John Bateman and Jim Wynn's solo shot powered Houston past St. Louis. Mike Shannon hit a three - empty homer for St. Louis.

Cincinnati got a two - run homer by Tony Perez and a bases - empty blast by Vada Pinson in beating San Francisco for its fifth straight victory, each by one run. Ollie Brown hit a solo homer for the Giants.

Two intentional walks to Atlanta's Hank Aaron proved to be Los Angeles' downfall.

Joe Torre singled home Mack Jones following a walk to Aaron in the sixth inning and then broke a 2-2 tie in the eighth by singling in Jones again after another pass to Aaron.

Denny Lemaster won his sixth game against one loss although he yielded 12 hits.

Philadelphia won each of its games in the eighth inning on hits by veteran Johnny Callison and seldom-used reserve Phil Linz.

Callison's two - out, two - run single broke a 6-6 tie in the first game, Linz's two - out single broke an 8-8 tie by capping a three - run rally in the second game.

Catcher Bob Uecker, who drove in three runs with a double for the Phillies in the night-cap, was traded after the game to Atlanta for catcher-first baseman Gene Oliver.

ANDY CAPP

Fail To Qualify

Snead, Balding Out Of Open

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The old man sat there and waited, his brightly - banded straw hat on the beach beside him.

He just sat and waited.

Then the word came. The cutoff was 146. And Sam Snead, the 55-year-old possessor of all the world's great golfing titles—except one—had missed. For the second straight year he failed to qualify for the U.S. Open, the only major title that has eluded him.

"I could have kicked the ball better than I hit it," snorted the old West Virginia mountaineer after he missed by two strokes in the qualifying round at Detroit Tuesday.

Also failing to make the cut off was pro Al Balding of Toronto who also shot his qualifying round at Detroit.

"I drove pretty well," said Snead, who has won more than 100 major tournaments in a professional career that stretches back 33 years, "but I've never hit worse irons since I turned pro."

He shot a 73-75—148 over the par 35-36—71 Tam O'Shanter Country Club course.

A field of 24 qualified at Detroit, from 88 who had made it through preliminary rounds, as the open qualifying was completed with smaller fields from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington, Atlanta, Pittsburgh and Dallas.

The Open is at the Baltusrol course at Springfield, N.J., June 15-18.

In all, 56 players qualified Tuesday, along with 67 who had made it the day before. Those, along with the 27 who were exempt from all qualifying rounds—including most of the big name touring pros—make up the 150 man field that will compete for the national championship.

Other major casualties included former PGA champion Jerry Barber, former amateur champion Bill Campbell and former PGA champ Bob Rosburg.

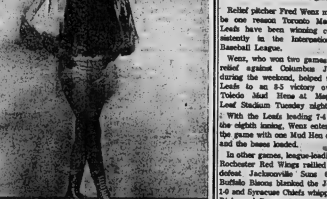
Ban Leaves Door Open

Owner Defends Turbocar

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Andy Granatelli said if the leaders of American racing outlaw his controversial turbine car by imposing penalties impossible to meet, "then the door is clearly open to ban any other mechanical or safety change which will contribute toward winning."

"And if that happens," Granatelli said, "auto racing in the United States will have degenerated to a pure spectacle, with the last vestige of engineering improvement removed from its reason for being."

Granatelli, who strongly defended his car before the U.S. Auto Club rules committee Tuesday, had to wait today for the committee to agree on the turbine in closed executive session.



The turbine car, powered by a 550 h.p. Pratt and Whitney engine, led more than half the Indianapolis 500-mile race last Wednesday until a ball bearing in the gear box failed and forced the car to the pits with 16 miles to go.

Granatelli said, "There is no way to change or modify this engine and have it operate either properly or safely."

The head of Studebaker Corporation's STP division said it would be within reason for USAC to impose weight restrictions on the car.

"But that is the only kind of penalty that I can think of which could be imposed that still permit the hope that the progress represented by the gas turbine will be allowed to live on in American racing," Granatelli said.

Leafs Pluck Hens 8-5

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Relief pitcher Fred Wenz merits one nomination Toronto Maple Leafs have been winning consistently in the International Basebail League.

Wenz, who won two games in relief against Columbus Jets during the weekend, helped the Leafs to an 8-5 victory over Toledo Mud Hens at Maple Leaf Stadium Tuesday night.

With the Leafs leading 7-4 in the eighth inning, Wenz entered the game with one Mud Hen out and the bases loaded.

In other games, league-leading Rochester Red Wings rallied to defeat Jacksonville Suns 6-5, Buffalo Bisons blanked the Jets 1-0 and Syracuse Chiefs whipped Richmond Braves 9-1.

Tony Torchia hit a home run for the Leafs in the third and Toronto never trailed after that.

Minor Softball

Five games were played in the Belleville Minor Softball Association's peewee section last night.

Cozy Grill edged Barrett Furniture 5-2 in the lowest scoring game while Western Tire slipped past the Senators 23-19 in the highest scoring.

In other tilts, Booth TV's topped Woodland Cleaners 18-3, the OASA Squirt Travellers defeated the Giants 19-10 and ANAF Vets downed the Athletics 22-9.

Lightfoots Break Even

Stinsons Nip Warnermen

Stinson's were held to a pair of singles over seven innings in Commercial Softball last night but scored twice in the final frame to nip Stewart Warner 3-1 in half of the Alemite Park twin bill.

In the other game, Lightfoots registered their initial win of the campaign by downing the Tiki Club 9-3 in 10 innings.

That game was tied 3-3 after a regulation seven frames and the clubs traded single scorless in the ninth. Lightfoots' big six in the 10th, wrapped up the decision.

Doug Ellis was coasting along with his two-hitter and leading 1-0 on Cliff Hineman's fourth-inning homer for Stewart Warner when he lost control in the top of the eighth. Ellis dished out five consecutive walks to force in two runs before Jim Meese took over for the final two outs.

But the damage had been done as Stinson pitcher Larry Hall blanked the Warnermen in the bottom of the frame to get a 4-3 victory triumph. He struck out five and walked one. Ellis whiffed seven and had walked none until the seventh.

Stinson's only base hits were to Larry Potter and Larry Hall. Cliff Hineman had his homer and a single for the losers while Dave Reid singled twice, Chuck Rowbotham and Rod Turner once each.

Tiki, still winless, jumped into a 2-1 first-frame lead against Lightfoots with one in the 15th setting up the extra innings.

John French pitched the distance for Lightfoots. He allowed seven hits, struck out six but walked eight. Bill Wickens took the loss before giving way to Gary Matier in the 10th. He allowed nine of 11 hits, fanned two and passed two.

French led his own Lightfoot attack with a triple and single while L. Johnston and Rusty Garris had two singles each. Doug Ross tripled and other safeties were by T. Cashelman, Paul Goodwin, H. Smith and Frank "Shiner" Murray.

W. McTaggart punched three Tiki singles and slugger Dale Duvall added another home run. R. Rickman tripled with C. Scott and W. Brown also hitting safely.

Pan-Am Games

Medals All Canadian

WINNIPEG (CP) — Competitors in the Pan - American Games this summer will be taking home distinctively Canadian medals.

Cast in Canadian metal by Canadian craftsmen, the medals incorporate Manitoba's emblematic bison along with the symbols of the Winnipeg Pan-American Games Society and of Canada's Centennial.

The Manitoba bison and the words "Winnipeg Canada 1967" under it cover one side of the medal awarded to the top three finishers in each event. On the reverse side, it includes the Winnipeg Pan-American Games symbol, the Pan-American Organization symbol, the victory laurel wreath and the words Canada 1967.

All two inches in diameter, the medals are cast in a modern form of annealed bronze. Event winners will receive medals covered in gold, runners-up will receive silver-coated ones while third-place finishers will receive medals in the natural bronze.

Each competitor will receive a commemorative medal which will also be finished in bronze. One side has the Pan-American torch as the only symbol with the words America: Esprito, sport, fraternite around it. The inscription signifies "The American spirit of friendship through sports."

The reverse side has both the Winnipeg Pan-Am and Canada Centennial symbols on it with an inscription identifying the medals with the fifth Pan-American Games and Canada's centenary.

After selecting a metal that promised beauty, strength and longevity, the designers received the annealed bronze in a bar eight feet long and 12 inches thick. Then craftsmen set to work, turning out their final products 18 months after the project was started.

D. C. Dingwall, president of the Manitoba firm that manufactured the medals, said the designers strived for an imaginative but simple product.

"The medals are cheaper cheap if they were allowed to become elaborated in design. The purpose has been to draw attention to the symbols embodied on the medals."

In all, 4,000 commemorative and 1,200 championship medals are being made for the Games which are being held in Canada for the first time.

MADE A PASS; SCORED

EDMONTON (CP)— Edmonton football coach Al Turtle plans to marry his starting halfback. "It was sort of a case of love at first scrimmage," he said in announcing the engagement. Turtle is coach of the University of Alberta Golden Bears and the prospective bride is Jane Hinkleworth.

EAGLE WINS

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — American Eagle raced barefoot and Constellation edged Weatherly in Tuesday's races of the week-long America's Cup trials. Intrepid held a 37-second lead a half-mile past the first mark but a navigational error by skipper Bus Mosbacher cost her the victory. George Hinman skippered American Eagle and Bob McCullough, Constellation.

PLAN NEW SCHEDULE

MONTREAL (CP)— An interlocking schedule between the American and Western Hockey Leagues will be played in the 1967-68 season, it was announced after a joint meeting in Montreal Tuesday night. Officials of both leagues said the step was taken in conformity with merger plans of the two leagues.

Death of a Plane

Sequence shows how Maj. Ralph L. Kuster, 35, of St. Louis, Mo., shot down a MIG after completing a bombing mission over North Vietnam. At left Kuster catches the enemy plane in the gunsight of his F105 Thunderchief. In centre, Kuster fires his 20mm cannon hitting the left wing of the MIG near the fuselage and it bursts into flames. At right the wing is engulfed in flames. The MIG crashed 41 miles east northeast of Hanoi. (U.S. Air Force Photo via AP)

McMaster Assistant Professor Charges False Rumor Spread

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says an assistant professor of political science at Hamilton's McMaster University claims he is victim of a conspiracy of silence and false information concerning his re-election.

The newspaper says that Donald J. Grady, who was told in January that his two-year contract with the university would not be renewed, said he is the victim of at least one rumor regarding the decision not to give him a permanent appointment.

The alleged rumor suggested there was something wrong with Mr. Grady's credentials, The Globe reports.

The newspaper says that in addition to the rumor the university's administration has created a wall of silence on the issue, contending that it has made the right decision concerning Mr. Grady and no one has any right to know how or why it made the decision.

Mr. Grady is quoted as saying he was unsuccessful in several attempts to find out why he was not granted tenure.

The Globe says Mr. Grady, a U.S. citizen, obtained his master of arts degree in political science from Princeton University in 1962.

In February, Mr. Grady received a letter from Prof. Thomas Truxtun, who has since resigned as chairman of the political science department, saying there is a political struggle in the political science department between professors who favor a traditional approach based on the scientific use of statistics and such systems as opinion polls.

The Globe says Mr. Grady believes McMaster has the emphasized the empirical approach because it does dangers in its attitude which stimulates students to ask probing questions about power structures, especially those of the university.

A number of students in political science have demanded that Mr. Grady be reinstated and the students council has voted to pay his salary as a lecturer for students unless the university revises its procedures for academic employment, the Globe says.

James F. Hurst, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Hurst, received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Queen's University at convocation June 2. He is a graduate of Belleville Collegiate and Teachers' College, Peterborough. Mr. Hurst is now with the Centennial Committee in Ottawa and will be teaching French in Niagara Falls in the fall.

Newspaper Report Criticized

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says that Dr. J. Grant Davy of the University of Alberta Tuesday called highly inaccurate an earlier Globe story implicating him in trouble at McMaster University.

Dr. Davy, a professor in the political science department at the University of Alberta, called the article "one of the worst pieces of journalism I've ever seen."

The story in Monday's Globe said the president of University College at McMaster, E. Tugo Salmon, was resisting a new empirical approach to political science introduced by Dr. Davy.

Dr. Davy, in Hamilton to sell a house, said the article did not tell the whole story, of the dispute which had little to do with his leaving McMaster.

He said professors are resigning there for reasons other than the current problems.

Prison Officials Opposed to Reform Should Be Weeded Out Declares PC

OTTAWA (CP)— Penitentiary officials who refuse to comply willingly with progressive prison reform measures should be removed, Gordon Aiken (PC—Parry Sound-Muskoka) told the Commons Tuesday.

The lawyer member said it is up to the government to weed them out, although they are difficult to find. There was a hard-core group of them in the penitentiary service.

Mr. Aiken, a member of the parliamentary committee on penitentiaries, said there is "obviously a constant struggle" in the service between the progressives and the traditionalists over rehabilitation measures for prisoners.

Speaking during consideration of the spending estimates of the solicitor - general's department, which oversees prisons and crime prevention, Mr. Aiken also said the national parole board is sometimes inconsistent.

On parole applications, it should operate more by standard rules rather than by rule of thumb. It should also more readily divulge the reasons for rejection of parole applications.

Mr. Aiken also claimed newer institutions such as the minimum - security prisons are forced to operate under standard rules and regulations that hamper their work. That system should be investigated.

Harold Winch (NDP — Vancouver East) said the government has planned maximum security prisons incorporating features wiped out 60 years ago in U.S. prisons. While other enlightened countries were riding themselves of the emphasis on close custody for prisoners, Canada was building this into its penal system for 100 years to come.

Canada was building more maximum security institutions while those with medium and minimum security had many vacancies. More prisoners should be transferred to these latter institutions in an attempt to rehabilitate them.

'Peace Offer' Is Suggestion That Other Side Surrender

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

Antics with Semantics:

I am exact; you are meticulous; he is a nit-picker.

I am in the chemicals business; you are a munitions maker; he is a merchant of death.

Our commanding officer "released a communique"; their commanding officer "spouted a lot of propaganda."

The difference between "coffee and . . ." and a "Continental breakfast" is about $1.50 in price, and virtually nothing in substance.

What is called a "stooge" in a vaudeville act is called a "Courtier" in a palace.

An "atrocity" in war is what we would term an "unfortunate incident" if our side happened to do it.

I am a gourmet; you are a big eater; he is a glutton.

I am a bon vivant; you are a high liver; he is a rake.

I am wary; you are cagey; he is mistrustful.

As "honorarium" is what a speaker receives when he is too rich or distinguished to admit that he is speaking for a fee.

Credit must go to the anonymous semanticist who submitted the definition of a "tourist" as "a man who travels 5,000 miles to have his picture taken in front of his car."

What statesmen are fond of calling a "peace offer" is usually a suggestion as to how the other side can surrender without seeming to lose face.

A disgoal line thinks that all other lines on the same disgoal are "straight"; this is what we mean when we praise someone as being "unbiased."

When we declare that a certain act is "unthinkable," we mean that we don't intend to think of it until after it happens.

A "virtuoso" is a performer who is customarily better at playing the audience than the music.

One of the best semantic reports in history was made by Lincoln during the Civil War when he received, from one of his most passive generals, a battle report dramatically datelined, "Headquarters in the Saddle." Lincoln grunted: "The trouble with him is that he's got his headquarters where his bloodquarters ought to be!"

Law Against Indians Drinking Held Invalid

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP)—Mr. Justice William Morrow of the territorial court ruled Tuesday that certain sections of the federal Indian Act discriminate against Indians and are contrary to the Canadian Bill of Rights.

The sections deal with intoxication of Indians, Mr. Justice Morrow said that under these sections Indians are treated differently not only from whites but also from Eskimos.

In his ruling, he allowed the appeal of Joseph Drybones, a Yellowknife Indian, against conviction on a charge of being unlawfully intoxicated off a reserve."

Previous court decisions in the Northwest Territories have ruled that Indians suspected of intoxication must be charged under the Indian Act. However, whites or Eskimos suspected of intoxication are charged under the territorial liquor ordinance.

Mr. Justice Morrow said that this leads to discrimination against Indians because the Indian Act provides for a stiffer minimum penalty than the liquor ordinance and makes it an offence for an Indian to be intoxicated even in his own home.

He ordered a $10 fine and court costs refunded to Mr. Drybones.

Holt Terms Expo Tonic in Sombre Days

MONTREAL (CP) — Australian Prime Minister Harold Holt Tuesday called Expo 67 a tonic in these sombre days" as he presided over his country's boisterous national day.

The happy-go-lucky visitors from Down Under gave Expo 67 a look at boomerang throw, sheep dog trials, topflight tennis players and world-famous show business artists in an afternoon of free entertainment that drew 2,000 spectators.

Australia Day went with a swing and one of the highlights was the performance of tennis stars Roy Emerson and John Newcombe of Australia and Charles Pasarell and Arthur Ashe of the U.S.

The 6,000 - member National Council of Jewish Women gave out the names of 11 prominent women from the 10 provinces and Northwest Territories that it had selected to be known as Women of the Century."

At a luncheon, Mrs. Lorden Lamoureux, wife of the speaker of the House of Commons, presented medals to the 11 selected from 140 nominations submitted to the council by two specially elected committees.

Award winners were Mrs. Albert Perlin of St. John's, Nfld.; Mona Wilson of Charlottetown; Dr. Nina Cohen of Sydney, N.S.; Dr. Louise Mamy of Newcastle, N.B.; Mrs. Therese Casgrain of Montreal; Dr. Alice Douglas of Kingston, Ont.; Dr. Irene Uchida of Winnipeg; Dr. Hilda Neatby of Saskatoon; Dr. Ruth Gorman of Calgary; Mrs. Frank MacKenzie Ross of Vancouver and Mrs. Agnes Semmler of Inuvik, N.W.T.

The Canadian government was informed Tuesday of the decision of the Shah of Iran to cancel a proposed visit to Canada and Expo 67.

The Shah had been scheduled to start a six-day state visit by arriving in Montreal today.

The condition of a water show star injured on the Expo site Tuesday was said today to be serious."

Marc Cloutier, 34, of St. Agathe des Monts, Que., fell face forwards while aiding at about 35 miles an hour over a jumping ramp at La Ronde, the amusement area.

By 12 midnight Tuesday, the fair's total attendance since the official opening April 27 stood at 10,293,818, with 214,87 visitors passing through the turnstiles during the day.

Hug for Victoria

Put Me Kangaroo Down, Sport

MONTREAL (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holt, two visitors to Expo 67 from Australia, had a ball at their national pavilion Tuesday—Mr. Holt even holding a kangaroo.

The Australian prime minister quipped, "I'm a bush boy myself," at one point in his tour.

That was after he clasped Victoria, a female kangaroo included in the pavilion's well stocked kangaroo colony.

"Hello, Victoria," said the prime minister as a showhouse official thrust the tame but somewhat frightened kangaroo into the smiling leader's arms.

The prime minister and his wife had toured the big, vaulted building after an after-20 welcoming ceremony which inaugurated Australia day at Expo.

Bill Dana First Man in History To Sink an Entire Network

LAS VEGAS (AP)—At least I set a record: I'm the first man in history to sink an entire network."

That was rueful humor of Bill Dana as he discussed the demise of The Las Vegas Show, which he headed for 26 programs. The two - hour nightly variety show came to an end last week when the United Network folded operations for lack of cash.

The Las Vegas Show was the first attraction of a proposed fourth network headed by former ABC boss Oliver Tyrzr. It turned out to be the last attraction as well.

"This appears to be the definitive case of the operation was a success, but the patient died,'" said Dana in a postmortem interview.

"I can only ascribe the failure of the enterprise to the consummate naivete on the part of the backers. The whole thing went against all principles of sound fiscal policy. Even if you open a candy store, you should have enough capitalization to last more than three or four weeks."

United Network folded after a month of operation, and in passing was lamented by those who welcomed its promise as competition to the monolithic programming of the big three. Dana feels the failure could have been avoided.

"If they had blown the whistle earlier, I think the whole operation could have been saved. . . .

The backers made the mistake of beginning the show in the last quarter of the advertising budget cycle, when little new outlay is being made," he said. Even so, we were beginning to pick up."

The comic said he has no regrets about the venture.

Ninety per cent of the reviews were in the good-excellent - rave category," he remarked. The mail was fantastic—more than any I have ever received for any show."

Votes on Criticism of Budget Are Postponed Until Autumn

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservatives and New Democrats arranged Tuesday for two Commons non-confidence votes in the Liberal government following the summer parliamentary recess.

Both hinged on the deficit budget announced last Thursday by Finance Minister Sharp.

In a brief resumption of the budget debate, J. Waldo Monteith, (PC—Perth) accused the government of spendthrift policy and moved a non-confidence motion attacking it. NDP financial critic Colin Cameron followed up with an amendment expanding the criticisms.

The start of the day's sitting again focussed on the Middle East war, with opposition members pressing the government for information on the fighting and United Nations moves to halt it.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker, who was briefed privately on the war by Prime Minister Pearson and External Affairs Minister Martin, suggested a secret session of the House to discuss the crisis.

Mr. Pearson said he did not think this was necessary, but he left open the possibility of a debate on the topic Thursday when the external affairs department's estimates could be called.

The Conservative non - confidence motion said the government has "failed miserably" to set an example of fiscal responsibility with its planned $740,000,000 deficit in the current fiscal year.

It said the government was guilty of a "reckless increase" in spending and had failed to reduce taxes. Rising living costs had Ssc'boom curtailed.

The NDP amending motion by Mr. Cameron (Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands) would supplant part of the Conservative wording with a criticism of the government for failure of removing the sales tax on house-building.

The NDP motion also censured the government for not giving married couples with an annual income of $4,000 or less complete freedom from personal income tax.

After an afternoon of talk, the budget debate was adjourned until after the summer recess, expected to start around the end of the month. As a result, the voting insta of the minority Liberal administration, w e r e postponed until fall.

Mr. Cameron launched into wide-ranging criticism of the root causes of the Middle East war, concluding that it was a direct result of the callous treatment by Western countries of both Jews and Arabs through the years.

He recommended that after the hostilities end, C a n a d a should press other countries to make amends with a vast program of economic rehabilitation for the Middle East. Canada should take the lead with a big contribution.

The Commons began consideration of the 1967-68 spending estimates of Solicitor - General Pennell's department during its evening sitting and ill continue the same subject today.

Motion to Impeach Landreville Read

OTTAWA (CP) — A formal move to impeach Mr. Justice Leo Landreville was made in the Senate Tuesday night and the expected opposition showed up immediately.

Reading of a lengthy indictment against the Ontario Supreme Court justice was interrupted frequently by Senator Sarto Fournier (L — Quebec), one of four senators who earlier this year fought a committee recommendation that Mr. Justice Landreville be removed from the bench.

Despite Senator Fournier's protests, Senator Daniel Lang (L—Ontario) placed on the record a motion declaring that Mr. Justice Landreville had permanently impaired his usefulness as a judge and was unfit to exercise his office.

Introduction of the motion, not debatable b e f o r e Thursday, was unprecedented.

It cited the judge's acceptance of delivery of 1,240 shares of Northern Ontario Natural Gas Co. Ltd., without payment, as justifiably causing "grave suspicion of impropriety" which the judge had not removed.

Mr. Justice Landreville was mayor of Sudbury, Ont., until his appointment to the bench in September, 1956. NONG had negotiated a gas franchise with Sudbury at that time.

The motion also said the judge should be dismissed because of his conduct amounted to "gross contempt" in testifying before the Ontario Securities Commission in the perjury proceedings against NONG President Ralph E. Farris.

Senator Fournier s e v e r a l times demanded to know in what capacity Senator Lang was acting.

Senator John Connolly, government leader in the Senate, intervened to say it was the right of any senator to introduce such a motion.

Still to be dealt with is the appeal of Mr. Justice Landreville to appear before the bar of the Senate and to call witnesses.

Besides the Commons-Senate committee, the judge has also been investigated by Ivan C. Rand, a retired justice of the Supreme Court of Canada, who was appointed by the federal cabinet to conduct an investigation of his stock dealings.

Mr. Rand's conclusion that Mr. Justice Landreville was unfit to remain on the bench was concurred in by the Commons-Senate committee when it recommended his removal last March.

Warkworth to Be New Dialing Centre

CAMPBELLFORD — Campbellford Municipal Council held its regular meeting Monday night with all members present.

Two spokesmen of the Bell Telephone Company presented plans for the taking over of Percy Municipal Telephone Company and the increase in rates to allow for dialing to the Warkworth area.

Warkworth is expected in become the central dialing area. Area involved will be from Percy Boom on the east, Bufton on the west, south of Norham on the south and Halfway Creek on the north.

Over 200 home owners contacted expressed their acceptance of the scheme. The residential users will pay an additional 25 cents a month and business firms slightly more. The area rate would move from the present group 4 rate to group 5. The telephone company representatives said that when areas are joined for free dialing the calls increase from six to ten times. The new dialing area would give a smaller community access to more business and professional contacts.

Council's opinion will be given after further consideration.

A delegation representing dog owners in the town presented a petition containing over 300 names to the present dog control system. Mrs. Frank Rybert was spokesman for the group.

The delegation asked that dogs be tied only from April 15 to Oct. 31 of each year. It charged the dog-catcher was acting in an illegal manner in the catching of dogs, that he was taking them on private property and asking for the fine at the door before dogs were impounded. It also objected to dogs being taken out of the area for impounding, to taking pictures of dogs he could not catch and to the use of a two-way radio in the work.

The matter will be discussed by Council at a special meeting with the dog-catcher in attendance.

Diefenbaker Honors Sir John A. On 76th Anniversary of Death

OTTAWA (CP)—In a personal centennial project, Opposition Leader Diefenbaker placed a wreath Tuesday at the foot of Sir John A. Macdonald's statue on Parliament Hill to mark the 76th anniversary of the death of Canada's first prime minister.

"There would never have been Confederation but for Sir John A.," he told reporters and tourists milling around the 30-foot monument.

Mr. Diefenbaker placed a wreath of white and blue mums with blue ribbons. He was accompanied by two executive assistants and four MPs, including Conservative leadership candidate Michael Starr.

Chatting with reporters, he recalled how the late Conservative whip, Arthur Smith of Calgary, passed the Macdonald statue on his way to the Commons one night while he was "inebriated."

Mr. Smith had told the House he had asked the "old chieftain" how he felt. Sir John A. had replied:

"Birds and pigeons have been dealing with me for years. I've decided to reverse the process.

Mr. Diefenbaker said he's other former Conservative been told that statues of two prime ministers, Arthur Meighen and R. B. Bennett, had to be rejected by the government earlier this year because they were "monstrosities."

He had not seen the modernistic statues himself, but had been advised that "Satan never did anything worse in all his works."

New statues have been commissioned from different sculptors. They will be unveiled in uptown Ottawa this summer with others of former prime ministers Louis St. Laurent and Mackenzie King.

Jordan Truce Accepted

Egyptians Fight Hard Miles East of Suez

From AP - Reuters

Egyptian forces threw up stiff resistance to Israeli troops in the western Sinai Desert today, but a ceasefire prevailed on the Jordanian front.

King Hussein of Jordan confirmed in Amman that a ceasefire was in effect along his front, saying his forces had suffered "tremendous losses" due to overwhelming Israeli air superiority.

The Israelis claimed they had seized all of Palestine west of the Jordan River and the Dead Sea, extending their boundary to that of pre-1948 Palestine.

Although the Israelis accepted Jordan's offer of a ceasefire, Egypt and Syria vowed to fight on despite a second truce call from the UN Security council.

An Israeli Army spokesman said Egyptian and Israeli infantry units were still fighting at Bir Gafgafa, about 50 miles east of the Suez Canal on the central highway through Sinai. He reported the Israelis were also meeting tough resistance at the Mitla Pass, just east of the city of Suez and the southern end of the canal.

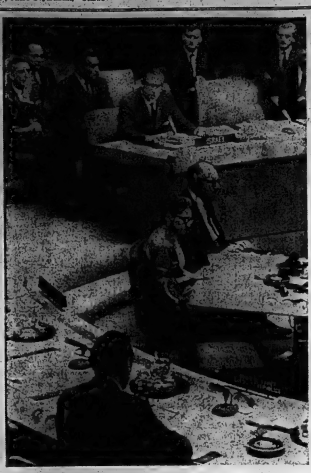
Cairo broadcasts claimed that 17 Israeli planes were shot down today — six in a raid on the Cairo area shortly before noon, seven north of Ismailia on the canal base, two between Cairo and the canal, and two in a dogfight with Egyptian planes over the Sinai Desert. There was no confirmation from the Israelis.

The Israeli government announced its forces had taken over Jordan's Hebron Hills south of Jerusalem and reached the Dead Sea. Earlier they had reported capture of the Jordanian bulge north of Jerusalem and west of the Jordan River. But Old Jerusalem, despite its capture Wednesday, was still out of bounds to all civilians because some isolated pockets of snipers remained, and some sniping also was reported on the road from Jerusalem to Bethlehem.

A Jordanian spokesman announced today over Amman radio that Jordan had accepted the ceasefire and that UN Security-General U Thant had been informed of the decision.

King Hussein told a press conference today that there had been only minor incidents since the ceasefire deadline, and that Jordanian forces had been told to fire only in self-defence.

Israeli forces held key points in vast stretches of Egypt's Sinai Desert, including easy approaches to the Suez Canal and Israel's main objective (Sharm el Sheikh) overlooking the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba. But an Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv categorically denied that any Israeli troops were on the banks of the canal.



Maj.-Gen. Moshe Dayan, the Israeli defence minister, told reporters Wednesday: "It is not and was not our aim to get to the Suez Canal. Why go there and get involved in something that is not our business?"

He said, however, that Israel would not give up any part of Jerusalem and would maintain its right of passage through the Gulf of Aqaba, its route to East Africa, Asia and the oil it gets from Iran.

Nova Scotia Fire Razes Two Homes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A wild forest fire, one of the worst in Nova Scotia in 20 years, was brought under control early today after overnight rains fell in the province's Pictou county.

The fire, which witnesses said sounded "like a freight train coming right at you," at its height, destroyed 5,000 acres of woods.

No injuries were reported.

The blaze broke out near the small community of Middlefield. It destroyed at least two homes, a number of barns and outhouses and killed scores of cattle and sheep.

More than 20 families were forced to flee their homes in the communities of Telford and Piedmont in the fire area.

In Ontario — almost all residents had returned to the Northern Ontario railway communities of Sioux Lookout and Chapleau.

The extent of forest fire danger in Quebec was described as low.

Exultant Jews Flock To Jerusalem's Wailing Wall

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Israeli forces today celebrated their first full day in control of the walled city of Jerusalem for nearly 2,000 years.

Thousands of Jews visited Sheikh Jarrah at the Wailing Wall after Israeli forces smashed the last pockets of resistance in the Jordanian sector with a lightning 90-minute tank and artillery assault Wednesday.

There were scenes of near riot as excited Jews flocked past the Mandelbaum Gates into the Old City to pray at the historic shrine for the first time in almost 20 years since Jordan occupied the area during the 1948 war.

Soldiers and police turned many back as the crowds threatened to get out of control after the Old City fell shortly before mid-day.

Vietnam Rockets Run Amok As Secret Base Is Bombed

SAIGON (AP)—U.S. Navy pilots thrust deep into North Vietnam Wednesday, damaging a MiG airfield and leaving a secret rocket base in flames and uncontrollable rockets soaking skyward and across the ground.

The big raid on the secret site hooking Soviet-built missiles was made by pilots from the carrier Enterprise after aerial photos disclosed the highly-camouflaged base 50 miles southwest of Hanoi.

Waves of Phantoms, Skyhawk and intruder jets flashed into the area with bombs, rockets and cannon fire. Pilots reported the site erupted in explosions of white, orange and black smoke towering 5,000 feet up.

Narrow 40 - foot missiles, which pilots call "flying telephone poles," sometimes went slithering off violent when blown from their transport vehicles.

Israeli Error

Four American Sailors Killed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli torpedo boats and planes attacked a U.S. Navy ship 15 miles north of the Sinai Peninsula in the Mediterranean Sea, the defence department announced today. Initial reports listed four Americans dead and 40 wounded.

The defence department said the U.S. government "has been informed by the Israeli government that the attack was made in error by Israeli forces and an apology has been received from Tel Aviv."

Paul G. Gooding, assistant secretary of defence for public affairs, said the vessel attacked was the Liberty, a technical research ship that was in position this morning to assure communications for U.S. government posts in the Middle East.

Israeli Riposte Deadly

Egyptian Planes Sitting Ducks Although They Took to Air First

TEL AVIV (AP)—Raids that caught Egypt's air force on the ground and superior planes and pilots helped Israel's outnumbered air force score a knockout blow in the first hours of the Arab-Israeli war.

This was the evaluation given Wednesday night by an authoritative source after the Israeli air force chief, Gen. Mordechai Hod, announced his force destroyed 441 enemy planes.

Strategy was said to have been based on a quick decision Monday to paralyze the Egyptian air force—biggest in the Middle East—while most of its planes were sitting ducks on the ground.

The source said waves of Egyptian planes showed up on Israeli radar screens and sent Israeli pilots scrambling.

After a flurry of dogfights in the border areas, the Egyptians beat a retreat. But instead of returning to their bases as they did in the past, the Israelis pursued the Egyptians to their bases and secured further hits as the enemy planes went in to land.

A second wave of Israeli fighters swooped in to catch the Egyptians on the ground as they were refuelling or preparing to take off, the most vulnerable moments.

Flight endurance of Israel's French Mystere and Mirage fighters which gave them a clear advantage over the Soviet MiGs that made up the Egyptian, Syrian and Iraqi air force. Most of the Jordanian planes —Hawker Hunter fighters from Britain—were said to have been downed in dogfights.

Hungerford Centennial Event Brings Out Odd Equipment

The Hungerford Township centennial celebration June 10, has brought out some unusual farm equipment and antique household goods for display in the agricultural building at the Tweed fairgrounds, according to the officials in charge of the event.

Among the oddball items scheduled for display, is a Macartney hand operated milking machine, patented by the Macartney Milking Machine Co. Ltd., Brockville, in 1923, and restored by The Tweed News Publishing Company. Felix Trudeau, who owned and operated a similar machine when he was farming 30 years ago, and Harry Martin, the local Surge Milking Machine dealer, were technical advisors.

The restored machine is made from the better parts of two hand operated milking machines. The first was obtained from an antique shop in Tweed, and the second from Bob Wheeler of Lefroy, Ontario, formerly of the Tweed district. Mr. Wheeler sold he milked a few cows with the machine and the new power machines of today cannot milk any faster than it did.

About 15 milkers were sold in Tweed and Madoc, but most of those have gone to the scrap heap long ago. The milker owned by Felix Trudeau is now in a museum in the Toronto district.

A part of the dairy equipment display Saturday will be a papier-mache cow, Hortense the Holstein, lent by the Perth District Coop.

$250,000 for Trent Canal System

OTTAWA — The government plans to spend $3,500,000 during 1967 renovating facilities along the Trent Canal system, the Commons was told last night.

There are at least three projects scheduled for the Quinte-district stretch of the canal.

A long-term program calls for renovation along the entire system, James Byrne, parliamentary secretary to Transport Minister Pickersgill, said in a written reply to a question posed earlier.

W. J. Manning, the department's director of marine works told the Intelligencer from Ottawa today, the program included three projects in the Trenton-Campbellford area of the Quinte district.

Biggest of the three was centred at the Healey Falls dam, north of Campbellford. Some $200,000 will be spent on restoration this year with additional $300,000 earmarked for next year.

However, work at Healey Falls depends upon Ontario Hydro's ability to provide power for the area while the dam is being restored.

Next biggest project is the reconstruction of a dam in the Percy Reach area, south of Campbellford. The job is to cost an estimated $150,000.

"At Glen Miller lock $35,000 will be spent on rebuilding canal walls," said Mr. Manning.

Traffic through the canal, which links Georgian Bay with Lake Ontario via Lake Simcoe, has been steadily increased by the spiralling popularity of recreation boating.

Department officials estimate 142,000 craft of all types will use the system this year.

This compares with 128,971 in 1966, 117,900 in 1965 and 112,200 in 1964.

Awards Given For Gymnastics And Swimming

The first Centennial Bunting Spoon Award was presented to Rev. Eric Penny today by Mr. Glen Mathorne, men's and boys' program director at the local YMCA.

This National Award is available to men and women over eighteen years of age who run (100) one hundred miles during 1967. Mr. Penny completed his first hundred miles from March 15 to May 6, 1967. He is now well along on his second hundred. Several men of the "Y" are well along on their way to receiving centennial spoons.

Other awards given at the "Y" included several for gymnastics and swimming. Four members of the Boys' Leaders Corps received awards which were earned during their attendance at the National Council Leader Training Camp, last fall.

Mr. David Fisher, 136 Dundas St. West, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Fisher received his First Card in trampoline, rings, horizontal bar, and parallels and his Second Card in tumbling and horse.

Mr. Richard Marta, 355 Victoria Ave., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marta received his First Card in horizontal bar and free exercise and his Second Card in tumbling, trampoline, rings, parallels and horse.

Mr. Richard McLean, Elmwood Drive, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McLean received his First Card in rings, horizontal bar and horse and his Second Card in tumbling, trampoline and parallels.

Mr. Jim Higgs, 38 Rosewood Ave., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wiggins received his First Card in rings, horizontal bar and horse and his Second Card in tumbling, trampoline and parallels.

Those who received their beginners certificates for swimming were: Glen Allan, Susan Roach, Karen Morris, Valerie Taylor, Heather Patterson and Vicky Redcliffe.

Card one awards were given to Barbara Smith, Sue Ann Davis, Debbie Hamilton and Margaret Allan.

Card two awards were awarded to Debbie Hamilton, Maragret Allan, Kevin Smith and Bradley Lumbers.

Pensioners Win Prizes At Euchre and Bowling

Following the noon dinner of the CN Pensioners and Mr. H. J. Pask's informative speech on transportation on Wednesday, a number of euchre and bowling events were held.

Winners of the euchre parties at the lodge hall, again the prizes being donated by the Toronto Club. While card playing progressed some 50 enthusiastic bowlers were transported to the Belleville Bowl, where for two hours the lanes resounded thunderously to the speed balls and the gutters taking their toll from the inglorious. The winners of the ladies' high single was Mrs. Charles Johnston, of Toronto, with a respectable score and to be divulged until a later date - something to do with Mrs. Johnston's handicap for her home bowling lanes. Mr. Lloyd Pattison, of the Belleville Club outscored all bowlers with the triple of 693. He also rolled a rather magnificent single of 303 in attaining the high triple. Each was rewarded with a handsome trophy to be added to their already considerable collection.

The buffet supper served at 6:30, by women of the Canara Club was a departure from the gatherings of previous years. On account of the change in departure times west-bound trains it was necessary to spend the early evening hours in Belleville. This was no hardship; the supper was of prime quality and refreshments of a quality and supper was of prime quality and the weary - of which there were few - were available in the convient annie in charge of two experts skilled in service to their patrons.

Fishermen Arrested

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C. (CP) The secretary of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union and three other UFAWU officials were free on bail today after being arrested Wednesday night by the RCMP.

The arrests, on a warrant issued by the attorney-general's department charging them with breaking Section 108 of the Criminal Code by failing to obey a lawful court order, came as a three-month dispute involving two unions and the fishing vessel owners association continued unabated.

Arrested Wednesday night were General Secretary Homer Stevens, Prince Rupert business agent Jack Nichol, northern organizer George Hewitson and executive member Joseph Verde.

Building Permits Are Up $300,000 Over Last Year

Building permits in Belleville for the first five months this year are more than $300,000 above the same period a year ago, according to city building inspector Grant Stickle.

The total in permits to the end of May is $1,372,488.

During May there were 42 permits issued with a total value of $342,270, included were permits for six residences at $74,000, two permits for commercial additions for $72,685 and two permits for industrial alterations at $44,400.

More than half of the year's building permit list was issued in April with total of $800,000, including $600,000 in new residential units.

Awards Given For Gymnastics And Swimming

The first Centennial Bunting Spoon Award was presented to Rev. Eric Penny today by Mr. Glen Mathorne, men's and boys' program director at the local YMCA.

This National Award is available to men and women over eighteen years of age who run (100) one hundred miles during 1967. Mr. Penny completed his first hundred miles from March 15 to May 6, 1967. He is now well along on his second hundred. Several men of the "Y" are well along on their way to receiving centennial spoons.

Other awards given at the "Y" included several for gymnastics and swimming. Four members of the Boys' Leaders Corps received awards which were earned during their attendance at the National Council Leader Training Camp, last fall.

Mr. David Fisher, 136 Dundas St. West, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Fisher received his First Card in trampoline, rings, horizontal bar, and parallels and his Second Card in tumbling and horse.

Mr. Richard Marta, 355 Victoria Ave., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marta received his First Card in horizontal bar and free exercise and his Second Card in tumbling, trampoline, rings, parallels and horse.

Mr. Richard McLean, Elmwood Drive, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McLean received his First Card in rings, horizontal bar and horse and his Second Card in tumbling, trampoline and parallels.

Mr. Jim Higgs, 38 Rosewood Ave., son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wiggins received his First Card in rings, horizontal bar and horse and his Second Card in tumbling, trampoline and parallels.

Those who received their beginners certificates for swimming were: Glen Allan, Susan Roach, Karen Morris, Valerie Taylor, Heather Patterson and Vicky Redcliffe.

Card one awards were given to Barbara Smith, Sue Ann Davis, Debbie Hamilton and Margaret Allan.

Card two awards were awarded to Debbie Hamilton, Maragret Allan, Kevin Smith and Bradley Lumbers.

Pensioners Win Prizes At Euchre and Bowling

Following the noon dinner of the CN Pensioners and Mr. H. J. Pask's informative speech on transportation on Wednesday, a number of euchre and bowling events were held.

Winners of the euchre parties at the lodge hall, again the prizes being donated by the Toronto Club. While card playing progressed some 50 enthusiastic bowlers were transported to the Belleville Bowl, where for two hours the lanes resounded thunderously to the speed balls and the gutters taking their toll from the inglorious. The winners of the ladies' high single was Mrs. Charles Johnston, of Toronto, with a respectable score and to be divulged until a later date - something to do with Mrs. Johnston's handicap for her home bowling lanes. Mr. Lloyd Pattison, of the Belleville Club outscored all bowlers with the triple of 693. He also rolled a rather magnificent single of 303 in attaining the high triple. Each was rewarded with a handsome trophy to be added to their already considerable collection.

The buffet supper served at 6:30, by women of the Canara Club was a departure from the gatherings of previous years. On account of the change in departure times west-bound trains it was necessary to spend the early evening hours in Belleville. This was no hardship; the supper was of prime quality and refreshments of a quality and supper was of prime quality and the weary - of which there were few - were available in the convient annie in charge of two experts skilled in service to their patrons.

Mr. Jack Millward of Toronto retired for many years from his role of locomotive engineer, and now to his 87th year and hale and hearty, met with Mr. James Ferguson of Barrie, also of the men who handled the throttle in yesteryear and

Building permits in Belleville for the first five months this year are more than $300,000 above the same period a year ago, according to city building inspector Grant Stickle.

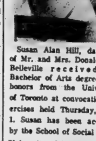
The total in permits to the end of May is $1,372,488.

During May there were 42 permits issued with a total value of $342,270, included were permits for six residences at $74,000, two permits for commercial additions for $72,685 and two permits for industrial alterations at $44,400.

More than half of the year's building permit list was issued in April with total of $800,000, including $600,000 in new residential units.

Accused Denies Taking Money From Sagriff

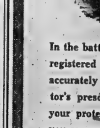
William P. White, on trial for robbery with violence, before Judge G. F. Smith, was forced to the stand in his own defence.



White testified that he had $131 when he came to Belleville May 9. He denied that he asked how much was in J. H. Sagriff's safe when Mr. Sagriff allegedly showed it in the beverage room of the City Hotel.

He also stated that he said nothing about a truck which he was supposed to have had behind the hotel and about a bootlegger. Mr. Sagriff had testified that White had asked him to go with him to a bootlegger to get beer.

Robert Temple, who is defending White asked, "Did you take any money from Mr. Sagriff?"



"No," White answered.

The trial continues today.

Susan Alan Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hill, Belleville received her Bachelor of Arts degree with honors from the University of Toronto at convocation exercises held Thursday, June 1. Susan has been accepted by the School of Social Work, University of Toronto. She is a graduate from BCI and VS, Belleville.

Rotary members in Picton last night turned out for finishing touches at Rotary Park. In work clothes they raked and shovelled until dusk getting the park in shape.

Turn Sod on Rotary Playground

PICTON (STAFF) — A large number of Rotarians turned out Wednesday night to work on their new Rotary Playground on Ontario Street in Picton. A quiet, yet nevertheless dramatic sod turning ceremony came about when Picton Mayor H. J. McFarland arrived on the scene to congratulate Rotarians on their project.

Already the club has erected a cement block building which will house boys' and girls' rooms and a room in which to keep equipment. The site has all been cleared and leveled and seeding will soon begin. A fence also will be installed along one side of the playground. Area of the park is 180 by 70 feet and at one time was the location of the old Hare's Arena.

Swings, slides, climbing bars and a drinking fountain are to be added in the very near future. A ball diamond will be contained on one end of the grounds, Jack Colden, president of the Rotary club said that eventually it is planned to have the area flooded, perhaps this winter, for open air skating.

Mayor McFarland, while raising the first shovel full of earth said "I would like all Rotarians to know what a pleasure it is for me to be performing this ceremony on your behalf, and for this good cause. It is a step in the right direction and something your children and all the children of Picton can be proud of. Rotary and all of the service clubs of Picton are doing a wonderful job for this town. I thank you and your club, Mr. Colden, for a job well done." At this time he donated $50 from his pocket to aid the cause and a well known Picton Rotarian, Bill Purtell, matched the offer with $25.

"I can't afford fifty dollars as the Mayor did", he said, "but here is my contribution of $25."

President Colden thanked the Mayor and Bill Purtell on behalf of the club. Thanks were also conveyed to the Mayor for previous donations and Jack Colden added, "We could not have done it without your support and enthusiasm."

Club members following the brief ceremony pitched in and some with shovel, others with rakes began to work on their project. A spirit of enthusiasm was noted as one member said, "this is only the beginning, wait until you see it in a couple of months."

Running Reverend

Reverend Eric L. Penny of the Parkdale Baptist Church, was awarded a silver spoon today for completing a run of 100 miles. The Belleville YMCA has instituted a physical fitness program in which participants must complete 100 miles of running at no more than three miles a day to receive an award of a silver spoon.

Mr. Penny began on March 15th and finished on the 30th of May. He runs three miles a day on Monday, Wednesday and Friday and has now begun on his second hundred. According to Mr. Penny, his wife has said that she wants service for six—at least Mr. Penny has only five spoons to go.

Trenton
Senior Citizens Are Honored

TRENTON — A woman who befriended servicemen and women in two World Wars and has been a keen observer on the Trenton scene for more than 65 years told senior citizens and members of the younger generation, fraternizing with them here last night to repeat big things of the town and its people in the past period in history.

Miss Hazel Farley, a life member of the Royal Canadian Legion and former high school teacher, delivered the keynote message at a dinner called "Pioneers of our Heritage" sponsored by the Ladies' auxiliary of legion branch 110 last night. The 250 in attendance imported Miss Farley's reference to the former grey stone post office building and impressive looking matching clock tower in the centre of the town. They broke it with a round of inspired applause after she observed: "It is outstanding and may it ever remain so. The museum can never be surpassed."

Miss Farley pleased her listeners with a chronological review of remembrances of former residents and distinctive landmarks which disappeared since she started to school at age 5.

In concluding her remarks Miss Farley said "I notice in centennial year that you the Mayor and other townfathers are carving out a very brilliant and prosperous future for Trenton."

Each older citizen over 70 present received a scroll crowning their attention to the town's appreciation for the contribution they had made to Canada and the community. The gift from the Trenton centennial program committee was signed by Mayor James D. Macdonald and R. W. Carleton, chairman of the local centennial committee. A popular local figure and acquainted with most present through the years, former mayor and long time councillor, Ross Burtt, acting as chairman during the evening provided lively comment to the delight of everyone.

Oldest senior citizen present were recognized and received prizes. Former school teacher, Miss Amelia Heyne, 91, for the oldest woman attending; former plumbing contractor William Heaney, 90, for the oldest man attending and Mrs. George Sprenkel as the keeper of continuous residence — 58 years.

The sing-song after the banquet was led by legion auxiliary zone commander Mrs. George Leeman and branch 110's second vice president, Jim Wilkinson.

Local Girl Married In Japan

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. McDonald, Belleville, Towers, received a joyful telephone call from their younger daughter Jo-Anne, in Hmeji, Japan, announcing her marriage, that day to Mr. Jef Wiles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wiles, of Antwerp, Belgium.

The bride wore the traditional Japanese kimono for her wedding and reception.

Jo-Anne graduated from University of Toronto, and has been travelling in Europe. The Middle East and Far East for three years now, and met her husband when both taught in Switzerland.

They are now honeymooning aboard a French Line ship en Tokyo, through the Suez Canal to Marseille, France, and will return home here this summer to permanently resume their careers.

Sugar Price Fluctuates

The wholesale price of a 100-pound bag of sugar dropped 40 cents to $6.05 in Eastern Canada Wednesday following a Monday increase of 20 cents a bag as a result of the Middle East War.

The later easing in the war situation and slightly lower prices on the world market brought about Wednesday's reduction.

Following the increases by refiners, Toronto retailers raised sugar prices Tuesday—by nine cents a 10-pound bag to $1.02 and by five cents a five-pound bag to 52 cents.

Retail prices were to be cut today to 96 cents for 10-pounds and about 49 cents for five pounds.

The western companies are Atlantic Sugar Refineries Ltd., and St. Lawrence Sugar Refineries Ltd., both of Montreal, and Canada and Dominion Sugar Co. Ltd. of Chatham, Ont.

First to Finish

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (CP) — Leonard Lahowy, 21, and Al Soulak, 16, plan to be the first fishers to walk the whole 340-mile Bruce Trail from Niagara Falls to Tobermory, Ont. They will cover about 600 miles on foot because of extra detours around rugged terrain. The entire northern end of the trail has never been walked before.

Given Year For Breaking And Entering

Leonard Lessee was sentenced to Reformatory at Magistrate's Court today after being found guilty on two charges of breaking and entering. An appeal was made to the court for mercy. However Lessee has an extensive record and was sentenced to one year definite and six months indeterminate imprisonment on both counts and to be served concurrently.

Lessee, who is from Port Hope, was charged with breaking into the Deseronto Cleaners and the Red and White store in Deseronto.

Dual Purpose Served in Ottawa Visit

Mayor Jack R. Ellis and city Aldermen Don Williams were among the guests at the National Prayer Breakfast held yesterday in the Confederation Room of the west block of the parliament buildings in Ottawa.

For the Belleville guests, the visit to Ottawa had a dual purpose.

In addition to attending the breakfast, Mayor Ellis and Ald. Williams met with Federal Agricultural Minister Hon. J. J. Greene, with respect to financial assistance for the proposed new arena at Belleville.

PROUD MOTHER AND SON THE MAYOR — One of the scrolls citizens over 70 received at Trenton last night catches the interest of Mrs. E. F. MacDonald and her son, the town's mayor, who officiated at the presentation.

Campbellford Briefs

CAMPBELLFORD — Wally Payne of Park Lane Foods Ltd. again asked Council to grant him a peddler's licence to enter to Campbellford construction workers. This was his third request. A further delay in its decision was Council's answer.

The Public Utilities Commission asked the town to negotiate with them in the sale of lots 31 and 32 on Wallace St. A substation is proposed for the lots.

George Totton of the engineering firm of Totton, Sims and Hobbild told Council in a letter of the firm's willingness to donate a loud speaker system to the new arena.

Campbellford Board of Commerce advised Council of the results of a questionnaire. Complaints were received of inadequate parking facilities and a request was made for earlier and more frequent street cleaning.

The auditing firm of C. W. Cochrane requested an increase in salary.

Reeve G. H. Fyfe was appointed delegate to the Ontario Municipal Association convention in Port Arthur, Aug. 28-23.

June 20 was given as the deadline for a decision concerning the new bridge. Deputy Reeve Locke presented a brief to Council for the Counties Road Commission.

James Parcels, garbage collector, tendered his resignation. Although Mr. Parcels had received a six per cent raise given to all town employees he felt this was not sufficient because of higher operating costs.

It was decided to investigate the possibility of renting a police cruiser instead of buying one. Advertisements will be placed, asking for both purchase price and rental terms.

A by-law was passed, appointing Russell Hass of Madoc, police constable on a probationary basis.

Councillor Sharpe, chairman of roads and bridges, presented a tentative work sheet for the streets for the year. It was approved by Council.

Council decided to offer a price to Crown Assets Commission for a building recently vacated by the Department of Transport. It proposes to move the building to Kennedy Park for use by the Boy Scouts.

Vancouver Will Grow Bananas

VANCOUVER (CP) — The west coast, with its temperate winters, is often called Canada's "banana belt."

But tourists two years from now may actually see bananas and rubber trees growing in Vancouver—under a big, heated, transparent dome.

The dome is part of a plan to change the appearance of Queen Elizabeth Park, known locally as Little Mountain.

The seven-acre development is being carried out by the park board with a $1,000,000 donation from the Bloedel Foundation.

The emphasis inside the dome will be on tropical vegetation, including banana trees, rubber trees and cactus.

The forest hall is to contain 15,000 square feet on one floor, displaying flowering forest and animal life below and above the ground. There are also to be some live animals and birds in the building.

Middle East Conflict

In the swift-moving war in the Middle East it would seem that short of intervention by the big powers the Arab states are close to an embarrassing defeat at the hands of the more efficient and resolute Israelis.

It is doubtful moreover that even the Russians will be taken in by Arab accusations that United States and British aircraft have been providing cover for Israeli planes. Soviet protests in this regard are seen as a ruse to encourage direct intervention in the war by Russia.

The Russians, while they are nominally on the side of the Arabs and have been supplying them with arms for some time, are believed to be in favor of a quick end to the war. They see the Arab front crumbling, its forces in disarray, and are realistic enough to see there is nothing to be gained from backing a side which has shown itself to be a perennial loser.

Support for this view comes from official U.S. sources in Washington. They believe that despite Moscow's avowed support of the Arabs and public condemnation of Israel, the Soviets desire a quick end to the fighting. Their assessment comes from private discussions with Soviet diplomats.

Once again Egypt's President Nasser has overplayed his hand. Whatever the merits of the Arab-Jewish feud from the participants' opposing viewpoints, it cannot be said that Nasser has acted very responsibly in recent weeks. First he ordered the United Nations peacekeeping forces out of the Gaza Strip, then he established a blockade of the Gulf of Aqaba, cutting off Israel's trade route through the Red Sea. Nasser was looking for trouble and he found it.

His action of course raises the whole delicate subject of western interests in the Middle East. The West relies heavily on oil supplies from this region but Iraq, Kuwait and Algeria are reported to have cut off delivery of oil to Britain and the United States. Egypt, moreover, controls the Suez Canal and as long as it does there will always be the possibility of harassment of western shipping using this vital waterway.

Thus, whatever the outcome of the present conflict it is essential that the Suez Canal be kept open. A more responsible attitude by Nasser, for his own good by the Arab world at large, could result in benefits for all nations with interests in this region.

As for Israel, it is difficult to find much fault with a young nation that is merely defending itself and doing it well. If the Arabs deny Israel its very right to existence as a fledgling nation that is another matter, but it is clear that going to war over the issue is the worst possible way of trying to solve it.

Boost for Exports

Described as part of Trade Minister Winters' promotional program to help achieve the Government's centennial year export target of $11,250,000,000, more than 500 Ontario firms took part in Operation Export 1967 in Toronto recently.

This is an excellent way of boosting Canadian production and sales potential. The idea, of course, is not entirely the Government's and can claim to have originated. In fact it came into being during the reign of the Conservatives when George Hees was trade minister.

So that as it may, this is one way to increase exports. The program involves talks between exporters and Canadian trade commissioners overseas. The Ontario firms booked more than 8,500 individual interviews with 66 trade commissioners who had flown into Toronto from their overseas postings.

Similar interviews were held in Montreal, Vancouver, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Halifax and Saint John. In all more than 15,000 individual interviews were arranged for more than 2,200 export-minded Canadian firms.

Tries Politics

When Robert Gauchie, the 39-year-old bush pilot, was rescued two months ago after surviving 56 days of sub-Arctic cold, the first question he asked was the name of the new commissioner of the Northwest Territories.

An excellent candidate for the political sphere in the far north, we thought of Gauchie at the time. A man of physical vigor and moral courage, he sounded as if he would make a good leader of men.

That he has not come as a surprise to learn that Gauchie is one of four candidates contesting the constituency of Mackenzie South in the Northwest Territories Council election July 6.

Nominations for seven seats at stake closed the other day. Commissioner Stuart Hodgson and five members appointed by the federal Government complete the 13-member council.

Ottawa Offbeat

Pearson In Tight Corner Over Bilingualism Issue

By RICHARD JACKSON

OTTAWA — Just in case you thought that Ralph Cowan, the rough-riding Liberal rebel from Toronto's York-Humber constituency, was the only maverick among the Government's Cabinet Backbenchers, consider the case of Steve Otto.

Like Cowan, he comes from one of the Toronto Metro constituencies. Mark Kaplan won if his defection from the official Government policy line is any indication that disenchantment is spreading through the Backbenches, the Liberals could be getting into more trouble than perhaps they think.

For except for the few, very few that it elected from four or five Ontario cities — Hamilton, Brantford, St. Thomas, Kitchener, Windsor — and not really many more from the West Coast and the rural Maritimes, the Government's support rests almost solely on its fat Toronto and even fatter Quebec representation.

And if Metro is starting to turn sour . . . well!

But what is troubling Steve Otto?

Some of the things that long have bothered Ralph Cowan.

As has Ralph Cowan all along, Steve Otto feels Prime Minister Pearson as a party leader has been far pushing the Government's hotly controversial bilingualism campaign.

Not so much, mind you, because it upgrades the French, but that in doing so, it almost automatically downgrades the English.

Bilingual civil servants draw bonus pay, and bilingualism is often the plus-that-matters in getting a Federal job.

The way it works out — and many an MP, Liberal and Conservative, has said so publicly — is that you are bilingual no matter how badly broken your English, but not bilingual if your French is even slightly fractured.

And so the "in" joke making the Capital's rounds is a not-so-wry reference to the new "dead language — English — you don't speak it in Ottawa, you're dead."

And it is triggering all sorts of new tensions, jealousies, friction, conflicts.

Some of the resentment is showing, in letters to the editors of the two English-language Ottawa newspapers.

One of a score of these letters puts the finger expertly on the sore spot.

"In practically all departments of the Federal Government, a French-speaking person may be answered in perfect French, but an English-speaking person must be satisfied with answers in broken English."

Steve Otto, deeply concerned, has been quoted as saying that this Government could go so far with its bilingual kick as to engineer the "emergence of a French-Canadian Civil Service serving a business and industrial world that is not French-Canadian."

Not that Steve Otto has anything actually against the French, language or people — although like many other Canadians, MPs and taxpayers, he finds Quebec City's extramarital love affair with Paris a bit irritating.

Add wonders, even as you, why the Federal Government does not assert itself and end the flirtation by reminding General de Gaulle that La Belle Province simply isn't eligible for any romantic European entanglements, having been married for a little matter of 100 years to Canada.

Ralph Cowan and Steve Otto — and quite a few other Liberal Backbenchers who aren't so outspoken, in public anyway — are managing to put the Prime Minister in a slowly tightening political bind.

In the Liberal Caucus, influenced, if not actually dominated by the party's powerful Quebec wing, there has been a continuing clamor for Ralph Cowan's and Steve Otto's head.

The Quebec Cabinet Ministers and MPs — with some support, surprisingly, from a few small "il" liberal "swamps" from Ontario — demand the party "purge" this pair of mavericks.

And when nothing happens, they complain that the Prime Minister's "soft" and that they charge are English "extremists."

So Ralph Cowan and company — and he does have company, including more than just Steve Otto, among the Liberal Backbenchers — can keep on accusing the Prime Minister of being afraid even "softer" on Quebec extremists.

What an uncomfortable corner it is into which the PM has painted himself — in both "official," as they're called, languages, too.

This Life or the After Life?

Catholic Digest

"What do you think you should be more serious about, trying to live comfortably or preparing for a life after death?"

When this question was put to adult Americans of all three great religious groups 48 percent of them replied that they should be most serious about preparing for life after death, a decrease of three percentage points since the same question was asked in 1952 in a Gallup Poll. Some 22 percent thought that they should be equally concerned with trying to live comfortably and with preparing for the next life, down one percentage point from 1952. And 25 percent thought that one should try to live comfortably, and let the next world take care of itself, an increase of three percentage points. Only 5 percent could not decide against 4 percent a decade and a half ago.

As in 1952, Protestants make a better showing with respect to attitudes about an afterlife than Catholics do; moreover, they hold more firmly to these attitudes over the last decade and a half. Some 46 percent of Catholics thought that their first concern should be preparation for the next world, compared with 53 percent who so thought in 1952. But 28 percent of Catholics now think that they should try both to live comfortably and also prepare for life after death; this compared with 25 percent in 1951. Five percent don't know; 3 percent did not know in 1952.

Of Protestants, 53 percent declare that they think preparation for life after death is more important than living comfortably now, a decrease of only one percentage point. The same percentage, 19 percent, of Protestants as Catholics, thought in 1952 that one's first concern might as well be comfort, compared with 23 percent today, and one percent undecided now as in the figure for Catholics. But 21 percent of Protestants think they should strive equally hard in both directions, against 24 percent in 1952. That leaves 4 percent undecided now, compared with 3 percent undecided in 1952.

The survey turned up the fact that less than 1 percent of the 1.7 million adult Jews believe in preparing for life after death as a main concern of life, against 3 percent of 3.5 million Jews in 1952. Thus, 98 percent declared for trying to live comfortably, 18 percentage points more than a decade and a half ago, with 13 percent of the opinion that both goals are important, against 17 percent in 1952. Some 3 percent were undecided in 1952, 7 percent in 1952.

Exams in Spotlight

Examinations should test what children are interested in, not what they don't know.

It is possible — I have done it — to set the exam up to discover the students' interests. For example, a high student could be told to write his own examination question and answer it. How well the work! If they pick a silly question, they'll give a silly answer and, consequently, get a silly grade. — Dr. Jerrold Zacharias, scientist-educator.

Computers And the Bible

Letter to the Editor

Editor,
The Intelligencer.

The article "The Gospel According to Computers", in your recent "Weekend" supplement gave a very unbalanced account of its subject. It is simply not technically correct to say such analyses can "tell that Paul did not write" particular letters — they can only yield formal mathematical probabilities based upon certain important assumptions lying outside the field of statistics.

Moreover, different studies produce contradictory results. Dr. G. Herdan of Bristol University obtained computer results which he interpreted as lending "powerful support to the hypothesis of a common authorship" of eight Pauline epistles — including four rejected by Morton. Of epistles for which Herdan found results "consistent with" (not proving) a different authorship, three were pastoral epistles (personal letters to church leaders); plausible reasons, it is submitted, can be found for the differences shown.

Much could be said. But your readers can gain a more commonsense insight into the artificiality of Morton's radical conclusions without their further analysis. First and Second Thessalonians. All state they are from Paul and one or two close associates, quite conceivably authors of varying portions — which would not conflict with their genuineness, their Pauline or apostolic character or their being "given by inspiration of God".

Australia and Vietnam

Montreal Gazette

It is often said the United States has no support for its Vietnam policy among its allies. The official visit of Prime Minister Harold Holt of Australia to Canada this week draws attention on one country that vigorously supports the U.S. position there.

Australia has a vital interest in the war in Vietnam. It has 1,500 troops there fighting with the American, South Vietnamese and South Korean troops. As Mr. Holt said yesterday: "Our contribution is greatly appreciated there."

It may be asked: why does Australia support the American effort in Vietnam?

In an article in the Dalhousie Review some months ago Sir Kenneth Bailey, High Commissioner of Australia in Canada, drew a parallel between Australia's attitude to Vietnam and the Canadian attitude to NATO when the NATO alliance was formed 18 years ago.

And just as NATO was formed to contain Soviet expansionism — and succeeded — Australia hopes that resistance in Vietnam will produce a climate in which the Communist states of Asia will adopt the policies of peaceful coexistence.

Mr. Holt in his press conference yesterday, said something similar. Unless Communist aggression can be stopped in South Vietnam, no Asian country can consider itself secure.

And the visit of Australia's Prime Minister will give Canadians an opportunity better to appreciate the Australian position. Vietnam is of very real, very vital concern to Australia.

Arab Refugees From 1948-49 Strife Pose Big Problem

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

Until the problem of the Arab refugees from Israel is solved, the Middle East will remain politically explosive and a danger to world peace. But the problem seems utterly insoluble.

For almost 20 years, a quarter of a million has been piled on. Neutrals close to Middle East problems saw three basic ways to approach the problem of establishing stability there.

One was to seek a method to resettle the refugees. It failed.

Another was to seek political settlement between Israel and the Arab nations so some refugees could return to their former homes. It failed.

The third way was war. It, too, has failed so far—with the Arabs not strong enough to accomplish a solution by means of battle.

The slogan uniting all Arabs against Israel is a cry for "liberating the Arab homeland." Its emotional appeal, far from abating over the years, has become stronger all the time as pursuit pauses the word to child.

The problem was created at the outset of the Palestine War of 1948-49, when Jewish forces storming through Arab villages, expelled the inhabitants and sent them fleeing behind the protection of Arab lines.

Hundreds of thousands were displaced this way. Nobody knows the exact figure. Over the years their number has grown by the natural process. Today, by best estimates, perhaps a few more than 1,000,000 persons claim the status of refugee.

They have lived in slums in the outskirts of cities in Lebanon, Syria and Jordan and in the Gaza Strip which Egypt occupied on Israel's southwest Mediterranean coast after the fighting. They were a constant source of political ferment.

For the little kingdom of Jordan, they became a grave problem. Palestinian Arabs feel themselves superior, intellectually and culturally, to the Bedouins who hail from the east side of the Jordan River and control the country by sheer numbers. Today, by best estimates, perhaps a few more than 1,000,000 persons claim the status of refugee.

For the little kingdom of Jordan, they became a grave problem. Palestinian Arabs feel themselves superior, intellectually and culturally, to the Bedouins who hail from the east side of the Jordan River and control the country by sheer numbers. Today, by best estimates, perhaps a few more than 1,000,000 persons claim the status of refugee.

In that year, Transjordan's King Abdullah annexed Palestine territory on the west side of the river fronting on Israel. By doing so he tripled the country's population and left a source of constant headache for the future king of Jordan.

In the capital, Amman, refugees were crowded into the Mahajarin Souk, a hotbed of hate, most of them living in shacks. Only one-third of Jordan's refugees lived in camps. Others lived in tents, huts, tents, and some in no homes at all, just carrying about their worldly goods in boxes, sleeping or resting wherever they could. The Jordanian government could not ignore them. It got votes, places in the cabinet and in the legislature.

In Lebanon and Syria the refugees live in mud huts or concrete block shacks, a traditional nomadism about the former homeland. In the Gaza Strip—as elsewhere—the refugees form a pool for the recruitment of the commandos who infiltrate Israel and strike, prompting Israel to retaliation.

While Israel feels itself strongest against the Arabs combined, there seems no prospect of persuading the Israelis to make concessions on the refugee problem. Israel says the Arabs fled their homes of their own accords and thus are not Israel's responsibility. The Arabs say they were driven out by conquest.

Israel has never moved to negotiate on the question of repatriation or resettlement. Arabs steadfastly refuse to give up their claims to lands the Jews inhabit.

Pipeline Problems

Natural Gas Distributors Warned Rationing A Possibility

OTTAWA (CP) — Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. has warned eastern distributors to expect gas rationing next winter unless new east-end lines are speedily built or other arrangements made.

Cutbacks to most Ontario and Quebec distributors would total 18 per cent of contract demand in the summer and 10 in winter for the year starting Nov. 1.

A letter to distributors made public at a national energy board hearing Wednesday said Trans-Canada may fail 37 billion cubic feet short of meeting eastern contract obligations in that period.

The letter, dated June 6, said imposition of the pro-rate cutbacks depend on several factors.

Rationing could be averted through construction of proposed new west-to-east lines either through the U.S. south of the Great Lakes or through Northern Ontario.

Other arrangements might be made with U.S. suppliers to make up some deficiencies.

Another of the big three, Consumers Gas, advised the board the situation was unacceptable. To help, Consumers withdrew its opposition to the Trans-Canada proposal to twin its Northern Ontario line if the U.S. line fails to go through.

N. J. McNeil, Trans-Canada's senior vice-president, said he was still hoping the Federal Power Commission in the U.S. would shortly approve the U.S. line, showing a way out of the situation.

All 4 Trans-Canada customers favor the U.S. line, but the major ones were opposed to the Northern Ontario line, at least until Consumers Gas broke ranks Wednesday. Union Gas became non-committal, saying the choice of route was up to Trans-Canada.

The major distributors had favored the twinning of the line only from Winnipeg to Kapuskasing, Ont. But they suggested the line bend south from there to open up new markets along the north shore of Lake Superior rather than follow the existing route.

Northern and Central, the third big distributor, suggested Trans-Canada could meet commitments on a step-by-step basis by looping sections o fits Winnipeg-Niagara line and increasing flow in the line beyond through greater compression.

Mr. McNeil estimated the cost of the North shore route at $420,000,000, about $80,000,000 more than the straight twinning throughout. The 430-mile Winnipeg-Niagara section would be built this year and the north shore section in 1968.

Although it would provide no additional gas to eastern Canada until the fall of 1968, it would open up new markets in Sault Ste. Marie and elsewhere in Northern Ontario. Advantage of the twinning project is that it would make additional gas available as stages were completed.

Mr. McNeil reserved further comment until the resumption of the board's hearings today on the application for a Northern Ontario route for use in case the U.S. line falls through.

Tied up with the application are efforts by the Ontario-Minnesota Pulp and Paper Co. to have the line looped through Fort Frances, Ont., the site of a company mill. Trans-Canada favors a lateral offshoot from the main twinned line.

Hord Criticized

OTTAWA (CP) — A Toronto United Church minister who criticized Prime Minister Pearson's stand on Vietnam was accused in the Senate Wednesday of showing "false courage" and political partisanship.

Senator Keith Davey (L—Ontario) said Rev. Dr. Hord, secretary of the United Church board of evangelism, gave a "display of bad manners and false courage" when he twice accused Mr. Pearson last month of being a "puppy dog on LBJ's leash."

NDP Automation Motion Lost

OTTAWA (CP)—A New Democrat Commons motion seeking big co-face management to negotiate with unions before making automation changes was defeated out without action, by three Liberal MPs Wednesday.

Norman Fawcett (NDP—Nickel Bell), a former railway conductor, accused the government of trying to duck away from recommendations made by Mr. Justice Samuel Freedman almost two years ago after a wildcat CNR strike.

He described a government-appointed task force to study labor-management relations as just a "delaying tactic" and said there will be fresh labor troubles unless progress is made soon.

His motion asked the government to change the Industrial Relations and Disputes Investigation Act to state an employer could not introduce any technological change that would "materially and adversely" affect employee working conditions until this had been negotiated.

If an agreement could be reached on the change, the question would go to a conciliation board. If the employer introduced changes without consulting workers, they would have the right to strike immediately.

The mark for the motion was a CNR decision to institute train "run-throughs" of points where crews formerly were changed.

Mr. Justice Freedman later reported that abandonment of the old crew - change points should have been negotiated with the rail unions instead of being introduced unilaterally by the CNR.

Hugh Faulker (L — Peterborough) said the objectives of the motion were commendable, but it was not right to say that nothing had been done since the Freedman report. A new contract had been drawn up with the CNR which outlined steps to be taken before technological changes were implemented. This sort of agreement was being reached in other labor contracts.

He also objected to criticism of the task force. It was a "responsible effort" to solve problems.

Warren Allmand (L — Notre-Dame-de-Grace) said the Freedman report dealt only with the main report dealt only with the issue. If Parliament was to change legislation, it would have to be applicable to other industries. So the task force study was necessary.

Augusta Cacouette (L — Lotbiniere) praised the speeches of the two Liberals who preceded him and the blood behind Mr. Fawcett's motion.

Aren't you glad he cared more about coriander than everybody else?

And maybe that's a big reason why English gin-makers in 1769 neglected this funny looking herb so much.

Except Alexander Gordon, a Highland Scot. He had a hunch. And it paid off. He discovered that by treating the very best coriander just right, it would give gin a wonderful new taste. That gin had never had before.

The rest is history.

200 years later, Gordon's is now the largest selling gin in the world.

And still made exactly to the same secret recipe.

Nobody else knows it. And it's not hard to understand why.

How many people do you know, who really care about what happens to a coriander?

Sunday School Celebrates Centennial

GORE — The centennial of the founding of Victoria Sunday School was celebrated Sunday in Victoria United Church with a service at 2 p.m.

Rev. M. McLeod, minister of the church, conducted the service and Rev. V. Zufelt of Picton was guest speaker. Mrs. Hubert Townsend at the piano accompanied the junior and senior choir in anthems and Mrs. Zufelt, who sang a solo. Mrs. Harmon Montgomery gave a summary of the Sunday School since its inception in 1867.

Following the service a reception was held in the Sunday School rooms where many momentos of Victoria's early days were on display.

Diamond Not Necessarily Needed for Engagement Ring

Dear Doris: Does one need a diamond as an engagement ring? Or can one have a different type of ring?

My boyfriend said, "If it isn't a diamond no one will know we're engaged!" We want to look at rings, but none appealed to me. Instead I fell in love with a star sapphire with four diamonds around it. Would this ring be appropriate?

Bill said he would greatly appreciate your opinion, too. — Engaged.

Dear Engaged: Oh, grab it and run. It sounds gorgeous. Most individual.

When kings and princes want to honor their beloved, they select various gems — rubies, emeralds, sparklers of glorious color. I have always been partial to sapphires myself.

When friends see a beautiful and expensive ring on your engagement finger they will know you are promised to someone who loves you very dearly.

Tell Bill that diamonds are not necessarily a girl's best friend.

Dear Doris: One of the children I have worked with for some time is now ready to go out into the world, out of the institution. Unfortunately, no home can be found for her.

The child is 11 years old, strong, healthy and warm, and has a magnificent sense of humor. She was the victim of terrible beatings and deprivation in the past and was nothing more than an animal when we got her three years ago. She was then functioning with an I.Q. of 75. Now she is a bright kid with a latest I.Q. reported of 125.

She desperately needs someone to care for her, and would be well worth salvaging if humanly possible. — Tom Thumb

Dear Tom: The foster home finders in your child care agency are doubtless already combing the landscape for the right foster home for your girl. (The correspondent who wanted to care for a needy child lives in another part of Canada.)

The amazing thing is that a seemingly backward child can blossom and grow brilliant when she is loved and encouraged. This is the wonderful discovery that foster parents are making all the time.

I might add this: A child care executive told me a few days ago that there is no need for folk to struggle alone with the decision to adopt or serve as foster parents. He and his workers are there to help them decide, taking into consideration individual set-ups, feelings, personalities and needs.

Just about everywhere, there is a great lack of adoptive and foster homes. I'm hoping the right Mom and Dad will take an interest in your bright little girl.

Dear Doris: Formal wedding invitations (addressed envelopes) are never typed, are they? A friend of the bride has offered to help with this chore, but she assumes they are to be typed.

I'm only the groom's mother; but anxious to help; and many thanks for yours. Your column is great. — M. M.

Dear M. M.: No, the envelopes for formal wedding invitations are never typed. Typing would make them far too impersonal.

When writing is, allow Doris four weeks for private reply, which will be sent if a five-cent-stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed.

Kitchen Tested Recipes

Recipe Given for Prize Chicken Dinner

By MARY MOORE

When Mrs. Fred S. returned from Florida this spring she brought with her the annual cook book from the Sarasota Herald - Tribune. In it was a first - prize - winning recipe for Ten - Minute Patio chicken dinner contributed by Mrs. Willard Kay. But this 10-minute bit intrigued me, so since my sister was planning a garden supper I boldly handed her the recipe and asked her to do the testing.

It was good. The 10-minute time is exaggerated but it is a quick and easy and economical dish.

FIRST PRIZE CHICKEN DINNER (Serves 8)

3 whole (double) or 6 single broiler - fryer chicken breasts
4 tbsps. butter
1 tsp. accent
1 tbsp. instant minced onion
2 tsps. salt
1 green pepper cut in ¼" strips
1 cup diagonally cut celery in ½" strips
1¼ cups chicken stock
1 8oz. can of pineapple chunks well drained
2 tbsps. cornstarch
1 tbsp. Worcestershire sauce
½ cup cold water
One 4-oz. can pimiento, cut in ½" pieces

Bone out chicken breasts or have your butcher do it for you and ask him to include the bones in the package. Put the bones on to cook in about 2 cups water and simmer covered for 1 hr. to get the 1¼ cups of stock you need. Cut the breasts in strips — about 10 to each breast-half. Cover and refrigerate. Assemble all remaining ingredients on a tray. When dinner time is near, having frying pan on high heat all the time, cook butter and chicken strips and sprinkle with accent, onion, salt and cornstarch; about 4 min. until chicken is white. Add green pepper strips and celery and cook stirring for 1 min. Add chicken stock and well-drained pineapple chunks, bring to boil and cook covered tightly for 5 min. Blend together cornstarch, Worcestershire sauce and water to a smooth paste and stir into hot mixture until thickened. Add pimiento pieces.

Dinner Menus

THURSDAY

Mixed Grill: Broiled Liver, Veal Kidneys, Bacon and Mushrooms; Buttered Noodles; Mashed Squash; Relish Tray: Dill Spears, Radishes, Olives; Citrus Fruit Cup; Crackers and Cheese; Coffee.

SUNDAY
(Guests)

First Prize Chicken Dinner (see Thursday) with Fluffy Rice; Avocado and Grapefruit Salad with Lemony French Dressing; Ring-Around-A-Rosy Strawberries (see Wednesday); Tea.

Serve over hot cooked rice, made by adding 1¼ cups raw long grain rice to 4 cups boiling water with 2 tsps. salt and cook covered tightly 30 min.

Note: If you have a patio with an electric outlet all of the cooking preparations may be done in electric frying pan in front of your expectant guests.

Ann Landers
Unmarried Mother Makes Her Choice

ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was 19, pregnant and unmarried. The boy was willing to marry me, but I am happy to say I turned him down. And this is what I am writing about. It was the right decision and I want to tell every girl who may one day be faced with the choice to find the courage, for the love of heaven, and do as I did.

Now that the ordeal is over, I am free to make a new life for myself. What's more my child is in the home of a happy couple who love him and can give him the security I never could.

My cousin (age 17) who became pregnant made the other choice because her parents wanted her to, and she is miserable. Her husband feels he did her a favor by marrying her and her family is satisfied to do as he pleases. The baby is asthmatic and my cousin is a nervous wreck. Her doctor and minister have recommended divorce.

Please keep telling girls to go it alone, Ann. They'll never regret it. — SUNNY SKIES AHEAD.

* * *

DEAR SUNNY: I have repeatedly said a trapped groom makes a rotten husband. Thanks for saying it better.

* * *

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column is probably the most talked about and influential daily feature in American newspapers. Your impact on the lives of millions of people is staggering — and yes, frightening.

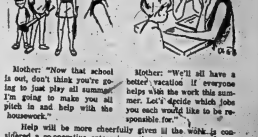
Because your word is accepted as gospel truth, it is essential that your concepts be based on the latest data. I believe some of your notions, Ann Landers, could stand serious re-examination. For example, when asked what is the average American woman looking for today, you give the same answer that has been good for the past 2,000 years: "A woman wants love, understanding, integrity . . . to be needed, to be fulfilled." This may have been true for her centuries, but times have changed, and so have American women.

Please tell your readers that today the average American woman wants a man with money, good looks, good clothes, and a good car. If you haven't got the loot, the looks, the thread, and the machine — forget it, Mac.

So get tuned in, Ann, and tell it the way it is. Dense today want the lush life, not love. And I hope they get everything they deserve. — U. OF WASHINGTON.

* * *

DEAR U. OF WASHINGTON: Sorry, I don't buy it. There have always been dames who put money and comfort first, and those dolls go back further than 2,000 years. But an easy life with no emotional support didn't make them happy then, and it doesn't make them happy now.



The woman with a full set of brains does not look for looks, loot, or superficial trappings. She knows a glamorous facade which may fool the casual observer is like ashes in the mouth when there is no love, understanding and mutual respect.

* * *

Confidential to ME AND MY BIG MOUTH: The person doesn't live who has not at one time or another said something he wishes he could take back. I suspect part of your problem that night originated with those vodka martinis. Better to be a little quiet and inhibited than to shoot off your face and destroy friendships.

Points for Parents

By MARY BRYSON

Mother: "Now that school is out, don't think you're going to just play all summer! I'm going to draw up a plan of pitch in and help with the housework."

Mother: "We'll all have a better vacation if everyone helps with the work this summer. Let's decide which jobs you each would like to be responsible for."

Help will be more cheerfully given if the work is considered a co-operative enterprise rather than chores imposed by the parent.

DISTRICT WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

RIVER VALLEY WI

RIVER VALLEY — The June meeting of River Valley Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh with Mrs. Glenn Bush in charge.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen distributed recipe books and Mrs. Roy Tucker described unusual meeting places in England. Mrs. Gerald Brooks announced 4-H night will be held at Wellbridge June 12. River Valley WI is sponsoring a bus to the national convention in Guelph June 22-25. Swimming classes at the Kinsmen's pool in Belleville will again be sponsored, with 38 children on the list to date. A farm sale will be held June 26 at Hickson's Live-stock Sales and a centennial tea will be held at the school house Aug 3.

During the program Mrs. G. Bartels told of the procedure necessary to immigrate from Holland to Canada. Mrs. Nick De Haan gave a description of homes and schools in Holland and Mrs. Albert Wilhelm told of farming in Germany. The speakers conducted a question and answer period about their native lands.

Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh read a poem and Mrs. Alex Bush gave a reading. Mrs. Glenn Brooks sang two solos.

The July meeting will be held at the school house when the 4-H girls will put on a demonstration.

A meeting of the Ontario English Catholic Teachers' Association, district 4, was held recently at Nicholson Catholic College.

Gifts were presented to three teachers who are retiring this year: Reverend Sister Mary Rose, Mrs. Mary Callery and Mrs. Mary Farrell. Miss M. Durkin expressed appreciation to the retiring teachers for the many years of dedicated service they have given to the children of this district.

Miss Bertille Hurley, assistant executive secretary of D.E.C.T.A., was the guest speaker.

Miss Joanne Lee presented the slate of officers for 1967-1968. They are: past president Miss Theo Taggart; president, Miss Margaret Durkin; vice-president, Gerald Bibby, secretary, Miss Theresa Durkin; treasurer, Frank Evans; councillors, Jack Thorne, Sister Mary Carmelita, Miss Eileen O'Hara.

Discussion Heated at Convention

MONTREAL (CP) — Discussions at the annual convention of the National Council of Women became heated Wednesday as delegates discussed federal government aid for children hit by Vietnamese war.

A resolution finally was passed urging Ottawa to help the children of South Vietnam. But the term "south" was omitted from two other war-aid motions.

Before the first motion went through, an exchange developed over whether the resolution should be confined to the youngsters of South Vietnam or extended to all Vietnam, north and south.

Mrs. Pearl Pointe, the only Canadian Indian delegate to the convention, said she did not see how participants in the meeting "as mothers could exclude the word south in the resolution." She was representing the council's Nanaimo, B.C. branch.

One of the delegates responsible for the resolution said the term South Vietnam was used to describe a specific rehabilitation centre.

Adoption of the resolution was in its original form.

Mrs. Stanley Miles of Winnipeg Wednesday was named the new national president, succeeding Mrs. H. H. Steen, national president for the last three years, and Vancouver's Citizen of the Year.

Peace in Vietnam Urged by Poet's Widow

MONTREAL (CP) — Helena Kazantzakis, advocate of peace and widow of Greek author Nikos Kazantzakis, Wednesday urged women of the world to unite in an effort to bring about an end to the war in Vietnam.

Speaking to 300 women from 35 countries attending an international women's conference, Mrs. Kazantzakis warned that "a catastrophe is ahead of us if something isn't done quickly to stop the war in Vietnam and to bring about international disarmament."

"Everyone worries about nuclear warfare and the deaths which would result. But I say love face to face by withdrawing its forces from Vietnam.

Prior to Mrs. Kazantzakis' speech, delegates were read a letter from a women's "peace movement" in Vietnam addressed to the Voice of Women, organizers of the current conference.

The letter said the women of Vietnam would be grateful for any help the women of the world could offer in an attempt to bring about peace.

Mrs. Kazantzakis said the United States does not want to look at these people in whi you were on the side of the dead."

CHRIST CHURCH W.A. EVENING BRANCH

The meetings of the Evening Branch W.A. of Christ Church were brought to a close for the summer season with a buffet supper on Monday night. The three long tables were attractively centred with bouquets of spring blossoms and centennial place cards were at each plate.

Mrs. A. Bongard welcomed the guests and members.

Following the supper Canon R. B. Wright spoke of his pride in the fine work of the Anglican Church Women. Mrs. E. Hickey humorously reminisced of her early years in the W.A. work. Mrs. H. Stevens gave a reading and Mrs. J. Kilburn spoke briefly. Mrs. Williams presided at the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Hadley, world travellers, presented an entertaining hour with colored slides and interesting comments of their recent trip to New Zealand and Hong Kong.

On behalf of the group Mrs. Stevens expressed appreciation and presented them with a suitable gift.

Mr., Mrs. E. L. Hall Mark 50 Wedded Years

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hall, 323 Bleecker Ave., Belleville, were at home to friends and relatives Sunday on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Clifford Barber invited guests to the tea room, where the gold and white tiered anniversary cake was placed on a small table. The tea table was covered with a linen cloth and centred with a floral arrangement and gold candelabra. Those who poured were Mrs. Clarke Sprung, Mrs. Ben Anderson, Mrs. William Nightingale, Mrs. Stanley Barber, Mrs. Clarence Holmes, Mrs. Walter Downes, Mrs. William Davenport and Mrs. Richard Cameron. Members of the family served the guests and the couple's grandchildren were in charge of the guest book. Mountain View WI catered.

The wedding attendants, Mrs. W. Burkitt (nee Lander) of Mountain View and Clarke Sprung, also of Mountain View, were present for the occasion. Also present were the couple's two sons, Harry and Donald and daughters Mrs. Charles (Mildred) Scarrott and Mrs. Lorne (Pearl) McGeown, all of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall received gifts and flowers, a framed scroll from the Province of Ontario, a telegram from Premier John Roberts and congratulations from Mayor Jack Ellis.

A dinner and card party in honor of the couple was held at Maple Inn, Bloomfield, Saturday, with 20 guests in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall were married in Mountain View United Church, June 6, 1917, by Rev. Frank Anderson of Belleville. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Sprung of Mountain View and his parents were Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hall of Hull's Island. The couple farmed at Hull's Island before moving to Belleville in 1956. They have five children and 13 grandchildren.

Club Activities

GAMMA MU CHAPTER

A meeting of Gamma Mu Chapter was held June 8 at the home of Mrs. Jim Clarey, Gosnis at the meeting, introduced by vice-president Mrs. Don Deacon, included Mrs. Gerald Hill who has moved here from Ottawa and two members of the Belleville Nu Phi Mu Chapter, Mrs. Paul Zakos and Mrs. Brenda Morrow.

It was agreed by the Chapter that participation in the Meals on Wheels project continue and the names of spare volunteers for over the summer were submitted. The president reported that according to the yardstick set out by the international office, the Chapter received enough points to make it a three-star Chapter.

Mrs. Jim Clarey and Mrs. Bill Killam are leaving the Chapter, Mrs. Clarey to an Exemplar Chapter and Mrs. Killam to Toronto. They were presented with silver coffee spoons by the president, Mrs. Dave Davey. Final plans were announced for the girl of the year party, a Canadiana potluck supper, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Murray.

The program was presented by Mrs. Ross Burtt, who pointed out that all are amateurs in the art of living. Six basic needs are love, security, creative expression, recognition, new experiences and self-esteem. Mrs. Burtt set out simple rules such as keeping life simple, learning to enjoy work, hobbies and people. A comedy skit in two parts was presented showing the morning activities in a household. The cast included Mrs. Lorne Schnell, Mrs. John Sherry, Mrs. Ted Belyea, Mrs. Ron Fox, Mrs. Charles Lundy and Mrs. Glenn Deline.

Winners of the program of the year were Mrs. Don Deacon and Mrs. Daniel Findlay.

Ottawa Lawyer B'nai B'rith President

OTTAWA (CP) — When Jackie Horwitz was a youngster going to high school in Ottawa he decided his professional career would be in law and his avocation would be in Jewish welfare work.

At the age of 17, he was president of Ottawa Young Judea. Now at 33, he has just been elected president of B'nai B'rith district grand lodge No. 23, which embraces all of the Atlantic provinces, Quebec and Ontario.

When his father came to Ottawa in the 1890s from Stockholm, there were fewer than 10 Jews here to form a congregation. Now the district grand lodge is so large it has to hold its annual meetings in Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., where more than 1,000 can be given kosher accommodation and meal service.

Mr. Horwitz — whose given names are Jacob Charles, and whose initials, J. C., sound just like his first name—has an impressive record of welfare work in the Ottawa area.

He was president of Ottawa B'nai B'rith and founded Camp 400 children from the Ottawa B'nai B'rith at Quyon, Que., for Valley. At Queen's University he organized a Hillel Foundation and is its permanent chairman of the trustees. Hillel is a B'nai B'rith campus welfare organization for Jewish students.

Mr. Horwitz lives by the principles preached by Rabbi Hillel hundreds of years before Christ: Do not do unto others what you would not have done unto thyself.

His main interest is in promoting the work of the anti-Defamation League in B'nai B'rith.

"We have got to educate the children, and their teacher," he said in an interview. "We've got to get to children while they are young and before they form wrong impressions.

"Why is that when you ask a child what is a Jew, even when a child has never seen a Jew, he tells you a Jew is something sinister, with a long beard, and so on. Where do they get that notion, and how do we overcome that sort of thing?"

Barn-building Bee

Strictly Personal

We Do Not Like Being Taught

Thoughts at Large:

The personal dilemma of so many celebrities is that they are irritated by bangers-on and by public attention, yet they can't stand being alone.

• • •

Politics is the art of pretending that everybody will be better off if the politician's party is in power, whereas it is perfectly plain that no matter which party is in power, some elements will be better off and some will be worse off.

• • •

Human nature, as a whole, is somewhat manic-depressive: for things are never quite as good nor quite as bad as we think they are.

• • •

Hitting a child is always a sign of weakness; if an adult can't control a child merely with a look, his own character betrays a lack of authority that should be rectified before the child is blamed.

• • •

Recent rebellions in the churches bear out what Whitehead said many decades ago: "Religion will not regain its old power until it can face change in the same spirit as does science."

• • •

By the time we get around to saying "To make a long story short . . ." we have generally already made it too long.

• • •

Silence and egotism go together more commonly than we suspect; The chatterbox merely hopes to be liked for what he expresses; the taciturn demands to be respected for what he contains.

• • •

We all like to learn, but we do not like being taught; therefore, the best teacher is he who seems to do the least teaching and makes us feel that we are learning for ourselves.

• • •

For every one person who is genuinely "broadened" by travel, a hundred are merely confirmed in their preconceptions and prejudices.

• • •

When a statement scandalizes you, when it seems utterly wrong-headed from beginning to end — that is the time to examine it most carefully, for it may contain a truth you have long suppressed, out of rigid self-interest.

• • •

Attending church began, in the early days, as a symbol of religion; when did it become a substitute for it?

• • •

A clever man avoids all the little blunders that a stupid man stumbles into — and then falls into the most enormous pit that even a child would know enough to circumvent.

• • •

One of the great paradoxes of growing older was neatly observed: "After a certain age, the more one becomes oneself, the more obvious family traits become."

Rain at Last Shortens Queues At Expo's Minirail, Pavilions

Warning Trend Seen

Most of Canada will have temperatures ranging from near normal to much above normal during June, according to the 30-day outlook of the United States weather bureau. The Maritime provinces will have below-normal temperatures. Rain will be moderate on the prairies, heavy in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, and light elsewhere. (CP Newsmap)

MONTREAL (CP) — Princess Alexandra and her husband, Angus Ogilvy, will top their Canadian tour today with an unofficial visit to Expo 67.

Also at the fair today, official flag-raising ceremonies at Place des Nations will mark Scandinavia's national day at Expo.

Overcast and rainy skies which kept attendance down Wednesday were expected to clear today, with temperatures rising to a comfortable 71 for Princess Alexandra's visit.

At Place des Nations, Sweden, Norway, Finland, Denmark and Iceland will celebrate Scandinavia day with ceremonies which include an address by Kino Sten of Finland, chairman of the Nordic council established after the Second World War to increase co-operation among the Nordic countries in scientific and cultural fields.

About 500 sailors from three Scandinavian naval ships — the Swedish destroyer Halland, the Finnish frigate Matti Kurki and the Danish frigate Ingolf — will participate in the ceremonies.

Queues at the minirail and other rides and in front of the pavilions were much shorter than usual Wednesday afternoon and night as intermittent rain fell on the Expo site.

Police were called to the United Arab Republic pavilion when six pro-Israeli demonstrators, employed at the Expo site, began a noisy protest against the U.A.R.

Sgt. Jean-Claude Rondeau of the Montreal police took two demonstrators into custody for questioning.

Demonstrations are forbidden on the Expo site and near the entrances to the fair.

The situation in the Middle East, meanwhile, disrupted Iran's national day ceremonies which will take place Friday.

The conflict between the Arab countries and Israel brought cancellation of plans for the Shah of Iran to visit Canada and Expo. He will be represented by Iran's minister of economy.

Professor Says Papers Blacken Criminal Law

OTTAWA (CP)—A University of Montreal law professor has accused newspapers of making criminal lawyers look like criminals themselves and making criminal law a "despised discipline" among law students.

"It's a real handicap getting through to brilliant students because they don't want to make criminal law a career," Prof. Jacques Fortin told the Canadian Law Teachers Association Wednesday.

Brian Grossman of McGill University said the criminal lawyer in Quebec has been characterized as a "manipulator" and being "involved in politics."

First-rate law students were not joining the field and those who did had a difficult time because they did not know the "pre-trial negotiating process . . . exchanges of kindness" between attorneys, officers and lawyers which often took place before a trial started.

Mr. Grossman was interrupted during the discussion at the association's annual meeting by two colleagues. Prof. Stuart Ryan of Queen's University said he had never induced the Crown to drop a prosecution during his 17 years as a criminal lawyer, and had never heard of any other lawyer making deals.

Prof. Anthony Hooper of University of British Columbia told students found out "pretty quickly" about negotiating murder charges down to manslaughter charges.

"These kind of things are pretty much inevitable — the student should be aware of them before he leaves school," Prof. Hooper added.

The association also heard a warning about possible problems in legal aid systems.

Prof. Ryan said legal aid could clog up the courts. Ontario's new system had been swamped by 160,000 applications in the last two months, he said.

"We're not able to investigate the means of the clients as fast as their applications are coming in."

Wooler

WOOLER — Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McColl spent the week-end with their son, Mr. and Mrs. David McColl, Toronto.

Mrs. G. R. Putnam returned home on Saturday after spending three weeks in St. Catharines.

Mrs. M. Burrill is still a patient in Trenton Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hawes of England are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gooding.

Police Investigate Rash of Accidents

NAPANEE — After a period of relatively few traffic investigations, the Napanee detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police found itself investigating a rash of accidents within a little over 24 hours, beginning at 12.40 a.m June 3. There was one fatality, and several people were hospitalized for varying lengths of time. In most cases only one car was involved. Total damage is estimated at over $5,000. Some charges have been laid, and in several cases charges are pending as investigations are continuing.

The intersection of Highways 41 and 401 was the scene of a two-car accident at 12.40 a.m., Saturday, June 3. Total damage was estimated at $300 and there were no injuries to the drivers, Ralph Stephen Shaw of Kingston and William Hubert Brant of Deseronto.

John David Dempsey of RR1, Wilton, was instantly killed when his car turned over several times on the Camden Road near Highway 401. He was pronounced dead by coroner Dr. E R. Ellicott. The car was completely demolished in the accident reported at 3.27 a.m.

At 5.02 that morning, Stirling James Baker of RR1, Napanee, was uninjured when his car went out of control on Highway 2, and was damaged to the extent of about $300.

At 9.22 the same morning, Mrs. Ranu Karmakar of Montreal received injuries in an accident on Highway 401 at the Wilton cloverleaf, which necessitated her removal to Kingston General Hospital by ambulance with possible fractured ribs. She was one of three passengers in a car driven by Praley Sonu of Montreal. The car went out of control and rolled over. Damage is estimated at $600.

Reginald Ray Keech of Moscow and James David Virgin of Kingston both received minor injuries in an accident near Camden East, involving two cars.

Paul Richard Wood of Belleville was given emergency treatment in L. and A. Hospital for lacerations to his forehead and possible concussion as the result of a two - car accident near Tamworth Mobil near Deseronto just after five o'clock Saturday afternoon. George Andrew of Stirlsbury, driver of the second car, was uninjured.

A serious accident occurred Saturday evening on Highway 401 near the Camden Road in the Tamworth area which resulted in the hospitalization of the driver, Danny Coates of R. R. 3, Colebrook, and his passenger, Wayne Smith. Both are in the L. and A. Hospital, where their condition is reported as good. Coates has scalp lacerations and Smith has a fractured leg. Coates lost control of the car, which struck a tree. Damage is estimated at $2,000. The accident was reported at 8.50 p.m.

Irwin Lyle Young of Marlbank was slightly injured when he lost control of his car on Highway 41 near Roblin. Damage is estimated at $300. The accident was reported at 10 p.m. Saturday evening.

Randy Fyfe, 21, of Napanee narrowly escaped death when he lost control of his car about three miles from Napanee on the Camden Road shortly after midnight Sunday morning. The car was extensively damaged. Fyfe received severe lacerations to the throat, but fortunately the jugular vein was not injured. He was treated at the L. and A. Hospital and released.

In the following 48 hours, the officers of the Napanee detachment were called on to investigate four accidents, all minor, with no injuries.

Receive Word From Son at Sioux Lookout

DESERONTO — Mr. and Mrs. William Cochrane of Deseronto received the reassuring telephone call Saturday evening from their son Sgt. Robert Cochrane shortly after he and his family reached Sioux Lookout after a two weeks' absence. Although they could not reach their home immediately because of flames sweeping across the road, they learned, after turning back, that while homes on both sides of theirs had been destroyed their own home had been spared. Later that night, however, the flames had subsided and they, and a few of those who had been evacuated, were quite safe in their own homes. The rest of the evacuees returned next day.

Sgt. Cochrane is an instructor in radio technology at the RCAF base on Sam Lake, 19 miles from Sioux Lookout itself. While there are many permanent buildings at the base, including barracks, a post office, and residences, there is also a large trailer camp which is patronized by the men who do not expect to remain at the station for long. Sgt. and Mrs. Cochrane and their four children from 12 to five years of age, occupy a 44 foot trailer.

Two weeks earlier the Cochrane family had left to join the rest of the family in celebrating the 50th wedding anniversary of the parents. The following week they spent at Expo, leaving for home Thursday. They were turned back by the flames about two o'clock Saturday afternoon and made their way to the ball park, where they found many cars parked. It was in an area which had been cleared. There were few people there, but eventually they found someone who told them that everyone had been taken out. Most of them left by water.

Rain and a change in the wind saved the town and the RCAF base.

Appliance Prices To Rise

TORONTO (CP) — Prices of most major household appliances will rise one to three per cent "in the very near future," the Canadian Appliance Manufacturers Association was told Wednesday.

J. C. Cooper of Toronto, president of Moffats Ltd., told about 125 CAMA members at their annual convention the industry can no longer absorb rising wages and increases in basic materials costs and taxes.

"Prices of major lines now are below what they were in 1956," Mr. Cooper said. "We expect to increase with new lines and realign ... fall."

Anglicans Urge Anthem Mention God, Not Queen

TORONTO (CP)—The Anglican synod of the Toronto diocese has accepted the principle that God but not the Queen should be mentioned in Canada's national anthem.

At sessions Wednesday, delegates approved half of a two-part resolution on the anthem submitted by Rev. A. A. Chois.

No action has yet been taken by the Commons on a suggestion by a parliamentary committee that the words of O Canada be changed. The committee has recommended adoption of the music for the anthem.

Rev. Chois's resolution dealing with God, quickly approved, suggested that the anthem should incorporate an expression of gratitude to God who "has so richly endowed Canada."

Rejected was the part suggesting that "in view of the monarchy's unique role" in Canada's history there should be a prayer to God "to safeguard our heritage".

Rev. W. R. Shephard, saying the reference to the monarchy could be misconstrued by Canadians, called it a "red herring."

Ottawa Minister Named Presbyterian Moderator

OTTAWA (CP) — Rev. John Logan - Vencta, 60, of Ottawa was elected moderator of the 93rd general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada on the second ballot Wednesday night.

He won the election over Dr. A. Lorne Mackay of Central Church, Hamilton, other Rev. E. H. Bean of Sydney, N.S., was eliminated on the first ballot.

Dr. Logan-Vencta, who holds the Order of the British Empire, was ordained in 1931 and has served at St. Giles' Church since then, except for service with the army in the Second World War when he was a chaplain (Protestant). He was mentioned twice in dispatches.

He was elected by 200 ministers and laymen at the assembly's opening session in Knox Presbyterian Church, the first held in Ottawa in the last 16 years.

He succeeds Rev. G. Deane Johnston of Brantford.

Besides his meritorious war service, Dr. Logan-Vencta has been past president of the Ottawa Council of Churches, and moderator of presbytery and of synod.

Dr. Logan - Vencta came to Canada from Scotland in 1926. He was a student minister at Merritt, Ont., while studying at Knox College, Toronto.

Women Serve as Commissioners

OTTAWA (CP) — Two precedents were set Wednesday as 275 delegates to the 93rd general assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Canada met here.

For the first time women were among the commissioners, and will vote in the highest Presbyterian court in Canada.

Mary Whale, Cookeville, Ont., an elder in Erindale Church, West Toronto Presbytery, and Mrs. George Forrester of Carlsbad, Ont., will both participate in the assembly.

Women were made eligible for ordination to the ministry and eldership by the 1936 general assembly. About a dozen have been elected as elders in their congregations so far but none has been ordained to the ministry, although several have graduated in theology in recent years.

Religious Privileges Denied

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Anglican leaders Wednesday opposed cuts in religious privileges at correctional camps after a report that prisoners at the Beaver Creek correctional camp in Gravenhurst were not allowed to join in Good Friday and Easter services this year.

The 150 delegates to the Algoma synod unanimously passed a resolution to send a letter of protest to the federal commission of penitentiary services.

Rev. W. R. Thistle, part-time chaplain at the minimum security prison in Gravenhurst, 25 miles north of Orillia, said his visits have been cut to two a week plus a Sunday morning service.

Other activities, such as weekly discussions, Alcoholics Anonymous meetings, Lenten talks and the annual retreat have also been cancelled.

Priests Able To Take Jobs

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont (CP)—Priests may take secular jobs if they have the bishop's permission, the Algoma diocese of the Anglican Church of Canada decided Wednesday night.

Rev. Colin Clay of St. James' Church in Sudbury, who introduced the resolution, is a part-time lecturer at Laurentian University.

He said the motion was based on the changing nature of the parish ministry and the growing inability of most parishes to pay an adequate salary.

The synod approved a pay increase for priests to $5,000 from $3,400, plus house, car, and utility allowances, effective July 4.

Women will be allowed to take part in the 1968 synod.

A second precedent was established this morning when for the first time a Roman Catholic, Most Rev. Sergio Pignedoli, apostolic delegate to Canada, brought greetings to the assembly.

EX-CHIEF CLEARED

WHITBY, Ont. (CP)—Robert Cameron, 64, was acquitted Wednesday of stealing $100 in magistrates court three while he was police chief in Port Perry, Ont., June 8, 1966. He was suspended from the force after the charge was laid.

The Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 8, 1967

He stood behind the counter of the Belleville steak house — the whole 95 pounds, four-foot-six of him.

A ballish customer looked down at him and smiled. In jocular vein he quipped, "Listen, sonny, you should be a jockey."

What the customer did not know at the time was that the innocent remark laid the foundation of a lucrative career for the pint-size youngster.

He couldn't get it out of his head. Later when he read a newspaper yarn about a world famous jockey his mind was made up.

He wrote the secretary of the Ontario Jockey Club and received an invitation to meet him at the Fort Erie racetrack. Here he witnessed his first horse race — and liked what he saw.

And the OJC secretary liked what he saw. He sent the youngster to the E. P. Taylor Windfield Farms near Toronto. That happened three years ago — and he is still there.

Today Picton-born Ted Kernahan is one of the best-liked jockeys in the Taylor ridding fraternity.

Ted is a product of BCI here and married a Belleville girl, Beverly Burgess. He has a 15 months old son and expects "a brother or sister for Christopher Dale Kornahan" within a month or so.

At Windfield Farms, Ted learned to "feel-walk" horses, later helping to break in yearlings. In 1965 he was given his first mount "My Alf" and finished in third place.

He was given a year-round contract and still has one. He lives year-round in the barn at Windfield Farms. Most of the married personnel of the Taylor racing family do likewise.

In his first year as a rider Ted rode 61 mounts finishing in front eight times in allowance and claiming races. In 1966 he won 56 races and was named the leading apprentice on the Ontario circuit. Totalie he has ridden 76 winners.

"He gave me special personal instruction and really helped me to get where I am," Ted said. "He taught me how to clock a horse mentally. I cannot explain that quite clearly but it seems that when the horse starts, a clock inside you starts ticking. A jockey can gauge the speed quite accurately this way."

Ted, 22, weighs 97 pounds today in "civvies", 103-104 with his tack. But he has a problem.

He has developed bone chips on the knees which has stopped his riding for the season. He will undergo surgery later on.

He first learned about the chips while riding when, he said "My knee seemed to lock." He does not blame his riding activities for the condition, rather he says "it could have been developed while I was playing hockey or baseball with the boys on the Farms."

Why does a jockey stand high in the stirrups after a race?

"It takes the pressure off him," said Ted, "the knees is not being pushed and slows down. Horses are like people. In fact some horses I know have more sense. And they will not take advantage of you."

Every jockey wants a secret ambition to win the Queen's Plate. If Ted has the chance he will take it, but as of now "I just want to be a good clean rider."

"It is a fine life," he says, "and I have never been sorry I entered it. I hope to be able to ride for many years and enjoy meeting new people and the comaradeship of the grand guys with whom I work."

And the financial returns are not bad. A jockey gets $25 for the mount; plus $50 if he wins; $40 for second place and $30 for third. If he finishes in the rack he gets $25. Three or four winners a day will net him a handsome pay cheque.

Ted is a good-looking dark-haired young man who doesn't touch smokes on occasion, ai cigarette. His mother resides in Belleville with two brothers, Sam, 16, and Rob 10. His father passed away a few years ago.

Endorsed By Owners

NHL Players Form Bargaining Group

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League Players Association, a bargaining group for the toiling skaters, came into being Wednesday at the NHL annual meeting and was formally welcomed and endorsed by the league owners.

Allan Eagleson, 3 - year - old Toronto lawyer who is president of Toronto Rifles of the Continental Football League, represented the 12 NHL owners.

A joint statement said the league's expansion has brought new problems and that both owners and players want their own matters resolved in a workable committee.

Meanwhile, the case of Red Kelly of Toronto Maple Leafs settled down to the simmering stage while league president Clarence Campbell revealed a reply from the Toronto club to a written protest filed by owner Jack Kent Cooke of the new Los Angeles Kings.

Cook and Kelly claim Toronto welshed on an agreement, at Tuesday's expansion draft, that would have permitted Kelly to go to Los Angeles as coach on the final draft call.

PIERRE PILOTE

The Toronto club is said to have agreed to Los Angeles taking Kelly on the first call of the draft an Toronto could reclaim Bobby Baun, also left unprotected. Toronto returned Kelly to the untouchable list at the 10th call in the 12-round draft.

Elsewhere, the clubs plucked 22 youngsters in two amateur-player drafts, eoglecered a couple of minor deals and appleuded the Hockey Hall of Fame selectors for making four persons to that exalted body.

Membership in the players' association is on a voluntary basis and for the present it is confined to the NHL.

Bob Pulford of Toronto Maple Leafs was elected president. Associated with him are Pierre Pilote, of Chicago, Bob Nevin and Dave Horwell of New York, Norm Ullman of Detroit, Ed Johnston of Boston and J. C. Tremblay of Montreal.

Eagleson will serve as executive director for the players. The owners will have a committee of six, three from each the East and West division of the league.

The East division will be represented by Bruce Norris of Detroit, David Molson of Montreal and William Wirts of Chicago; the West by Walter Bush of Minnesota, Barry Van Gerbig of California and Senator Jack McGregor of Pittsburgh.

The league governors decided to postpone the deadline for protected lists until June 28.

Ordinarily, the lists of two goalies and 18 players would have been filed Wednesday. It was felt that with the expansion of the league, plus Tuesday's big draft, all clubs would need more time to sort out what they have two-or haven't.

There was no indication that the dispute over Red Kelly had officially come before the governors.

BOB PULFORD

Kelly, retired as an active player and was believed set for the Los Angeles coaching job until the Leafs suddenly moved the unprotected veteran to their fill-in list.

There is nothing to prevent the Leafs from engineering a trade with Los Angeles and sending over Kelly, but there has been speculation the Leafs now may want plenty in return —maybe even goalie Terry Sawchuk, who was taken by Los Angeles at the outset of the draft.

There is a possibility the dispute may not be resolved for some time. League president Campbell has said he knows of no agreement about Kelly and, what's more, would not have been a partner to it.

In a deal concluded Wednesday, Minnesota North Stars purchased from Montreal Canadiens for an unstated amount two players in Canadiens' farm chain and the rights to two amateurs.

The pros are Goalie Carl Wetzel, native of Detroit, and Bill Masterson. The amateurs are Steve Sutherland and Pierre Provost.

Rightwinger Don Atwell was purchased by St. Louis from Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League. St. Louis also acquired rights to amateurs Claude Cardin and Phil Oberlander from Montreal.

Hall Happy, If Price Is Right

EDMONTON (CP) — Goalie Glenn Hall said Wednesday he'll be happy to report to St. Louis Blues if the new team in the National Hockey League offers enough money.

He said in an interview: "I bet it be known what my asking price would be."

Hall, who retired a year ago but changed his mind when Chicago Black Hawks suffered more misery, was drafted from the Hawks by St. Louis.

Hall said he expects a letter saying how glad St. Louis is to have him "and all that jazz.

"Well, I'll just have to write them back and ask 'em: 'How glad?'"

Four In Row

Cub's Jenkins Ups Win Streak

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— "This is my longest winning streak, four straight, and I am going in try to keep it going," said Ferguson Jenkins, Chicago Cub right-hander after his 3-1 three-hitter over Philadelphia Phillies Wednesday night.

For the season, Jenkins now is 7-3, best since the Phils brought him up from the minors at the end of 1965 season. The Cubs got him in a trade early in the 1966 campaign for a white ace reliever Leo Durocher was using him in relief.

"He was the big stroke kid, only 22, and my club wasn't so good — we were in last place right from the start—and I asked Jenkins what he wanted to do, steer or work in the bullpen," said Durocher.

"The guy really got me, he said he wanted to relieve. Said you ever hear of a young pitcher who didn't want to get in there and start!"

So Durocher used Jenkins, whose home is in Chatham, Ont., for relief until mid-season when I found he was doing such a good job for 3-3-4 innings that I figured he should be in there all the way."

Jenkins had a 6-8 record last season and the way he's going, says Durocher, should finish with 20 victories easy.

"I think so," said Ferguson, who claims he manages to baffle the hitters with his slider and curve, and sometimes with a fast ball.

Ferguson struck out nine and didn't walk a Phillie. He retired the first nine batters he faced. Then Tony Gonzalez opened the fourth with a homer over the right field wall. "

The next 10 Phils went down in order before Rich Allen slashed a single into centre. The third hit was a pinch double by Doug Clemens in the ninth.

Jenkins said that despite his near-perfect control the game wasn't the best he's pitched.

"I think every one I pitch's a good game," he said, "because that's all I want to do is win."

Suns Drub Wings 17-5 On 22 Hits

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Rochester Red Wings continued its flounder in the International League baseball schedule Monday night, absorbing a 17-5 drubbing at the hands of last-place Jacksonville Suns.

The humiliating loss, one of several the Wings have suffered in recent weeks, saw their lead dwindle to just three games over idle Toronto Maple Leafs whose home game with Toledo Mud Hens was rained out.

The Suns ravaged Rochester pitchers for 22 hits and scored nine runs off three Wing pitchers in the second inning when 14 batters went to the plate.

In the other games Wednesday, Buffalo Bisons hammered Columbus Jets 7-3 and Richmond Braves fell to Syracuse Chiefs 5-4.

CELTIC WINS AGAIN

MADRID (AP) — Glasgow Celtic, which 13 days ago won European Cup and League Champions, reaffirmed its title Wednesday by defeating Real Madrid 1-0 in an exhibition match.

South Hastings Games Postponed

Rain forced postponement of two South Hastings Baseball League games, Shannonville at Read and Canifton Plate's at Latta, last night. Both games have been re-scheduled for Monday next at 6.45 p.m.

The Trent Valley Softball League game, Fuller Aces at Trenton Carn's, was also washed out. The other games between Point Anne and Madoc have been postponed this week because of high school examinations.

Sport Miniatures

BERLIN (AP) — Billie Jean King and Rosemary Casals each scored singles victories and then teamed for a doubles triumph over Rhodesia Wednesday to get the defending champion United States off to a flying start in the Federation Cup tennis championships.

Red Storey, Broda, Colville, Oliver Elected To Hockey Hall Of Fame

RED STOREY

MONTREAL (CP) — Turk Broda, hockey's fabulous fat man, and Red Storey, who resigned as National Hockey League referee because of criticism in 1958, Wednesday were named to the hockey hall of fame along with Neil Colville and Harry Oliver.

The selections by the nominating committee were the fewest since the hall of fame was organized in 1961.

Broda, born in Brandon, Man., in 1914, was one of the most colorful characters in hockey. He played goal for Toronto Maple Leafs for 14 years, with one year out for military service during the Second World War.

He played on five Stanley Cup teams and had a record of 13 playoff shutouts and the most playoff games played at 101. He won the Vezina Trophy twice as the league's outstanding goaltender.

Always a victim of over weight, Broda was put down and threatened with loss of salary until he lost 14 pounds in 1945. He wrestled it off at a Toronto gymnasium, missed one game and "felt great."

In 1834, Broda's room-mate, Charlie Irvine pulled a stunt on the goaltender that he didn't admit to until more than 30 years later.

Broda was out when his new suit was delivered and Irvine told the delivery boy to take it back and cut two inches off the legs.

"If I'd told him about it then he probably would have killed me," Irvine said, while raising the story last year.

Broda currently coaches London Nationals of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series.

Storey, who becomes the seventh referee to be named to the hall of fame, resigned over a dispute with league president Clarence Campbell.

A former football player with Toronto Argonauts, he scored three touchdowns in the final quarter of the 1938 Grey Cup game against Winnipeg.

His dispute with Campbell came after a wild free-for-all during a Stanley Cup playoff game between Montreal Canadiens and the Black Hawks at Chicago.

Campbell was quoted as saying Storey "froze" on two penalties. Campbell later said he was quoted out of context, but Storey refused to return.

"He (Campbell) can't erase his accusations from the minds of the fans," Storey said at the time.

He had entered the NHL in 1950 and had refereed more than 2,000 games during his nine seasons in the league.

Storey still referees at a number of minor hockey tournaments throughout the winter.

Colville, a native of Edmonton, began his professional career with New York Rangers in 1936 and played for the club 13 years. Born in 1914, he was a captain in the Ottawa Commandos who won the Allan Cup in 1943 while serving in the Canadian armed forces.

He played four more seasons with the Rangers after the Second World War, retiring in 1949 because of an injury. He now lives in Vancouver.

Oliver was one of the lightest players in hockey at 155 pounds. He played with Boston Bruins for eight years and joined New York Americans in 1934 where he played for three years.

He scored 227 goals during his 11-year NHL career and was assisted on 86.

Lombanks Win On Masters' 5-Hitter

By GARRY ALEXANDER
Staff Sportswriter

Doo Masters pitched himself out of a tight ninth-inning jam to earn a sound performance and protect a 3-2 Belleville Lombank win over Kendal in ROBA senior baseball action at the Fairgrounds last night.

The victory was Belleville's third in succession and tightened the club's grip on first place, with a record of four wins and two defeats.

Masters allowed three early hits but breezed through five innings without being touched while his mates broke a 2-2 tie with a run in the fifth.

Kendal's Trew, who had gone into the game the previous inning, singled to left opening the ninth, the first hit off Masters since the third frame.

Carleton popped a bunt near third which caught the Lombank infield moving. It fell for a base hit with still none out. "Masters fanned leadoff batter Tom Worden for the fourth time but erred on Keller's quick back to the box, loading the bases. Wade was out on an infield pop but closeup batter Pickle worked Masters to a full count before going down swinging to end it.

In all, Masters gave up five hits, struck out 8, even dozen and walked five.

Kendal led in the first on a walk, passed ball and Pickle's base hit. The Lombanks struck back for two in their half with Woods' bunt single igniting the rally. After a forcout, Mavety slammed a game-tying triple, McKibbon walked and Forsythe singled another home.

Blair Conconx and Pickle and an error made K 2-2 in the third.

Woods was the key again in the fifth with a leadoff single. Moe Hunter sacrificed him to second and McKibbon drove home the winning run with a two-out base knock.

Ted Lane went seven innings to take the pitching loss with Ralph Kennedy shlowing one hit and fanning two in the eighth. Lane was tagged for eight safeties, whiffing two and walking one.

Wayne Woods, with three singles, Larry Mavety a triple and single and John McKibbon a double and single, led the Lombank attack. Don Forsythe also singled and Pat Asselstine doubled.

The Handguns

The Quinte Trap and Gun Club is enjoying another season of twice-weekly shoots, each Sunday at 10.30 a.m. and each Wednesday at 6.30 p.m.

In last night's shoot, Fort Marvin and L. Blue led the way with perfect scores of 25. G. Robert, J. Walsh and J. Kelley had 22's, L. Reynolds 21, G. Bates and R. Thomson 20 each.

For Kendal, Ray Pickle had a pair, Trew, Terry Carleton and Ray Couroux one bit each.

Kendal: Worden c, Couroux rf, Wade 1b; Pickle cf, Masters p, Hunter 2b, Carleton ss, Kennedy lf, p, Lane p, West 3b, Carleton 2b, Kelly rf, Trew lf.

Lombanks: Asselstine ss, Woods cf, 3b, Hunter 3b, 1b, Mavety c, McKibbon rf, Forsythe 2b, Moxon 1b, Clarke lf, Masters p, Soule cf.

Minor Softball

Only two games were played in the Belleville Minor Softball Association's squirt division, both on the West Hill, last night.

Due to the conditions of the fields, the other games will be re-scheduled at a later date.

Tuck Appliances outlasted the Bombers 28-20 in one game while Cubs demolished the Reds 34-2 in the other game.

The B.M.S.A. has announced that they are looking for need umpires for the various divisions on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Those wishing to assist are asked to contact B.M.S.A. president Hugh Sutherland.

Parsons Lose To Trenton

Belleville Parsons, hampered by injuries to several regulars, are finding it very going pretty, tough in the Kingston and District Soccer League.

They dropped their second game of the week in Trenton last night, 5-3 at the hands of the new Trenton Travelers club.

Parsons' next start is against Kingston German Society Club. It will be played at Zwicks Island Sunday at 6.00 p.m.

Trenton built a 2-0 first - half lead and made it 3-0 before Bob Rutherford finally scored for Belleville. Don Fletcher beat Trenton goalie Hamilton with a good 20 - yard drive later but by then it was a 4-2 game and Trenton's Angus Cameron closed the scoring with a narrow - angle drive.

Robin Finlay opened Trenton's scoring on a breakaway and centre forward Aiven upped it to 2-0 by going through a mass of defenders. Addsworth and Aiven won his second established at the 4-1 count.

Surgery For Howe

MONTREAL (CP)— An official of the Detroit Red Wings Hockey Club said Wednesday Gordie Howe, a 31-year veteran with the club and leading National League goal scorer of all time, will enter hospital in Detroit today for surgery in remove a large cyst from his right elbow.

Howe, 39, injured the elbow during a late-season game in Toronto and the cyst has since developed. After examination today surgery will be performed Friday by Dr. John Finley, the club physician.

Howe is the NHL's only 600-goal man with 640 in regular season play.

Ellis Srs. Defeat Picton 10-5

Belleville's Ellis Seniors drew three straight decues in the late innings to chalk up their third consecutive Quinte - KASA softball victory in Picton last night.

The Sen..rs dumped Picton Kissmen 10-5 and play their next game against Kingston LaFontaine Clippers at Alemike Park tonight.

Picton had scored three runs in the sixth inning to grab a narrow 5-4 lead when the visitors decided to play "decues wild". They netted pairs in the seventh, eighth and ninth frames to bring their season record to three wins and a tie.

Bobby Green, Ellis' playing coach, started on the mound and went way to Bob Ethier in the sixth. They allowed 11 hits, struck out 14 and walked four.

Ken DeMille and Carl Stacey in the eighth gave up eight hits on the Kissmen's rubber, striking out 12 and walking one.

Forster, M. Stacey and Ostrander put together hits for a 2-0 Picton lead in the first but Plane hit safely and scored later to get one back for the visitors in the second.

An error, Moon's hit and Boomhower's three-run homer shoved Belleville ahead 4-2 in the fourth. Ostrander and M. Stacey combined hits with errors, a walk and passed ball for Picton's 5-4 lead in the sixth.

Two miscues and Ethier's single plated the lying and winning runs in the seventh. Muirhead, Plane and Boomhower hit safely for two in the eighth while Mavis's double and two errors closed out the scoring.

Carl Boomhower had his bonus run and single and Ralph Plane two base knocks to spark the winners. Paul Merav doubled and other safeties went to Stu Muirhead, Bob Moon and Bob Ethier.

Marve Stacey carried a hot stick in defeat with four singles while Warren Ostrander and Carl Stacey had two each. Frank Forster doubled and other safeties went to Dave Lockwood and Eldon Carrol.

Cheesemen Meet First Defeat

When it was over, City was still undefeated after whipping Stewart Warner 14-8 but Black Diamond fell back with a 6-5 loss at the hands of the improving Lightfoot crew.

Lightfoots built a 4-0 lead after five frames and led 6-3 after six before the Cheesemen made it close with two runs in the seventh.

Don Smith gave up eight hits, fanned six and walked two in hurling Lightfoots' second win in as many nights. B. Swan started and gave way to Don Holoway in the sixth for the Cheesemen. They allowed nine hits, struck out seven, six by Swan, and passed two.

Doug Rose, with a triple and single, Frank "Shiner" Murray, with a home run, and G. Perry, with a three-bagger, supplied the winners' extra-base hitting. Cheesemen hit two singles, Paul Goodfellow, L. Johnston and Don Smith one each.

B. Fraser and B. Swan had two hits each, Don Holoway a double, J. Francis, Jack Gilby and Stan Alserne a loner each for Black Diamond.

The Hotelmen fell behind 2-0 in the top of the first and led 3-2 when the inning was over to set the pace in the other free-scoring affair. Four runs in the sixth sewed up the decision.

Each club collected eight hits but walks and errors helped build the score.

Doug Murray, Bob Lloyd and Tom Cooken had a brace of singles each, Jack Hughes a double and Bob Brooks the other base knock for City Hotel.

Lyle Wannamaker slammed a home run, double and single in a losing effort for Stewart Warner. Chuck Rowbotham had a double and single, Gary Cow two hits and Moe Hawkins one.

Gerry Comeroust and Dave Feeney pitched for the winners, striking out five and walking six while Doug Ellis and Moe Hawkins whiffed seven and walked 14, 11 by Ellis, in defeat.

Apollo "Lifters" Named To Pan-Am Games Team

By GEO. H. CARVER
Sports Editor

The Belle heralded and less unsung sport of weightlifting has again thrust Belleville in the national sports headlines.

Two of Canada's top "lifting" men with a retinue of five others will represent the city and nation at the Pan-American Games slated for Winnipeg in July and August.

Ken Carr-Braint, manager-owner-trainer of the Apollo Barbell Club of this city has been named the coach of the national lifting team.

King of the country's heavyweight lifters is Price Morris of Apollo, crowned national champion of his class at the recent trials.

Carr-Braint is, no stranger to overseas international lifting competition. Two years ago he piloted Canada's team at the world championships held in Teheran, Iran. Last year he mentored the team at the British Empire Games held in Jamaica, West Indies.

Morris is the second Belleville heavyweight champion to compete for Canada at the Pan-Am Games. In 1963 John Lewis, since retired, made his international debut at the games held in Sao Paulo, Brazil. He was on Canada's Olympic team in 1964.

Morris was Canadian teenage champion in 1960; intermediate champion in 1964 and Ontario champion in 1965-66 and 67.

An injured shoulder almost forced him out of the sport but he recovered to win the national championship. In Quebec this year he lifted a total of 1005 pounds. Last week he upped the poundage to 995, the second highest score of the trials.

Carr-Braint is also proud of the fact that six of his Apollo Club members have been selected as "loaders" for the Pan-Am competitions. They are Bruce Wilson, Enos Evans, Arthur Wall, Gary Wall, Larry Carr-Braint and Paul Barrett.

These boys must pay their own transportation to Winnipeg thanks to the heartedness of the Federal Sports Council, but while they are there will live in the Games Village and given free room and board. It will be an opportunity for them to see the finest athletes of the Americas in action.

Carr-Braint founded the Apollo Barbell Club back in 1951. He started weightlifting during the war and saw its possibilities.

Weightlifting is strictly an amateur sport in Canada. After the club was started it promoted contests in the city. The age limit is 13 and membership is open otherwise to anybody.

The Canadian teen-age and intermediate championships have been held each year since 1961 by telegraph. The Apollo Club has always managed to win one of the contests.

There are 25 members at present but the average number of people participating through the course of a year is around 40.

The club has no sponsors and the boys have to pay their own way to every contest they attend — even the Pan-American Games.

Carr-Braint thinks highly of Morris who is 22 and lives near Frankford. He has been "lifting" for some eleven years.

Selection of the Apollo's Carr-Braint as coach of the national lifting team and his heavyweight Morris as a team member is not only an honor to the club but to the city as well.

There are very few — if any cities of comparable size in the country that can make such a claim. Not forgetting the six young representative loaders".

The best of luck, gentlemen and don't forget to bring home a medal, gold preferred.

And Away They Go!

These six youngsters will get a lift out of their trip to the Pan-Am Games in Winnipeg next month. They are members of the Apollo Barbell Club who will accompany Canada's national "lifting team" as "loaders." The boys pay their own way with the exception they will get free room and board. Pictured above are Bob Wall, Enos Evans, Arthur Wall, Gary Walt, Larry Carr-Braint and Paul Barrett.

Up—And Over The Top!

Price Morris, Canadian heavyweight lifting champion, shows "how it is done." Price established a fine record total lift of 995 pounds at the Pan-Am Games trials to win a spot on the national team.

"To The Victor..."

Dillard Wins Lawsuit

OTTAWA (CP) — Fullback Jim Dillard's contract with the Ottawa Rough Riders Football Club must remain in force, Mr. Justice Ferguson of the Ontario Supreme Court ruled Wednesday.

In handing down his decision in a civil action between Dillard and the club, the judge also ruled that $2,695 the club deducted from the player's pay last year must be returned to him.

Mr. Justice Ferguson refused a claim by the club seeking payment of an identical sum from Dillard. The club reinstated Oakland Raiders of the American Football League for half of a $5,000 bonus that team paid Dillard in 1965, although he never reported to them.

The decision awarded nominal damages of $1 against Dillard because of misrepresentation on the backfielder's part when he signed contracts with the Ottawa club. Costs of the action are to be shared jointly by Dillard and the club.

CSS Midget Track Champion

A Crothers In The Making?

Frank Johnston, Grade 9 student at Centennial Secondary School, who recently won the midget division all-Ontario championship in the 440 yard event at Hamilton, will compete in the inter-provincial Centennial events in New Brunswick during the Dominion Day holiday period.

Frank is one of five students from Belleville schools expected to go to New Brunswick but is the only city student winning an all-Ontario event at Hamilton.

The other local students going to New Brunswick are Grant Vandervoort, and Glen Easton, runners from Quinte, and David Wright and John Chalmers, both discus throwers from BCI, who won second and third place respectively at Hamilton.

The 14-year-old Centennial Secondary School student has made a clean sweep of 440 yard events in inter-school, Bay of Quinte and COSSA competitions this year, and has come in first in seven events.

At Hamilton he won in 52.4 seconds, only one second off the all-Ontario record for any class division. He was individual champion in the Bay of Quinte and COSSA events this year.

In New Brunswick he will compete in the 880 yard event, the mile relay, and long jump as well as in the 440 event.

The students' council at Centennial is picking up Frank's $30 share of transportation costs to allow him to go to the Maritimes.

It takes long hours of training to come in a consistent winner in track events and with Frank there is no exception. He gets in about half an hour every day, jogging three to five half miles at different speeds.

The next day he alternates and does four to five miles in a cross country run.

Frank's natural modesty prevents him from boasting about future track prospects, but his coach, Bruce Fralick, has no doubt about his potential.

"Frank has the ability and could be as good as Bill Crothers if he continues to train," says Mr. Fralick.

Paddlin' Down The River

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—The centennial voyageur canoe pageant saw position changes Wednesday as it beats its way down the muddy North Saskatchewan river.

Manitoba increased its lead to three minutes, 16 seconds by covering 49 miles from Fort Carleton, Sask., in five hours, 45 minutes, 55 seconds—a minute and 10 seconds ahead of second-place British Columbia.

Ontario, after a tough battle with New Brunswick and Quebec, finished fifth in the day's run and moved to sixth spot from seventh in over-all standings.

Nolan Had The 'Willies'

By ED SCHUYLER Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Willie won't soon forget Gary Nolan, and Nolan will long remember Willie.

Willie Mays will remember the 19 pitches Nolan threw past him Wednesday night as chief victim of the young Cincinnati right - hander's 15-strikeout performance.

Nolan will remember Willie McCovey for the one pitch he didn't throw past the San Francisco first baseman. McCovey hit it out of the park for a three - run homer to tie the game, which the Giants won 4-3 by scoring in the ninth inning off Bob Lee, who relieved Nolan after McCovey's homer.

"It was a good pitch I made to McCovey," the 19-year-old rookie said. "I thought he would either pop it up or hit a grounder. It was just one of those things."

In other National League action, Pittsburgh Pirates blasted New York Mets 9-0, Chicago Cubs topped Philadelphia Phillies 3-1, Atlanta Braves walloped Los Angeles Dodgers 13 - 5 and Houston Astros trounced St. Louis Cardinals 17-1.

"He's just tremendous," Cincinnati manager Dave Bristol said of Nolan who has won four of his five decisions. "I told him if he got Willie Mays, I would keep him in. He's such a man in every way you just have confidence in him and go along with him.

Nolan did get Mays. Willie came up in the eighth with Jesus Alou and Tom Haller on base via singles and went down on strikes for the fourth time. McCovey, who also was fanned twice by Nolan, then homered on the first pitch.

The Reds scored three runs off Juan Marichal in the sixth. Pete Rose homered for two of them. The other scored when Deron Johnson singled, went to second on a throwing error by Mays and came home on Tommy Helms' single.

Departmental Softball

Home runs belted shutout pitching by Johnny Edwards and Ron Culcleen as The Intelligencer blanked the Police Department 9-0 in Departmental Softball League action last night.

It was the loop's second shutout in succession, coming behind the Fire Department's 7-0 blanking of Electric Motors Tuesday evening. The loop-leading Firemen play the Combines tonight at 6:30.

Don Wood sparked the Intelligencer with a home run and two singles; Terry Hiddleston hit one three-run homer and had another reduced to a double after failing to touch third base, while Bobby Bearse also homered against the short-staffed Police crew. Bob McCann also doubled for the winners.

Jack Boulter had three losers' singles while Harold Reid who came late to fill out the Police lineup, slammed the ball hard twice and earned a single.

Edwards and Culcleen had three strikeouts each while Young Scotty Reid fanned five in a route-going losing cause.

The current league standing has the Firemen with a 4-0 record, Intelligencer 2-1, Combines 1-2, Police and Electric Motors 1-3 each.

SIDE DRESS YOUR CORN NOW!

Bad weather prevented a pre-plant application of anhydrous ammonia in many areas. For some farmers this means that a side dress application is even more vital to insure a high yield of corn.

Agrico anhydrous ammonia is 82% nitrogen. It's the lowest cost source of nitrogen available. It's economical because you apply it directly at the root zone where it is needed. Apply it yourself with one of our modern rental applicators or contact your local Agrico dealer for a custom application.

HAMBURG, N.Y. (CP)—Armbro Rhek, three - year - old colt driven by Ken Galbraith, won the first division of Wednesday night's $5,250 Tar Boy series at Buffalo Raceway with a time of 2:05.4.

Galbraith took the Toronto Stables colt to the top in the eliminatch and won by three lengths over Brachantdge. Brooks Brother was third. Armbro Huck returned $6.80, $4.60, and $3.80.

Mac Byrd, another three-year-old owned by Elmer and Agnes Smith of Glenwood Landing, N.Y., raced to the fastest mile of the meet for a three-year-old with a time of 2:03.1. Mac Byrd returned $2.80 for the victory in the second division of the Tar Boy series.

Sunny Mac, owned and driven by Mervin Kirkness, Leamington, Ont., won the first race on a fast mile for it $17.20 return and combined with Roger Action to finish second for a daily double of $46.

The attendance was 3,769 and the handle $223,770.

Movie Writers' and Directors' Guilds Locked in Battle

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The battle of the Apostrophe has been joined and it looks as though movie writers and directors will be fixing along the lines all summer.

Caught in the crossfire is the Motion Picture Association which represents the major film producers of Hollywood.

Why should the powerful writers' and directors' guilds suddenly find themselves at odds?

The basic issue concerns a longtime practice in movie billing. Almost from the beginnings, certain creative and powerful producers and directors have won possessory billings over film titles.

For example, theatres in 1915 advertised: D. W. Griffith's Birth of a Nation.

In 1958 the screens proclaimed: Cecil B. DeMille's The Ten Commandments.

The practice continues, with recent films billed as Otto Preminger's, John Frankenheimer's or William Castle's.

Writers of screen plays, long relabled under this billing, argued that a movie cannot properly be termed a producer's or a director's unless he has contributed a sizable share of the writing.

One writer carried the analogy to the extreme: "Would it have been called Richard Burbage's Hamlet because the actor happened to stage Shakespeare's play."

Two years ago, the Writers Guild of America tried, and failed, to achieve a contract clause with the producers prohibiting the possessive over a title, except by those who helped write the screen play.

But last December the writers won such a clause in negotiations with the Association of Motion Picture and Television Producers. The new contract prohibited billing to non-writers except such as Ford's Stage Coach, John Ford's Film Stage Coach, A Film by John Ford—Stage Coach, or Film of John Ford—Stage Coach.

"In the cases Richard Brooks, George Seaton, John Huston and other directors who write or co - write their scripts, the possessory could be used," argues a spokesman for the writers.

Upon hearing of the contract clause, the Directors Guild of America blew its collective top. The guild's house organ, Action! editorialized under the title The Great Giveaway.

"Directors have possessed possessory credit since the days of Griffith," wrote the D. W. Griffith's Birth of a Nation and D. W. Griffith's intolerance.

"An established director like Alfred Hitchcock can no longer exploit his well-earned reputation by having his name alongside the title of his future pictures," Action said. "Neither could Samuel Goldwyn if he should produce again. Or Darryl Zanuck."

A week ago, the Directors Guild held an angry meeting and members voted unanimously to pursue the billing issue "in the courts and by all other means." Vice - President Delbert Mann called the matter "an erosion of our rights" and declared it "the most important issue in the 31-year history of our guild."

Angel Tosses 3rd Straight Shutout

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now, it only it doesn't rain on Jim McGlothlin's parade.

McGlothlin, who seems to labor with a constant cloud over his head, has brought a ray of sunshine to the last place California Angels.

The young right - hander hurled his third straight shutout Wednesday night, running his season's record to 6-1 with a 3-0 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. The Shocker extended his string to 32 runless innings and lowered his earned run average to 1.07.

In other American League action Wednesday, New York and Washington split a test - night doubleheader, the Yankees taking the opener 7-1 and the Senators the second game 3-1. Kansas City Athletics defeated Detroit Tigers 4-2. Boston's doubleheader at Chicago and Cleveland's game at Minnesota were rained out.

McGlothlin has allowed just one earned run in the last 43 2-3 innings he has worked.

The Angels got McGlothlin an unearned run off loser Pete Richert in the first inning and the youngster never let up, against the Orioles, who had scored 27 runs against California in a doubleheader the day before.

Fred Talbot hurled a six-hitter for the Yankees in the opener against Washington. New York scored four runs in the second inning—two of them on bases loaded walks to Mickey Mantle and Ruben Amaro.

In the nightcap, Bill Monbou-

New Questions for Old

Israeli Conquests Raise Thorny Problem for World Arbiters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel's lightning conquest in the Middle East raises new and complex problems. Some probably will be dumped once again in the lap of the United Nations.

As of this moment, many vexing questions are unanswerable.

What happens when the Middle East simmers down?

What is the future of the Arabs' great riches of oil reserves?

What happens now to the endless problem of the refugees who fled Palestine in the first war two decades ago, and what happens to the Arabs in new territory conquered by Israel?

Israel is aware of the new problems she has won along with victory. She has captured territory in Arab Jordan, whose Palestinians seethe with hatred for her. She has overrun a large area of the Sinai Peninsula in Egypt. If Israel retains any of this territory, she must not only be able to control those people, but feed them and look out for their welfare as well.

The question of Jerusalem is likely to be a thorny one all over again. The United Nations 20 years ago insisted that Jerusalem, revered by three great religions, should be internationalized. In the first war, Israel captured the New City area and made it her capital. In the new war, she has captured the other half, the Old City. The chances are she will not want to give it up.

Israel's leaders have indicated the Israelis will strive to keep on to some, at least, of what they have conquered.

In the case of territory in Sinai, Israel may want to retain areas commanding the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba, one of the lifelines of her trade. Egypt blockaded it as the current crisis build up, and that was one of the immediate causes of the war.

As for the Arabs, they appear to be in for a period of confusion and turmoil. President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt has made no public statement since the war broke out. He may even be in danger of being ousted as president of Egypt. King Hussein of Jordan is in danger from frustrated and embittered Palestinians, many of whom long have wanted to overthrow him. The fact that he was first to agree to a ceasefire will add to the bitterness. Hussein for years has been denounced by pro-Nasser Arabs as an ally of the West.

Only time will tell the extent of success or failure of other Soviet or U.S. policies.

U.S.-SOVIET POLICY

It seems likely that Soviet and American interests dovetailed at a critical moment. Neither wanted to be forced into a confrontation growing out of the Middle East war. President Johnson was reported to have been in touch with Premier Kosygin during the Middle East fighting, and with President de Gaulle of France.

The future of U.S. and British oil interests in Saudi Arabia, Kuwait, Iraq and the Arabian sheikdoms pro bably depends upon how soon and how securely peace returns to the Arab East. The oil - rich nations depend almost entirely upon that commodity for their foreign exchange and for most of their budgets.

They could not afford long to deny the oil to the West, their chief market. Russia does not need it, and the rulers of those nations, particularly the sheiks and the Saudi king, would be wary of turning to the Communists in any event, whatever their protests of bitterness against the British and Americans.

Run to Suez Left Roads Littered with Booty

WITH ISRAELI FORCES IN SINAI (AP)—Israeli armored forces dashing across the Sinai Desert left the roads behind them littered with charred tanks, smouldering trucks and huge quantities of boots and booty.

The Israelis had no time to count or even collect the dead.

While the armored and support columns swung westward along the coastal highway from El Arish and a parallel axis from Abu Aqula, the main traffic in the opposite direction was that of scores of trucks filled with prisoners of war.

Overhead Israeli planes were in command of the Sinai skies.

This dispatch was cabled before the announcement by an Israeli spokesman that Israeli forces were meeting stiff Egyptian resistance in the western Sinai desert.

Israel was the war in the air against her enemies in less than four hours on the first day of this war," said Col. Yeruham; who took command of the captured El Arish airfield.

At this airstrip reporters saw six MiGs and one IL-14 destroyed on the ground. Today the field was being used mainly for flying wounded to hospitals in the rear.

The time element in this war has been a crucial factor. For the Egyptians the pace was much too hot. In the ochre sands of Sinai lie literally hundreds of Soviet tanks, trucks, guns and an assorted mess of other military equipment.

Much of this hardware is still intact as its owners had not the time to destroy it.

Mopping Up Needed After Quick Thrusts

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military analysts say Israeli army supply lines might be dangerously overextended if its armored columns push across the Suez Canal and deeper into Egypt.

Although Israeli spearheads may extend well over 100 miles from Israel's border, analysts here do not consider supply and communication links stretched or exposed.

But U.S. experts said Israeli tank and infantry brigades must stop soon to mop up remnants of the Egyptian army believed scattered behind them still across the rugged, arid Sinai.

This cleaning up is essential to ensure an undisrupted flow of munition, oil, ammunition, drinking water and food to forward combat elements.

Israeli columns hustled toward the Suez Canal along a few paved roads and many rough desert tracks.

Following behind the tanks, armored infantry halftracks and self-propelled artillery after the way is clear are convoys of trucks hauling the stuff to feed and power the advancing columns.

Israeli doctrine features fast, moving offence as the basic tactic from the outset of the war.

American officers said it would be risky for the Israelis to carry their offensive across the Suez Canal and deep into Egypt alone across increasingly perilous country.

They also would have to possess forces to defend their bridgehead across the canal or the Gulf of Suez, and this would require squeezed elements in the face of probable stiffening resistance.

A move to Cairo would nearly double the distance supplies would have to travel from the Israeli border to advance combat units.

The Israelis have been credited with one enormous advantage—air superiority which will spare their supply columns from strafing or bombing.

U.S. military authorities said supply links to Israeli forces at the southern tip of the Sinai Peninsula, well over 100 miles from Israel, on the Gulf of Aqaba, are probably secure already.

Egyptian forces are reported to have pulled back from that sector toward the other side of the Suez Canal.

Prisoners Build Camps

BEERSHEBA, Israel (AP)—Hundreds of commandos from Ahmed Shukairy's Palestine Liberation Army reached their promised land and soon found themselves behind barbed wire.

Stripped of their machine-guns and daggers, the guerrillas, whose fiery leader had vowed they would drive the Israelis from Palestine, were put to work building a prisoner-of-war stockade 10 miles north of Beersheba. Israeli military police reservists guarded them.

A convoy carrying 800 captive Palestinians and Egyptians arrived from the Gaza Strip Wednesday and 400 more were to follow them to the camp. The camp commander said other POW camps were being set up in the Negev desert.

Military Gains Not Likely to Be Traded Away Easily

LONDON (CP)—Israel's military objectives in Egypt are the same as they were in the 1956 invasion—to use armed occupation of the Suez Canal and the Tiran Straits as a lever to gain freedom for her shipping in the waterways.

Diplomats in London add that this time Israel is determined to make the lever produce airtight guarantees.

Eleven years ago, Israel gained access through Tiran Straits to the Gulf of Aqaba and the port of Elath under United Nations supervision. But the Suez Canal ban against any Israeli-bound shipping remained.

On other fronts, Israel also will require international guarantees of her frontiers before withdrawing from terrain used in the past by Arabs as bases for guerrilla-style harassment.

One such area is high ground around the Jordan town of Latrun overlooking the Tel Aviv-Jerusalem road.

Although the Israeli government has said it has no territorial ambitions, popular Israeli opinion would make it difficult for the government to relinquish any military gains without absolute guarantees of shipping freedom and territorial integrity — by the great powers and preferably also by the Arab governments.

In 1956, Israeli forces occupied the Sinai Desert in 100 hours. They took the east bank of the Suez Canal and Sharm el Sheikh and Ras Nasrani, which control the entrance to the Gulf of Aqaba.

British and French forces in the 1956 battle neutralized Egyptian air power and occupied Port Said and the northern 20 miles of the 100-mile-long Suez Canal.

Israel has been on its own this time. In addition the Israelis are fighting an offensive campaign against Jordan and defensively against Syria.

By Wednesday night, after 60 hours of warfare in the Sinai, reports indicated Israel was keeping to its 1956 schedule in driving towards the canal.

As in 1956, however, Israel was under pressure to observe a UN ceasefire. Israeli forces were pressed to reach the Suez objective in order to grip the diplomatic lever.

In the 1956 settlement, the UN Emergency Forces moved into the canal zone while a UN-sponsored team cleared the canal of blockships sunk by Egypt. By the following spring, Israeli forces had withdrawn behind their own borders in Sinai and UNEF troops took up watchdog positions on the Egyptian side of the Gaza Strip and Sinai frontiers and at Sharm el Sheikh and Ras Nasrani.

However, Egypt regained control of the Suez Canal and maintained the ban on Israeli-bound shipping. Shipping in the Gulf of Aqaba moved freely until Egypt last month ordered out UNEF and reoccupied the Tiran Strait.

Israel is determined this time military gains must lead to a permanent settlement in the canal and the gulf.
